40 FIRSTS, 35 SECONDS, &c.

The above are my wins this season up to Nov. 15, see show reports at all the leading shows, and remember with Yorkshires only, not all varieties. My wins for years have surpassed all others, and is without doubt the finest strain in existence. Read following testimonial from Warren Avenue, Southampton, Nov. 16, '13: "I am very pleased to inform you that birds bred from stock purchased from you have won for me this season 2 firsts, special and CAGE BIRDS diploma, champion section Portsmouth; 1st Southampton, 3rd Bournemouth, etc.; am wanting more stock, and shall place my orders with you.—J. Hayter to L. Dykes" Another from Farnworth-st., Widnes, Nov. 17: "Hen arrived safe, and am entirely satisfied with her; she won 2nd at our show.—J. Ashcroft to L. Dyke." Scores of similar to above filed for inspection at any time. I have over 300 bred from and related to my winners, in the pink of condition, and all cold-room bred and kept. Matched pairs, sex guaranteed, at 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-, 30/-, 40/- per pair; odd cocks from 6/- each, hens from 4/- each; exhibition cocks or hens at 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-, 40/- each upwards, ready for immediate exhibition, and can soon win back their cost on the show bench. Travelling cages 3d. extra. Price list post free; any on approval, cash or deposit with Editor. Inspection invited at any time, or kindly state wants, to the old reliable breeder, who breeds his own winners, and can therefore give you the best satisfaction: L. Dykes, Reliable Aviaries, Shannet., Bolton Woods, Bradford.

We'll Serve you the same

The following is but one out of some scores of similar. Note the date—not ancient history. A daily repetition from Satisfied customers—Not Absurd Prices.—Don't Pay Such.—Stranraer, Wigtown, N.B., 10th Nov., 1913.—Messrs. Collingbourne and Co., East Sheen Aviaries, East Sheen, Surrey.—Dear Sirs,—I thought it might be of interest to you to let you know that the Foreign birds I got from you lately have done so well. The White Javas were 3rd Ayr; Yellow Budgerigars, 2nd (in class of 10), Kirkcudbright, and last Saturday I won 1st with White Javas, 2nd with Pintailed Nonpariels, at Hamilton Show (near Glasgow) in a good class. I did not expect such good birds for the very reasonable prices I paid. Wishing your business and selves every success.—Yours faithfully, Thos. Macready. Don't put it off till to-morrow. Send to-day for our Printed Catalogues, Free. Winners from 3/- pair.—COLLINGBOURNE & CO., East Sheen Aviaries, East Sheen; and at Sunbury-on-Thames. 'Phone: 849 Richmond.

NOTICE to keepers and breeders of Budgerigars; much valuable information is given by Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S., in "Nutshell No. 18," 2½d., post free, from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C. (2d. from agents, a list of whom is published frequently).

NOTICE, Amazon Parrot, wonderful talker, day or night, sing, dances, don't swear, 60/-; also grey coloured bird, very attractive, and talkative, dances, turns somersault, most amusing pet, 25/-, cages are included: Mr. Copp, Wardrobe Stores, Dartford.

THOSE who have bought or those who are about to buy a Grey Parrot, should get "Nutshell No. 17," it only costs 2½d. post free, but the tips it gives are priceless; from: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C. (2d. from agents, a list of whom is published frequently).

IF you are looking for a reliable Parrot send for my pamphlet, "Parrot Trick Exposed." This will save you from the imposition of having a common Cockatoo or Parrakeet palmed off for a Parrot; also superior Budgerigars, etc.; list free: W. Rudd, Bird Specialist, Norwich.

BRAZILIAN Hangnests, 24/- each; Baltimore Troupial, 35/-; Yellow-shouldered Troupials, 35/- pair; Golden-shouldered Tanagers, 35/- pair; Chinese Starlings, 17/6 each; Nanday Parrakeet, 25/-; various Foreign Finches, 2/6 pair; Vickers, Wychwood, Bournemouth. (1043)

AVADAVATS; full directions as to caging and feeding, and how to keep these charming little Foreigners in the best possible condition, are given by Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S., in "Nutshel. No. 16," 2½d. post free, from: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C. (2d. from agents, list published frequently).

TALKING Green Amazon Parrot, perfect plumage, three years old, perches on finger and talks, speaks distinctly many words and sentences, splendid whistler of tunes, sings, laughs, cries, walks about room and talks to you, clever talker, £2 2/-, including cage, worth £5; no dealers: Stanton, 17, Houghton-st., Liverpool. (1040)

PARROTS for pleasure and profit, 7d., by C. P. Arthur. A practical handbook, dealing with the keeping, feeding, and general treatment of the Grey, the Amazon, etc. It explains how to sex these birds, the treatment of newly imported specimens, and cures for their various ills: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

FOREIGN birds for beginners, 1/1½, by W. T. Page, F.Z.S., etc., Foreign Bird Expert to "Cage Birds." A highly instructive manual. It contains a magnificent coloured plate and a number of black and white illustrations. Indispensable to all keepers of Foreign birds. Replete with useful hints: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

THOUGH they can often be purchased for the modest half-crown, Pekin Nightingales are very beautiful in plumage, have a fine song, and make ideal cage or aviary birds. Some very helpful information on this variety will be found in "Nutshell No. 19," the author of which is Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S. Get it at once. 2½d. post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C. 2d. from our agents (list published frequently).

WAXBILLS! (Golden-breasted, Orange-checked, Grey, and St. Helena). Than this interesting quartette, which can be purchased at from 2/6 to 7/6 a pair, there are few more charming foreigners. They can be successfully kept, too, with little difficulty if you will follow the hints given by Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S., in "Nutshell No. 20," 2½d. post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C. Call at any of our agents and get it for 2d. (list frequently published).

THERE is no more lovely seed-eater than the popular Gouldian Finch, which, however, is very difficult to establish. This trouble can be overcome, and the variety kept successfully. But you must follow the hints given in "Nutshell No. 14," from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C., post free for 2½d. From agents (see list frequently published).

"PETS" SUPPLY CO.

The Aviaries, Coppice Drive, Harrogate, Dealers in and Importers of Foreign Birds, Canaries, Water Fowl, Pheasants, Animals, British Birds, Seeds, Bird Foods, Accessories, etc. Builders of Portable Aviaries, Bird and Poultry Houses. Dear Sir or Madame,—We have pleasure in informing you that we have purchased the goodwill of the business lately carried on by Mr. Bernard Hollins, at The Zoo, 9, George-street, Hull, and have engaged his services as Manager. We have taken ground at the above address, where we have erected extensive "Outdoor Aviaries" for different kinds of Foreign Birds, Parrots, Parrokeets, Cockatoos, Fancy Pheasants, British Birds, Fancy Pigeons, Budgerigars, high-class Poultry and Waterfowl; Hartz Mountain, St. Andreasberg, Yorkshire and Norwich Canaries, etc., where they will be kept under the most healthy, sanitary, and favourable conditions; and we feel convinced that this is the only way to do a satisfactory business in Live Pets. The grounds are most pleasantly situated, within a very short distance of the Kursaal, and we shall be pleased, should you be visiting Harrogate at any time, if you will call and inspect the Aviaries and Stock. Our object is to enable fanciers to obtain reliable stock which has not been in contact with unhealthy surroundings. We trust you will favour us with your enquiries, which will receive our strictest attention, and all orders will be most carefully and promptly executed. Awaiting your favours, we are, yours faithfully, "Pets" Supply Co. N.B.—Not in any way a "shop." We are always open to purchase, for cash, or exchange surplus stock.

ROCHDALE (Good Intent) C.B.S.

Seventeenth annual show, held in Parish Church Schools, Rochdale, Nov. 1. Mr. H. W. Battye judged. Entries were a record for the society, and competition was very keen in all varieties, over 100 birds being staged, many of them winners in open competition throughout England. In Lancashires, Messrs. Hordern, Newill, Hartley, Dearden, Collin ge.and Adams staged good teams; in Lizards, Messrs. Leach, Hordern, Holt, and Dewhurst were the principal winners, and in Crest and Crest-bred Messrs. Collinge, Radcliffe were to the fore. In Yorkshires Messrs. Schofield, Coupe, Leach, Francis, Butterworth, Hollows, put down grand birds. In Norwich Messrs. Lees, Leach, Hollows, E. Lord, Blincoe, Radcliffe and Dewhurst shared the honours pretty even, Mr. Blincoe staging an excellent team of British, a splendid specimen of a Waxwing being first. In Pairs some good breeding pairs were staged, which promises well for future. The judge especially remarked on such a grand members' show. Mr. A. Hordern won rose bowl and medal for three highest birds, also special, best bird. Mr. Lees, runner-up for bowl. Mr. E. Leach won medal for hottest bird.

CARDIFF.

Seventeenth annual show held at St. Andrew's Hall, Nov. 19th; the room is admirably adapted for a show, being well lighted and free from draughts. A record entry of nearly 900 freed the judges; no wonder all the committee were such smiles on the morning of the show, and we heartily congratulate them on their success, which is thoroughly deserved, as no better band of fanciers exists anywhere than the Cardiff boys, who one and all leave no stone unturned that will add to the success of their show, this great rally of exhibitors should spur other fanciers in Wales to emulate the example set by Cardiff.

The chairman and vice, Messrs. S. F. Whetton and A. Maggs, and treas., Mr. E. J. Davies, are well known to all Welsh fanciers, and the county is fortunate in their choice of officers for these important positions. A hard-working committee, Messrs. L. James, H. C. Smith, W. Merrill, D. Raymond, E. J. Barker, W. Sampson, F. Howard, A. J. Simons, F. Slocombe, J. Dugmore, A. Ball, M. Gooding, S. Wiseman, E. Adams, and W. Merritt, had all the arrangements well in hand, the judges being able to commence their work without any delay. We must not forget the man behind the scenes, Mr. E. Thomas, the popular sec. Tactful and obliging, with an eye on the main chance, we can only add he is the "right man in the right place," and long may he continue in office is the wish of all Cardiff fanciers, who recognise they are indeed lucky to be able to command his services.

Norwich were the finest lot seen together in Wales for a considerable time; several sets of winners could be found in each of the classes, and the judges had considerable difficulty in sorting out the winners. Yorks. were a show in themselves, over 200 in 15 classes, and not a bad one amongst them. Borders were also larger in numbers than at any previous show held by the society, some real toppers being staged. Mules and Hybrids made a fine show, most of the leading winners being on view. British formed a very nice collection, some really good exhibits being staged, and it looks as though Wales was again coming to the front in this section. CAGE BIRDS' Coupon scheme drew a tremendous entry, diploma and champion 10s. being won by Mr. E. J. Lamb with a fine Can.-Bullie, and novice 10s. by Mr. D. Raymond with a grand yell. Yorks. Diplomas: Champ. Nor., A. Maggs; Yorks., J. Dugmore; Bord., Dr. Lawrie; Mules, E. J. Lamb; Brit. Hardbill, S. Jones, jun.; Softbill, S. H. Mays; Novice Yorks., D. Raymond; Bord., J. Pearce. Challenge cups given by the society in the open classes were won as follows:—Nor., J. Houghton; Yorks., R. Crisp; Bord., D. Jenkins; Brit., W. J. Bancroft. Mr. J. Robson judged odd numbers, and Mr. J. Payne even.

Schedule was drawn up: 23 classes, for Mr. J. Stanger (Pelton Fell) to judge. We made one new member, Mr. C. Davinson, of South Moor.—A. Dawson, Sec.

LONDON C.B.A.

Meeting held El Vino, 3, Piccadilly Place, Nov. 11th, the president, Mr. R. L. Crisp, in the chair. The evening was taken up in dealing with the annual show, so discussion on "Are Canaries Losing Stamina?" had to be unfortunately postponed, Mr. Crisp kindly promising to open it at some future date. Members on application to F. Knight (64, Chaplin Road, Wembley), can be supplied with tickets at reduced rate, to admit once to annual show; 6d. each. Committee meeting was held after close of above meeting, and Messrs. L. M. Wade and M. S. Runchman were elected members.—F. Knight, Press Corresp.

LARKHALL C.B.A.

Fortnightly meeting held Y.M. Halls, Mr. Bundell presiding. Arrangements were made for table show, Nov. 29, at 7. Nor. 2 classes, Yellow and Buff. On Dec. 13 at 7 p.m., Borders 2 classes, Yellow and Buff. Entry 4d., prize money to 1st and 2nd birds, 5/- special most points over both shows. Members were afterwards entertained to a very instructive and interesting washing exhibition by Mr. Richard Thomson, of Queen's Park. For drying he used the Moist Atmosphere Drying Cage, invented by Mr. Wilson, of Glasgow. The process was watched very closely and members spoke highly of drying cage being so simple, and putting a lovely finish on the birds. Members all seemed to have benefited largely by the exhibition. Mr. Thomson was warmly thanked for his kindness.—A. Thomson, sec.

SOUTH BIRMINGHAM O.S.

Held Nov. 12th, at Marlboro Hotel, Small Heath; one of the best and largest gatherings yet held. The Chairman congratulated the members on taking up their quarters here. Secretary read report of Young Stock show; also part arrangements were made for Members' show on January 3rd, so we could secure the services of Mr. J. H. Roe as judge. Grand specials are promised, and the classification will be the same as last year. All the entrance money for birds will be paid out on new scale, and nothing stopped for expenses. Members think this the fairest, as the funds are excellent, and all should bear a little of the expenses, showing or not. Mr. Hickling elected a member; total, 74 on books. The idea of including Novice open, put off this year; time too short to make arrangements. The chairman spoke of the splendid progress made by the novices of the Society. Mr. Swinden has won his three firsts in open and Mr. Harding was successful in splendid competition at Nottingham; also the youngest novices made good progress at the Young Stock show. He thought a lot of the success was due to the splendid efforts of the older fanciers to give help and assistance and that this should encourage young fanciers to join us.—J. Sheppard, Sec.

SHEFFIELD C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 6, in Wentworth Cafe, the president, Mr. F. Jones, in the chair. There was a good turn-up of members, and a very interesting meeting was held. Our thanks were accorded all the friends who helped us at our open show. Stewards and doorkeepers were appointed for our annual members' show, Dec. 6, in the Montgomery Hall. In connection with this the secretaries will sit at Headquarters on Dec. 1st, from 8 to 9 p.m., to receive all entries. Six cups will be up for competition, so we are expecting a record entry. Members kindly help by pushing sale of tickets. The novice British section is to have the same classification as the champion, so now is your chance novices. Write "Novice" against each entry. Several specials have been promised for this section. The arrangements for concerts, etc., were left to the committee. Mr. W. Wood was elected a member. Next meeting, Dec. 4th, important; election of officers; bring in ballot papers. The final table show that was held proved to be one of the best. The judges were:—Yorks., J. Woolhouse; Nor., W. H. Champion; Brit., J. Mace. Champ. Yorks. Yell.: 1, 2, Furniss; 3, vhc, Champion; 4, hc, Tomlinson; c, Drabble. Buff: 1, 2, 4, Drabble; 3, vhc, Tomlinson; hc, Furniss. Nor. YELL.: 1, 3, J. Woodhouse; vhc, hc, Dunford; 4, Cowley; c, Fallding. Buff: 1, 4, Dunford; 2, vhc, hc, c, J. Woolhouse; 3, Cowley. Novice Yorks. Yell.: 1, 2, vhc, Carr; 3, c, Pickering; 4, hc, Fowler. Buff: 1, 4, Pickering; 2, vhc, hc, Carr; 3, Fowler; c, Blunt. Nor Yell.: 1, 3, Sisson; 2, White; 4, hc, Curley; vhc, c, L. Woolhouse. Buff: 1, 3, vhc, L. Woolhouse; 2, Wragg; 4, hc, Gill; c, White. Brit.: 1, 2, 3, 4, vhc, hc, c, Fallding.—J. Woolhouse, Assist. Sec.

STRATFORD & EAST LONDON F.S.

Meeting held Workmen's Hall, Nov. 13. Prizes distributed and judges and all details fixed for annual show at Workmen's Hall on Jan. 1. Discussion re removal of headquarters to Eagle, Chobham Road, Stratford. Members are requested to attend on Dec. 11 at above hall, when a further discussion will take place, also note that no meeting on Nov. 27, but Pigeon show instead. All ticket money must be sent in at once to A. E. Baker, Hon. Sec.

FALKIRK (Good Intent) C.B.A.

Meeting held Oct. 25. A few new members were admitted. Messrs. Joseph Hunter and Robt. Reid were appointed stewards for coming show. Next meeting Nov. 29 is the last before the show. Intending members please come forward to this meeting as the books will be closed and no person admitted after. Show day, Dec. 13; judges, Mr. Robt. Martin (Waterside), Norwich; Mr. George Brown (Lelth), Borders; Mr. R. V. Raine (Cathcart), Brit. and For.—W. Clarkson, sec.

MIDLAND COUNTIES YORKS. C.C

For both Champion and Novice Competitions the half-time results (covering three shows each) are as follows:—Champ. Section: Wells and Clempson, 49 points; P. Victor Williams, 47; P. Lane, 47; J. Gibbons, 17; J. Clay, 14; W. G. Andrews, 5; W. H. Raybould, 2. Novice Section: G. A. Smith, 38 points; G. Salt, 27; R. Ratcliffe, 24; T. Walker, 21; A. W. Austin, 18; J. W. Lawton, 14; J. Hinton, 13; A. Philpot, 3. Should any member disagree I trust he will communicate with me at once. Next shows for Champion and Novice are West Bromwich, Nov. 21 and 22; City of Birmingham, Dec. 3 and 4, which I trust will be well supported.—W. Wells, Hon. Sec.

ARDWICK & MANCHESTER C.B.A.

Meeting held Headquarters, Nov. 4. Mr. W. Robinson presided over a good attendance. The novice washing competition took place; condition of competition was best finished bird. Mr. Robinson had previously given an exhibition of washing, and nine competitors, follow out his methods of handling, etc. They got the birds through very quickly, and would have done credit to many elder hands. The secretary was asked to judge, and he declared the bird washed by Mr. W. R. Salthouse the winner, with Mr. W. H. Bennett 2nd. Mr. Robinson will present the winner with a very nice flower vase. Annual members' show will be held Nov. 22, at St. Thomas's Boys' Schoolroom (entrance, Thomas St.). This is situated back of the clock, looking from Ardwick Green Park, two minutes from the car.—J. Spencer, hon. sec.

LEINSTER O.S.

Council meeting held Nov. 10, Mr. J. J. Cloke in the chair, and a full attendance of members. The hon. sec. reported all prize money had been paid out on the fourth day after show, and notwithstanding the heavy outlay involved a substantial balance remained to the credit of society. The chairman stated it was satisfactory to know that fanciers evidently appreciated the council's action in trying to meet all parties by the promises of support in the future. A silver cup has already been promised for some section of the British bird classes, and a sporting offer is to be made from another exhibitor, probably in British classes. The annual dinner of the society was arranged to take place in January when the society's cups won at recent show will be presented. The council discussed the advisability of trying to make an Irish National Show in Dublin for the latter end of 1914, or early in 1915. The opinions of Irish exhibitors on this point would be gladly considered and appreciated by the council through their hon. sec. Steps will be taken early in the New Year to put the project into good shape, and to seek the support of other societies in Ireland with the object of accomplishing this feat.—C. Holley, hon. sec.

YORKS. C.C. OF WALES & MON

Meeting held Swansea Show, Nov. 13. There were about 12 members present, Mr. E. Richards (Treorchy) in the chair. The meeting was called for the purpose of electing officers and framing rules, etc. Chairman, Mr. Jas. Steer (Swansea); vice-chair, Mr. H. Wooton (Kenfig Hill); sec., Mr. Hy. Webster, 6, Upper Park Street, Llanelly; Committee, Messrs. H. Griffiths, Llandilo; A. East, Swansea; E. Richards, Treorchy; J. Schropper, Mumbles; J. H. Mock, Brynhyfryd; T. J. Williams, Landore; and J. Owen, Llanelly. Several new members were accepted and brings number up to 18, all champion exhibitors. Next meeting Jan. 13 at Llanelly Show, when all Yorkshire fanciers who can attend will be cordially invited. Will secretaries of Welsh societies please notify their members of this newly-formed club, especially the novices, as these exhibitors will be provided for at next season's shows. We had a very pleasant surprise at Swansea, Mr. E. Richards and Mr. Steer each subscribing £1 10s. towards the Welsh Yorkshire Cup for competition next season. Now Yorkshire fanciers, send on your entry fee straight away and let us show Wales that we are not altogether asleep; success is sure to follow. It is hoped North Wales fanciers will join, as it will mean better classification for Yorks. at all patronised shows. Entry fee 1/-, payable on joining; annual subscription 2/6, due on or before March 31.—H. Webster, sec.

NEWCASTLE-UPON-TYNE.

Meeting held Foster's Cafe, 111, Shields Road, Newcastle, Nov. 12, for the purpose of forming a cage bird club for the East End of the city. A large number of fanciers turned up, and Mr. Hutchinson was elected to the chair, pro tem. He explained why the meeting had been arranged and that the first part of the business would be to elect officers. Mr. J. W. Coutts was elected secretary, Mr. J. Morrison vice-chair, and committee, Messrs. R. Young, C. Mackay, T. Robson, W. Harvey, Hugh McColl, J. Roy, G. W. MacPartling, G. Wilson, T. W. Lumsden, N. Scott, R. H. Martin, J. Miller, J. Harbottle and T. Doughty. Decided to make annual sub. 2/6, with 1/- entrance; but all who decide to join before end of the year to be admitted on the paying of 2/6 only. Agreed to call the society the Newcastle-on-Tyne East End C.B.S. Meetings the fourth Wednesday of the month at Foster's Cafe. Unanimously agreed that new members be balloted for same night as proposed, and if there be one vote in seven against, it will exclude from membership. Radius for membership 12 miles. Already there are 50 upon the books which augurs well for the future of the club. Myles Beavan, Esq. (Desmond Park), has promised to honour us as president. Anyone desirous of joining what promises to become a successful society, will oblige by sending his name and address to: J. W. Coutts, 122, Brinkburn Street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

STANLEY (Victoria Club) C.B.S.

Meeting held at Club, Nov. 9, Mr. T. H. Curry in the chair. We had a good meeting. The stewards were chosen for annual show Dec. 6 and 7, when we expect to create a record as regards quality and quantity. It was agreed that all exhibitors contribute 6d. towards cups for competition. We had some more specials promised by Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Curry, Mrs. Boyle, Mrs. Peart, Mr. M. Hall, E. Keskeys, and J. Davison, also the committee of the Club, four valuable specials.—R. Peart, Sec.

BURNLEY O.S.

Meeting held Nov. 12 at the Star Inn, Church Street. Mr. Barwise in chair, with a very good turn up of members, the chief item was the novice washing competition. There was a good entry. Mr. J. Baker was judge, and he gave every satisfaction. There were three prizes, result: 1, T. Chadwick; 2, J. Holden; 3, G. Whittaker. Decided to hold our member show at the Star Inn. Two more novices were enrolled, J. Holden and T. Stackhouse. We intend having a supper and concert at the Star Inn on Nov. 26. Decided to have sub-committee. The following were elected:—H. Collow, J. Holden, T. Linzard, J. Baker, and W. Spencer. Proposed that we have a judging competition for novices, date to be fixed.—G. Whitaker, Sec.

HALIFAX O.S.

Members and friends had a pie supper and smoker at the Plummet Line Hotel, on Nov. 13, when about thirty-five sat down to a splendid repast, provided by the host and hostess. After supper the evening was spent in a jovial manner, the president, Mr. J. J. Dunn presiding. Mr. Copley, Mr. Barker, Mr. Hamer, Mr. McAndrew, and Mr. Thornton, contributed songs in the best style, and were well received. Mr. Bancroft and Mr. Riley contributed recitals to everybody's satisfaction. Mr. J. E. Priestley presided at the piano in his usual efficient manner. Mr. H. Lord proposed a vote of thanks to the artists, and all who had contributed to the evening's entertainment, and Mr. T. W. Wilson seconded.—H. Clegg, Sec.

NORTH WALES C.B.S.

Committee meeting held Nov. 12, at 3, Balaclava Rd. Present: Chairman, Mr. James Jones; vice-chairman, Mr. G. Jones; Mr. J. W. Jones, Mr. E. Jones, and Mr. R. E. Griffith, hon. sec. New members enrolled:—Mr. Williams (Talycafn), Mr. Foster (Festiniog), Mr. Rice and Mr. J. E. Jones (Harlech), also Mr. J. H. Jones. Printer gave spl. (cash 2/6) for best bird in show on Dec. 26; Mr. W. H. Williams, 2/6 for second best bird in show; and the above committee has given 2/6 cash specials for points for members only. Non-members in North Wales should join now. Grand classification, 10 cash specials, 3 challenge cups, and special ornamental prize cards given on Boxing Day. We have engaged one of the leading judges, who has never been at any other show about here (Mr. A. Hirst, of Accrington). Extra prize monies will be added in strong classes. Entrance fees to members, 1/-; non-members, 1/6. Will winners of challenge cups kindly note rule 15 on the members' card? The schedule of our show for Boxing Day is now ready.—R. E. Griffith, Hon. Sec., 5, Balaclava Rd., Carnarvon.

In the Courts.

A Summons Dismissed at Oswestry.

William Williams, collier, Gobowen, for whom Mr. Roberts Jones appeared, was charged, at the last Oswestry Petty Sessions, with using lime for the purpose of catching Goldfinches, contrary to the Wild Birds Protection (County of Salop) Order, 1904. At the outset, Mr. Jones claimed to have the case dismissed, on the ground that the Order under which the summons was issued had been superseded by a new order issued this year.—The Chairman said the Bench would dismiss the summons, and issue a new one.—Mr. Jones then applied for costs.—The Chairman: No.—Mr. Jones, proceeding, said his client had been brought there on a summons which was wrong in law. It was not for him to put the police right, and as they had brought his client there on a wrong order he was entitled to ask for costs against the police. Then it was not fair to tell him that, while dismissing this summons, they would issue another. It was a veiled threat, and he protested against it. The fact that they had dismissed the case was an admission that the summons was wrong. His client had incurred the expense of engaging him, and if another summons was going to be issued he would have to come there again and incur more expense. In these circumstances it was only right that the police should pay the costs in this instance. I am putting the proposition forward to the Bench, and I ask you to do to my client as you would to the police, were they making the application.—The Bench retired, and on returning into Court the Chairman announced that they were unanimously of opinion that the summons should be amended, and heard that day, or a fresh summons be issued and heard that day. No costs would be allowed. It was a technical objection entirely.—After further argument, Mr. Jones said he was willing to go into the merits of the case at once.—P.C. Davies was then called. He said that on Sept. 22nd he saw defendant seated under a hedge in the Gravel Hole at Gobowen. About 30 yards away was a cage containing a decoy bird. He asked him what he was doing there, and he replied that he was trying to catch a few "nickols." He (witness) warned him that he had been cautioned about "this game" before, and advised him to take his tackle away. This defendant did.—Cross-examined: He knew that defendant had a right to take certain birds, Linnets, for instance. Defendant did not say when spoken to that he was only catching Linnets.—Defendant, giving evidence, said he was out on the day in question catching Linnets. The calling bird was on a bush about 100 yards away, and not 30 yards, as stated by the officer. The calling bird was too far away for anyone standing where the constable was to be able to see what species of bird it was. When the officer asked him what lie was doing there he did not reply that he was catching "nickols," but that he was catching Linnets.—This was all the evidence, and the Chairman said they would give defendant the benefit of the doubt, and dismiss the case.—"The Border Counties Advertiser."

Mr. Henry Tams (Longton) is judging at Dawley, Salop, Dec. 9; also at Denbigh on Dec. 17.

All prize money has been paid out, and we have a balance in hand, writes Mr. E. Thomas, sec. Upper Rhondda show.

In the advt. of Boldon Colliery Show in our last issue the fee in the Gift class was given as being 2s. 6d. Entry in this class is free.

Owing to meeting of the Southern Border Fancy Club falling on date of L.C.B.A. it will not be held, writes Mr. F. Moore, the hon. sec.

I have been engaged to judge at Walton Dec. 26, Douglas (I.O.M.) Jan. 1st, and Bethesda, N. Wales, Jan. 24, writes Mr. A. Wellings.

All specials for Liverpool show have been sent out; anyone missed please apply at once, writes Mr. J. W. Metcalfe (68, Brunswick Road).

Schedules for Uddingston show are now out, and any one inadvertently overlooked can have one by dropping a postcard to me, writes Mr. J. Cosgrove, hon. sec.

Please allow me to thank the many kind friends on behalf of Mrs. Parkinson for their letters of sympathy in her sad bereavement, writes Mr. Joseph Scott (Gateshead).

I have received a postcard from a Mr. Hall, with no address. (Post-mark Kennington). If he will forward address, will send schedule writes Mr. E. Bloomfield, hon. sec. Luton show.

We are holding our annual show on Nov. 29, in the Conservative Club, Church Street, Radcliffe; judge Mr. Lomax, St. Helens; writes Mr. G. Lord, sec., Radcliffe and Dis. S.B.S.

Farnworth and Dis. C.B.S. hold their annual show on Nov. 22, writes Secretary Dawson, in the Church House, Church Road, Farnworth, near Bolton; judge, Mr. J. W. Cleminson (Preston).

In my club report of last week, writes Mr. F. Handley, hon. sec. Green Canary Assoc., I omitted date of next meeting, viz., Nov. 27, also that the classification covers Yorks. and Norwich Greens.

Please accept our very best thanks for the illustration of our 1st prize Cinnamon at Windsor show. I may say we have taken Cage Birds for the last five years or so, and find it always good reading, and valuable information to us.—Andrews Bros. (Woodbridge).

Coventry Godiva C.B.S. hold their next annual show on October 24, 1914. Will secretaries please note (especially in Midlands) to avoid clashing? We thank all exhibitors at our last show for their support, and hope they will renew it next year.—H. Saunders, hon. sec.

Pwllheli show will be held New Year's Day, and not Boxing Day, as stated, writes Mr. W. H. Davies, sec. Mr. Gladwin (Nottingham) will judge. We are giving good prizes and specials, and hope to pay prize-money day of show. The competition is open to Wales, and we hope exhibitors will rally round.

Pentrebach show, being short of entries, are compelled to extend closing date to Nov. 24. Entries do not average three per class, writes Mr. A. E. Brown, the hon. sec., and this is indeed very poor, considering the expense we have gone to in order to obtain such expert judges (see our advert.). I sincerely hope exhibitors will not let our fixture pass by without sending us a few entries.

I am pleased to state, writes Mr. S. H. George, hon. sec. Swansea show, that through the excellent work of our show managers, Messrs. Phil. Jenkins and Fred Heal, with the combined help of the show committee, all birds that had to be put on rail were got away in record time, the last van load leaving the showrooms at 8.5 p.m., leaving nearly one hour for booking purposes at the stations. We have had a number of congratulations for the excellent manner we have again served exhibitors this year. I wish to thank Messrs. D. A. S. Longden and W. J. Bancroft for the excellent services they rendered. All prize-money has been paid out according to the schedule (within seven days).

St. Helen's (Lancs.) Recreation F.A. will hold its eighth annual members' show, Nov. 29, in the Dining Rooms, Grove St. There are 25 classes for cage-birds; Mr. C. Houlton will judge.

I have received a request for schedule and two entry forms for Wandsworth show, writes Mr. Lightfoot, the sec., on a postcard, no address; post-mark Kennington, S.E.; names W. D. Hall and G. A. Hall.

An error has crept into the schedule of Consett, Blackhill show. The Border Fancy classes should read: Class 122, Border Fancy, clear yellow, ticked or variegated; 123, ditto, buff; 124, hen, any colour; and not as stated. —J. Hedworth Coupland, sec.

Entries for Pontypridd show on Nov. 26 are coming very slowly, writes the sec., Mr. A. A. Gordon McLucas. They will be accepted until first post Monday morning next. This society has always paid out prize-money promptly, and I hope will be well supported. It is a coupon show.

I was delighted to see one of my winners at Windsor having the honour of appearing on the front page of your valuable paper Cage Birds. I am sorry to say I must give up the Fancy for a time through taking a business and a smaller house; but I shall continue to take your paper, to read the excellent reports of the shows and the other valuable information it contains.—W. G. King (Windsor).

Next Week

MAMMOTH DOUBLE NUMBER

and would once again impress upon all readers the necessity of ordering copies from their newsagents in advance.

In the pages of this fine issue will be found many splendid and informative articles dealing with all sides of the hobby of bird-keeping. And in addition to this array of articles it will contain

A Very Charming Coloured Plate

And Many Special Illustrations.

DON'T MISS IT—ORDER NOW—DON'T MISS IT.

Exhibitors: Remember that entries for the L.C.B.A's. splendid show at the Horticultural Hall must be posted to-day (Friday) or Saturday at latest, to be in time.

Mr. J. W. Coutts, hon. sec. of the Newcastle-on-Tyne East End C.B.S., the first meeting of which is reported in our Club Reports columns, writes that owing to unforeseen circumstances, the next meeting will be held on Thursday, Nov. 27, instead of Wednesday, Nov. 26, as arranged.

Will fanciers who have received our show schedule kindly note a slight mistake, writes Mr. J. Williams, hon. sec. Denbigh show. Colour-fed birds are allowed to compete in any of the classes, except 3 and 4, which are for natural colour birds only. I hope fanciers will send us plenty of exhibits.

We have, writes Mr. F. Price, hon. sec. Walsall C.B.S., engaged the Assembly Hall of the Y.M.C.A. and the Temperance Hall for the Roller section, both rooms are most suitable for the purpose. We have the patronage of the M.C.Y.C.C. and the B.R.C.C., with the young birds competition and London team challenge cup. Mr. Jacquemin will judge Rollers, and Mr. J. H. Roe all others.

Kindly allow me to speak a few words in praise of Sheffield bird show and its management, writes Mr. Robert Holmes (Nottingham). I have visited very many good shows during my thirty five years exhibiting, but this certainly excelled all others. One thing I noticed which would greatly benefit other societies who followed the example; they showed kindness to those fanciers who cannot afford to buy expensive birds by having four selling classes, a 30s. class, a 20s. class, a 10s. class, and a 7s. 6d. class, well filled with 91 birds.

A very nice show is being held by the Highgate & Hampstead C.B.S. this week-end (Friday and Saturday) in the Spencer Hall, Dartmouth Park Hill, N.W. It is easily accessible by tube (Tufnell Park Station) and motor-'bus. On Monday next (Nov. 24) what promises to be a most enjoyable concert will be held in the same hall. Some excellent artistes have been engaged, and the prizes will be distributed; commences 8 p.m. The committee hope to see a good muster of members and friends at both functions.

In the report of Sheffield Show 2nd in Amateur Buff hen, should read Fildes, not Paliser.

We have received an order for 18 "Nutshell" Booklets, together with remittance, but without name and address; will sender kindly communicate the latter and the booklets shall be sent on.

A Ringed Linnet.

I caught a cock Linnett, at Pensnett, early in November, wearing a Witherby ring, No. 053, writes Mr. J. Jeavons (Dudley, Worc.). It was in a flock of birds.

Two Esteemed Workers.

Two of the hardest workers at the recent Paignton (Torbay O.S.) show were Messrs. G. Mudge and J. Bastard, both enthusiastic and esteemed members of the committee.

Yorkshire Union of C.B.S.

A meeting of the Council will be held at the Bradford City show, Leeds Road, Bradford, on Nov. 22, at 5.30 o'clock prompt; business, to ballot for judges, 1914-15, writes Mr. H. Hill, the hon. sec.

A Good One Changes Hands.

I have disposed of the unflighted buff Norwich, 1st Leicester, 2nd Nottingham, etc., to Mr. W. Vardy, at a good figure, and hope it will do him good service, writes Mr. E. H. Hulse (Leicester).

Changes of Address.

We are asked to notify the following changes of address: M. Briscoe and Son from St. Peter's Road to 54, Eton Road, Stockton-on-Tees; Mr. F. Barraclough from Hyde to Victoria Hotel, Newtonwood, Dukinfield.

Bradford National Show.

Exhibitors in the Bradford district should note that the committee of the Bradford National show take entries on Nov. 27 at the "Market Tavern," Godwin Street, from 7 to 11 p.m.; same can be sent, or taken personally.

Prize Money Paid.

We hear that prize-money has been paid in respect of the following shows. Anyone overlooked should apply to the various secretaries: Hartlepools, Matlock, Upper Rhondda, Swansea, Warrington, Sittingbourne, Leyton, Abersychan, Blaydon, Stoke, S. Milford.

Abersychan's Pluck.

I have paid all prize money, writes Mr. Fred Sweeting, sec. Abersychan Show; also our committee has awarded first prize money in some classes that came up anything near the mark and called in the second card—they have paid up to the full limit their funds would allow. We are hoping to do a lot better next year.

Praise for Abertillery.

Very appreciative letters have been received by the officials of the recent Abertillery show, congratulating them on the excellent management and the promptitude with which the prize-money was paid. Amongst others, those well-known fanciers, Mr. W. Jeremiah and Mr. W. F. Lloyd-James, wrote expressing their thanks to the sec., Mr. G. Broome.

The Halifax Disqualification.

We hear that the Yorkshire Union Council meet to-day (Saturday) to again consider the matter of the Yorkshire Canary which was disqualified at the recent Halifax Show by the judge, Mr. C. A. House. The bird examined by the committee has been in the possession of the president of the Y.U. (Mr. H. W. Walsh) since the closing day of the show.

A Cup for Clackmannanshire.

A handsome challenge cup has been presented for competition at Clackmannanshire C.B.S. Show on Dec. 6, writes Mr. W. W. Duncan, the sec.; and annually thereafter, by Walter Graham Montgomery, Esq., prospective Unionist candidate. This year it is to be competed for in the British and Foreign section, for most points.

The Great Horticultural Hall Show.

It is with much pleasure we are able to announce that Lady Kathleen Pilkington will open the Horticultural Hall Show on Nov. 27, write Messrs. Bray and Knight, the show managers. Visitors to the show are requested to enquire at their local stations for particulars of special excursions to London. The following companies are all running day and half-day trips at cheap fares, from a long list of towns too numerous to mention: Great Western, Great Northern, London and North Western, South Eastern and Chatham, Great Central, and the Midland. In addition to the long list of specials in schedule we have had a number of additional ones sent to us: Silver cup in Yorkshires; additional special for F.B.C., and F.B.E.L. members'; £1 cash for L. and L.F.A. members', and also extra specials for British. Entries are coming in very slowly. Why is it that exhibitors leave everything to the last minute? We are compelled to extend acceptance until this week-end, those bearing Saturday's postmark (Nov. 22) will be in time. Will exhibitors please send on at once. (67, St. Dunstan's Road, Hammersmith London, W.)

MAKING MONEY FAST!

YOU will do the same if you advertise next week.

"Thanks to advertising in your CAGE BIRDS, I have sold 30 birds in about a fortnight."—J. W. DAVIS (Bedminster).

"I had a very good response to my last advertisement in CAGE BIRDS."—A. J. A. MARLEY (Leyton).

"I had from a dozen replies upwards when advertising in CAGE BIRDS," writes MR. W. Lidgett, Hon. Sec. Newark C.B.S.—"I sent to — a week ago and never had a single reply."

"I have this week exported both Yorkshire Greens and Clears to Australia, Montreal and Pepinster (Belgium), and all orders came through your far-reaching paper, CAGE BIRDS."—J. W. METCALFE (Liverpool).

"The number of replies to my last week's advt. in CAGE BIRDS were so numerous that I could not possibly answer them all. The hen Hawfinch, 1st Norwich, has won for its new owner 1st Stamford Show, held recently."—E. W. COOPER (Norwich).

"The Hawfinch is sold; letters have been too numerous to answer; all those that sent stamp I have answered and I have returned all P.O.'s. Bird was sold on Saturday. I wish to thank through CAGE BIRDS all that applied."—A. J. BEACON (Maidstone).

"Kindly thank all those who applied for my White Robin. I had so many applications it was impossible to reply to all. Bird was sold by telegram Friday morning, before I received CAGE BIRDS, which I have taken from its birth."—J. COCKRAM (Dawlish).

"Referring to my advertisement in CAGE BIRDS in Exchange Column, will you please cancel it at once. I have had so many applicants that I cannot reply to all, and would beg you to permit me to thank them through your paper."—F. CALAM (Whitby).

"Allow me to thank all those gentlemen who so kindly replied to my advertisement of November 8th. I had so many letters I could not possibly answer all. It speaks well for your paper, CAGE BIRDS, as I had replies from all parts of the country."—H. PAYNE (Warminster).

Some mistakes occur in the catalogue of Leyton show re Messrs. Gill and Pethick's entries, write Messrs. Forse and Son, hon. secs. These were added to the proof sheets, and the printers missed them:—Class 4, no entry for Gill and Pethick; 5, No. 5 should be Gill and Pethick, S.N.P.C. cup; 7, No. 5 the word cupis omitted.

Entries Extended.

Pontypridd to first post 24th; Reading to first post Nov. 24; Pentrebach to Nov. 24; Tonbridge to Nov. 25; Goole to Nov. 24; Bristol Saturday post, Nov. 22.

Money in the Bank at Kirkcaldy.

Your reporter, when commenting on the grand show we had at Kirkcaldy, said he would be pleased to hear of a financial success, and I am pleased to be able to state, writes Mr. T. Arnott, the sec., that after all accounts have been paid, we have a profit of £11 8s. 5d. We were in debt to the extent of £2 7s.; this I have cleared by this year's income. We had our business meeting last Wednesday, and all were highly satisfied with the year's result. We had an excellent committee, which were all re-elected; also pres., Mr. Archibald; vice-pres., Mr. Thos. Adamson; sec. and treas., T. Arnott; assist. sec., Master J. L. Arnott.

Items from Sheffield Show.

What rare good enthusiasts, to be sure, are Dr. Craig, Mr. T. Dawn and Mr. R. Colton; how they worked! Mr. G. Fletcher looked to the wants of the Foreigners, and along with Mr. J. A. T. Woodall, lost a lot of rest during show time, working night and day.—Mr. J. C. Barnes, we noticed, passed many hours at the show, and met hosts of friends from far and near.—Mr. J. W. Ramsden, the manager of the Crystal Palace show, we overheard giving many useful hints.—Who were those three Bradford experts, who chuckled over that 10s. "pick-up"?—How Mr. H. H. Towers enjoyed himself; all smiles.—Mr. E. Fox (Long Eaton) was looking over the birds as keenly as ever; "Teddy" knows a Norwich when he sees one.—Did the talking Parrakeet capture the special without uttering a word?—it was the only entry!—What a pity those two fine exhibits of Mr. J. Brotherton met with such a fate; "wrong-classed."—Dr. J. G. Mylan was very interested in the Foreigners.—How the ladies flocked to see the birds!—Mr. Job hardly ever left his post; his motto was "daly."

THE MASTER SINGER OF THE CANARY TRIBE

By J. TOMLINSON

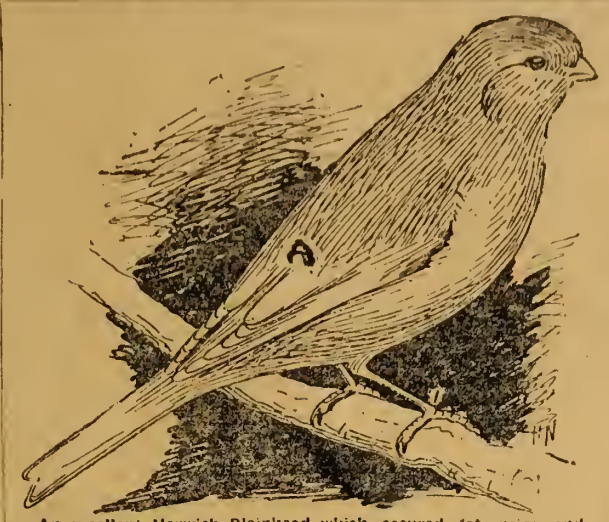
How to keep the Roller Canary in health, to breed for pleasure and profit, and train for exhibition.



If these precautions are taken, or even otherwise, it is not advisable to render any assistance in aiding the young bird to escape from the shell, for a touch on the inner skin covering will cause the chick to bleed. I have known of a few instances where a chick has hatched out, and afterwards lived, after an accident of this kind, but it almost invariably proves fatal.

In one instance the result was so exceptional that it will probably be of interest. Having two hens due to hatch their eggs on the same date, I found that after the infertile ones were removed from each nest, one hen would manage the five remaining eggs. While transferring them to one nest, using thumb and finger instead of a spoon, my attention was called elsewhere, and unconsciously pressure was placed on one egg, causing it to break right round the edge of the chick, puncturing the skin and causing it to bleed slightly. I replaced the broken shell, to "wait and see," and the youngster hatched the same day—and survived!

The Lucky (or Unlucky) 13th Day.

On the morning of the 13th day of incubation a small quantity of egg-food can be given to the hen; a bare half-teaspoonful will be sufficient. It should be placed in a separate earthenware or glass vessel, rather than amongst the seed—egg-food pans, specially made for the purpose, can be obtained through any fanciers' provider. If the young do not hatch on the 13th day, a similar quantity of egg-food should again be given on the morning of the 14th day. When the fancier becomes more experienced, this precaution will be unnecessary, as he will then, before providing the egg-food, either wait for the signs of egg-shells on the cage bottom (which the hen has removed from the nest, or the faint sounding "chip-chip," will warn him that youngsters are hatched. The young birds are born with their bodies covered with down, but this is likely to pass unnoticed until they become dry; then, in a healthy chick, it will be noticed that this down is, so to speak, standing on end, giving the young birds the appearance of "balls of fluff."

The best egg-food for day-old chicks is the finely minced yolk of egg; this it may be convenient to supply, where only a few birds are kept, adding on the second day a little powdered biscuit, and afterwards gradually increasing the quantity of biscuit, until it reaches the proportion of the egg. After three days the white in addition to the yolk can be used. The fancier having a large stock would find the above method of giving only the yolk rather inconvenient and expensive. That it is not absolutely necessary is proved by the fact that the writer generally uses one quality of egg-food, viz., four biscuits to the whole of an egg, for young birds of all ages in the nests and up to the time they are in the breeding cage. After they can feed themselves it is more convenient, economical, and better for the health of the young birds, to add a little more biscuit to the egg-food; also to use a substitute for one meal during the day—but more anon regarding this latter.

An excellent Norwich Plainhead which secured 1st prize and special for best novice bird at the City and Suburban A.C.B. Show. Bred and exhibited by Mr. A. Fleet (Upton Park).

In the first few hours of a young bird's existence it is sustained by the yolk of the egg absorbed into its system previous to its leaving the shell. For several days after the hatching the hen will, after eating, retain the food, partially digesting it, until it becomes of a soft white, milky substance, before giving it to the young birds.

If plain canary-seed has been given as a staple diet during incubation, it can now be discontinued; and the mixed seed used again for, providing a larger variety, it will entice the hen to feed. A fresh supply of egg-food should be given three times a day. The quantity can be regulated by noticing if any is left from the previous supply. The birds will consume more previous to noon than during the rest of the day. A supply should be ready for them early in the morning; and if it is put in the cage over-night it must be newly made.

I only make egg-food once per day, keeping it in a cool place, and if the weather becomes unusually hot, I stand the vessel containing the egg-food in a basin of cold water. This method can be considered a perfectly safe one, from the fact that it is a rarity for me to lose a youngster—that is, under a good feeding hen, or after they can do for themselves. Cases of stomach trouble will appear in the best regulated bird-rooms amongst the youngsters after leaving the nest.

At three days old a small leaf of dandelion, watercress, or a small spray of chickweed can be given; the introduction of green food should take place gradually, and it is better to under-do than over-do the quantity. I commence with just one small piece at a day old, giving one piece twice on the second day, and increasing it until a small leaf is given with each supply of egg-food. It is safer to give it in this way than to cut up a root of dandelion and place it or a bunch of some other variety of salad, in a vessel of water inside the cage, and allow the hen to help herself.

The Danger of too much Greenfood.

Too much salad—as the various kinds of green food are sometimes called—is often the cause of diarrhœa in nestlings. Where this occurs in young birds under a week old, the hen is unable to keep the nest clean. After this age the excreta is voided on or over the side of the nest-pan. The victim of this complaint loses flesh, becomes weakly, and the red colour found inside the mouth of the healthy chick gradually fades away to a pale cream or buff colour. As a preventative just a small pinch of maw seed can be sprinkled over the egg-food—one pinch per day. This will also be beneficial in other ways for the young birds, besides enticing the hen to partake of the egg-food. Young birds in the nest cannot be treated for diarrhœa like an old bird, as any remedy given for their benefit must necessarily pass first through the parent. In this case a little (grocer's) arrowroot should be mixed with the egg-food, and an extra pinch of maw seed be scattered over it each time fresh food is given. An ordinary salt-spoonful of (chemist's) prepared chalk can be well mixed in the drinking water. No green food should be given until the diarrhœa has abated.

Although dandelion is generally used up to the time the birds go to nest with the first round of eggs, the opinions of fanciers vary as to which is the most suitable green food when there are young birds in the nest. Dandelion is claimed to be of a forcing nature, causing a hen to come quickly forward again, often plucking the feathers from the young birds to build her second nest, before they are old enough to feed themselves. On these grounds many prefer to use watercress, chickweed, or lettuce, the former appearing to be the most favoured. (To be continued.)

HOW TO GET BIRDS INTO SHOW CONDITION.

Valuable Hints by that well-known fancier and judge, Mr. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield).

Of late I have received from several fanciers letters of enquiry as to the conditioning of show birds. Many of these applications, no doubt, have come from novices (or new starters, shall I say), so it is to these principally I wish to convey a little instruction. To answer each and every request separately takes time, of which one is not always blessed with too much to spare, so I thought a short article would meet the situation.

To begin with, all are fully aware of the great strain the moult puts on a bird, reducing its vitality to a great extent, especially if the moult has been slow and dragging. Birds appear mopy and dull—devoid of spirit—symptoms of nature crying out for assistance. My method of procedure has stood me in good stead for many, many years, failing only on very rare occasions, although so simple. I will with every pleasure describe it to known and unknown friends, and should benefit be derived by any one, the time spent in jotting down these few lines will be amply repaid.

What the Seeds Should Be.

The staple diet, of course, is Canary seed; I always use the best Spanish I can get hold of. At the present time this seed is awfully dear, and should the pocket not be deep enough to procure Spanish seed, buy the best Turkish, which comes a little cheaper. Twice a week I give a little mixed seed, viz., four parts Canary seed, one part German summer rape (not winter rape), half-part hemp seed, and half-part maw seed. The latter seed is one of my greatest favourites, and a pinch can be administered almost at any time; it is warming and has a fine soothing influence. Many birds can be brought up to concert pitch solely by using this most valuable seed along with the ordinary Canary seed.

To the drinking water can be added, say every other day, Parrish's Chemical Food (about a teaspoonful to every penny glass drinking vessel). This should when stirred up be port wine colour, or thereabouts.

Give also a little egg and bread food—that is egg which has been boiled hard (15 minutes or so) and chopped up fine, or pressed through a small sieve, with three times the quantity of bread crumbs (bread to be at least two days old) or crushed biscuits, whichever you prefer. Mix well together. To this add a small quantity of maw seed and a little soft sugar (either white or brown).

Something that Stimulates and Strengthens.

These ingredients I moisten (not too much, so as to clog) with a little of the following: Procure from your chemist one ounce of citrate of iron and ammonia, and get from your grocer (or elsewhere) one pint of the best port wine and one pound of the best honey (clover for preference). Heat the Port and put in the honey and citrate; stir thoroughly until completely dissolved. When cold bottle up tightly, and it is ready for use at any time you may require it.

Assuming you have got your soft food made as I advise and moistened (not too wet) with the port, etc., give to each bird, twice a week half a teaspoonful. The citrate and the port are stimulants, and strengtheners, and the honey assists the bowels. It is safe to use, sure in effect, and is not fattening, so can be given to either Norwich, Yorkshires, or any other variety, without the slightest fear of marring the symmetry of the birds. After this you will find in very quick time your stock in tip-top form.

As a further assistant to high condition, on bright days hang on the bath first thing in the morning (not late in the day). This gives the birds ample time to dry previous to daylight departing. Bathing is invigorating; it acts also as a tightener of the feathers. A little cuttlefish placed between the wires of the cage-front for the birds to peck at is also advisable; the salt it contains is very beneficial as a blood purifier.

Things to avoid: Don't give any inga (niger) seed. A little inga is all right just previous to the breeding season (especially for the hens). Don't give much green stuff. I use none myself during the winter months; it is far too relaxing. For a tit-bit give a little sweet apple, but be sure to take it away when going stale. Millet seed is no use whatever, so discard that. Linseed is all right whilst birds are moulting, for securing gloss (sheen), but is of little use at other times.

Keep the cages scrupulously clean and provide plenty of clean, gritty sand; give fresh water (along with seed) every day, and all will go well with you.

The Keeping of Foreign Birds.

As regards cages for exhibiting, I find that the best cage is the one with inside feeders with some kind of covering over the seed pot or drinker, so that when taken out by the steward it prevents the birds getting loose in the show room. A good colour to show off these birds is white enamel or very pale cream enamel. These colours show up the beautiful colouring of the foreign birds to perfection.

I do not know whether I am taking you on to a subject that you are likely to appreciate, but if you should be thinking of keeping Parrots or Parrakeets for exhibition purposes I will give you a few of the names of some which do well on the show bench, that is: The King Parrakeet, Crimson-wing Parrakeet, Pennant, Rosella, Redrump, Green Leek or Barraband's Parrakeet, Black-tailed Parrakeet, or Rock Pebblar, Alexandra, not the Alexandrine, etc. You can always depend on being amongst the prize winners if you can stage them to perfection.

The best stock mixture for the above birds is as follows: 1lb. white oats, 1lb. dari, 1lb. linseed, 2lb. hemp, 2lb. white millet, 3lb. Canary, 5lb. white sunflower, 1oz. chillies. This makes a mixture that nearly all the Parrots and Parrakeets feed and thrive on, only add more Canary, millet, and hemp to the food given to the Redrump. It is as well, as a tit-bit, to occasionally give them a few monkey nuts, banana, grapes, walnut, brazil, and barcelona nut. I have noticed that many of these Parrakeets will eat mealworms, and they are very beneficial to them, but don't give them many, as I think they make them have fits. My method of getting them on to mealworms is to pull the end off a mealworm and the birds will take the matter inside the skin out of your fingers; they will then ultimately take the mealworm from your fingers and eat it themselves.

The Good of a Hobby.

As regards Tanagers, Hangnests, Troupials, etc., my method of feeding is to give them sponge cake, condensed milk, a good brand of insectivorous food, maggots, mealworms, banana, and grape, but I find the sooner you get them off condensed milk and sponge cake the better for the birds. These are a class of birds that to be kept healthy must be cleaned out at least twice a week.

Now, Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen, I will draw my few remarks to a close. I don't see why, in a town like Sheffield, where to my knowledge we have at least 300 Canarymen, we only see in the societies as many members keeping foreign birds as you can count practically on the fingers of one hand. The hobby is, in my opinion, quite as interesting, and I feel more so, than any other. In your leisure hours to go into your bird-room and watch the different kinds of birds from various countries going through their mysteries of love-making, breeding, etc., is a thing that would pass away many a dull hour, and I think if we, as a body of men, could only persuade more people to take up this interesting hobby of keeping birds, there would be more comfortable homes for men to go to, as when a man gets interested thoroughly in this subject he feels that every moment of his time that is not devoted to work can be spent beneficially to body and mind in his bird-room.

Questions and Answers.

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS

Queries will be answered under the following conditions:—

(1)—All questions must be clearly written in ink (or typewritten) on one side of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist or a pseudonym, or initials.

(2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper, and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

(3)—Queries intended for different specialists must not be written on the same sheet of paper.

(4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructions re advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

(5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left-hand corner of the query.

(6)—If an answer in the same week's issue is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attention they are likely to have.

(7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and an addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on receipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

(8)—All who desire letters of complaint written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclose a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this source will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Childrens' Fund (London).

(9)—All queries must be addressed to the Editor, "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C. only queries so sent will be answered. Postcards are not admissible.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

Canaries.—Claude St. John. Mules and Hybrids—H. Norman. British Birds—H. J. Fulljames. Foreign Birds—Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S.. Wild Bird Life—H. Norman.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc., of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his questions for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES

Answered by CLAUDE ST. JOHN.

A SINGER WANTED (Birdie).—The loudest singer is not necessarily the best. Mere noise is not usually one's ideal of music or good singing. Indeed, the Roller enthusiast is generally much more concerned to get his birds to sing softly enough to please his fancy. Decidedly the sweetest singer is the trained Roller, but it is certainly not the loudest. If you want a good quality singing bird, get a well-trained St. Andreasberg Roller. But if loudness is of more importance to you, a Norwich Plainhead, Yorkshire, or Hartz Mountain in the order named will suit you better. See reply to "R. I. G." in this issue.

NOT SINGING (T. E. S.).—I would certainly advise you in this case to bring the bird into your living room, and hang it in as bright a position as you can consistent with keeping at a sufficient distance from the fire to ensure a fair equable temperature, and you need not aim at finding the coolest place, nor yet get it too warm. A just comfortable warmth will be rather an advantage at this bird's age. Treat it as advised to "E. Lewis" in this issue for two or three weeks, and let the mixed seed consist of equal parts hemp, niger, miliet, and teazel. Also make a little of the paste you will find advised to "Novice, E. T.," last week, and keep a morsel of this in the wires for a week or two.

SORE FEET (Flaxton).—See that the perches and cage floor are kept as clean as possible until the feet are well. Bathe them once daily in a solution of Wych Hazel—a teaspoonful of the extract in a saucerful of warm water. After bathing for a few minutes, dry carefully, and then paint the feet all over with a feather dipped in Friar's Balsam, and hold the bird for a few moments to allow the sting to pass off, and thus prevent the bird pecking at them. If this does not have the desired effect in a week or so, write again and say whether there is any sign of pus—"matter"—about the sores.

BLIND CRESTBRED (W. T. H.).—Am sorry to disappoint you, but there is absolutely nothing you can do to relieve the bird. Also I must say that the bird's career as a show bird is over, as it would simply be passed unnoticed at every show it went to, unless, as is not very likely to happen, the judge failed to notice its affliction. The reason for this is that it was decided years ago that blind birds were not eligible for show. Furthermore, the disease shows a very strong hereditary tendency, so that it is exceedingly unwise, to say the least, to breed with a bird so affected.

MOULTING AND NOT SINGING (E. Lewis).—The noise in the bird's throat now and again, taken in conjunction with the continual loss of feathers, is significant. The bird is undoubtedly exposed to cold draughts or impure air, such as hanging near or over a burning light in the evening, or high up near the ceiling. These conditions must be altered before you can expect any improvement in the bird's condition. Place it in a comfortable position where the temperature is fairly equable, though it need not be very high, and see that it is quite free from cold draughts. Also examine the cage to see if it is infested with red mites, and if any are found overhaul the cage and thoroughly exterminate them. In addition to the seed diet, give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion and four of sherry well mixed with it, and sprinkled with maw seed, every second day for a fortnight. On the alternate days, twice each week, give a pinch of mixed seed, and three times a week a morsel of banana or watercress. In the drinking water add the eucalyptus mixture advised to "R. F. M., Dublin," in this issue, every second day for two or three weeks, and on the alternate days give twenty drops of a solution of half a drachm of ammoniated citrate of iron in one ounce of sherry, and continue the latter until the feathers cease dropping. If not well in, say, a month, write again, and I will advise you further with pleasure.

SAMPLE OF CANARY SEED (Notts County).—The sample of seed sent is rather small, but it is fairly plump, clean, and very well ripened, and being also quite sound and sweet, it is quite good enough for any class of stock, though a larger seed is the most economical.

A NIBBLER (Chemist).—It may be nothing more than a harmless habit that your hen has contracted during the quiet season, when she has so little else to do. Many birds get into these habits of constantly nibbling stray feathers or any other trifle that comes in their way simply, it would seem, from a sense of ennui. Unless you were to actually see worms in the droppings upon watching for them I do not advise you to treat the bird for them. Instead of doing so, catch the bird and examine her well to see if she is pestered with grey lice, and, if so, exterminate these, and the annoying habit will cease at once. If there is no trouble of this kind, stick a small cube of hard common salt in the wires for her to peck at for a time, and also give a morsel of banana, or sweet orange, or apple, every second day, and a scrap of watercress on the alternate days for a week or two. If you have any available, a mealworm each day for a time will almost invariably cure this habit. You may give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much sulphate of soda as will cover a sixpence in the water for one day, and afterwards four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and dilute sulphuric acid daily for three or four days.

HUSKING AND REJECTING SEED (Jonathan).—It is due to some digestive derangement. Keep cage floor strewn with clean gritty sand. A cube of common salt in the wires and a mealworm occasionally, as advised to "Chemist" in this issue, is also useful. Give a staple diet of three parts canary seed to one part summer rape mixed together. In addition to this, give separately a morsel of bread soaked in cold milk, drained, and sprinkled with maw seed daily for a week, and every second day after for another fortnight; or you may cease sooner if the habit has ceased. On the intervening days give first a morsel of banana, and on the next occasion a small teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, niger, millet, and teazle, and a small spray of watercress. In the water give as much Epsom salts as will cover a sixpence and six drops of syrup of rhubarb every second day for a week, and afterwards four drops of tincture of gentian, and ditto of tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid every second day for a fortnight.

RETURNING SOFT FROM SHOW (A. S.).—Possibly the bird got a little cold either at the show or in transit to or fro. It is a good plan to isolate birds for a day or so when returning from shows to see whether they exhibit any signs of illness before placing them amongst your other stock. If they appear soft, they should be kept in a comfortable temperature, given a morsel of egg food, or bread and milk sprinkled with soft sugar each day for a few days, and add to the drinking water twenty drops of Chemical Food every second day, and on the alternate days the gentian tonic as advised to "Jonathan" in this issue. This will suffice to pull the birds together if nothing serious has gone wrong with them.

BUILDING A STRAIN (E. L.).—To go into the details of building up a strain of birds, which I take it you mean a strain of your own breeding, is impossible in the limited space of these replies. You cannot do better than treat yourself to a copy of "Our Canaries," or the part or parts dealing with the particular variety you wish to take up. The initial step is, of course, to choose what variety you want to go in for, then you should proceed to get two or three pairs, or trios, of stock birds from a recognised breeder of that variety, as distantly related as possible, and, of course, properly matched by him. At this time you should also enquire of him as to what other strains mix best with his own when change of blood is needed, and then you can work on these strains to work up your own. This will save you much useless effort and disappointment, as all strains will not combine with the same amount of success. As you also wish to have a ready sale for wasters, you cannot do better than begin with Norwich, Yorkshires, or Border Fancy, all of which are hardy, easy to manage, popular, and good singers. The parts of "Our Canaries" dealing with these varieties are, respectively, 14, 15, and 16.

should consult St. John's "Canary Breeding for Beginners" (7d.); House's "Canary Manual" (1/2); Battye's "Yorkshire Canaries" (1/1½); House's "Norwich Canaries" (1/1); Weston's "Stock Book" (7d.); Dr. Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); Dr. Creswell's "Hygiene of Bird-keeping (1/1); Norman's "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); Ramsden's "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); "Seeds and Foods for Cage Birds" (1/2); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each! No. 5 "The Pet Canary," No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure them," No. 9 "The Disinfection of Cages, Bird-rooms, etc.," No. 10 "The Roller," No. 23 "The Border Fancy," No. 24 "Green Canaries." All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free, from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London E.C.

NOT MOULTED FOR TWO YEARS (F. G. S.).—Assuming you are sure the bird has not moulted gradually at the proper season, nor in the spring, there must be something seriously wrong with her. To try and get her to moult, hand-wash her, or get someone skilled at the job to do it for you if you are not expert at the job yourself, and use the waters a little warmer than usual. Keep in a fairly warm temperature, but free from draughts, and in addition to the usual seed diet give a morsel of bread and milk dusted with flour of sulphur and then sprinkled with soft sugar, every second day for a week, and on the alternate days add to the drinking water five drops of syrup of saffron, twenty drops of whiskey, and as much chlorate of potash as will cover a sixpence. At the end of the week move the bird into a distinctly colder room, and stop giving the drugs, and, of course, you must be very careful to avoid draughts in the cold room. In all probability this will start the moult in the course of a week or so, and then, when it is fairly started, you can bring the bird back to a moderately warm place to keep the moult going and get it through as quickly and completely as possible. Keep a light cover over the cage whilst the bird is in the cold room and moulting.

A SUCKING NOISE (R. F. M., Dublin).—I should have thought the bird was suffering from a catarrhal cold had you not mentioned the similarity of the symptoms to those of the one that died in which the throat became swollen. Considering this case, I would advise you, in the event of the present sufferer dying, to send the body to our Mr. Yates for post-mortem. Meantime, try what the following treatment will do for it:—See that the place where it is kept is quite free from cold draughts, damp, or impure air. In addition to the staple diet give a half-teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with four drops of sherry and two of cod-liver oil emulsion mixed in it and sprinkled with maw seed every second day for a fortnight, and a morsel of banana on the alternate days. In the drinking water add twenty drops of whiskey, five each of oxymel of squills, and ipecac. wine, and two of oil of eucalyptus, well shaken together, every second day for a fortnight, and on the intervening days substitute twenty drops of a solution of half a drachm of ammoniated citrate of iron and quinine in one ounce of sherry.

ROLLER SINGING, ETC. (R. I. G.).—You should get the "Nutshell" Booklet No. 10, post free, 2½d., for full particulars about feeding Rollers. You certainly ought not to give them egg food every day just because they are fond of it. A small teaspoonful twice a week is quite sufficient for all ordinary purposes, and this can be varied occasionally with a morsel of bread and milk, given as a substitute and not in addition to the egg food. An open wire cage is also most injudicious, and should be strictly avoided unless the bird is in a position perfectly free from cold draughts, and also in a fairly equable place. A box cage—that is, one in which the top, bottom, and both sides are of wood, leaving only the front of wire—is the best. If the bird is young, it will almost certainly sing more loudly in the spring, but a really good trained Roller is scarcely expected to excel in loudness; neither, I should say, is that the type of bird that is likely to prove most attractive in your shop. If a loud rollicking song is of first importance, you cannot do better than get a Hartz Mountain at from 5s. to 7s. 6d., but you must not expect a very high-class performance. They are as hardy as any variety you can get. A mixture of two parts canary to one part summer rape is a good staple diet. As regards your other question, I take it you want me to say which of the two varieties mentioned will suit your conditions best, though you write as if you had already decided which you want. If you took the precautions to get a bird which has been bred and kept hitherto in a normal temperature, a Belgian would suit the conditions quite well, and so would a Scotch Fancy. There is very little to choose between the two in hardiness. Neither are of much account as songsters.

BREEDING EVEN MARKED (Amethyst).—(1) No, I do not consider this mating of two wing-marked birds a quite suitable one to fix the eye marks. It is more likely to produce birds with very heavily marked wings and more variegation than you desire in other places. You do not say what amount of dark blood there is in the birds, beyond the remark that the cock is off a clear hen, and this, of course, is of considerable importance in a case of this kind. I cannot do better than advise you to get parts 14 and 15 of "Our Canaries," in which you will find full details of all points about even-marked breeding. (2) The type of markings you should strictly avoid in mating up for even-marks are those with dark marks on the head, except eye-marks, which may, of course, be more or less imperfect, and marks on the neck, breast, and back. (3) In-breeding with unrelated birds of the same strain for one or even two seasons will do no harm, but it is best for a beginner not to carry it any farther, as it must be apparent that birds of any distinct strain must, of necessity, be related to some extent all through. (4) Yes, in-breeding is essential to some degree in building up a strain of birds of any kind, and more so in even-marked breeding than almost any other class of bird. But one must be careful how one goes about it, as it is apt to prove a kind of two-edged sword and fix and exaggerate faults as well as the points desired.

BRITISH BIRDS, MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Answered by H. NORMAN.

GOLDFINCH FOR BREEDING (H. B.).—If you take the average you will find that the British Finch is the better bird, both for breeding and song. They are smarter and more lively, and are quicker to reply to the call of the hen in the breeding season, and when in health are capital songsters. I would advise you to use English hens, as you will be less likely to be disappointed. You should have no trouble in inducing them to go to nest, if placed in suitable flights and properly treated.

LINNETS AND REDPOLLS (John Harvey).—I have known pairs of both the Linnets and Redpoll to breed in captivity. They are most likely to do so in suitably arranged aviaries or large flights, and the more space each pair has quite by itself, the greater the chances are of success. But as both these species are purchaseable for a few pence, it is hardly worth trying excepting for the pleasure of doing it.

IDENTITY OF BIRD (H.S.).—By your letter I gather that you only saw the back and wings of the bird. I know of none quite answering to your description. The Nuthatch is the nearest, and he has a bluish grey back and wings, with reddish underparts; but he is more likely to be met with in a wood than on a common. I remember some years ago having a similar query to yours; after a time the strange bird was shot, and sent up, when it was easily identified as one of the Tanagers. Possibly your bird is an escaped Forcigner. Try and get another peep at him, with field glasses, if possible, and take particular notice of his markings, colour, and manner of moving.

WILD SEEDS FOR FINCHES (C. E. L.).—The sample of seed sent is certainly rather better than the usual collection from the thrashing machine. As a rule one gets only a very limited variety, whereas yours contains many minute seeds that are generally lost. You can give them to your Finches, but as there appears to be a considerable quantity of dirt in with it, I would advise you to throw some occasionally into the aviary or large flight, and let the birds select what they choose. Do not attempt to force them to eat it. I am afraid that if you try to sift any of the dirt out of the sample, you will lose most of the small seeds, which will render the collection of far less value. I have used these screenings myself at different times, although I prefer hand-picked seeds.

LINNET OFF SONG (Bird Fancier).—You do not say how you are treating your bird, nor the way in which you are feeding him, or I might be able to indicate the weak spot in your management. You had better put him on to the following diet: Stock mixture: Two parts canary and one of summer rape. Then make up the following: Hemp two parts, niger one part, teasle one part, linseed half part. Also, either buy a good brand of wild seed mixture, or make up the following:—Thistle, dandelion, maw, gold of pleasure, and lettuce, equal quantities. Give him a teaspoonful of one of these mixtures on alternate days. Put it in a vessel by itself, not with the stock mixture. Let him bathe very frequently, and on mild sunny days hang him outside for an hour or two. With this treatment you should soon see an improvement in his song. A little green food or seeding tops of chickweed should be given about twice a week.

BLACKBIRD OUT OF CONDITION (R.J.C.).—Your bird is evidently a rather weakly one, and quite out of condition. You will have to take him in hand and be very careful in your treatment if you want him to be of any future use. As regards food, discontinue the liver and crissel and give instead a little raw fresh scraped lean meat, see that it is perfectly fresh and not the slightest bit tainted, and I would advise you to get some of the best insectile food you can procure, and use it for a time instead of your present food. Before putting him on this fresh diet give him a dose of syrup of rhubarb and glauber salts, six drops of the former and a crystal of the salts the size of a pea in his drinking water; let him have a couple of doses of this, missing one day in between. Afterwards you could let him have six drops of tincture of gentian every day for a week, this should act as a tonic and brace him up. When you are mixing his food damp it with fresh milk or some made fairly strong with condensed milk, and occasionally let him have a cube of stale bread soaked in hot milk and squeeze fairly dry. Keep his cage scrupulously clean, not forgetting the perches, and if his plumage is dirty and he refuses to bath, spray him with chilled water and put him in a warm room to preen and dry.

ROBIN IN AVIARY (E.G.B.).—Yes, your Robin will live on the food you mention or any good make of insectile food, he should also have a few meal worms or a tiny scraping of lean meat. I should not advise you to attempt anything in the way of breeding with him and a partner in your aviary along with other birds. The Robin is a delightful pet but a terrible tyrant with other birds, and a partner would make him considerably worse so that he would want the whole of the show to himself; he may not assert himself much now, but he would when the spring comes round. You can soon tame him sufficiently to accept dainties from the hand.

All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

FINCHES IN CAGE (Southamptonian).—Your cage is none too large for a collection of Finches, but those that you have in it should do well. If you have any trouble with them and they turn out quarrelsome you had better remove the hen Siskin. Your feeding is about right, excepting that I would advise you to put in a few sunflower seeds every day, they will make a nice variety and the Goldie, Bullie, and Greenfinch are passionately fond of them, and thrive well when allowed to have some. A spoonful of good teasel seed would be useful, if given occasionally. As regards green food, now the weather is mild you can still procure seeding chickweed and groundsel. If they have a little twice a week during the winter months it should be sufficient, but be careful not to give it to them when there is any frost on it. A cold room is certainly best for them.

FINCHES FOR AVIARY (O. J. Stone).—Siberian Goldfinches should be kept caged and properly acclimatized before they are turned into an outside aviary, and even then I would prefer an English bird for constitution and hardiness. If the birds have been caged some time and are perfectly healthy they could be put into a sheltered aviary now, although I would prefer to turn them out in the spring, when they would have the best time of the year before them. A pair of English birds would be more likely to nest, and if they are the only two of the species to go into the aviary they would require no special pairing, as they would naturally seek each others society. Unless your aviary is exceptionally large you would not have much success with other bachelor finches flying about. Your best plan would be to turn in 2 or 3 pairs, or odd cocks, and some Bullfinch hens. In the latter event you might possibly breed one or two good Hybrids.

SINGING BIRDS (Amateur).—If properly treated, and not allowed to breed, all the birds you mention will sing, more or less, from soon after the moult until they are sickening for the moult again. During that time all birds have their periods of silence, particularly the two Softbills you mention, the Thrush and Skylark. Of the two, the Skylark will be the most consistent singer. Of the other batch, the Canary Hybrids will give you more of their music than the others. The singing of the birds is regulated by their state of health and general treatment.

SHOW CAGES (A. W. W.).—(1) There is no actual standard size for show cages for exhibiting the larger British birds each individual exhibitor having his own idea, but there is a certain uniformity about them, as most cage makers make show cages for these birds pretty much of one pattern. The one for a Thrush would be about 20 inches long, sixteen high, and ten wide; for a Jay, twenty-four inches long; and a Magpie should be allowed another couple of inches on account of his tail, which should be in perfect condition to do any good on the show bench. (2) The Softbills you mention would do in your attic equally as well as outside. They do not require artificial heat, but plenty of good food during the winter months. If the outside building is at all damp, I should prefer the attic. Dampness does not appear to affect birds out in the open, but in a closed in place it is certainly detrimental to their health, unless it is freely ventilated.

A ROOM FOR FINCHES (Gostick).—The room you have would do admirably for Finches, but you must keep them as cool as you can, and give plenty of fresh air, without draughts. This is a rather difficult matter to arrange in a room used as an aviary, because all the birds delight to get in the window, and are consequently mostly sitting in a draught. You had better arrange your perches some distance away, and if you can ventilate the room by knocking out a couple of bricks in the wall and covering with perforated zinc, so much the better. For perches, there is nothing to equal a branch or two of a tree. Place these about the room; see that you have plenty; it prevents quarrelling. The best shrub you can use is a box tree or two in tubs, or big pots. Have an extra one out in the garden, so as to occasionally change it with the one inside. If you give plenty of green food, they will not injure the shrubs much. You could allow fifty birds to fly loose; but do not crowd. You will get more pleasure from a few clean, healthy specimens than a lot in only fair condition. Spread a sack over the floor when you give them a bath, particularly during the winter months; it prevents dampness.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S.

COST OF ZEBRA FINCH HENS (F. J. Johns).—The cause is very obvious when you know the facts. Of the young Zebra Finches, bred in captivity, seventy-five per cent, or more, are cocks, and from various causes mortality is greater among hens than cocks; thus the matter resolves itself into a mere case of supply and demand.

CORDON BLEU (B. K. G.).—The better plan will be to keep this bird caged up and solitary, or with other hens, as after you have treated her with warmth it will not do to put her out again till next spring. You could give her a little crumbled sponge cake and add a few dried ants' eggs to the seed mixture. Also as she will not take green food try her with a little fruit, such a sweet apple of banana. The only way you can hope to check the continuous egg laying is to keep it in a cage without nest receptacle, or building material of any kind, and, also keep her out of sight of the males, this procedure should have a tendency to check the trouble.

CORRECT NAME (Cornwall).—The popular name is Bare-eyed Cockatoo, and its scientific name Cacatua gymnopis. It is a native of South Australia, and a hardy species in this country, when once acclimatised. A seed mixture of canary, white millet, hemp, dari, oats, wheat, maize, and sunflower seed, about equal parts of each (well mixed) is a good mixture for this species. If it cares for it keep a tin of canary seed in the cage. In addition to the seed diet you must supply nuts, fruit, greenfood, and plain biscuits, or dry crusts of household bread, also grit, cuttlebone, and water regularly. Wood in some form should be kept in the cage for it to exercise its mandibles upon. It should get plenty of light and air, but must be kept out of draught.

AILING PARROT (Mrs. L. A. Fenner).—Your bird will always be out of sorts while it gets its present improper dietary. Gradually stop the table scraps, tea, etc., and substitute a wholesome dietary, and the bird should gradually recover condition, but after ill-treatment for so long, it will necessarily be a work of time. Confine the dietary to seed mixture, fruit, nuts, plain biscuits, stale crusts, and greenfood. This will give ample change, and the bird should do well upon it once it has become accustomed to the change. For a week put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's magnesia into its drinking-water every other day, then for another month give the same quantity twice weekly. After the first week, you can put half a teaspoonful of byno-phosphates in the drinking-water on the days you are not giving the magnesia. Get a bottle of cod-liver-oil emulsion and spread this thinly over a piece of stale bread, it will help the bird, and also assist in reconciling it to the changed diet. If it has been accustomed to sops, then it will be permissible to lightly moisten a piece of bread or biscuit with a mixture of tepid water and the byno-phospbates. You had better get our Nutshell, "The Grey Parrot," 2½d. from our manager, it will help you as to treating the bird after the present indisposition is past. Report progress a month hence.

WHAT BIRD (S. M. Wilson).—I make out the birds you describe to be African Bib Finches (Spermestes nana), though your description does not cover all the parts of its body, but I have little doubt but what it is as above. It is the smallest of the Mannikin group, it can be kept in a mixed series and breeds fairly freely in an aviary, where it does well on the ordinary menu supplied to such collections, living largely upon seeds, though not at all averse to a little live food.

AVADAVATS BALD (W. Williams).—There is only one course open to you, viz., to put each bald bird in a separate cage till the plumage is properly renewed, it will not he so while they remain all together, as Waxbills seem to regard it as their mission in life, once any of their fellow captives become bald to keep them so! The only remedy is separation and keeping only fully plumaged together. A course of phosphates and an occasional laxative is about all you can do to help matters. Keep a millet spray continually in the cage, also the usual seeds and green food. Warmth, by this I do not mean a hothouse, will aid the growth of new plumage and keep the birds comfortable.

IN BAD PLUMAGE (B. F. Mann).—This bird is evidently plucking itself and has probably been improperly dieted, but you give me no details of your treatment. Spray it weekly with a tepid quassia solution but guard against a chill while plumage is moist. Put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in its drinking water every fourth day, and on intervening days put half a teaspoonful of Byno-phosphates in the drinking water. Confine its diet to seed mixture, fruit, nuts, plain biscuit, and greenfood. The biscuit may be moistened, but use only water and phosphates for the purpose. Only lightly moisten; do not saturate, dust the moistened biscuit with flowers of sulphur before supplying to the bird. Do not give any tea, coffee, or milk sops, table scraps, or any kind of animal food whatever. The following forms a good seed mixture: One quart each Canary, white millet, and white oats; one pint each hemp, paddy rice, dari, and sunflower seeds; half a pint each of maize, pea (monkey) nuts, and a gill of chillies—well mix and store in dust proof tins in a dry place. Report progress in a month.

BUDGERIGARS (E. G. S. S. S.).—Some Budgerigars will attempt to breed in their first year, but it is not wise to let them do so. In the year following their birth they should go to nest freely and should prove prolific. They may be allowed to continue breeding till their young begin to show signs of deterioration, but the latter will not be likely to occur if a little new blood is introduced every other year—the endurance of birds is very variable, but after three or four years of breeding activity their progeny are not likely to be as robust as those from younger birds.

AVIARY QUERIES (S. Perry).—(1) I gather that your aviary is a very large indoor cage. Tits are not songsters, though they utter a few not unpleasant notes. Both the Alario Finch (Alario alario) and the Grey and Green Singing-finches (Serinus leucopygius and icterus) are good songsters, and as bachelors would all agree together in your aviary, they are all three on the market at the present time. (2) The Paradise Whydah takes little beyond seed, green food, and one or two mealworms per diem, while the moult lasts he might have one or two extra mealworms. Half a teaspoonful of Byno-phosphates in the drinking water every other day would be better than stimulants for your birds. You might put in a tin of crushed oats for such birds as care to help themselves to them. Lettuce, fresh, and with the ribs cut out, is a good winter green food, as also are Canary seedings, grown in a sunny window and supplied to the birds when about two inches high.

BLUE-FRONTED AMAZON (W.H.).—I am sorry to hear of your loss, and though pneumonia may possibly be the cause, I am of the opinion that it was some intestinal complaint that carried off your bird. I should advise, as a matter of precaution, well scalding out the cage, especially all crevices, with boiling water before using it for another bird. The temperature of any ordinary living room is ample for a Blue-front, though its cage must not stand in a draughty position. Foreign Finches can be kept out of doors in winter in your county, at least they are so kept, but of course the aviary must be erected to suit its northern situation, one third of the ground area to be open flight, and the other two-thirds to be equally given up to covered flight and shelter-house; the latter must be well lighted or the birds will not use it, and provision should be made, if needs be, that they may be shut off from the use of open flight during the worst months of the year.

RING-NECK PARRAKEETS, ETC. (W.J.G.)—(1) Half the bulk of seed mixture should be Canary and white millet, the other half of oats, hemp, and sunflower seeds in equal parts; the whole to be well mixed together. Ripe fruit, nuts, and plain biscuits are all very wholesome and may be offered the birds daily. Of course, water, grit, and cuttlebone must be regularly supplied. (2) Yes, as soon as they are fully adult and have settled down. (3) If your room is fairly dry and draught proof it should be safe to winter the birds you name without artificial heat, but, newly-imported birds would be better in a minimum temperature of 50 degrees F. for a month or six weeks, and then gradually hardened off. A Clarke's Syphon Gas or Oil Stove is usually safe if kept quite clean, maker's directions carried out and the light watched that it does not rise for the first hour after lighting.

WHAT TO GET? (L. P.)—I gather that you have had no experience, so am only naming hardy and freely imported species as a beginning. All the following will meet the conditions you name: Zebra Finch, Bengalese, Bib Finch, Silverbill, Avadavat, Grey Singing-finch, and Gold-Crested Waxbills. You could include a pair of each of the above in your aviary with a reasonable prospect of most of them breeding with you when they had properly settled down. You could also include a pair each of Orange-checked and Grey Waxbills, these are very doubtful breeders in such quarters as yours, but they are cheap and pretty and would add variety and interest to those named above. You must put up at least one dozen rush nests, husks, and small boxes as nest receptacles, and use twiggy branches as perching accommodation. Your book will tell you how to treat them.

AILING BLUE-FRONT (A. B. C.).—Your diet is about right, but I should give it about a tablespoonful of boiled maize every other day—boil till soft, drain off all water, dust with flowers of sulphur, and when cool supply to the bird; the boiled maize only keeps fresh one day. The bread should be lightly moistened, not saturated, with either tepid water only or tepid water and chemical food, it will help the bird at this juncture if the moistened bread is lightly spread with cod liver oil emulsion. Fruit (any kind it will take) and nuts are very wholesome, practically for all species of Parrots, and should be given regularly. As a safeguard you might spray weekly with a tepid quassia solution, but guard carefully against a chill while the plumage is wet. If the voidings are at all hard give an occasional dose (one teaspoonful in the drinking water) of Dinneford's Magnesia.

AVADAVATS, ETC. (Lotus)—(1) The hen is a little less pure in colour than the cock; the "zebra" stripes on the sides of the body are greyish-black instead of black as in the male, and the yellowish area of the underparts is less and not so rich a hue. However, there are some hens that are almost as brilliant as the males, but usually with birds of about equal age they are fairly easy to sort out. (2) This is always difficult, the bulk of imported Pintails die very shortly after arrival. Keep a tin of Paddy rice continually in the cage, also another of Canary, and white millet seeds; supply green food regularly, they also take a little fruit and an occasional mealworm does not come amiss to them. At this season keep new arrivals in a minimum temperature of 50 degrees F. The hens are quite distinct from the males—sketchily the hen may be described as olive-green above and yellowish below. (3) Melba Finches are not so difficult as some species to establish. Canary, white millet, spray millet, and green food about meet their simple needs, like most other finches they are grateful for a little live food occasionally. Mix two drops of laudunum in an ounce of water daily as the drinking supply while the trouble lasts.

WHAT BIRDS? (Constant Reader).—(1) This is the Giant or Long-tailed Whydah (Chera procne), value in full colour about 25/- to 30/-. (2) It is difficult to give you the species of this as your description would suit several Serins, however, I think it is the Cape Canary (Serinus canicollis), but it may be the Sulphury Seed-eater. The Alario Finch is known to the Boers as the Mountain Canary, but there is neither green nor yellow in the plumage of this species—perhaps, if you gave me actual measurements from tip of beak to tip of tail, and described their plumage I could give you a definite reply.

SHAMAS (Amb-Egypt).—The sexes of this species are not amiable with each other, and need a roomy enclosure if they are to breed successfully. Most pairs will only agree together during the breeding season, and separation is frequently necessary during the winter months. They need a good insectivorous mixture, more than half the bulk of which should consist of ants' eggs and dried flies, the other portion being some good biscuit meal and sponge cake—make crumbly moist with boiling water, and then stir in a small quantity of either grated carrot or finely minced lettuce. Vary them is the better plan, if you can induce them to become accustomed to the carrot. Give each bird twelve mealworms per diem, also any other insects you can capture for them. If you then suspect the hen to be weakly, then dissolve one teaspoonful of cod liver oil emulsion in sufficient boiling water to moisten the daily supply of insectivorous mixture, and continue this till she is stronger. Possibly the cock is causing trouble; keep in separate cages and exercise them separately. I should not cut the hen's beak unless it becomes quite abnormal and interferes with her feeding. They adapt themselves to the warm weather usually for their breeding season—in England during the spring and summer. Be very quiet in your movements when near them till they are quite tame; usually they hold their owner in contempt and take all sorts of liberties with him.

COCKATOO (H. Nevi).—You do not say what kind of Cockatoo, but a seed mixture of canary, white millet, oats, hemp, wheat, dari, maize, and sunflower seeds in about equal parts should suit it well. You must also supply nuts, ripe fruit, plain biscuit, stale dry crusts of household bread, also grit, cuttlebone, and water regularly. I should give it, for a week or ten days, one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water every other day; then for another month or more only give it twice weekly; during the latter period give half a teaspoonful of byno-phosphates in the water when not giving the magnesia. Spray the bird once or twice weekly with a tepid quassia solution, and keep strictly out of draught till dry. A stale crust lightly moistened with a little tepid water and phosphates in equal parts, and dusted with flowers of sulphur, will benefit the bird if it can be induced to take it. Report progress in a month or six weeks.

PEKIN ROBINS AILING (Nemo).—This species is rather subject to this trouble; keep them in some warm, but well ventilated position, and daily at least while the trouble lasts, cleanse the eyes first with tepid water, and then bathe with a rose water and zinc eye solution (from any chemist) daily, but do not let the solution get into the bird's mouth. On receipt of this reply mix one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia into their soft food mixture and repeat this once a week while the trouble lasts; on other days, a little cod liver oil emulsion, first dissolved in sufficient hot water, and then used as the moistening medium for the soft food, will help matters greatly. In addition to the soft food you must supply ripe fruit and several live insects per bird per diem. As I have already said, they must have light and fresh air, but without draught. Unless they have gone too far already, the trouble should soon pass; as soon as this occurs they should be put in another cage, and their present one thoroughly cleansed out with boiling water.

PENNANT'S PARRAKEETS (M.D.R.). — The Platycercinae, to which family Pennant's, Rosellas, and the other Broadtails belong, cannot be accounted cage birds; they are for a long period (more or less) very timid and restless, and scarcely ever settle down properly. However, they cannot properly be put out of doors now, but if you could give them a roomy packing case, with a wire-netting front, in some spare room, they would do better, especially if you give them a small barrel in one top corner at the back of the case, as a retiring place, they should soon come into condition, and more quickly get accustomed to human beings. It is the open cage, nowhere to rush to when anyone approaches, that makes them wild with fear. Of course, you must see that they get enough to eat, but should gradually decrease the supply of sunflower seed, only give this in limited quantities. Canary, white millet, and oats (equal parts), with fruit and green food, is ample for this species. Of course, if you require this bird as a cage pet, it will ultimately respond to kindness, and till it is tamer it would be well to gently cover up the cage before cleaning operations are commenced.

WHAT PARROT? (H. Williams).—It is a Senegal Parrot, which ranges over West Africa. While the bird will do well on seed, green food, grit, cuttlebone and water, it will be better for variety. It should be offered (not necessarily all at once) ripe fruit, nuts, plain biscuit, and crusts of household bread (stale). The species does not usually make a great talker, neither are they so easily tamed as some other Parrots, yet when once the latter is achieved they make ideal pets, and usually talk a little. As regards value, 40s. and 100s. are the two extremes, number on market, condition and talent being the governing factors—fresh from the ship they may be procured at times fairly cheaply. Your sketch is very good.

GREY PARROT IN BAD PLUMAGE (Glentone).—You are quite right in assuming improper treatment as the cause of its present condition. Confine its dietary to the seed mixture, ripe fruit, nuts, plain biscuit, stale crusts household bread, also grit, cuttlebone, and water. Give it a tablespoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water twice weekly for a month, and on the intervening days put half a teaspoonful of byno-phosphates in the water. Spray it at least weekly with a tepid quassia solution. Keep it warm; at the same time it must have light and fresh air without draught.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 1, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. Any bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

Mrs. Cartwright.—Pulmonary apoplexy, or hæmorrhage of the lungs, following congestion. The bird was over-fat, and therefore predisposed, particularly at such a time.

Mrs. S. R. Castellain.—Death resulted from a fit, probably epileptic in character, particularly as it had previously exhibited the same symptoms.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

S. W. J. F.—We must ask you to kindly excuse us publishing your letter. We presume the statement was made out of "trade rivalry," and we do not see that any good could accrue from discussing the point.

J. M.—If the vendor clearly states that a condition of the deal is that the bird shall be on "four months' approval at his risk," then he must replace it or return your money. You can sue him in the County Court for the return of your money.

W. Tann.—The best plan is for one of the parties to deposit with us the value (cash) of the article he is to have. We hold this cash pending the completion of the exchange. The parties can share the deposit fee if they choose. If goods are sent, it only involves extra expense in carriage.

One Who Was There.—We really do not think this is a matter that need be publicly discussed. Why not lodge a protest direct with the secretary? He may then mend his ways.

J. Claridge.—It is the seed of the Campion, a common plant, known as Red Robin, Poor Robin, etc. We do not know where you could buy it in quantity suitable for using as a bird-food.

CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE

CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE is an organisation of bird keepers and bird lovers, banded together in mutual interest to promote good-fellowship and union, to inculcate the principles of humane cage bird keeping, and to protect the hobby against unjustifiable interference.

Leaflets setting forth the aims and objects of the League will be forwarded, post free, to any reader upon application.

NOTES BY THE SECRETARY.

What the Plumage Bill Means.

It is, of course, very stale news that the importation of the plumage of dead birds into the United States of America is now forbidden, and that the law is carried so strictly into force that not only is it prohibited to import plumage into the States for trade purposes, but plumes of any kind are taken from the hats of ladies landing in New York.

Excepting to smile at the absurdity of the length to which the prohibition is being stretched, we should as lovers of birds not be interested in matters relating to ostrich plumes and such like, and my only reason for again mentioning the subject is that the inevitable sequel to a Plumage Bill is the prohibition of keeping any kind of bird in any kind of cage.

There will, doubtless, be some who have thought me unduly pessimistic in what I have more than once written, but it is now an established fact in the United States that the new law renders it illegal to cage any singing bird whatever. This is what will happen in this country if the projected Plumage Bill ever comes into force. No better means could be devised than the petition to individual members of Parliament to let our law makers know that there are hundreds of thousands of their constituents throughout our country who are bird-keepers and bird-lovers, and who expect their representatives in Parliament to give some heed to their wishes, rather than calmly to allow a bill to be passed which represents only the views on an infinitesimally small number of English people.

I hope, therefore, that if any reader of Cage Birds has omitted to forward to his local member the petition printed in our issue of September 20 last, he will at once cut that petition out and forward it to his representative in Parliament. The Bill will come up for the third reading early in the next session, and it will be passed if individual members of Parliament remain in ignorance of what we can tell them.

TERMS OF MEMBERSHIP.

ORDINARY MEMBERS shall pay an annual subscription of Two Shillings and Sixpence.

JUNIOR MEMBERS.—Members under the age of fourteen years at the date of joining shall pay an annual subscription of One Shilling.

VICE PRESIDENTS.—An annual subscription of not less than Half-a-Guinea shall constitute the subscriber a Vice President.

LIFE MEMBERS.—A donation of not less than Five Guineas in one amount shall constitute the donor a Life Member.

HONORARY LIFE MEMBERS.—The payment to CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE of a legacy of £20 and upwards shall constitute the administrator or executor making the payment an Honorary Life Member. A form of bequest will be sent, post free, on application.

PATRONS.—A donation of not less than Ten Guineas in one amount, or an annual subscription of not less than Two Guineas, shall constitute the donor or subscriber a Patron.

CERTIFICATES OF MEMBERSHIP.

Certificates printed in seven colours, and suitable for framing, are supplied at One Shilling each. Each certificate bears an enlarged facsimile of Cage Birds League badge and Motto, and is signed by the Secretary.

THE LEAGUE BADGES.

Neat and unobtrusive badges are supplied to members, without any charge beyond their subscriptions as above. The badges may be had either in button form, or mounted in rolled gold as a pendant for bracelet or watch-chain. The kind required should be specified clearly.

CERTIFICATES FOR SHOPKEEPERS.

Keepers of Bird Shops who are members of Cage Birds League, and who write signifying that their shops are open to the inspection of a representative of the League, may have, at the expiration of six months, a certificate, suitable for framing, giving the result of such inspection. No charge beyond the membership subscription is made for these certificates.

Henry J. Fulljames,
Secretary Cage Birds League.

How to become an Associate.

Many readers of Cage Birds have written to say that they would like to join Cage Birds' League, but cannot afford the subscription. To meet their wishes we have decided to form, in connection with the League, a body of Associates. All we ask of these Associates is that they will promise to give every possible attention to the wants of their birds. And they must induce others to see that their birds are kept happy and contented.

All that the intending Associate has to do is either to sign the coupon herewith, and send the same, together with sevenpence, or to get five of his or her friends to sign each a similar coupon, and send the six, together with a penny stamp, to the Secretary of Cage Birds League, who will forward by return an enamelled Button Badge of the League. There will be no other charge. NOW, THEN, BIRD LOVERS!—USE YOUR BEST EFFORTS IN THIS SPLENDID CAUSE.

Do Winning Border Fancies Vary in Type?

Sir,—There are other reasons, in addition to the variations in type mentioned by your correspondent, "Scottie," in last week's issue, that very often account for the upsetting of previous awards in winning Borders, and incidentally they also apply to other varieties as well. For instance, I visited a show not so very long ago, where some Borders were exhibited belonging to an exhibitor who had been scoring fairly well in the prize list at previous shows. At this particular show the birds were cardless. On looking them up, I soon found out why they failed to score. They were not staged as well as they might have been, therefore other birds, no better in type, but infinitely cleaner and better finished, were in front. Again, in looking through the classes at this show, I noticed standing cardless in a class of seven or eight entries what I thought was the best bird in the class, in the best of order, and well shown. Naturally I wondered, and enquiring round for reasons, I found out from the steward who had attended the judge, that this particular bird had been put back on account of colour—too good in colour for a natural-coloured Border. Doubtless at the next show this bird appears at, under another judge, it may get well up in the prize-list. I think "Scottie" will agree with me that it has to be an exceptionally outstanding bird, especially so in the clears, that scores much and often, the differences betwixt the mentioned birds being often so fine that what is on top this week-end is down the next. Perhaps it is as well that it should be so; it keeps the interest in the shows alive.

Jos. B. Moore.

Sir,—Referring to "Scottie's" letter, to my mind two distinct types of Border Fancy Canary appear on the show bench to-day, and what you have to do is to watch which type is scoring under the various judges, and send your birds to be judged by the judge who favours the type you ae breeding. We down

No 1 Welsh No 2 Scotch

South describe the types as Welsh and Scotch respectively, and of course we also know which birds to send to the particular judge. For those who cannot follow my meaning, I have enclosed two sketches, No. 1 Welsh, No. 2 Scotch, being as near as it is possible for me to get. A great number of the Southern men breed both types, but I may say here that judges vary their fancy at times, and one is never certain as to which type will score. Perhaps these remarks may influence friend "Scottie" to breed both types; even then there are numerous Scotch judges across the Border who will ignore both.

W. E. P.

Sir,—The purport of "Scottie's" letter, appearing in the columns of your valuable paper of the 15th inst., coincides with the experiences of several South Wales Border Fanciers. In addition, I should like to point out another feature which is quite apparent: The size of the present Border winners. I say, let the "Wee Gem" win, not "something" approaching the size of a Norwich.

"Abertawe."

A Yorkshire Canary Club for Wales and Monmouthshire.

Sir,—After your announcement in last week's issue there was a fine meeting held at the Bush Hotel, Swansea, on the 13th inst, about twenty Yorkshire fanciers being present. Business, to determine whether they would form a specialist club or not, and I am glad that they have decided to do so. The members present have formed a committee, sec., etc., and have worked out a code of rules, which will, in the course of a week or two, be sent to all the members. The club decided to put up two cups, one for novices, to be won outright every year, and one cup for the champion, and the club proposes to give £10 10s. for the latter. I am pleased to say that the Y.C.C. of W. and M. has come to stay, for the members present have promised to subscribe for the ten-guinea cup. Mr. J. Steer, of Swansea, opened with £1 10s., which was soon followed by Mr. F. Richards, of Treorchy, that well-known Yorkshire exhibitor, and I think that if it were called in at this moment, we would not be short of £1 for same. I should like to see a few of the Cardiff and Monmouthshire fanciers rally round and become members! Next meeting decided to be held at Llanelly in January, and notice will be given in due course. In the meantime, if any Yorkshire fancier wishes to become a member, send along the entry fee of a shilling to the hon. sec., Hy. Webster, 6, Upper Park St., Llanelly, who has open power to enroll members till then.

Jas. Steer.

Do Early Entries at Shows Get Badly Staged?

Sir,—As a secretary of a society which runs open shows, and also one who takes an interest in other societies' shows, and visits them at every opportunity, I can emphatically say "No" to the above question. How anyone with any knowledge of staging can suggest such a question passes my comprehension. This question is on a par with another that Mr. L. put to me in 1911, which was that he had "been told" that by making entries early, the consequences were that the birds did not get favourably judged, owing to the judge not getting warm to his task until he got to the bottom of the class! My reply to him was that his informant was either lacking in show matters, or that he was "pulling his leg." The question he is asking now is answered by the same reply, and whoever his informant is, I challenge him to prove that the early entries get the treatment the question suggests. It is a great pity Mr. L. does not visit the shows and see for himself, but I understand that he has not the leisure. A visit to any show, and a few explanations would soon explode any such suggestion. Mr. L.'s own experience in showing ought to answer the question, as he is invariably the first to enter in his respective classes, and the result he knows for himself. If only other exhibitors would enter early, it would save the sec. a deal of worry and hurry in getting matter ready for the printer; also possible mistakes, as my own experience is that most exhibitors leave it to the last. I have even received entries a day before the show. No, Mr. L., if all were like you, and sent early entries, a lot of worry would be taken from the sec.'s shoulders, and the exhibitors would receive his gratitude.

W. G. Andrews.

Popularising the Norwich Plainhead Club.

Sir,—To be candid, I was a little disappointed that there was not a bigger response from members giving their views on the suggestions I gave for the popularising of the N.P.C. in your issue of Nov. 1st. At the annual meeting everyone, or almost everyone, seemed to think that it was time something was done for the promoted amateur, and I expected some of them to have overcome their diffidence, and to have ventilated their views on the subject. At any rate, if the N.P.C. is going to get new members, as well as to keep those they have got, something will have to be done that will make it desirable for fanciers to join. I was talking to some young fanciers at a show a few days ago, who were exhibiting Norwich, but who were not members of the N.P.C., and I asked them why they weren't. They answered that they were quite willing to join when the club could offer them some inducement. I pointed out the possibilities of a scheme such as I had outlined in Cage Birds, and said that I had hopes that the club would consider the question. Everyone seemed to think the idea a good one for those not possessing crack teams, as well as for the cracks themselves, because we must all admit that even the cracks sometimes get low down in the prize list. I mentioned the scheme to one of the older members of the club one day, and he seemed to think the scheme a good one, but thought also that the question of funds would be a difficulty. Well, perhaps it would take more money, but I am looking forward to a great influx of new members. The present income (I am writing from memory) is something about £12 10s., and to give an extra two small prizes in 14 classes at five shows would take about £10 10s. That would leave nothing for working expenses; but, as I have pointed out, we should get many new members, because fanciers couldn't afford to keep out for the sake of a paltry half crown. No fancier would deny himself the chance of competing for two extra prizes in each class for the sake of 2s. 6d. a year. Let us hope the N.P.C. will give it their consideration. Mr. Cadman suggests taking from the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd prizes, and tacking it on to the 5th and 6th. I say nothing against taking it from the 1st, but if he is going to take it from the 2nd and 3rd, he is going to leave those prizes with very little.

The Problem of Migration.

Sir,—Seeing that "Sub Rosa" is at an observatory, I thought he would be taking a keen interest in the migration of birds, but now I see that is not the case. I quite appreciated "Sub Rosa's" humorous remarks, and had a good hearty laugh at them. I did not forget that the earth revolves on its axis once every twenty-four hours, as "Sub Rosa" seems to think, and I am well aware that thousands of birds migrate at night. My contention is that birds feel the heat of the sun, and when the sun is about its hottest, or in the south, birds seem to know that is the direction to fly, whether the sun is set or not. Whether "Sub Rosa" agrees with me or not, I intend to stick to my theory until I see a better one "Wrong Classed" Goldfinch at Nottingham Show.

Sir, I should be grateful if you could find me space in your well read columns regarding a bird I had disqualified by Mr. C. Houlton on Friday last at Nottingham Show. It was the first time I have shown a Goldfinch at an open show, and I hope to prove to readers of this paper that the bird was honestly shown as a Britisher, and this I still adhere to. On October 23, while visiting Stamford Open Show, my attention was riveted on a large and fine specimen of the Goldfinch placed 2nd by the judge, Mr. Allen Silver, and I might also say that I asked the opinion of a gentleman at the show (who is well-known to all your readers as an expert in British birds) as to the nationality of the bird, and he said it was a Britisher. On the 8th of Nov. this bird was shown by the same exhibitor (by the way, the man who caught it, Mr. W. E. Atkins, of Brigstock, Northamptonshire), and I claimed it at catalogue price. The bird was 1st and sp best Brit. in show. Now, at the third time of asking and under a different judge it is wrong classed as a Siberian. It is a most perplexing situation for me, as on the face of it I am stamped as one trying to pass off a foreigner and win dishonestly. I have taken Mr. Houlton's decision as a sportsman, but yet am certain he is wrong. The decisions are certainly in my favour up to now, and the bird has been shown to several local judges and Goldfinch experts and one is yet to be found who declares it a foreigner.

How to Make Meetings Attractive.

A Suggestion to London Societies.

Sir,—During a conversation I had recently with one of our most prominent judges the subject of how meetings of cage bird societies could be made more interesting, to entice members to attend better, was discussed, and it was suggested by this gentleman that societies should send out challenges to one another (much the same as football clubs) and hold evening table shows. The birds from each club to be placed in one class and judged and the points won by birds belonging to members of each club to be counted to the club and go towards a shield, or cup, same to be held by the winning club for one year. Of course, each club would have to compete during the year, up to the final (much the same as a football club plays up for the Cup final). There are a great many clubs in London and district; cannot someone shape this suggestion, and give it a trial? I think it worth considering, and I would be pleased to subscribe to a fund to supply a shield or cup.

What's Wrong with Members of the Southern Norwich P.C.?

Sir,—Will members please give the last show (L.C.B.A., Westminster) a record entry of the Norwich. Surely more members have good birds, besides those few who are doing their best to give the bird a run for its money. Let us see a few fresh birds having a try; have owners lost heart or are they taking no interest in the variety? I have noticed very little enterprise this season. If anything is not to the advantage of members, why not come up to the annual meeting and I am sure those that have control of the society will only be too pleased to help. I have no sympathy myself with the owner who lays himself out to get all cups and prizes; he does more harm than good; but I do admire his skill in breeding a good bird. Surely, however, out of over 70 breeders we have hidden somewhere better birds than yet seen on the bench. Try at our last show, so that we finish up well; also it will give your humble servant more satisfaction in keeping on with the work of the club.

Are Singing Hen Canaries Very Common?

Sir,—I read with much interest a letter under above heading last week, as I too have Canary hens that sing. One (a valueless bird, except as a feeder) I was given last spring. She sang so well that I thought I had been sent a cock by mistake. This bird hatched and reared young ones this season. Now that the moult is over, she has started singing again—sweet, full notes. Another hen Canary is a Yorkshire that laid eggs but refused to hatch; she sings occasionally, and is worth listening to.

Foreign Bird Exhibitors' League and the L.C.B.A. Show.

Sir,—Members of both associations and the bird loving public generally will be glad to know that Lady Kathleen Pilkington has kindly consented to open the forthcoming exhibition at the Horticultural Hall on Nov. 27. The secretary of the L.C.B.A., Mr. James Bray, junr. (67, St. Dunstan's Road, Hammersmith, W.) says he will be able to take entries posted to him on Saturday, Nov. 22. I trust all foreign bird-keepers will not omit to give him plenty to do in this direction, and as early as possible. It is in the hands of foreign bird exhibitors to make their section a complete success, and in so doing they may rest assured that the league will try to do even more for them on future occasions. In the first instance the extensive classification was only made possible by the chairman of the league having kindly offered if necessary to guarantee 20 or more classes for foreign birds. To take an advantage of a generous offer of this kind was thought unfair by those to whom the matter was referred, and it was eventually decided to attempt to form the league for this purpose. Fortunately a number of generous donors and helpers came forward unsolicited, and made the matter financially possible. The committee are well satisfied with the rapid progress made. Whether their work will be extended in this direction, or otherwise, will depend entirely upon the response from foreign bird exhibitors.

THE DISQUALIFIED YORKSHIRE AT HALIFAX SHOW.

Judge Says Case Must Be Reopened.

Procedure of the Council Not in Accordance with Yorkshire Union Rules

Sir,—My attention has been drawn to the fact that, according to the rules of the Yorkshire Union, the Council have altogether overstepped their powers in dealing with the case of the disqualified Yorkshire at Halifax. According to the rules there is no appeal from the judge's decision. Rule 6 plainly states: "The decision of the judge shall be final" except in certain cases which do not in this instance apply.

Further, the rules provide that the punishment, if any, for transgression of the rules shall be inflicted, not by the Council, but by the Committee of the Show, and that the person punished may then appeal to the Council of the Union with reference to the punishment, but not from the decision of the judge in the matter of the disqualification.

Another point enforcing the finality of the judge's decision arises in Rule 8 which deals with the reporting of disqualifications to the Union Secretary. That rule says distinctly: "the Council may inflict such other punishment as they may decide." In short, they have the power to inflict punishment over and beyond any inflicted by the Committee, but they have no power to alter the judge's decision in the case of disqualification.

From the rules it is clearly shown that the action of the Yorkshire Union Council in this case has been altogether wrong. In the first place they had no power to upset the disqualification, and in the second place they had no power to deal with the case at all, except upon appeal by the exhibitors from the sentence of the Committee of the society holding the show.

From my reading of the Union's own rules the procedure should have been as follows: The disqualification should have been dealt with by the Halifax Committee. The Committee had no power to alter the judge's decision, but had they punished the exhibitor then the exhibitor had the right to appeal to the Yorkshire Union Council against the said punishment only, and the Council had the right to remit or increase the sentence. Neither Council nor Committee have a right to upset a judge's decision.

I have therefore written to the Secretary of the Union calling upon the Yorkshire Union Council to re-open this case and deal with it in accordance with their own rules, or if I am in error to point out to me the particular regulation under which the Council dealt with the case as they did. In the meanwhile I reserve whatever rights the rules give me to maintain the authority and finality of my decision.

My thanks are due to Messrs. MacPherson, Ross, and Robertshaw for their manly and straightforward corroboration of my statement of the case.

C. A. House.

EDITORIAL NOTE.

The very interesting point raised by Mr. House has caused us to refer to the rules of the Yorkshire Union. Rule 6 says: "The decision of the judge shall be final, unless it can be proved to the satisfaction of the Committee (Note the word "Committee."—Editor "C.B.") that a bird has been entered in the wrong class or is not the property of the exhibitor or has been fraudulently tampered with, in which case such decision shall be void and the Committee reserve to themselves the right of adjudicating thereon." The finality of the judge's decision is therefore assured, with three exceptions. None of these exceptions seem to us to apply in this instance, and even if they did apply, the onus, according to the rules, is clearly upon the Committee of the show and not upon the Yorkshire Union Council. We cannot find any regulation which to our mind covers the procedure that apparently was adopted in this case by the Y.U. Council, and it will be interesting to hear what is the official reply to the objection which Mr. House has raised.—Editor "C.B."

The View of the Halifax Society.

Sir,—At a special meeting of the Halifax O.S. held at their headquarters, Plummet Line Hotel, on Nov. 15, the case of the disqualified bird was discussed, and the following resolution was carried: "That this Society has every confidence in the judge who was appointed by the Yorkshire Union of Cage Bird Societies to judge their annual show, and also their officials who gave evidence before the Union Council on Oct. 13, 1913."

Harry Clegg, sec.

The Camera as a Witness.

Sir,—You will indulge me, I know; it is to permit my offering a suggestion—one which may serve our esteemed cage bird judges in good stead under circumstances similar to what befell Mr. House recently. Were it ever my lot to have occasion to disqualify any exhibit, my instant care would be to have that bird immediately photographed, on the spot, in the presence of responsible show officials, from fellow judges down. The bird itself—please note that this would be the vital issue later on—photographed as held in my hand, a finger of the other hand so placed on the offending spot plainly to indicate the exact cause of my disqualifying it. It can very easily be done. It would also be crowning evidence in my favour afterwards, if I had an enlargement taken of that portion of the negative shewing the area of the "touched up" mischief.

An Offer of Herbs.

Sir,—As some in the Fancy made enquiries last year about the herbs Wormwood and Agrimony, I wish to inform them that I have more of the two herbs than I shall want, as I have grown a larger quantity this year; so I will forward to any sec. of a cage-bird society, or member, a portion of either one or the two herbs, if they will pay carriage of same.

What Hybrids are These?

Curious Experiences of a Breeder.

Sir,—The report of the show held at Maidstone last week says that my two Hybrids looked like Greenie-Redpoll and Siskin-Linnets. Sometimes I have had them called Greenfinch-Linnets in show reports. I wonder if the judge would say what cross he considered them? The one that was awarded first and special has not been shown before. I might say that there cannot be any Siskin in them, as I had not got a Siskin at the time that I bred them. I had two nests in my aviary, but only brought up five, all by the same mother, a hen Greenfinch. But the last nest was reared by three parents, the hen Greenfinch and a pair of Goldfinches. I never saw the cock Redpoll feed the young Hybrids, but saw him feed the hen Greenfinch. There were two Goldfinches hatched out with the Hybrids; that is how the Goldfinches helped to feed the Hybrids, as the hen Goldfinch laid in the same nest. As soon as the hen Greenfinch came off to feed, the hen Goldfinch went on to the nest. The only other cocks that were flying about were a Linnet and a Chaffinch. The Goldfinches that were hatched with the Hybrids died in a few days. I have bred several Goldfinches this last few years, but have never had the old birds bring them up. One brood that I had, as fast as they were hatched the old birds threw them out of the nest and killed them. I don't suppose this Hybrid is a Chaffinch-Greenfinch; it is far too small, I think. It will be entered as Redpoll-Greenfinch, the same as I've entered its brothers at various shows last year. They will go to a few more shows in the district, and perhaps outside, if all goes well. I shall then be able to see what they are called at different shows. It is a bit of a puzzle, although I bred them.

W. Bennett.

"CAGE BIRDS" WATCH COUPON Nov. 22nd, 1913.

"CAGE BIRDS," 154, Fleet Street London. E.C.

AND OUR SPLENDID CASH SPECIALS?

ALTHOUGH it seems but a matter of days so swiftly does time appear to fly during the show season—since competition in our Coupon Scheme started, we find ourselves now under the necessity of reminding exhibitors that they should not delay longer in securing their diplomas—diplomas which represent the magic key admitting their exhibits into competition for the splendid cash specials and trophies (value over £100) which CAGE BIRDS is providing at the Crystal Palace show solely for coupon birds.

Remember that the circle of possible winners of both diplomas and 10s. cash specials has now been narrowed (no exhibitor can win more than one) so that there is every chance for new comers. The price of coupons is sixpence only, and there are no fewer than 12 sections in which our specials may be competed for. Novices, of course, can always enter their birds in open classes where no special novice classes are provided—providing they mark their entry properly (note instructions below) their birds will have to compete only with other novice birds so far as our specials are concerned. Now, exhibitors, you have some splendid chances during the coming week, at the Horticultural Hall and other shows.

THE NEXT COUPON SHOWS.

Many thanks for Diploma, which is quite a work of art, and when framed is fit to hang in any room. I have only shown birds one year, and it gives me much encouragement.—W. Bull (Derby).

Thank you very much indeed for the beautiful Diploma received; it is a triumph of artistic skill.—H. L. Huggins (Howes Park).

Many thanks for diploma; it is very nice and neat, and I shall certainly have it framed.—F. Bielby (Holbeach).

Many thanks for the Diploma, which I think is very good.—J. R. Houghton (Gloucester).

Accept my thanks for Diploma of Honour; I think it is very neat and good.—A. Wood (Burton).

Diploma received; I am very pleased with same, and wish your Championship Scheme every success.—R. Parker (Wolstanton).

I received Diploma all right, and must thank you for same. It is really most artistic.—T. Almond (Gateshead).

Received Diploma won at Southend-on-Sea show. I must give the artist praise; it is very pretty.—A. E. Pattrick (Southend).

Received diploma won at Cheltenham. I am very pleased with same; accept best thanks.—T. Herbert (Redditch).

I am pleased with the lovely Diploma. I consider CAGE BIRDS scheme is the best thing ever put before fanciers, and I consider CAGE BIRDS the best paper ever put before fanciers.—Arthur Lister (Bradford).

How Exhibitors May Enter,

All who intend entering Coupon birds at these shows must do so under these conditions:—CAGE BIRDS offers the following Championship Competition prizes:—

10s. cash for best champion coupon bird.
10s. cash for best novice coupon bird.

Diplomas of honour for the best champion and the best novice coupon birds in each of the following sections; or in as many of these sections as are included in the classification:—

(1) Yorkshire Canaries.
(2) Norwich.
(3) Crests & Crestbreds.
(4) Border Fancies.
(5) Scotch Fancies and Belgians.
(6) Greens.
(7) Lancs. and Lizards.
(8) Any Other Variety Canary.
(9) Mules & Hybrids.
(10) British, Hardbilled.
(11) British, Softbilled.
(12) Foreign.

All the exhibitor has to do is to stick one of CAGE BIRDS Coupons on his entry form and write "C.B." opposite each bird he wishes to compete; except if a novice, when he must write "C.B. Novice."

Coupons, price 6d. each, may be purchased from the offices of CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C., or, if the time is short, enclose the necessary extra cash with your entry fees to the secretary of the show, and he will affix coupons opposite whichever birds you have marked on your entry form. Every coupon is numbered and a record of it kept at CAGE BIRDS offices.

NOTE CAREFULLY.—A coupon must be affixed to the entry form opposite every bird intended to compete in this Championship Competition. Any number of coupon birds may be entered by any exhibitor, either in one section or in several, as may be desired, so long as a coupon is used for each bird. For every coupon bird, of course, the usual entry fee must be paid to the show officials. Entries in CAGE BIRDS Championship Competition are accepted only on the understanding that the governing rules as published in CAGE BIRDS are to be absolutely final and legally binding.

Anyone in doubt upon any point concerning the scheme should write at once. The Editor, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

A Brief Outline of the Scheme.

The main idea of CAGE BIRDS Championship Competition is to discover which are the Twelve Best Champion Birds and the Twelve best Novice Birds of the Season. The Competition is in progress at over 80 shows (see list appended), which cover every quarter of the United Kingdom.

TWO PRIZES OF 10S. EACH, one for novices and one for champion (under certain stipulations), at each accepted Coupon Show.

TWENTY FOUR DIPLOMAS OF HONOUR, in addition, at each Coupon Show, 12 for Champion exhibitors, and 12 for Novice exhibitors, for the best Champion Coupon Bird and best Novice Coupon Bird in each of the 12 sections mentioned above.

The winner of any one of the foregoing diplomas will have the right to compete with not more than four birds, on payment to the Palace Show Authorities of the usual entry fee, in our final championship competition at the Crystal Palace Show of 1914.

FIRST PRIZE, £3;
SECOND PRIZE, £2;
THIRD PRIZE, £1.
FOURTH PRIZE, 10s.

The following cash prizes will also be offered for competition at the Crystal Palace Show:—£10 10s. for the best Coupon bird exhibited in the Champion classes in the above twelve sections; £10 10s. for the best Coupon bird shown by a novice other than the winner in the Champion Section. We shall also offer A TEN GUINEA CHALLENGE SHIELD, to be won three times in succession, for the best bird at the Crystal Palace Show entered in our Competition.

Some Important Points to Note.

1.—One coupon entitles one bird to compete at any one Diploma Show. Any number of coupon birds can be entered at the same show.

2.—No coupons sold after the last day of December, 1913, except to previous purchasers, who have the right of duplicating their order up to the end of the season.

3.—No bird with trimmed, painted or dyed plumage, will be eligible to compete, and all entries must be the bonafide property of the exhibitor.

4.—The birds entered may be of any age, and either rung or not rung.

5.—The Judge will be instructed to withhold a diploma should the merit of the competing birds in any particular section not justify its award.

6.—We reserve the right, in the event of there being less than 10 separate competitors altogether in our competition at any one Diploma Show to withhold the cash prizes thereat, the diplomas remaining on offer for as many birds as are eligible for them.

7.—No exhibitor may win more than one diploma in the season in any one section, and no exhibitor will be allowed to win more than two of the 10s. prizes offered at the Diploma Shows, each of which must be won with a different bird; but an exhibitor may (if able) win one diploma in each of the 12 sections.

8.—An exhibitor who has won a diploma need not necessarily enter the same bird for the final competition. By winning the diploma he has the right to nominate and enter not more than four birds in any one of the 12 sections for the final competition, and for each entry made for the final competition at the Crystal Palace a coupon will be necessary.

9.—No exhibitor in the final will be allowed to win more than two prizes with his four entries.

10.—In all cases of dispute arising out of this competition the Editor's decision will be absolutely final and legally binding in every respect, and only upon this understanding will entries be accepted.

HAYLE C.B.A.

First annual show held Oct. 30 in the Parochial Hall, and we congratulate the committee on their venturing to restart what was once the premier show in Cornwall, and we accord them our best wishes for their future success. The hall is one of the most comfortable in Cornwall for a bird show, good light and free from draughts. Norwich as usual were excellent in quality as well as in numbers, the hen class being champion. Yorks. were a good typical lot, especially the non-lighted, some are not through the moult, but will be heard of later when ready. Hybrid and British classes were good, and silver medal for best in the two sections was captured by F. Collins, Camborne, with his noted four-point Yellow Mule, Plymouth, etc. winner in grand form. The Goldfinch class was good, the winner being last year's champion, coming through moult very well. Members' classes contained some typical specimens which would take some stopping in the open. Mr. Coombe, the hon. sec., is a rare hard worker, not sparing himself in any way and as courteous as he is energetic. The committee we cannot speak too highly of; they are all true fanciers, very enthusiastic, and know how to undertake the management of a show. Mr. R. B. Tope (Plymouth) judged, and his awards were well received.

BISHOP AUCKLAND.

First show held Nov. 19, in the Town Hall; a more suitable place for holding a cage bird show it would be difficult to find, it is easy of access, roomy, well lighted, and free from draughts. Entries, though not very numerous, were fairly good, considering that it was a first venture, and that several other shows are held in the same week within a comparatively short distance. The society is certainly to be congratulated upon getting 300 entries for a first attempt.

The society is composed of a lot of very enthusiastic fanciers:—Messrs. Elliott and Nattrass (joint secs.), Button (chairman), Messenger (vice-chair), Crowther (treas.), and other members, worked with a will, and had all birds staged in good time; the judging was finished and prize cards all up about one o'clock. Mr. H. W. Battye judged.

Rooks Already Nesting!

Owing to the beautiful weather of late, some Rooks are said to be building their nests in the elm trees in Mr. Smith's meadow near the railway bridge at Goring, near Reading. A gentleman who lives near and has been watching them is of opinion that the birds have already begun sitting.

LEYTON.

Seventh annual exhibition held Nov. 13 and 14 at the Grange Park Hall, a building well adapted for a large show. The entry of nearly 700 birds made a fine display. The hall was packed with visitors during the evening, in spite of inclement weather, and one had some difficulty in getting between the tiers to view the exhibits. Yorks and Norwich were in full numbers, and in both sections some of the cream of the South was competing. Messrs. Collings and Hill and Pethick, from the West Country, annexed most of the premier honours, and Mr. Houghton, of Gloucester, put down a grand buff; but the bird that was perhaps the most admired of all was Mr. Collings's lig yellow hen. She is typical as well as of wonderful size. Mr. Wyatt (Walthamslow) staged the winner in an extraordinary class of thirty unlighted birds in Novice Yorks. Borders were very high class, but the competition was almost confined to the successful ones at other shows. Some good British birds made up a very interesting collection.

The management, in the capable hands of Messrs. Forse and Son, was all that could be desired; everything was splendidly arranged, and, considering that many birds were not sent in until the morning of the show, and that there was a long list of valuable specials to get through, the judging was over and the catalogues out in good time. Messrs. Forse and Son were backed up by a grand band of workers, consisting of Mr. S. C. Rhodes, the president; Messrs. H. Ovenden, Bartlett, Watcham, Wallace, Dalton, Smith, Skinner, Marshall, Pettet, Burbidge, Cnstell, Hellens, G. L. Parker, (treasurer), and the assist. sec., Mr. A. W. Farmer, all of whom had a busy day to get the exhibits re-staged after judging and ready for the opening ceremony, which was performed by G. B. Slade, Esq. There was some strong competition in "Cage Birds" Coupon scheme, about eighty birds competing.

There were some wonderfully good birds in the members' classes, all the popular varieties being well represented, and there was some keen competition among them for the valuable specials. Sp ior best champion Nor. went to Mr. W. L. Taylor (Leytonstone), and champion Yorks to Mr. G. King (Leytonstone). Mr. F. Wallace (Stratford) won the Crest Cup. The Amateur Cup for best unlighted went to Mr. J. Wyatt's Yorkie, and the Novice Cup to Mr. F. Marshall's Buff Norwich. The British Bird Cup to Mr. A. J. Marley with his charming Bramble, the runner-up being the same owner's Blackbird. Mr. J. Robson judged Norwich, Yorks, and Crests; Mr. H. Norman the remainder.

HASTINGS AND ST. LEONARDS.

15th Annual show, held in the Lower Public Hall, Hastings, Nov. 10th. The arrangements were admirably carried out, as usual, with the Hastings fanciers, Miss Kirk-Bullock making a grand secretary, a hint for other societies having a difficulty in finding a secretary. About 300 birds were staged, some of the best seen at Hastings for a long time. Cup winners were: Yorks., Miss O. Dawson, with a cl. yell. cock; Nor., Mr. W. Ellis, with finely staged buff hen, Clapham and Wimbledon winner; Brit., Mr. T. Veness, with locally caught Hawfinch; for., or Hyb., Rev. J. M. Paterson, with a Hyb. between Brazilianhooded Siskin, and Roller Canary, first time of being bred in England. The Kirk-Bullock trophy, a 15th century Renaissance Inkstand, was won with a grand buff Norwich unlig. cock, by Mr. W. Ellis, who staged a splendid lot of Norwich.

The Rev. J. M. Paterson, the president, staged a grand team of foreign birds, some rare ones being among them. Miss Sturton Johnson also exhibited some fine large foreign. The show was opened by Mrs. J. M. Peterson, and the hall was packed. Treas., Mr. T. G. Coombes, has not taken any active part in the show this year, owing to having recently married. Praise is due to Mr. Stevens, Mr. Dawson, and A. E. Godden, for their work. Mr. W. R. Miles, Chichester, judged, and seemed to give complete satisfaction.

GALASHIELS.

Fifty-third Annual Show held Nov. 15 in the Volunteer Hall, which is a large and roomy place, and very suitable for such a purpose, being well lighted. The birds were staged round one side and end of hall. One noticeable feature was the way they were hung on hooks, with a background of green cloth, which prevented draughts of any description. We regret to have to chronicle a slight falling off in entries this year, and it is difficult to find the real cause as the society caters well for all sections. Several of the classes had to be cancelled. This show at one time used to be the gathering place of many well-known fanciers and exhibitors. On Saturday a few of the older school met, and it was a pleasure to hear them speak of the days that are gone, but the hope was expressed that the "sour plums" would again hold up their heads in the years to come. In the Scotch Fancy Section several well-known faces graced the bench, the champion yellow cock belonging to Mr. John Dalgleish still taking leading honours; the same gentleman carried off the cup for the best young bird with his buff cock. The B.F.C.C medal was won by Mr. H. Bennet with a cl. yell. put down in perfection. Mr. Noble, Bonnyrigg, who had a grand team of Norwich forward, secured cup confined to Scotland. Messrs. M'Quiston and Patterson had a nice team of Britishers forward and fairly scooped the pool.

The officials are all well known fanciers and right well did they look after the interests of exhibits and visitors alike, headed by the President, Mr. A. Tod, who looked after the Pigeon section. Sec., Mr. John Brown, and Mr. J. Hardie, treas., are two officials of whom any society might be proud, being very courteous and obliging. The judges were: Scotch Fancies, Messrs. James Carson, Easthouses, and Mr A. Paterson, Edinburgh; Borders, Messrs. Jas. Alexander, Lilliesleaf, and J. Tait, Galashiels; Norwich, Mr. A. G. Cameron, Kelso; British, etc., Mr. J. Mason, Peebles. The show was visited by a good crowd during the afternoon.

RUGBY C.B.S.

Annual Members' Show held Nov. 8, at the Church House. Entries were slightly below last year, but quality was, if anything, slightly better. It is hoped the balance will be found on the right side this year. Several members put down very good teams notably Mr. W. J. Veasey, in the open and Mr. P. G. Salter in the novice. Several names were not represented at this show, and we regret to hear that at least three are leaving or have left the Fancy, viz., Mrs. Marshall, Superintendent Clarke and Mr. Beet. Special for best bird was won by Mr. W. J. Veasey with his yellow unflighted cock Canary, and Mr. P. G. Salter won special for most points in novice classes. These two gentlemen are also first and second respectively for the members' season special. Mr. Geo. Hall, Leamington, judged, and apparently gave every satisfaction

LLANDUDNO.

Show held Nov. 8, at Cobden's, Mostyn Street, a well-ventilated room with plenty of light; the birds were nicely staged, and qual. throughout was of exceptional standard. Britishers seem to be rather late in getting ready this year, also a few Canaries will be better in a few weeks after tightening up. Yorks. held the pride of place in numbers and quality, some rare youngsters making their appearance; also a few of the old ones retaining their good qualities and none the worse after another moult. Norwich throughout were of medium size and good type. Some Britishers and foreign were in the pink of condition, and beautifully staged. Messrs. Hartle and Berry made energetic secs., and had everything in apple-pie order, the stewards being very courteous and obliging. Mr. E. Nolan, the chairman, is a very worthy official and a true fancier. We were very pleased to see such progress in the society in all varieties. Cards were up in good time. Mr. J. O. Williams judged, and everything seemed to go through satisfactorily.

Aitken, nice size nut brown col., not so well pencilled as winner.

SIDMOUTH.

Eighteenth annual show held in Drill Hall, Nov. 13. The exhibits were nicely staged and well looked after by practical fanciers. Entries were well up to the average, and quality was excellent. Yorks. were a good lot, and the competition keen. Some nice Norwich were staged that were fit to hold their own in much hotter competition. The local classes contained some excellent specimens. Mr. J. Lashbrook makes an ideal Secretary, being most courteous and obliging, and having a good grip of his work, and he was well supported by the cage bird fanciers of the Committee. Mr. J. H. Payne judged.

Nottingham Has Real Hard Luck.

The Society's Enterprise and Splendid Management Ill-Rewarded. What is it Exhibitors Want?

32nd annual exhibition of the Nottingham and Notts. O.S., held Nov. 14th, 15th, in the new Lecture Hall, which is more spacious and better lighted than the old Lecture Hall of the Mechanics' Institute, and possesses every up-to-date facility. The increased expense incurred in engaging this magnificent room, deserved far more generous support. The staging was on the tier principle, and was superbly executed. Flowers and plants decorated the benches, and gave a most pleasing effect to the exhibition. The schedule issued was capital, prize-money, 22s. per class (foreign 26s.), with an abundance of specials. 633 entries was the response to the 73 classes provided, less than 9 per class. What do fanciers want? Nottingham is centrally situated, the management is exceptionally sound, composed of well-known and highly respected fanciers; the show room is one of the very best. The officials are genuine enthusiasts, and extend a hearty welcome to all, and still the entry year after year is far from satisfactory.

Something one can always rely upon.

The management on every occasion at this well-known Midland fixture is superb. Mr. R. Rhodes, the worthy chairman and treasurer, is a fine worker, and courteous to a degree; would there were more like him in the Fancy. The vice-chairman, Mr. G. C. Ley, is also one of the best, and always found where the work is most strenuous, for he is no mere figure-head only. With such gentlemen at the helm, one need not wonder at the ship sailing smoothly. The committee consist of well-known, practical and energetic fanciers, full of enthusiasm. The duties that are essential to the success of an open venture, were judiciously and promptly executed by Messrs. G. W. Boaler, W. Bown, W. Cottingham, F. Clarke, G. Hill, T. Hodgkinson, T. H. B. Hayter, G. Sharpe, J. W. Saywell, J. T. Tranter, E. Wolfe, and G. A. White. Mr. G. E. Wilkinson, the esteemed hon. sec., is an invaluable asset to the society. His precise method of handling the various details, his straightforwardness, and his frankness, all stamp him as an ideal hon. sec. His right hand man is Mr. J. G. Royce. As an assistant, he would be hard to beat. His work was laborious, but cheerfully executed. Stewards who worked enthusiastically were: Messrs. T. Hodgkinson, G. Hill, Hayter, T.B.H., W. Cottingham, J. Graham, A. Robinson, G. W. W. Boaler, A. Cooper, J. H. Williamson, W. Bown, T. Barker, G. A. White, and D. Hunter (Scarbro'). The Misses Royce and Miss Hill also rendered capital assistance, and deserve the many kind words spoken of them. Catalogues with awards were on sale in good time. Amongst the many visitors, were to be noticed, Messrs. Colton, Fletcher, Mace, and Milne (Sheffield), E. Fox (Long Eaton), and others.

Many Champion Crests on View.

The catalogue opened with the Crests and Crest-breds. Nottingham holds pride of place in the Midlands, as regards the display of "toppins," and one always expects at this function the "great guns" being on view. Such was the case on this occasion. We have seen larger numbers present, but we doubt whether we have seen greater merit. Messrs. Radley and Son took premier honours in the buff Crested hen class, with a most exquisite grizzled tail, D.C. Eclipsing all was the buff mkd. wings C.B., shown by Mr. G. A. White, the local enthusiast, gaining for him CAGE BIRDS 10s., and diploma. Really a wonder, the best we have seen as yet, and it beat on its merits the great green pied tail C.B., the Cheltenham hero, owned by Mr. F. G. Bale, Barnstaple. It has a shade wider width of entrance, and is also a little better back of head. Messrs. Evins Bros. won well, and handsomely in the buff C.B. hens, and the yell. C.B., with a brace of stormers, which stood at the head of affairs in their respective classes at Cheltenham. Mr. G. C. Ley had on view two "knock outs," viz., the green pied tail yell. Crest, winner of many battles, and a current year green pied tail yell. Crest, that has the making of even a greater name than his elder stable companion; a couple of gems to possess.

In the novice classes the leading light undoubtedly was the yell. green Crest, the property of Mr. W. T. Hawkes, this exhibit lifting CAGE BIRDS diploma of honour.

The "Chubby Ones" are very scarce.

Norwich this time did not over flatter. Here and there one located a "right 'un," but collectively they were not as good as one would have liked to have seen. The "twinkling star" was the clear buff cock, staged to the moment by Mr. S. Cook, procuring for him CAGE BIRDS diploma. Another worthy of special mention was the unflig. cl. yell. cock, benched by Mr. W. N. Turner, which, with luck, should be a hard nut to crack another year.

In the amateur classes Mr. G. W. Boaler practically swept the deck with a magnificent team; his marked unflig yell. cock capturing the novice 10s. CAGE BIRDS special and diploma, after a keen tussle with the yell green Crest of Mr. W. T. Hawkes.

Yorks. seem to be catching on better here, and a capital collection was present. Standing out were the unflighted yellow cock (L. Dykes); clear buff (Wells and Clempson), and the buff grizzled neck hen, near on best Yorkie all through the show (G. Hunt), and only catalogued at £3. CAGE BIRDS champion diploma, W. E. Kearns; novice, W. Beers. Lancashires had the extraordinary entry of 17 in 4 classes, with a specialist judge to boot. Truly, some toppers appeared, and, maybe, the best of this breed, but the "Giants of Canarydom" should have been more numerous. Messrs. A. Beattie, with his Manchester winners, and G. Fitton and T. H. Collinge, took the plums. CAGE BIRDS diploma went to A. Beattie. Lizards were 52 in 4 classes. Dainty ones were shown by Messrs. W. P. Barnes (gold cap cl.); J. Rukin (Silver cl. and Silver broken), all Manchester winners, we think; Messrs. F. Hamer, E. Ollernshaw, and A. Bradley. CAGE BIRDS diplomas: Champion, A. Bradley; novice, H. Mawbray.

CAGE BIRDS coupon competition had a capital entry, and keen competition was again in evidence; upwards of 75 specimens endeavoured to secure the valuable cash specials and diplomas of honour. The buff C.B., and the unflighted yell. Nor., that captured the "shekels," were both worthy of these extra specials, and their owners, Messrs. G. A. White, and G. W. W. Boaler, greatly appreciated their wins.

Mr. E. E. Pass, of Hucknall, Notts., the well-known cage maker, had a nicely arranged stall, with hosts of various patterned cages, breeders' flights, and so forth, prices of which were very reasonable, and workmanship good. Business was brisk with him. Messrs. Armitage's stall also gave a good display, the sample of seeds, etc., being of excellent quality; they also appeared to be having a good time.

Special prize winners were as follows: Best Crest, A. J. Smith; best C.B., J. A. White; best 1912 buff Crest, Norwood Bros.; ditto C.B., E. Barker; best yell. c. or C.B., G. C. Ley; diploma for best C. (novice) by the C.C.C., W. T. Hawkes; ditto C.B. (novice), J. Gillespie.

Judges were: Messrs. T. Heath (London), Crests and Yorks; W. Vardy (Hucknall), Norwich; c, Houlton (St. Helens), Brit. Hyb., and For.; E. Fuller (Glossop), Lancs. and Lizards. Their awards were well received. During judging, brilliant light prevailed.

Mr. W. Vardy's Classes.

Mr. Houlton's Classes.

Hybrids were not numerous, only 22 in the 3 classes provided, but the Dark Canary class held 14 birds. The British bird classes were not filled by any means, 53 entries in the ten open classes provided. The novice British class brought some very good birds, several of which could hold their own with the champions. Foreign classes certainly were better—there were many rare and beautiful exhibits shown by master hands. Extra prize-money was offered, and guaranteed over the foreign classes, and with very good specials as well, should have drawn even more than were present. Hybrids and British had 4 prizes, viz., 10s., 6s., 4s., and 2s. for a 1s. 6d. entry fee. Special prizes over this section (open) however, were limited. The writer of these notes was asked his opinion as to how Nottingham could secure more entries. My advice is to get members to collect during the coming year as many specials as possible, at least one for every class, and I would say, try 10s., 5s., and 2s. 6d. prize-money for a 1s. 6d. entry fee, with a lower half prize-money rule. It would pay to create a guarantee fund for full prize-money in all classes, giving 10s., 5s., and 2s.6d., rather than offer 5s., 3s., 4s., and 2s., and insert a rule that 8 entries means only half prize-money. I have found from long experience of shows that where there are the best and most numerous special prizes, and the lowest half prize-money rule, there the largest entries are obtained. I would not have written this had I not been asked by many of the leading members how to procure better entries in future. They each and all could not quite understand why every section of the show was so badly patronised by exhibitors this year.

"C.B." diploma for best Hybrid went to Mr. W. G. Smith. Best Softbill, Mr. Bent.

BLAYDON-ON-TYNE.

Tenth annual show held Nov. 14 and 15 in St. Cuthbert's Church Hall, a new building, and well adapted for a cage bird show, having a splendid light during the day and electrically lighted at night. The staging is on the up-to-date three-tier principle and arranged at a convenient height for seeing the birds; entries were a big increase on any previous show, which is only what this go-ahead society well deserve, as they give a very liberal classification and engage specialist judges. They are very fortunate in having such a man as Mr. Hayver for secretary. The genial George is always obliging and courteous to all, and gets through his duties in a very efficient and unobtrusive manner. J. Hands (Chairman), T. Leck (Vice-Chair) and J. W. Clark (Treasurer) worked like trojans, and were ably assisted by a strong committee, Messrs. Simpson, Crass, Clark, Vallance, Carr, Pattinson, Graham, Fletcher, Purvis, Hillary, Ridley, Walker, Robson, Dodds and Dyer. The stewards kept the judges well supplied, and prize cards were quickly put on cages. The Canary classes were well filled, and competition keen, Borders as usual being the strongest section, averaging just over 14 per class. The silver cup for best bird in show was won by Dobson and Son's grand Crest, which stood right away from anything else in the section.

Norwich were a grand lot, showing plenty of colour, type and quality. The winning yellow of Mr. McGuinn, which took special for best Norwich in show, was much admired. In the 11 classes for champions 135 birds were benched. One class was provided for Cinnamon Norwich and 13 birds were staged, Rev. B. Hume taking the whole of the money prizes with a fine team; his winner, a yellow of grand type and quality, will take a bit of stopping. The two Mule classes only had seven entries, two of which were wrong classed. British and Foreign also were poorly filled classes, but quality was good. The show was well patronised by visitors, there being quite a crowd on the Saturday. The judges were Messrs. Gilchrist, Borders; Cowgill, Yorkshires, Crests, Lizards and Scotch Fancies; and Mundell, the remainder.

AVONBRIDGE (Stirling).

Held in Avonbridge Hall, Nov. 15. Entries numbered 490, which showed a substantial increase, and quality was quite up to the standard. The new hall is an improvement on the old, the birds being much better staged. There was quite a good attendance of fanciers. Mr. Jas. Hamilton, Eskbank, judged Norwich and Borders, and Mr. J. Goodfellow, Edinburgh, the remainder.

BODMIN.

21st annual show held Nov. 12. The section was a great improvement on the last four shows, both in numbers and quality, and the society well deserved their good fortune, having given (per Mr. W. G. Tickell, a Cornish fancier, now in South Africa) a 5-guinea cup for most points in show. The Agar Hall was reserved for cage birds only, and a better place for the purpose could hardly be found, being free from draughts, and with a good light. Norwich made a wonderful show of 60 in 5 classes, some well-known western birds being staged. Messrs. Symons Bros.' cl. yell. that made such a sensation at Plymouth Show again winning in its class. W. Spillman, Devonport, showed a grand team. Yorks. had 52 entries in 4 classes, Mr. Boundy doing well, whilst Mr. Ellis's winning young buff was greatly admired. Mules were a real good class, and two sets of winners could have been found. In small British again quality was evident, Mr. F. Collins winning with his Palace Yellow Wagtail. The total entry amounted to 250, being 80 in excess of last year. Mr. Jago was as usual a most obliging general secretary, whilst Mr. W. E. B. Lee was particularly interested in the welfare of the cage birds, ably assisted by Messrs. Hender, Hone, Kendell, Shelly, Tickell, and Wellington. Mr. F. Collius, Camborne, was fortunate enough to win both the extra specials, scoring 74 points throughout the show for the 5-guinea cup, and also winning the clock for the largest entry. Bodmin, and it might be said all Cornish folk within easy distance make the annual show a holiday, and the attendance this year bids fair to create another record. Mr. S. Tickell judged, and his awards gave general satisfaction.

GLASGOW (West End).

Fourth annual show, held Nov. 15, in the Co-operative Hall, St. George's Cross, a very comfortable one for the purpose, fine temperature, free from draught, and well lighted with electricity. The management was all that could be desired. Secretary Mr. W. Proudfoot we found very capable and obliging; he had all arrangements well on hand, he was ably assisted by Pres. Mr. C. Campbell, Vice-Pres. Mr. W. G. Hamilton and Mr. J. M. Bannerman, along with the committee, Messrs. A. Symington, A. Gillespie, J. Campbell, D. Lunn, W. Kane, and R. Prentice, who all worked well towards the success of the show. If this progressive body of fanciers go on as they are doing they will require a much larger hall, as it was packed to its utmost. The entry totalled 250, a slight decrease from last year, but quality was very good, especially in Borders. B.F.C.C. medal was won by Mr. D. Lunn with a beauty of a cl. yell. cock; the Pearson Challenge Rose Bowl for best young Nor. by Mr. J. Tawse with a nice typical yell. variegated cock; Macfiab Challenge Cup for best young Yorks., Mr. W. Cochrane, with a fine outstanding cl. buff cock of nice length, also wins gold medal very generously granted for the fourth time by Mr. W. Gibb Macnab for best young bird in hall; cup for best young Mule, Mr. G. McGowan; special best Brit., Mr. G. G. Henderson; best Foreign, Mr. W. Proudfoot, with his well-known King Parrot; Hyde's special, Mr. J. Henderson. Judges were: Plainheads and Crests, Mr. J. McLay, Kirkintilloch; Borders and Yorks., Mr. G. Hislop, Stirling; Brit. and For., Mr. R. V. Raine, Catheart.

A Mammoth Double Number Next Week.

KEITH.

Second annual show held in the Longmore Hall, Nov. 12. 140 entries faced the judges, Mr. W. B. Mackie (Aberdeen), and Mr. H. Thomson (Keith). The hall is one of the best for a cage bird exhibition, being well lighted on both sides, and the birds were staged to advantage. The entry in the Canary section was disappointing, especially in Norwich classes, as Mr. W. B. Mackie is one of our best judges. Mr. H. Thomson got a fairly good entry in British and foreign, and there was a good turn out of Yorks. and Borders. Some grand exhibits were staged in all the sections. We hope the venture has turned out a financial success, although the gate did not appear to be so large as it should have been. Mr. A. Rhind, the energetic, courteous, and obliging secretary had all arrangements well in hand, and must be complimented on the success of his labours. He was ably assisted by a hard-working committee of fanciers, who had everything well up to time. Challenge cup for most points in show was won by Mr. Craigen Huntly. Silver medal for the best Yorks. or Border, Mr. A. Junor; silver medal, best Norwich, Mr. D. Craigen; silver medal, best Mule or Hybrid, Mr. G. Baxter; silver medal, best Softbill Brit., Mr. R. J. Robertson, with a black Redstart; silver medal, best Hardbill, Mr. Wm. McAdam; sp. best buff Yorks., Mr. A. Rhind. The awards were well received, grumbling being conspicuous by its absence.

PEMBROKE DOCK.

Cage birds had only a small classification at the show of the County of Pembroke F.A., held in the Market House Nov. 12. Entries came up well, and largely exceeded the figures of last year, whilst the quality was really much better than one expected at such an unpretentious exhibition. Competition was generally keen, especially in Yorkshires, Norwich, and Mules. The exhibits were very nicely staged, and their wants well looked after by the committee, special stewards for our section being Messrs. T. E. Williams, B. Lewis, D. O. Williams, J. H. Brown, T. Matthias, W. H. James, A. Noakes, T. Griffiths, and A. James. Messrs. T. D. Williams, the hon. sec., and A. E. Catherall, gen. sec., were most courteous and energetic in the discharge of their duties. Mr. C. A. House judged.

HARLECH.

Show held Nov. 10 in the Town Hall, under the patronage of the Countess of Winchelsea and Nottingham, and Countess Amherst. Mr. T. H. Rice held the secretarial reins in a very capable manner. Treas. Capt. Wynne Jones acted as steward of the show; chairman Mr. O. Morris and a committee of well-known fanciers were at the head of the arrangements. Mr. J. E. Jones shared well in the work as usual. Some good exhibits were on view, especially in Norwich and British. Mr. W. H. Williams winning the cup for best bird with his well-known Hawfinch in superb form; also best Norwich and British; Mr. O. Hughes best nat. col. Nor. and two specials in Yorkshires; Mr. James Jones special unflighted; Messrs. Jones and Davies best Mule or Hybrid, with a good Siskin-Greenfinch; Mr. W. R. Roberts, best Goldfinch; Mr. Gwrthcyru Jones Hyde's special. Mr. R. E. Griffith judged and gave general satisfaction.

COVENTRY.

87th annual show, held at headquarters, the Sydenham Palace, Nov. 15. The room is acknowledged to be one of the finest in the kingdom for the purpose, being spacious, well ventilated, free from draught, and lighted by electricity. The show proved a great success, and the critics said they had not seen such a show of Norwich in the Midlands for some time. Such was the competition that many noted winners had to take a back seat, some being absolutely cardless. The society is to be congratulated on the splendid manner in which the exhibition was carried out; the officers, who are as follows, all worked splendidly: Pres., Mr. G. Peters; vice-pres., T. Gilbert and T. Judd; committee, Messrs. G. Lawrance, F. Swift, W. Davis, H. Butler, W. Slaymaker, H. Spann, and G. Coates; hon. treas., Mr. J. Corrall; auditors, Messrs. G. Turrall and H. Mann; show stewards, Messrs. J. Tipping, W. J. Rowley, A. J. Lucas, F. Swift, W. H. Raven, A. Orton, W. Slaymakers, A. J. Smith, H. Cowley, H. A. Adams, and J. Parker; hon. sec., A. J. Barratt. Mr. J. Robson judged, and his awards gave general satisfaction. Some thought it peculiar that the colour feed specials given by different manufacturers should both be won by one exhibitor.

Fine 'Quality' Show at Cowdenbeath

Held Nov. 17 in Drill Hall, without doubt one of the finest in Britain for such a purpose, combining as it does the qualities of practically unbroken light from roof, space, and comfort. This event has caught on, and creates great interest in the little Kingdom, which now may claim to be the most profuse in fanciers of any non-city area of a similar radius. The fact that no less than 13 open events are held within a radius of a few miles is illustrative of this. Perhaps an amalgamation would be beneficial, and the question of dates which at present threatens to create discord would be also disposed of. There is no doubt that Cowdenbeath holds pride of place for quality of exhibits, most of the winners having already qualified for nomination here, and many had their first eclipse, partial or total, as many classes had birds good enough to furnish two sets of winners. This was particularly noticeable in the Border section, quite a few of those which had sported the red card the previous two Saturdays at Kirkcaldy and Kelty being relegated to the ranks of "also rans" here, and such happenings merited a close scrutiny of those which annexed the honours.

Yorkshires were forward in force; the society's enterprise in bringing such an acknowledged authority as Jim Bailey all the way from Bradford to adjudicate, merited even better support; but if Yorkies should fairly catch on in Scotland, which we do not doubt, Fife may claim no small share of the honour of first footing the variety.

British, despite the patronage of the S.B.B.M.C. were down in numbers, although quality was there in the highest degree. This section provided a sensation, the judge, Mr. Bald, failing to discern the bona-fides of Mr. A. Anderson's well-known British Goldfinch, and adjudging it to be a Foreigner. This bird has now been on the show bench for quite a few years, and been awarded highest honours by many experts (including 1st Scottish National), so its owner seems to have been unfortunate to have met such treatment twice this season.

Scots Fancies were handled by a recognised expert (Mr. Stenhouse), grumbling being quite absent. It must have been gratifying to that gentleman to overhear the often repeated statement, "Yes, a'm bate the day, awl gie in." Mr. Higgins secured cup for best in section with a massive bull pied cock, a popular win. Norwich were a very fine lot and were well handled by Mr. A. Sloan. Mr. Paul's awards in Crests were also well received.

Mr. Heggie performed the hat trick in Yorks. section, being winner of Burgh Arms cup for best bird in show, Empire cup for most points over show, a close race with holder (Mr. J. Sykes), and only won by one point (Heggie 77, Sykes 76); and Yorkshire challenge cup for most points in Yorks. Fife, Kinross Phd. medal best cock, W. Spence, best hen, McConville; Scottish Phd. Club medal, best cock J. Murray; hen J. Taylor; Hydes' special, J. W. Holmes; Dick cup most points in Phd. section W. Grewar; Border C.C. medal J. Craig; CAGE BIRDS Coupon winners: Norwich champion, 10s., Harris, nov. M'Ivor; Diplomas: Border champion Craig, nov. Murray; Yorks., nov. Anderson, champion Heggie; Crests, champion Howie, nov. Scott; Brit., champion Sykes; For., champion Sykes, nov. Baxter.

The management of the show left nothing to be desired with the exception of a board announcing awards, as the charge for admission only granted a seat in gallery during judging, and as catalogues of awards were not ready till well on in afternoon the board would have been greatly appreciated. The committee were a band of willing workers actuated by one desire, to make everything go smoothly; and they succeeded admirably. The genial sec., Mr. Holmes had everything well in hand, and has little to learn in the art of show running. Valuable assistance was accorded by that doyen of managers, Mr. Joe Reid, than whom it would be difficult to find a more efficient first-mate, he having chosen that post as giving him greater scope for activity than the captain's post he previously held. The attention paid to exhibits excited everyone's admiration. The show was well patronised and towards the close had that animated aspect which brings joy to the heart of its directors. Unfortunately the weather was of the worst, but this perhaps helped to swell the visitors' list as the hall is well served with trams and is contiguous to the station.

The Canary Classes.

SCOTCH FANCY, CL. OR FOUL YELL. CK. (4): 1, Archibald, all there for quality, grand drive, very nervy, excels shoulder, wins; 2, 4, Clark, former more Belgian in type than leader, good head, works well, good second; 3, Menzies, does not come down so well, good head, nice side. HEN (4): 1, Cook, foul head and wing, good subs. for hen, grand worker, excels circle; 2, 3, Anderson, former scarcely subs. of leader, yet all there for drive and work, 3rd just fails subs., and hardly equal in drive; 4, Fulton. BUFF CK. (6): 1, Keill, good thickness through, good top end, comes well down, wins; 2, Thomson, tick head, scarcely weight of leader, good action and shoulder, very nervy, good side, well placed; 3, Fulton, just beaten drive, fine action, nice small head; 4, Cook; 5, Anderson; 6, Menzies. HEN (4): 1, 4, Cook, very good subs., rare drive, excels side, grand worker; 2, Cowan, good pos., comes well under, very snaky, just beaten top end; 3, Keill, fails top end, very nervy, wants working a bit. PIED OR GR. YELL. CK. (5): 1, Higgins, grand action, comes down well, good length side, wins well, grand one; 2, Cook, just beaten thickness through, equal drive, nice head, excels shoulder; 3, Keill, scarcely the subs., rather stiff, nice head, not up to form to day; 4, Stirling; 5, Thomson. HEN (4): 1, Higgins, grand lady, rare drive, very nervy, wins with something to spare; 2, Keill, good one, comes well down, good shoulder, fails sub. and circle to leader, no disgrace here; 3, Stirling, hardly so good drive, nice head, fails top end and weight; 4, Cook. BUFF CK.: 1, best in section, Higgins, rare subs., side, and thickness through, drives well, popular win; 2, Anderson, comes well down and under, very nervy, excels shoulder; 3, Cook, fails weight to leaders, good head, comes well under, beaten drive; 4, Menzies. HEN (6): 1, Thomson, wins in good company, grand drive, very snaky, comes well under, excels top end, must have pressed for best in section; 2, Archibald, grand circle, fine length side, drives well, just beaten in weight and top end; 3, Cowan, fails subs. and circle, useful one; 4, Anderson; 5, Cook; 6, Menzies. SELL CK.: 1, Anderson; 2, Cowan; 3, 5, Fulton; 4, Thomson. BORD. CL. YELL. CK. (15): 1, Cunningham, good one, nicely rounded, fine col., nice head and texture, just fails wings, wins in strong class; 2, Little, scarcely weight of leader, even better in back and wings, beaten col., excels head, must have pressed; 3, Smith, real good one, excels poise, nice head and texture, just beaten front, very jaunty, well placed; 4, Craig, best texture, excels head and front, just on short side, rare stock bird, nice pipe tail, we liked; 5, Hutchinson; 6, Little, a good class. HEN (19): 1, Craig, often described, a model Bord., wins easy even here; 2, G. Bennet, Kelty medallist, beaten here, yet a good one, scarcely so well moulded as leader, well braced, very jaunty, good 2nd; 3, Robertson, very similar type, just a little flat on back, fit to win in most classes, but beaten here, inclined to drive over perch; 4, Shields, nice head, well packed wings and pipe tail, just falls back, a good one; 5, Brackie; 6, Weir. BUFF CK. (11): 1, B.F.C.C. medal, Craig, gem for col., texture, and type, excels all points, but inclined to open wings; 2, Burt and Baxter, Kelty winner, beaten well here, excels texture, front, and taper, but falls poise and col. to leader; 3, Beveridge, neck tick, grand front and qual., fails curve from head to shoulder, well staged, good 3rd; 4, Hutchinson, good one, rare quality, nicely braced, very jaunty, greatly fancied for 3rd, excels poise; 5, Little; 6, G. Bennet. HEN (16): 1, Craig, grand col. and texture, Java like, model in every respect except curve from base of skull to shoulder, flat here spoils poise, wins easy other points, yet we prefer; 2, Bennet, rare moulded, feather like wax, excels poise, very jaunty, a gem all over; 3, Beveridge, another front ranker, hardly cul. of leaders, well-known winner, not put out clean, well placed; 4, Brockie, head tick, rare qual. feather, just lacks front; 5, Crabb and Finlayson; 6, Murray; Grand class. EVEN MARK (3): 1, Hamilton, rather faint eyes, nice wings, excels qual. feather, wins on type; 2, W. Hamilton, heavier stamp, rather run in eye marks and slightly flat on back, nice texture, very jaunty; 3, Nelson, yellow, best marks in class, fails front and texture, slack in wings. UNEVEN YELL. (9): 1, Clark, nicely rounded back, excels texture and head, fails front and taper, very jaunty action; some preferred 2, Anderson, almost four-point, better col. and front, excels taper, packs like a Java, good one, staged to win; 3, Smith, wings and cap grand quality, excels wings and tail, nicely rounded front, fails back to leaders, a good one, very jaunty; 4, Duncan, cinn. mark, just ou small side, yet a real good one, excels col. and texture, nice poise, well braced, must have pressed, we liked; 5, Hutchinson; 6, Craig, difficult class to separate. The Mules, British, and Foreign.

LIGHT MULE, EXCEPT BULLF. (5): 1, Heggie, well-known Cl. Greenf., often described, needs no comment; 2, McQuiston and Paterson, same cross, lightly mkd., equally well-known; 3, 4, 5, Jamieson, former Yell. Goldie, eye and wing mkd., rather rough on head, tail incomplete, good col., 4th five-pointed Buff Goldie, rather unfinished, will make a good one. DARK (11): 1, McQuiston and Paterson, Greenie, often described, wins well in strong class; 2, McLaren, Goldie, not largest, but all there for col., nice finsh and wings, well staged; 3, 4, 5, former Linnet, some preferred for 2nd, nice size, cobby shape, excels col., typical, 4th Goldie, not up to subs. or col. of leader; 6, Coleman. SELL (9): 1, 5, Cooper; 2, Storrar; 3, Adamson; 4, Forley; 6, Fraser. HYB., EXCEPT BULLF. (5): 1, Mitchell, Redpoll-Goldf., grand order, good size for cross, shows parentage, wins well; 2, McQuiston and Paterson, Goldf.-Greenie, grand size, rare flush and wings, good one, well placed; 3, Muir and Heenan, Twite-Goldf., good order, very typical, fails col., good condition; 4, Whitbrook and Allen, Redpoll-Greenf., fair size, shows distinct bib, good order, beaten cross and col.; 5, Chalmers. BULLF. HYB. (3): 1, Chalmers, Goldf.-Bull., not largest, but rare col., rather slack at thighs, yet a nice one; 2, 3, Jamieson, former Linnet-Bull., nice size and shape, rare depth col., shown in tip-top order, we preferred, 3rd Goldf.-Bull., fails col. GOLDF. (5): 1, Aitken, good col., and expanse of blaze, rather pinched head, excels moons and wings, nicely tanned; 2, Sykes, better size and shape, more expansive blaze, beaten col.; 3, Smith, good tans, nice shape, fails blaze, and inclines to hang wings; 4, Lister, F.M., good blaze, excels wings, rather wild, should make a nice one, No. 5 Anderson, marked W.C., we make best in class; No. 2, Watson, late Nicolson, same fate. BULLF. BRIT (5): 1, McQuiston and Paterson, great size, dense and expansive cap, rare breast col., hardly level in tone, wins well; 2, 3, Sykes, quite equal in cut to leader, beaten breast col., and size, just a little slack at thighs, excels wings, we preferred 3rd, better shape, quite equal breast, grand cond.; 4, Jamieson, smaller, 5, Lister. GREENF., FED (6): 1, Stewart and Dalling, good size, hot col., rare wings, put down in good order; 2, Rodney, better shape, more cobby, quite equal to leader in col., hardly size, but nice one; 3, Aitken, another cobby one, rather rough on head and neck, nicely fed, will improve; 4, Moreland, our choice for fit, rare cobby shape, nice rise on head, excels wings, a good Greenie, properly fed; 5, Barclay; 6, Anderson, Kelty winner. NON-FED (14): 1, 3, Sykes, leader grand one, looking his best to-day, rare size and col., well put down, 3rd just a little pinched in head to leader, best of wings in class, shining cond; 2, Messer, quite equal to leader in all points but size and there a good one, well placed; 4, Black and Lumsden, old stager, not looking his best to-day, rather slack in wings; 5, Aitken; 6, Adam on. LINNET, C.M. (12): 1, 5, McQuiston and Paterson, well-known winner, often described, leads easy; 2, Stuart and Dalling, good size, nice peg top shape, good tone, well pencilled; 3, Muir and Heenan, nearer, but hardly so well shaped as leaders, better whites, just a little open in front, well placed; 4, Barclay, another good one, rare breast work; 6, Walsh, strong class for quality, some good birds cardless here. F.M. (15): 1, McGregor, rare size and shape, gem for col. and breast work, nice wings, wins in good company; 2, McQuiston and Paterson, well-known winner, gem for size, beaten in front here hardly up to form to-day, yet some preferred for 1st place; 3, Muir and Heenan, another good one, scarcely so cobby as leaders, yet all there for tone and pencilling, excels whites, very steady; 4, Hardy, good one all over, very good shape, just fails steadiness; 5, Robson and Dewar; 6, Fraser, another strong class, many good birds having to stand down. SISKIN (6): 1, Moreland, unfed., good shape, excels cap, nice tone of col. and flanks, distinct bib; 2, Whitbrook and Allen, fed, nice dense cap, clean cut, faint bib, loses flanks and bib to leader, well placed; 3, Grewar, similar stamp, better bib, just beaten col. and flanks, nice one; 4, Barclay, scarcely expanse or density of cap, superior in most other points, no bib, best flanks in class, rather unsteady; 5, Rice. MEALY REDPOLL OR TWITE (6): 1, McQuiston and Paterson, rare size, often described, good Twite; 2, Messer, Mealy 'poll, great size, excels tone and flanks, unfortunately drops wings; we preferred 3, Leitch, nice Twite, good tone and pencilling, little run, but still a good 2nd here, well put down; 4, Muir and Heenan, fair size, distinct heavy pencilling, nice wings, fails head; 5, Coleman; 6, Campbell. LESSER REDPOLL (9): 1, McQuiston and Paterson, often described, needs no comment, looking his best to-day; 2, Sykes, hardly subs. of leader, and beaten col., excels flanks, good 'poll; 3, Hamilton, F.M., fair size, grand colour, expansive jetty bib, best flanks in class, rather unsteady and crosses wings, or would surely have gone up; 4, Webster, nice shape, scarcely weight of leaders, beaten tone and flanks; 5, Lister; 6, McGillivray Bros., strong class. BRAMBLE OR CHAFFINCH (7): 1, 2, 3, Sykes, the inseparables, Bramble and Chaffie lead easy here, need no comment, 3rd fair Bramble, rather overshadowed by champion, good size, well placed; 4, Barclay, Chaffie, nice breast, hardly subs., fails head, still a nice one; 5, Russell; 6, Leitch. BUNTING: 1, McQuiston and Paterson, well-known Corn, might have won owner cup last week, needs no comment; 2, 5, Russell, Meadow, Kelty winner, nice markings, in A1 order, well placed; 3, Hardy, Yellow, nice V and cheeks, good col., outclassed here; 4, Richardson, Corn, fails size and breast work; 6, Milligan, well mixed class. A.O. HARDBILL (3): All honours Sykes, champion trio Hawfinches, often described. HEN (12): 1, Mackie, Bullie, a gem, well-known winner, simply perfection; 2, Sykes, Greenf., marvel for a hen, some preferred for 1st, must have pressed, even better wings than No. 2, which was a cock; 3, McQuiston and Paterson, Linnet, champion lady, what a trio; 4, 6, Taylor, Bramble, nice spangle and sheen, hard lines to meet such company; 5, Millar, difficult class to separate. SOFTBILL SMALL (2): Both Taylor, Redstart leading, well-known winner; 2nd Grey Wagtail, in grand order, nicely staged. LARGE (3): 1, Sykes, Chough, well-known, wins easy; 2, Henderson, Waxwing, not largest, grand sheen, fails wings, might be better staged; 3, Harvey, Missel, fails size and arrows, pale. FOR. GOLDF. OR BULLF. (6): 1, Howie, Goldf., great size, good blaze and moons, grand Finch; 2, Robertson, Goldf., fails size to leader, but excels in cut and colour of blaze, superior tans, our choice; 3, Adams, Goldf., best colour blaze in class, but not clean cut, nice wings, fails size and skull, well placed; 4, Marshall; 5, Baxter; 6, Cunningham, all Goldies. FOR. SMALL (2): 1, Colville, Whydah, in grand order, well put down; 2, Simpson, Lovebird, in nice order. LARGE (2): 1, Sykes, Glossy Starling, not up to form to day, slack; 2, Jamieson.

CREWE C.B.S.

Show held in the Lesser Co-operative Hall, Nov. 8, about 98 birds being staged. Mr. P. V. Williams's cup was won by J. W. Lawton for the third time in succession, and it becomes now his own property. Mr. E. Jaycott carried out his secretarial duties in a very able manner, and is just the right man in the proper place. Mr. A. Royle, Sale, judged, and gave entire satisfaction. Other specials were won by E. Jaycott, most points Nov., ditto Brit.; S. Potts, most points Nor.; J. L. Lawton, most points Yorks. Medals for best birds: 1, S. Potts; 2, W. Betterley; 3, J. W. Lawton. Novice medals: 1, G. Dunn; 2, E. Jaycott.

STOKE ON-TRENT.

Third annual show held in the Sutherland Assembly Room, Nov. 13. The room is splendidly adapted for the purpose, being very spacious, thus providing any quantity of room for staging, and at the same time having ample space between the aisles for the numerous visitors. The lighting was excellent, being all top light. The entry was a capital one, 400, which must have been gratifying to the Executive, who richly deserve a good entry, for they are a hard-working set of thorough fanciers. With such a splendid entry, and in order to get judging over in good time the committee wisely decided to call in another judge to assist Mr. Roe, and judging was completed and all awards up in good time. Norwich were a splendid collection, and competition in most of the classes was very keen. Yorks., although not over numerous in the Champion classes were a good lot for quality. British were splendid, a great many of them being well-known winners and staged in grand form. The Novice section was indeed excellent, both for numbers and quality, the Yorks. classes in this section having the patronage of the M.C.Y.C.C. CAGE BIRDS Cowpon Competition was in vogue at this fixture, and right well was it patronised, over sixty birds being nominated for the various diplomas and cash specials. The following were fortunate winners: Champions: Cash spl. and Yorks. diploma, Mr. G. Lawton; Nor., Mr. J. Thomas; Brit. Hardbill, Mr. J. Pitchford. Novice: Cash spl. and Yorks. diploma, Messrs. Werkes Bros.; Nor., Mr. R. Leese.

The arrangements were in every way most excellent, everything being in apple-pie order. The whole of the exhibits were splendidly staged, every attention being paid to them, and awards quickly up as the classes were judged. The management of the show was in the capable hands of the following: Chairman, Mr. T. Hawley; Vice, Mr. F. W. Alcock; Treas., Mr. W. Roberts; Committee, Messrs. F. W. Alcock, J. Bowers, J. Bagshaw, I. Butters, C. Beckett, C. Clay, J. Davis, I. Hawley, J. B. McMurtrie, R. Parker, A. Peake, J. Peake, G. Salt, R. Ratcliffe, I. Walker, R. Smith, W. H. Walton, G. Chadwick, M. Leese, E. Ousman, E. Hodgkinson, H. Pointon, G. Lawton, H. Fox, J. Lockett, senr.; while nt the head of this band of thorough fanciers, in charge of the onerous duties of hon. sec., was Mr. J. Pitchford, whose great experience as an exhibitor leaves him with every little detail at his finger tips. We noticed the worthy Vice-Chairman (Mr. F. W. Alcock) was no mere figure-head, but rendered valuable assistance in the Secretary's office the whole of the day. Sales were pretty brisk, many birds changing hands, including the champion Yorks. diploma winner, which was claimed at catalogue price. Mr. F. Pate judged Novice, Norwich, Selling and Members' classes, Mr. J. H. Roe taking remainder.

SHIPLEY.

Annual exhibition held Nov. 15, in the Central Schools. Entries numbered 424 in 26 classes. The novices are proving that they are the mainstay of the Yorkshire Union shows, no less than 211 were entered in the ten novice classes. In the champion section the most attractive classes were the unlighted with 22 entries, and the buff hen class, 21; several grand specimens were to be seen. The selling classes are not filling up as we have been used to seeing them in the past. In the novice section the entries were really marvellous, the first six classes averaging 28 per class. This being the first show for novices in the second half of the season, several new fanciers led off with a few points, and this caused great interest amongst the regular exhibiting novices. The winning buff was quickly claimed. Special for most points by a member in the champion classes was won by Mr. H. H. Towers, and in novice by Mr. Crossland.

The management was exceptionally good. The Sec., Mr. E. Grange, got through his duties in a very able manner, and he was backed up very well by his assistant, Mr. A. M. Craven, while the other officials, Messrs. Brown, Towers, Barker, Sutcliffe, Martin, and Merrall, did their duty in a very business-like manner, and everything was through in nice time. Mr. W. A. Cowgill placed the awards, and gave general satisfaction.

ORDER NEXT WEEK'S GREAT SPECIAL NUMBER NOW.

SELBY.

Aunual show held Nov. 13, in the Museum Hall, which has a nice top light, is of good size, free from draughts, and in close proximity to the station. The response to the capital schedule issued was of a very satisfactory order, viz., 354 in the 33 classes. Yorks., as is generally the case around this district, were the feature, and magnificent were some of the birds put down. Special for best Yorks. went to a fine unflig. yell. cock, staged to the moment by Dr. Craig (Sheffield). Norwich were also a fine collection, the largest plums being captured by Messrs. J. Thomas, T. Hemming, D. McMillan, and W. Stafford. Special for best Norwich went to Mr. J. Thomas, a grand cl. yell. cock proving his worth. British were of capital merit, Mr. R. D. Parlett claiming all the first prizes, viz., 5 all told; truly a field day. In the Mule class the same exhibitor's noted yell. Grecnie-Can. once again was "top rung." Amongst the novices were some "right stuff," Messrs. T. Gill, F. Radley, W. E. Hutchinson, and J. W. Bedforth (Yorkshires) and J. Wilson, T. Green, M. Bennett and G. H. Oliver (Norwich) staging gems which were a credit to them. Members put down some nice birds. Sp. for best member's Yorks was captured by H. Stripe, 2nd best H. Wilson, best Nor. G. Hallett; most points throughout the show, Mr. R. D. Parlett, 2nd Mr. J. Thomas.

The President, Mark Scott, Esq., J.P., officiated at the opening ceremony, his speech being of an up-to date and appropriate character. Vote of thanks for so kindly officiating was proposed by Councillor Bowe, J.P., seconded by Councillor Lee. The Society have a nice list of hon. supporters, while the committee consist of capital workers, praise being due to Messrs. G. Hallett (chairman), a right man in the right place, and Messrs. H. Mathers, A. Stripe, H. Wilson, J. Cliffe, A. Parvin, J. Fletcher, C. Pickering, W. H. Ward, H. W. Lee, Jennings and Prankett. The hon. show sec. is Mr. John Hy. Dixon. For tact, promptness, courtesy and business-like methods, J. H. D. would take some beating. With such a stalwart to control Selby show is bound to make a name in the near future.

Stewards who rendered most useful service precisely and correctly were Messrs. G. Hallett, Allen, Matthews, Lee, Punch, Stripe and Parvin. Staging was neatly executed; every bird was judged as it stood, a testimony to the excellence prevailing as regards the light and staging. Catalogues with printed awards were on sale in good time; visitors flocked up in fair style; everything went as smooth as marriage bells.

The show was the initial show as regards cage birds only, the past shows having been of the mixed variety, poultry, rabbits, etc. The society has not many members, all told about 12, but they are of the right sort, and they are to be complimented on their enterprise in running an open show. There are a fair number of breeders in Selby, and they have here a chance to throw in their lot and make their presence felt. Mr. H. W. Battye judged, and his awards were well received.

The Critique.

YELL. YORKS. (17): 1, Dr. Craig, mkd. wing, straight as a gun barrel, smooth as polished granite, fine length, full of nerve, well known winner; 2, Simeson, mkd. neck and eye, feathered like glass, erect, delightful outline, well filled back, neat wings and tail, close up; 3, Helliwell, mkd. wing, little stronger in build, yet of good stand and length, well on leg, superior feather and col., not far behind; 4, Thomas, mkd. wing, not so lengthy, but full of qual. and col., sweet carr.; vhc, Stripe; hc, Simeson. BUFF (14): 1, S. Radley, marvellous lengthy cl., tight as a Java, lovely expression of head, well filled neck, smart shaped body, clever legs, real charmer; 2, vhc, Simeson, grizzled head, as though chiselled out of marble, teeming with qual and col., lengthy and well on leg, long sided, neat waist, pressed hard; 3, Thomas, lovely feathered cl., rich col., straight up, graud back and wing carr., beaten a little in length, worth its place; 4, Tate and Haley, grizzled shoulder, stands like a guardsman, tight as a Java, full of nerve, deficient in tail feathers or might have been higher up; hc, Stripe; c, Dixon. UNFLIG. (29): rare

ALNWICK.

Sixth annual show held Nov. 12, in Century Hall, an ideal place, free from draughts, but airy. Entries were unfortunately down, the best-filled section being the Borders, the committee putting on the B.F.C.C. classification and securing the medal. Mr. Smart took medal with a nice foul buff cock, which was closely followed by a nice yell. hen the property of R. Watson; A. G. Cameron took Sandiford's medal, Mr. A. Wilson spl. for best in show with a nice Canary-Bullie, J. Douglas second best with a nice Nor. CAGE BIRDS rompon spls. were won by J. Scott in champion section with a lovely Chough, while Crackett and Hume took the novice spl. with a nice Nor. Unfortunately rain fell heavily all the forenoon, which told against the gate. We found in the Society a fine lot of fanciers ever willing to oblige one and all. The committee were Messrs. Wake, Dixon, Pope, Robinson, Davison, Swan, Scott and Broadley. Mr. Broadley took up the role of assist. sec. and right well did he assist Mr. Forster, the original. Quite a lion's share of work fell upon Mr. Broadley. The secretarial duties were well looked after by Mr. Forster. We were pleased to see the president and others in the show, taking a lively interest in the birds, and we hope to hear of the show proving a success. Messrs. Hay, Berwick, and Maddison, Newcastle, judged, and their awards seemed to the satisfaction of all.

Mr. Hay's Classes.

Advt. Manager, "Cage Birds"

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers in all transactions the adoption of our Deposit system should be insisted upon

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expirration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

NOTICE TO BIRD PURCHASERS.

It is advisable that all newly-purchased birds, especially foreign birds, be kept isolated from established stock for a week or ten days, until by their condition they establish the fact that they are thoroughly healthy.

IT'S EARLY YET

to speak of Christmas, but what about the bit of bird-catching you are hoping to have? Are you quite prepared, with all your appliances ready? Don't wait until the last moment before ordering everything you require, but, even if you should be late, just send your order to me, and I guarantee not to disappoint you. Everything required for successful catching always in stock, and all guaranteed brand new, up-to-date stock. Clapnets made from superfine thread, ¾in. mesh, 3 yards long, 5½ feet deep, and 4ft. poles, 4/- pair; ditto 4 yards, 5/-; 5 yards, 6/-; 6 yards, 7/-; 7 yards, 8/-; 8 yards, 9/-; 9 yards, 10/-; 10 yards, 11/- per pair. Clapnets consist of two nets to the pair, each net guaranteed of stated size, and are fitted up complete with all pegs, poles, lines, etc., ready for immediate use. Sparrow nets, fitted on 14ft. bamboo poles, 5/6; ditto, 17ft., 6/-; ditto, 19ft., 6/6. Self-acting spring net traps, 24 by 18 inches, 1/2; ditto, 20 by 16 inches, 11d. post free. These net traps are by far the simplest and most effective on the market; they can be baited for hard and soft bills at same time, and are used by all the leading softbill catchers. Single trap cages, 6d. each; double ditto, 1/-; treble, 1/3; all with separate compartment for call bird, in addition to traps stated. Patent self-setting and self-acting trap cages (Reg. No. 23927), warranted to automatically reset immediately each bird is caught, 1/6 each. Call cages, all wire, soldered tops and wood bottoms, 4d. each. Genuine Italian hemp pull lines, strong as boat lines, specially spun without swarl, 60 yards long, 1/4 post free. Original Japanese bird lime, guaranteed absolutely strongest lime made, stands all weathers, and especially good for fog and rain, ¼lb., 6d.; ½lb., 10d.; 1lb., 1/6; sample, 3d., all post free. Please note this is the original Japanese lime, as sold only by me for years past, and is entirely different to any other lime on the market. Loose netting, specially made for bird catching, and same as used in my clap nets, made from 60's/3-cord superfine thread, ¾in. mesh, 7 feet deep, 3d. yard; ditto, 9ft. deep, 4d. yard; ditto, 12ft. deep, 5d. yard. Extra stout netting 5/8in. mesh, 10ft. deep, 5d. yard; all post free. Bird calls for imitating call and song of any bird that flies, 2d. each; six, 6d., post free. Brace swivels, three 2d., twelve 6d., post free. Stave poles, pegs, and everything else required by catchers always in stock. Send stamp for full list, which also gives hints on net making. Kindly note following letters from well-known bird-catchers, etc.:—"16, Owen's Row, Kilney, Nov. 22. Sir,—Please send ½lb. lime. The sample is beyond expectations.—Yours, T. Jones." "School Hill, Broughton, near Kettering, Nov. 20. Sir,—Received nets; many thanks for same.—Yours, A. Boxall." "23, Levenhaugh-st., Dumbarton, Nov. 11. Sir,—Send ½lb. lime; the last I got was splendid.—Yours, S. Campbell." "Sheringham, Norfolk. Sir,—Received nets. I am perfectly satisfied; they are well worth the money.—Yours, E. Sadler." "10, Merefield-st., Rochdale. Sir,—Received netting, and am very pleased with it. It is very good, and just what I required. Thanks for quick delivery and straightforwardness.—Yours, J. Jackson." "Crowle, Lincs. Sir,—The last netting I got from you five years ago has been best I ever had; in fact, best in England.—Yours, G. Frith." "50, Anderson-st., Partick. Sir,—Please send 2lbs. lime. The last you sent me was best I ever had from anywhere.—Yours, W. Burke." "Nelson-st., Scarborough Sir,—Please send 1lb. lime. Yours is best I can get anywhere.—Yours, E. Banks." "Gorse Lane, Turleton. Sir,—Received clapnets safe, and they suit me first-class.—Yours, R. Coulton." "Norton-rd., Pelsall. Sir,—Please send another pound lime. I cannot get any to beat it.—Yours, J. Fellon." Please note, everything is guaranteed exactly as represented, and sent on approval on the distinct understanding that if not satisfactory the whole of your money is refunded.

EXPERT CANARY - REARING.

Large sums of money can be made breeding Canaries for sale and exhibition, once you have mastered the science of Mating, Crossing, and Judging. An artistic 20-page Brochure has been specially prepared for CAGE BIRDS readers regarding these matters and other details of great interest to fanciers. It is a gift to you, and you are entitled to it free of charge.

In this booklet will be explained an easy method by which, for the small payment of 1s., you can be the immediate possessor of a magnificent volume, entitled "Our Canaries." It weighs 5lbs., and contains 133 illustrations and 32 coloured plates. The balance is payable at the rate of about 1d. a day for a few months. This slight cost is not, of course, an expenditure at all, because the facts you will be put in possession of when you have read this wonderful manual on Canaries will pay for its cost many times over.

Shincliffe, Durham.

"I am well satisfied with 'OUR CANARIES' and as far as I have gone into this wonderful book. I have found some very useful hints. Although only a novice I tried my hand at washing a few birds and getting them ready for our Local Show. I washed nine birds in all, only spoiling one. I have had them examined by a friend, who is considered an expert at the game, and he gave me credit for washing them very well, this being my first attempt. I am delighted to think I did so well. The information, which is very concise, that enabled me to wash them so well was in 'OUR CANARIES.'"

USE DITCHFIELD'S

Famous bird medicines, as supplied to the London Zoological Society. They are genuine remedies, which can be given with perfect confidence to all classes of cage birds. We have hundreds of testimonials testifying to the value of our bird medicines. A. Sammons, Southend-on-Sea, writes: "You have got a genuine remedy, which no fancier should be without." B. Hutton, Holbeach, writes:—"Your Revivo is a marvellous remedy." R. Seekings, March, writes:—"Have saved three young birds with your Tonic Drops." W. Addison, Brynwhclach.—"Your Tonic has worked wonders with my birds." W. H. Harris, Halberton:—"I find your medicines very excellent." F. Clay, Settle:—"Have used your medicines with great success." J. Sherwin, Regent's Park:—"I have found your Tonic Drops most valuable for my birds." Special Notice.—When ordering medicine, kindly mention for what complaint, as in some cases an extra bottle is required, which we enclose free. Ditchfield's Tonic Drops are a guaranteed cure for soft moult, going light, not singing, feather plucking, diarrhœa, and inflammation of the bowels. Sold in 7d., 1/1, and 2/- bottles. For bronchitis, wheezing, hoarseness, and inflammation of the lungs, get Ditchfield's special Lung Tonic, also in 7d., 1/1, and 2/- bottles. This tonic is undoubtedly the grandest medicine ever introduced for chest and lung affections in cage birds. For cases of constitutional weakness and debility get Ditchfield's Revivo. There is nothing to equal it for giving new life and vigour to the bird. As a pick-me-up for birds before and after showing, Revivo is absolutely unequalled, in 7d. and 1/1 Bottles. To advertise our medicines, we will send two 7d. bottles of either of the above medicines for 1/-, or two 1/1 bottles for 1/9. All medicines are sent post paid per return; any bottles broken in transit replaced, also two seed recipes: How to feed Linnets and Rollers for song, given free to all purchasers of our medicines: Frank Ditchfield, Bird Specialist, Oldham. IF YOU WANT YOUR BIRDS TO BE IN THE PINK OF CONDITION, IN FULL SONG, FINE PLUMAGE, AND GOOD HEALTH, GIVE THEM

RUDD'S Celebrated Seeds & Foods.

Read the following items through, and send an order to-day.

RUDD'S GOLDFINCH MIXTURE.

This is the best seed you can give to Goldfinches, etc. It contains a good percentage of Thistle, Dandelion, Cornflower, Golden Pleasure, Sesame, and freshly-gathered wild seeds. It is the only really scientific mixture on the market.
4d. lb., 7 lbs. 2/-, post paid 2/6.

RUDD'S SPECIAL LINNET MIXTURE.

Like the Goldfinch Mixture it is free from all useless seeds that the birds will not eat, so often found in cheap packet mixtures.
4d. lb., 7 lbs. 2/-, post paid 2/6. Give it a Trial. Large Sample post paid 3d. stamps.

RUDD'S SPECIAL WILD SEEDS.

This is a wonderful mixture of all British and Scotch wild seeds, and is blended with Thistle, Dandelion, Cornflower, Shepherd's Purse, Golden Pleasure, etc., etc.

It is the finest tit-bit for British Finches that you can possibly give them, and has been described by one of our best bird judges as the finest mixture he had ever seen.
6d. lb., 7 lbs. 3/-, post paid 3/6.

RUDD'S CELEBRATED LARK AND BLACKBIRD FOOD.

This is a splendid Lark Food, made with pure Biscuit Meal, and entirely free from common Barley Meal, which is the basis of most Lark Foods. It contains Dried Flies, Ant Eggs, Meat, Fruit and Seeds, forming a most perfect food for all Softbills, such as Blackbirds, Thrushes, Larks, Magpies.
4d. lb., 7 lbs. 2/-, post paid 2/6.

RUDD'S SPECIAL GERMAN ROLLER CANARY MIXTURE.

There is nothing on the market like this, and it is the finest tonic mixture for keeping these songsters in good health, plumage and song. After a railway journey it is a fine pick-me-up.
6d. lb., 7 lbs. 3/9, carriage paid.

GOLDFINCHES, SISKINS, LINNETS, ETC.

We are patronised, and have been for 40 years, by every leading Crystal Palace judge and exhibitor, so our reputation stands second to none. We give above reward if it can be proved we send out unhealthy birds or hens for cocks. Editor of this journal has seen scores of original testimonials for birds we have supplied, which have bred hundreds of winning Mules. So if you intend buying British birds, buy from us, who have hundreds each week to pick from. We don't send out birds straight from the field; all are well on seed; guaranteed. Real English 1913 cock Goldfinches, 1/6, 2/- each, three 4/-, six 7/-, twelve, 12/-; extra picked for muling, 2/6, 3/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6; cock Bullfinches, 1/6, 2/-; hens, 10d. and 1/-; Lancashire cock Linnets, 8d., 10d. and 1/-; cock Siskins, 2/-, 2/6, 3/-; hens, 1/- and 1/6; Lancashire cock Linnets, 8d., 10d., 1/- each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; Greenfinches, 6d. each, three 1/3; cages for any of above, from 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/3, 1/6, and 2/-. Seed grinding mills, 1/6. Send for catalogue of everything. Established 50 years: Sandiford, Bird Specialist and Judge, Preston, Lancs.; also 89, Sclater-st., Shoreditch, London.

NORWEGIAN BULLFINCHES

the noted birds which have been imported several seasons by Mr. Hollins, late of Hull, and the kind from which most Bullfinch Mules have been bred. They are not as big as Thrushes, but are larger and finer birds than any other kind. We know of no other importers of these birds. We are now obtaining regular supplies, and send none out until they have been with us 14 days, enabling them to recover from the effects of the journey and us to pick out any not perfectly healthy. We have cocks and hens for muling or exhibition; prices 7/6 to 20/- each, according to quality. "Pets" Supply Co., Coppice Drive, Harrogate. (1062)

USE OUR NOTEPAPER

SOFTBILL keepers, take expert advice before proceeding to buy and keep the larger species of Insectivorous birds. You will then have no trouble in keeping your pets in the best of health. This advice is offered in "Nutshell No. 26," by H. J. Fulljames. It is a wonderful little work, dealing with most varieties in a highly interesting and instructive manner. Foods and their preparation, and the various styles of cages also receive full attention. Can you breed Mealworms? This booklet tells you how. Post free, 2½d., from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C. Look at our list of agents; call on the nearest and get it for 2d.

I AM SUPPLYING

Winners every week all over England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales. If you want something good send to the man that has them in stock. I have one of the largest stock of birds to be found in England, not on paper, but kept in the largest, most up-to-date indoor and outdoor aviaries in the North of England. One bird from me makes you a regular customer, as I am bound to give you satisfaction. All I ask from you is one trial order, then I am sure others will follow. My rooms and aviaries are all fitted up on the latest sanitary principles, and I guarantee every bird I send out to be healthy and as advertised. I have hundreds of Birds pass through my hands weekly. If you are visiting Hull, inquire for the aviaries, anyone will direct you to Day's, as the only aviaries known, within two minutes' walk from station. Trams constantly passing. Gentlemen, when you place your order with me, you place it with the only advertiser in Hull competent to pick you a bird for exhibition, having been a breeder and exhibitor over 30 years; what I don't know about birds, both for show and song, is not worth knowing. See report Hull show, November 15th; Mr. Hogg won special for best Linnet in the show, supplied by me week before the show; seven birds supplied by me took high honours at Selby show; in fact, I am supplying winners all over England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales. Please read a few letters received last week.—"Nottingham.—Sir,—Birds arrived safe; am very pleased with them; can do with more if as good.—Mr. Hayter to Mr. Day." "12, Anchirath Row, High Blantyre, Lanarkshire. — Dear Sir,—Received birds safe; highly pleased; they are A1 value; please send another Siskin as good as last, better if possible; thanking you for quick despatch.—R. White to Mr. Day." "13, Church-st., Dumbarton.—Dear Sir,—Birds arrived safe; thanks for quick despatch; I must say I am well pleased with them, also with the others I got from you; thank you for honest dealing.—J. Currie to Mr. Day." "110, Chenies Mews, Tot. Ct. Rd., London.—Dear Sir,—Bird arrived safe; very pleased with him.—G. Turney to Mr. Day." "Lilac Cottage, Burnhead, Larkhall, Lanarkshire.—Dear sir,—Birds arrived in good order; am very pleased with them; please send me, etc.—G. Boag to Mr. Day." "2, Clifton Rd., Belfast.—Dear Sir,—Received Siberian Bullie hen in the pink; was astonished at the value; I have never seen one to equal it at double the price.—P. Riguu to Mr. Day." "West Roddymoor, near Crook, Co. Durham.—Dear Sir,—Birds arrived safe; am quite satisfied; enclosed p.o. for best cock Bullfinch; thanking you for straight dealing.—W. Rutherford to Mr. Day." "51, Scot-st., Treherbert.—Dear Sir,—Birds arrived safe; am very pleased.—T. Bremmer to Mr. Day." "33, High-st., King's Lynn.—Dear Sir,—A line to let you know I got first and special with bird you sent me; please send Siskin, p.o. enclosed.—J. Riley to Mr. Day." "Blanket Row, Norwich.—Dear Sir,—The Siskin you sent me got first, he was much admired; please send another as good; p.o. 7/6 enclosed.—G. Dixon to Mr. Day." These are names and addresses in full. Now, gentlemen, I have over three hundred cock Siskius just arrived, and amongst them some of the largest and best ever seen. I have picked out a few large, rich, yellow cocks, with broad black caps and bibs, grandly laced, bound to win, 7/6 each; other good yellow cocks, 3/6, 4/6 each; all guaranteed yellows, with caps and bibs; other healthy Siskins, 18/- dozen; don't hesitate, but send at once. Siberian Bullfinches, cocks or hens, real giants, not from Gothenberg, which are palmed off by some as Siberians, 5/6, 6/6, 7/6 each; two extra good cocks, very rich in colour, grand caps, 10/6 each; three monster aviary-moulted Siberian Bullie hens, finger tame, 10/6 each, and over a hundred very large Siberian cock Goldfinches, biggest and best ever imported to England, 4/6, 5/6, 6/6; and a few specials, can win at once, 7/6, 10/6 each; British cock Goldfinches, full colour, 2/6, 3/-; a few picked for show, with lovely square cut blaze, nicely tanned and buttoned, 5/6, 6/6 each; also three monster cock Linnets, grand shape and colour, well pencilled, exactly the same as supplied by me to Mr. Hogg, winner of special prize for best Linnet at Hull show last week; he is a fancier whose knowledge of British is second to none; 2/6, 3/6 each; I also have two of the best Lesser Redpolls ever caged, sure winners, 2/6, 3/6 each; and a grand lot of cock Goldfinch Mules, in full song, 6/6, 7/6 each. Just arrived: my first consignment of Leipzig Rollers, on full rolling song, with many lovely changes, free from any harsh notes, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, and a few extra good schoolmasters, 10/6 each; Hartz cocks, on full song, the ones to wake you in the morning, 4/6, 5/6 each; a few extra good singers, 6/6 each; dealers send for price per stick. Rollers or Goldfinches; I guarantee you satisfaction, one of the best talking Grey Parrots living, can say over a hundred words as plain as human beings, sings, laughs, cries, £12; also two Blue faced Amazons, fine talkers and mimics, £3 10/-, £4 10/- each; and a very good talking Indian King Parrot, imitates dogs, cats, sings, laughs, can say fully 50 words, 30/-, with large square cage 35/-; also two lovely Yorkshire terrier dogs, good pedigree, £2 10/- each. If you want dogs, cats, monkeys, animals, or birds of any description, write to me; all on approval, cash or deposit. Note, all postal or money orders should be crossed "and Co.," for safety. Zoo Inn. The Aviaries, Porter-st., Hull. Private Address, 77. (1034)

TRY DAY FOR HIGH-CLASS

birds; seven of the finest cock Waxwings ever seen in England, in grand health and feather, 25/-, 30/-, and one fit for the Palace, 40/-; also a large dark yellow cock Goldfinch Mule, colour-fed, a sure winner, 15/-; ditto buff, bit smaller, 8/6; also a very large yellow cock Siskin, with grand cap, bib, well laced, wins anywhere, 7/6; and a very large Siberian cock Goldfinch, lovely colour, square cut blaze, well balanced, a real gem, 10/6; also a large Siberian Mealy Redpoll, a winner wherever shown, 2/6; also a large Siberian cock Greenfinch, a beauty, 2/6; and two grand British cock Goldfinches, showing grand tanning, well buttoned, nice square cut blazes, 3/6, 4/6 each; also a large cage moulted cock Linnet, plenty of colour, pencilled all over the body, win in good company, 7/6; approval with pleasure: John Day, The Aviaries, Porter-st., Hull. (1064)

MOST OF YOU

have had a little experience of sending for birds by post. May I ask: Has the result always been to your satisfaction? Haven't you felt just a little disappointed when you found that the stock which you expected was gong to "lick creation" was only just the ordinary after all? By dealing with me you avoid all this. I guarantee everything I sell to be accurately described and exactly as represented in my advt., so that by sending to me you know exactly what to expect. Moreover, I send everything on approval (as per "Cage Birds" rules) on the distinct understanding that unless you are perfectly satisfied you have only to return birds and the whole of your money is promptly and cheerfully refunded. I have on hand a splendid lot of genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches, in perfect health and feather, all warranted clean moulted, in full colour and superb condition, 2s. each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 16/-; grand lot of selected steady cocks, all separately caged and in free song 3/ each, three 7/6; few real exhibition birds, with full complement of show points, 4/- and 5/- each; hen Goldfinches 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/6. Handsome lot cock Siskins, in full colour, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 16/-; selected birds, 3/-, three 7/6; exhibition specimens 4/- and 5/- each; hen Siskins, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/-, twelve 7/-. Grand lot cock Brown Linnets, in superb condition, 9d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/6; selected steady cocks, guaranteed in song, 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; exhibition specimens 2/6 each. Cock Greenfinches 6d each, three 1/-; exhibition yellows, 2/6 each. Cock Chaffinches 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-. Cock Bramblefinches 1/- each, three 2/-; cock Twites 1/- each, three 2/-; cock or hen Redpolls 6d. each, three 1/3: magnificent stock cock Larks, all big hold birds and real cocks, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; selected steady cocks, guaranteed in song, 1/6, 2/- and 2/6 each; cock Bullfinches, 2/- and 3/- each, hens 1/- and 1/6 each; special travelling cages, 3d. per three birds extra. Exhibitors please note: I do not tell you a lot of rot about "massive giants," and "best in world," etc.; sufficient for me to say is that what I call an exhibition bird is a bird good enough to win first prizes. I know what is wanted, and I know that you know that also. I probably handle more English hardhills than any other three men, and out of them get a few tip-toppers weekly, and as I do not exhibit birds, all are for sale. Every bird I sell is guaranteed properly netted by expert catchers working solely for myself. I get the whole catches, and do not buy from any man that advertises: W. Gore, 131, Gooch-st., Birmingham. (1024)

HARRY ALLEN, THE ORIGINAL LINNET KING

CANADA, FRANCE, AND SCOTLAND

I have received another good order from Canada, France, and Scotland. I am sending Editor letters for proof. I could fill this paper with nothing but good testimonials I have received this last week. I have sold 27 winners in six weeks. My Rollers can beat the world for pure Canary singing, for length, turns, and form, and deepness of tone, and the changes in each note are beautiful; price 7/6, 10/6, and 15/-, and one of the best Canaries ever heard in a cage, 25/-; this Canary is well out on his own, and can beat any Canary I have heard for 20 years. If you want a real one, this is him; he is trained to perfection. Real Siberian cock Goldfinches, the largest in the world, with deep square-cut scarlet blaze, well tanned, with beautiful wing bars and nicely buttoned, 5/6, 6/6; and real champions, can win under any judge, 7/6 and 10/-. Real English Peartree cock Goldfinches, the largest in England, with deep square-cut scarlet blaze, with good broad heads, well tanned and nicely buttoned, 2/6, 3/6; and real prizewinners for the bench, 4/6 and 5/-. These Finches cannot be beaten; try one. Very large cock Bullfinches, with beautiful cap and bib, and double rich coloured breasts, splendid wing bars, 3/-; sure prizewinners for the bench, 4/6 and 5/-. Linnets—I have the largest Linnets in England. My A1 specials can beat the world for steadiness, size, colour and markings, 2/6 and 3/6; and extra specials, 4/6 and 5/-. I have 200 yellow cock Siskins in stock, very large birds and beautiful colour, like paint, with splendid cap and bib, sure prizewinners for the bench, 4/6, and one extra special, 5/6. Very large yellow cock Greenfinches, sure prizewinners for the bench, 2/-. Linnets taught by the Champion Linnet of the World, with new cage and my book of secrets, 3/6; they are right for catching or contest singing; a few with quality notes, sing indoors or out, 5/-. Linnets from the same place as the Champion Linnet of the World; they can sing like Germans, 1/6; everybody delighted with them. Yellowhammers, Redpolls, Chaffinches, sure prizewinners, 2/- each. Larks, singing daylight and gaslight, a treat to hear, 1/6 and 2/-; a few hand-reared ones, finger tame, 4/6. I have the finest strain of quality singing in the world, and everybody welcome to see and hear what they are buying. Trippers cordially invited. If you want real sound honest value, send to the old original firm: Harry Allen, British Bird Champion, City Aviaries, 40, Beckett-st., Leeds. (1007)

From 30% to 50% Saved

By purchasing direct from me high-class Norwich. If you pay same price as to others, you get it in quality; if same quality, you get it in lower prices. There can be little doubt but that at the present moment I possess the finest stock of this variety for sale in Europe. Amongst the birds are several winners that will be sold at reasonable prices. I do not mean the so-called winners continually advertised by certain classes at a few shillings that cheap talk is an insult to the intelligence of any same person; but I will select and match some of the best stock pairs ever seen (so far as value goes) at 21/-, 30/-, and 40/- per pair. Odd Cocks or Hens, same quality, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-. Make a comparison of these with some of the "Stereotyped Bargains." Others as follows: 5/0, 6/6, 8/6 upwards; hens, 2/3, 2/6, 3/6; pairs, 0/6, 7/0, 8/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-; cages, 3d. On approval. Illustrated detailed list others free. Easiest of easy payments by joining by Bird Club. Distance no object.

THE most up-to-date manual on this popular breed is "Norwich Canaries: How to Breed, Manage, and Exhibit," by C. A. House. It contains a beautiful coloured plate, and many black and white illustrations. In it will be found fullest hints and instructions on all the various points which go to make up a champion Norwich. It deals in a most practical manner with all the various stages of the life of a Norwich from the egg to the show bench, explains fully how to pair up the stock birds, how to feed the young, the art of colour feeding, and the way to wash and prepare birds for show. Do not be without it, post free 1/1½, from: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

When Buying Stock Birds Insist on Silk's Champion

strain, because good birds are easily ruined by the pairing of inferior strains. So-called champion champion strains are advertised in such numbers that fanciers may well be pardoned for regarding them all with a certain amount of mistrust.

Silk's Strain Cannot be Excelled.

When you buy a Norwich from Silk you are buying a bird guaranteed by a Norwich expert that you know, and can trust. You have in my birds absolute purity of breed, and supreme in every point.

NOTE.—Every claim made by Silk's, Norwich, is backed by actual achievements.

Approval willingly. Cash or deposit with Editor.

Come and See!

Seeing and hearing is believing, and I invite you to come, see, and hear my birds any day (except Sundays), and you will be convinced who has the best collection, and who gives the best value in singing Canaries. If you cannot come to select the bird you require, allow me to send you one on seven days' approval at my sole risk. I guarantee to give you satisfaction. In 1896 my Roller Canaries took the lead, and they have continually for the past 17 years been in open competition with all comers (including all those fictitious and fancy named nonsuchers), and have not yet been beaten. In every open contest where my birds have been compared with others of the supposed same quality, mine have taken the lead with many points to spare. It is to your great advantage to place your orders with me, for every bird has the reputation and experience of 17 years' practical knowledge behind it, and every bird of such quality as demands repeat orders and recommendation to your friends. I do not use any fictitious or fancy names, but sell every bird on its own merits. My genuine trained St. Andreasburg Rollers are imported direct (by myself) from the most reliable and experienced breeders in Germany. No middleman's profits, hence the high quality at reasonable prices. St. Andreasburg Roller cocks, with full change of song by day and artificial light, genuine up-to-date songsters, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each; hens, same strain, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6 each (not common German rubbish). For cheap reliable songsters my Hartz cocks are unequalled, and acknowledged by all to be the real working man's friend. WANTED ONE MORE customer. Will you be that one? If you are looking for a Roller Canary, I have no hesitation in saying I can give you better value at a lower price than any man in the trade. For years past I have invited intending purchasers to test a Leipzig Roller from me against an ordinary Roller costing any higher price from elsewhere, and I have repeatedly published letters from persons who have done this, saying the Leipzig Rollers have beaten birds costing three times as much elsewhere. I now hold a very large stock of genuine Leipzig Roller cocks in full song day and gaslight, with long, hollow and double rolls, sweet, silvery trills, water-bubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trills, jug-jug of the Nightingale, bell, harp and flute notes, etc., and guaranteed entirely free from any harsh or objectionable notes whatever, price 6/6 and 7/6 each; special Bandmasters, which have an exceedingly soft, mellow tone, and excel in the deep bass and bubbling water tours, 10/6 and 12/6 each; hens of same strain, 2/- each, 3/6 couple. These Bandmaster Rollers are real professor birds, and just the thing for tutors for young birds. For those who prefer a loud, noisy singer, I have a splendid lot of free singing Hartz cocks, all loud, vigorous singers, day and gaslight, and just right for public bar or coffee house, price 5/- each. Special travelling cages, 3d. extra in all cases. Singing box cages, 1/6 each; special Roller cabinet cages, with loose fronts, and folding doors, 3/- and 4/- each. Following few letters are sample of the hundreds I receive, and are guaranteed entirely unsolicited, and unduplicated. Note full name and addresses given in each case. "1, Caroline-st., Seaham Harbour; Nov. 1st. Sir,—Roller arrived in good, health, and singing a treat. I am highly satisfied.—Yours, R. Wilkinson." "Cheddleton Leek, Nov. 3. Sir,—Roller arrived safe, and I am highly satisfied. He sang grand at night. Thanking you for way you have treated me.—Yours, G. Oakley." "15, King's-rd., Whithorn, Nov. 1st. Sir,—Birds give every satisfaction. The cock is singing night and day. Thanking you for such good birds, at the price, and quick dispatch.—Yours, A. C. Christine." "Sybil Villas, Clydach, Oct. 25th. Sir,—Roller to hand, a beauty. I paid double the price for one from ——, which was not so good.—Yours, M. Morgan." "34, South-rd., West Hartlepool, Nov. 2. Sir,—Please send two Leipzig hens. The Roller cock I had from you has done extra well. His singing is great, and better this year than ever.—Yours, G. Wilson." "154, Swanston-st., Glasgow, Nov. 4. Sir,—I am more than pleased with Leipzig Roller cock, as he is singing from early morning ever since arrival. I shall recommend you.— Yours, J. Foley." "14, Herberton-rd., West Southbourne, Bournemouth, Nov. 5th. Sir,—Birds arrived safely, and give me every satisfaction. I shall be pleased to recommend you.—Yours, H. Miller." "35, Kay-st., Freetown Bury, Oct. 29. Sir,—I have received birds in the perfect condition you advertise them. I can hardly express my thanks, as they are the three nicest birds I have seen, and anyone wishing to see them can with greatest of pleasure.—Yours, J. Lindley." "169, Lenton Sands, Derby-rd., Nottingham, Nov. 10th. Sir,—Please send two more Leipzig Rollers. I was highly pleased with those I had last year; they have such a nice mellow tone, and the changes are so nice.—Yours, H. Garton." Please note all genuine Leipzig Rollers are stamped on wing. "Hans Weber Leipzig," and I am the sole importer of this strain. All are safely and warmly packed with food and water for 48 hours' journey, and sent on full week's trial, solely at my risk, during whole time, immediately on receipt of cash (or if same is deposited with Editor), and unless bird proves in every way satisfactory, and realises your every expectation, you only have to return it, and the whole of your money is promptly and cheerfully returned, and remember, when you deal with me, you are dealing with a continuous advertiser for past 22 years, not here to-day and gone to-morrow sort. PARROTS for pleasure and profit, 7d., by C. P. Arthur. A practical handbook, dealing with the keeping, feeding, and general treatment of the Grey, the Amazon, etc. It explains how to sex these birds, the treatment of newly imported specimens, and cures for their various ills: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

FOREIGN birds for beginners, 1/1½, by W. T. Page, F.Z.S., etc., Foreign Bird Expert to "Cage Birds." A highly instructive manual. It contains a magnificent coloured plate and a number of black and white illustrations. Indispensable to all keepers of Foreign birds. Replete with useful hints: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

BUDGERIGARS and Cockatiels are among the most popular foreign birds, and C. P. Arthur has had a lifetime's experience with them. His book, "Budgerigars and Cockatiels," will show you how to keep them, feed them for health, how to breed them, and how to teach them to talk. The price of this valuable handbook is only 6½d., post free, from: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

THOUGH they can often be purchased for the modest half-crown, Pekin Nightingales are very beautiful in plumage, have a fine song, and make ideal cage or aviary birds. Some very helpful information on this variety will be found in "Nutshell No. 19," the author of which is Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S. Get it at once. 2½d. post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C. 2d. from our agents (list published frequently).

Club Reports.

AINTREE, FAZAKERLEY, AND DISTRICT F.S.

Annual members' show will be held Dec. 3, in the Church Hall, Long Lane. Mr. L. S. Hamilton (Bootle) will judge. All stock to be benched by 3 p.m. Local fanciers, non-members, invited to exhibit their birds, at an additional entrance fee of 3d., prize-money on a sliding scale. Schedules now ready. Entries close Nov. 29. Members are requested to return all unsold tickets or monies before day of show.—J. A. Anderson, Hon. Sec. (58, Long Lane, Aintree).

LLANDUDNO O.S.

Committee meeting held Cobden Hotel, Nov. 18. Mr. E. Nolan in chair. Decided to hold next monthly show Dec. 13, and to give fixed prize money, viz., 3s., 2s., 1s., for entry fee 6d. per cage. Also decided that cup and rosebowl for most points through out season (one in Canary section, the other in British and Mule section) shall be won outright, and not be held for twelve months, as previously stated. We have three valuable prizes, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, most points for novices throughout the season. Shall be pleased to give any fancier in North Wales further particulars.—Hartler and Berry, hon. secs.

BEAMISH AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Meeting, held Nov. 15 at Bird Inn, Mr. J. H. E. Elliott in the chair, who spoke feelingly of the loss our society had sustained by the death of Mr. Knowles. It was resolved that a letter of sympathy be sent to Mrs. and Miss Knowles. The members of the various cage birds societies locally attended the funeral, and several wreaths were sent by the local societies. Messrs. Peart and Cresswell have consented to act as secs. for this year, and it was decided to postpone annual show till we can find a suitable date. We cordially invite any fancier to join this society; it is standing well financially, and it is one of the oldest in the district.—Peart and Cresswell (15, Kay St., Stanley).

LEICESTER (Hand-in-Hand) C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 18 at the White Swan. Mr. Gibbons presided over a large attendance. Several new members were elected. Proposed and seconded that the classes for night shows drawn up by the committee be adopted, and that Messrs. Macarter, Wheatley, Stevens, and Heighton be asked to judge same. A member generously promised to give a rose bowl to be won outright for most points in novice section, the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd birds only to count. Prize money and specials in connection with the late show were paid out and the cups were distributed as follows: Points cup C. B. Day, "Westby" cup E. Kilsby, "North" cup W. Neal, young bird cup E. H. Hulse (fourth consecutive year). Decided to hold next All-England Show, Nov. 6 and 7, 1914.—A. Freestone, sec.

SUNDERLAND C.B.A.

Meeting held Nov. 22, Mr. Farrer presiding over a very good attendance. Show business was gone into, and several matters disposed of, including the questions of advertising and printing, and also admission tickets. Sec. reported that we had been granted the patronage of the B.F.C.C., with medal for best bird, confined to members. Our open show will now have the patronage of six specialist clubs. The Sandiford medal is again for competition in the members' classes. Sec. was instructed to write Miss Briggs expressing our real sympathy in her sad bereavement through the loss of Mr. Briggs. Mr. Briggs had always been a good friend to us, both financially and otherwise, and this society has experienced a severe loss in his decease.—J. Peacock, Hon. Sec.

PLUMSTEAD & WOOLWICH C.B.S.

Committee meeting held at 109, Raglan Road, Nov. 21, to make arrangements for social gathering to be held Dec. 18. After a deal of discussion it was decided to place the matter in the hands of a sub-committee which was elected as follows: Messrs. Newnham, Thorne, and Glenn, who were instructed to make all necessary arrangements. The above-named will be glad to hear from any member who can contribute towards making this evening a success by assisting with either vocal or instrumental talent. The committee will also be glad of the assistance of a few lady friends, to dispense light refreshments. Several ladies have volunteered to supply various articles for this purpose gratis, and the committee will be pleased to hear from any other lady who would be willing to help in this way. Resolved to present prize money and cups also specials that were won at annual show on this occasion.—J. W. Thorn, hon. sec.

SHEFFIELD C.B.S.

Committee meeting, Nov. 18, Mr. F. Jones (Pres.) in the chair. Business: Allocation of specials for members' show, Dec. 6, in the Montgomery Hall. Novice, Brit. section, 2s. 6d. cash most points; Mr. Fatding's, sp. second, most points; Mr. Hobson gives book for third. 2s. 6d. for best Crest or C.B.; Mr. Drabble gives sp. most points Champ. Yorks.; Mr. Furniss (value 10s. 6d.) most points Canary section; British and Nor. sections have 2s. 6d. each most points; 2s. 6d. best For Mr. Memmott gives double stock cage most points by novice, any section. Mr. Catley's spl. is for best novice Nor. Mr. J. Woolhouse gives 20s. for rung birds, divides 5s. for best champ. Yorks., 5s. Norwich, also two 5s. for novice Yorks. and Nor. Messrs. Jones and Thorpe give 2s. 6d. each for best rung Mule or Hybrids. In case none are staged, their specials go to, 2s. 6d. most birds staged, and 2s. 6d. best novice Yorks. There will also be six challenge cups and Mr. Jones' shield up for competition. Decided to have social and prize distribution on February meeting night. Several other items of importance decided will be brought before members at December meeting. Will holders of cups kindly bring them in at show, either Friday night or Sat. morning? J. Woolhouse, Assist. Sec.

CITY AND SUBURBAN A.C.B.

Meeting held Nov. 24, Mr. W. A. Shepherd in the chair, and 32 members present. Mr. Giles, Cricklewood, was nominated for membership. The chairman presented medals to winners of Yorkshire judging competition, Messrs. Styles, Eaton, and Sanders; and also to winners of washing competition, Messrs. Salter, W. Knight, and Sanders. The hon. sec. then read out the points for cups, etc., gained at Pair, Young Bird, and Annual Shows, and paid out prize-money and specials won at Annual Show. Mr. Marley moved a vote of thanks to the stewards and helpers at the Annual Show, and paid high tribute to our hon. sec., Mr. V. Wynn, for the energetic work he had given to make such a successful show. An essay competition on "Seeds and their uses," was the fixture for this date, but only one competitor sent in. This essay was read, and proved to be very well written, containing some very instructive remarks as to the properties contained in the various seeds and the effects of feeding Canaries and British birds on them at certain seasons during the year. Mr. A. H. Hobden, the author, was heartily congratulated for his interesting contribution, and was unanimously voted the association's silver medal. Mr. Marley having enquired as to the winner of the Wyse cup, after discussion the matter was referred to the council. Border Fancy judging competition at next meeting, Mr. Norman final judge; and the chairman specially asked members not to forget date of concert, Dec. 11th.—F. Thynne, assist. hon. sec.

CRADLEY HEATH.

The cage birds were limited to a 12 miles radius at above show, which was held in the Baptist Schools, Nov. 19 and 20. There were some good birds on view. The winning Yorkshire was a grand bird, well up on leg, and smooth as a Java. British were good classes, and in the Sottbills Mr. Hingley's noted Clough carried off the challenge cup for best bird in the show. Mr. W. Broadbent, the genial hon. sec., and his stewards looked well to the exhibits. Mr. C. Ward (Derby) judged.

GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

Twenty-fourth annual show, held Nov. 6th, in the Crown Halls, Sauchiehall Street, the best hall in the city for the purpose. Plenty of room, light and cosy, and in a prominent place, with good drawing powers, a very important item. Birds were nicely staged on both sides, as this enterprising body of fanciers know how to do it. The entry totalled 350, close up on last year, Norwich being the mainstay, and containing some very prominent winners, quite a treat to look at. Being under the patronage of the Scottish Philnhead Club helped to swell the entry. Mr. R. Martin won club medal, also Ferguson Cup, gold medal and special best Nor. The Jarvie Cup for best opposite sex went to Mr. E. Barron, also S.P.C. medal, best hen. Borders were not so numerous, but quality was good. Special for best old bird was found in this section, a very neat even marked yellow cock belonging to Mr. D. Cunninghaun. Spl. best young Border was won by Mr. A. K. Chalmers with a beautiful yellow mkd. cock. Best young Mule, W. C. Cunningham. Best British, Mr. M. Craig. Foreign, Mr. M. Craig. Novice Cup, Mr. W. Dunlop. The office bearers are a splendid lot of workers. President Mr. M. Craig is a glutton for work, has a lot to do with the success of the show. Mr. Frank Taylor we found a very obliging and courteous sec., who carried out his duties in a very efficient manner; he was rendered every assistance from a willing committee, comprising Messrs. A. Sloan, R. V. Raine, R. Martin, A. K. Chalmers, E. Barron, J. Brown, R. B. Jarvie, J. McLay, R. G. Chubbs, J. F. Park, T. C. Dowell, W. Barrie, and A. Smith, who all did their best. The judges were: Nor. and Crests, Mr. W. Simpson (Airdrie); Yorkshires and Bord., Mr. Fred Bowman. Mules, Brit. and For., Mr. McGillivray (Bo'ness), and their awards met with general approval.

BLAIRGOWRIE.

Fifth annual show, under the auspices of the East Perthshire O.S., held in the Public Hall, Blairgowrie, Nov. 22. In spite of all former endeavours, the executive have never been able to win the confidence of the exhibiting cage bird men; no doubt this is greatly due to the clashing of shows in the district. On this date very little support is received from Forfarshire and Fifeshire, owing to Arbroath and Buckhaven shows being held on the same day. We are pleased, however, to record a marked improvement in many of the classes, and no doubt perseverance will in time bring its own reward. The management could not be improved upon, and the ever courteous sec., Mr. M. Irvine, is a perfect glutton for work. He is the leading spirit in the show, and is never tired of working in the interests of his society. He receives able support from a strong committee, who keep all things moving in the correct grooves. We hope by another year cage bird men will give this fixture more generous support. The promoters deserve it, and before long we have little doubt, will be in a position to command it. The attendance was very good, and quality was much above the average. Mr. John Goodfellow, Edinburgh, judged, and his awards were well received. The birds were staged on the platform, and made quite a brave show in themselves, but once the doors were thrown open to the public, moving space was at a premium. Judging was got over in good time, and the prize cards were quickly affixed to the winning cages. The show is quite an event in the district, and should prove a financial success.

The winner of 2nd in the Nov. Nor. Cl. Yell. Hen class at Cardiff was Mr. H. Coker.

Wick show, the popular fixture right on the north coast of Scotland, is to be held on Dec. 17 and 18 next. (note advert.).

Entries for Watford show will be accepted up to Dec. 2nd (note advt. in this issue). The hall is a grand one, large and well lighted.

I lost my Crystal Palace winning Goldfinch last Friday, writes Mrs. Hughes (Llandudno). It was thought a lot of up in North Wales, having won numerous prizes.

Longton (Lancashire) will hold on Dec. 27th, an open show, judge, Mr. T. H. Dent (Preston). The cage-bird classes are all guaranteed.—R. Johnson, sec.

We are asked to notify the following changes of address: Mr. J. Waugh, to 519, Springburn Rd., Springburn, Glasgow; Mr. R. Blincoe, to 160, Drake St., Rochdale.

The date of the next members' show of the Great Horton O.S. has been altered, writes Mr. J. Holroyd, the sec., owing to the Bradford National show; it will be held one week later.

I have sold my Goldfinch, 1st Sheffield, Leicester, Coventry, etc., to Mr. W. Portman, of Cardigan, for whom I hope he will do well, writes Mr. J. Pitchford (Stoke-on-Trent).

Any fancier not getting a schedule for Stranraer Show (splendid specials, barometer, and cake stands, etc.) should apply at once, writes Mr. McMeekan, sec., 8, Clenoch Street, Stranraer.

I have sent out a good number of schedules of Musselburgh Show; any exhibitor overlooked should send me a post card, writes Mr. A. Hoyle, sec. 3, Parsonage Cottages, Musselburgh, N.B.

In the Norwich Plainhead advertisement last week of Mr. W. Rudd, the well-known dealer, of Norwich, the headline (30 per cent. to 15 per cent.) should have read 30 per cent. to 50 per cent.

We hear from Mr. J. R. Chestney, hon. sec., Cramlington C.B.S., that the special winners were as follows: Cup and Sandiford's, W. Lascelles; best members' Bord., and best member's Brit. S. Wilson.

Owing to an error on the part of our printer, a wrong line was substituted in Watford show advt. in Nov. 22 issue. The first line of small type should read "on Dec. 9 and 10; 30 classes for Cage Birds."

At Canterbury Show we are putting in two extra classes, one for Yorks. adult hens, No. 86a, and one for adult Borders, 87a; both these were omitted from the printed schedule, writes Mr. J. W. Sargeant, the sec.

I am very pleased with results from advertising in your valuable paper, CAGE BIRDS, writes Mr. B. Savory (Birmingham). I have kept fanciers waiting a little, but I have more hands now to cope with orders.

I wish you would kindly impress upon your readers that orders for my books must be sent to your office, and not to me, writes Mr. C. P. Arthur (Melksham), for as soon as my address appears in CAGE BIRDS, I get people sending to me.

I have sold my Dark Yellow Goldfinch-Canary Mule (2nd City of Glasgow) to Mr. R. Jamieson, of Linlithgow, writes Mr. J. McWatt (Bonnybridge; and he has already won 1st Glasgow and Dist. Show. I hope he may win many more prizes with him.

In the schedule of Walsall C.B.S., writes Mr. F. Price, hon. sec., class 15 should read Yorks, cl. or tkd. yell. ck., and class 16 Yorks, cl., or tkd. buff. Fourth prize card will be given in all Yorks. classes on account of the points competition of the M.C.Y.C.C.

Fanciers are asked to give Brighton show, Dec. 9 and 10, a bumping entry, writes Mr. Gibb, the hon. sec. (19, Bond St.). Prize-money for 1s. 6d. entry, 10s., 6s., 4s.; also six money prizes in British classes. Entries extended till Friday next, Dec. 5. Exhibitors, please help us.

Please announce through your valuable columns, write Messrs. Elliott and Nattrass, that the Bishop Auckland C.B. Society's first annual show has been a financial success, and that all prize-money has been paid; if any exhibitor has been missed, kindly communicate at once.

All prize money won at our show was paid to open exhibitors by Tuesday night—three days after show—writes Mr. R. Ward, sec. Chester-le-Street C.B.S., and all birds were in the hands of the railway company by 6.50 on Saturday evening. We trust everyone received them safely and well.

At our meeting on Monday next, Dec. 1st, at 6, Broadway, Mr. A. E. Pattrick, of Southend, has very kindly promised to come and give a washing exhibition. All fanciers are invited to avail themselves of the opportunity of watching such an experienced hand, writes Mr. H. Smith, hon. sec. Wimbledon C.B.S.

Kindly state in CAGE BIRDS, writes Mr. W. G. Andrews, hon. sec., that West Bromwich C.B.S. has paid out all prize money, except members. We wish to thank exhibitors for support, and trust all birds arrived safely on Saturday night; the whole of the birds were packed and in the railway officials hands at 8.30.

Please accept my very best thanks for illustration on the front page of CAGE BIRDS of my Linnet Mule, winner at Leyton, writes Mr. J. Juby, Plumstead. I have taken CAGE BIRDS for years, even before I took up breeding for exhibition. I therefore attribute what knowledge I have solely to CAGE BIRDS, the paper of information.

OBITUARY.

We regret to hear that Mr. Walter Connelly, the much respected Glasgow fancier, has had the misfortune to lose his brother, who died suddenly on Nov. 22, in the Victoria Infirmary.

It is with deep regret I have to inform you of the sad loss sustained by our esteemed chairman, Mr. Wm. Rushton, who has lost his only son at the age of 14 years. I feel sure that all fanciers will extend sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Rushton and family in their sad bereavement.—J. W. Robson, sec. Burnhope C.B.S.

I received the specimen copies of CAGE BIRDS, writes Mr. J. A. Walker, sec. Loughborough C.B.A., and they went well at the show; in fact one fancier insisted on paying 1d. for one, which I think speaks highly of our paper, when people are willing to pay for old copies. We have made four new members, as a result of publishing the reports in your paper.

At the show of the Frome F.A., held Dec. 11, the prize cards are quite artistic. In ornamented panels are pictures of St. John's Church, Frome, famous as the resting place of Bishop Kerr, the Market Place, showing the old market cross, and Longleat House, the seat of the Marquis of Bath. This mansion and its beautiful grounds are at all times open to inspection. The classification comprises 47 classes, 36 open and 11 members'. Mr. H. Norman will judge. The hon. sec. is Mr. C. I. Young, 8, Palmer St.

We are in no way shop-keepers, or warehouse men, write the Pets Supply Company, of Harrogate. All our stock is kept in outdoor aviaries, with the exception of the Canaries and other birds, which will not live outdoors, and for these we have erected magnificent bird-rooms on hygienic principles. Our main object is to send out healthy stock, and to advertise only stock that we have on hand. We are situated in the country, away from all factory smoke. In our foods department, everything is kept in specially-constructed bins, free from all vermin, and we purchase and sell none but the best.

As the Show Hall at Whitburn, writes Mr. R. Lambie, the sec., is over a mile from the station and I have heard several complaints about fanciers not getting their birds away to catch their connections, would you kindly state that all fanciers this year will be allowed to go away in good time to catch the train best suiting them. All birds that can reach home on Saturday night will be sent, the others carefully attended to and sent first train Monday. Now, fanciers, with good classification, good prize money, numerous specials, judges well-known to the Fancy, and an energetic and careful committee, I will expect your largest entries.

In connection with the Cattle Show, excursions to Birmingham are being run on our show dates, Dec. 3 and 4, writes Mr. De Maillet (City of Birmingham C.B.S.). Midland: Dec. 3, Bristol, Bath, Worcester, Gloucester, Cheltenham, Tewkesbury, Evesham, Alcester, Redditch, Rotherham, Sheffield, Chesterfield, and Nottingham; Dec. 4, Worcester, Bromsgrove, Tewkesbury, Evesham, Alcester, Redditch, Leicester, Hinckley, and Nuneaton. L. and N.W.: Dec. 3, Lichfield, Leamington, Warwick, Rugby, Coventry, Stafford, Rugeley, Cannock, and Walsall; Dec. 4, Lichfield, Leamington, and Warwick. We trust all Midland exhibitors will support us, and we hope to see a good number of visitors, too.

THE NOVICE'S FIRST EXHIBIT.

How he imagines it will look when the judge comes along!

Kindly state, writes Mr. R. Lambie, that class 31 in the schedule of Whitburn C.B.S., Greenfinch fed, should read Greenfinch housemoulted. There is a 2s. spl. by Mr. John Boag, Broxburn, for best variegated. Border, open; also a spl. by Mr. E. Steel, Glasgow, for the best Green or Cinn. Border, out of money; "specials 38 to 41" should be 38 to 40.

Entries Extended.

Watford (W. Herts F.A.) to Monday's post, Dec. 1; Brighton, Dec. 5, first post; Consett, Blackhill, to Monday's post, Dec. 1.

London's Latest Bird.

A bright green Parrakett, a lost bird, no doubt, has taken up its residence in Kensington Gardens, London, in the elms where the veteran Magpie and the Jackdaws live.

Corrections in Show Reports.

At Alnwick, Mr. McGinn won 3rd in Nor. Yell., not McFinn, as printed; Mr. J. Burnell won 2nd in Linnets at Selby, not Veitch; at Pembroke Dock sp. for best British went to Mr. Lloyd-James, not Muscott, as reported.

Winners Changing Hands.

I have disposed of my shield and bowl winner, also my Holborn Hall and Dulwich winner, at good prices, to Mr. W. H. Howe and Mr. P. Muscott, and hope they will do good service to their new owners, writes Mr. L. J. Richardson (Rotherhithe).

Prize-money Paid.

We hear that prize-money has been paid in respect of the following shows. Anyone overlooked should apply to the various secretaries: Bournemouth, Llandrindod Wells, Galashiels, West Bromwich, Chester-le-Street, Sheffield, Boldon Colliery, Cardiff, Ramsgate.

Bournemouth's Great Success.

I have received a quantity of letters from exhibitors thanking me and congratulating the committee on such a well-managed show, and on receiving their birds back early, in the pink of condition (Messrs. Silk, W. M. Midgley, G. J. Slade, G. W. Saunders, and others). This is very gratifying to the management. Date of 1914 show, Tues. and Wed., Nov. 10 and 11; plenty of notice, so there may be no clashing of date.—J. A. Crawshaw, hon. sec. Bournemouth C.B.A.

Cockatoo that "Chops" Wood.

Mr. John Rute, of Kingscliffe, Northants, has an eighteen-year-old Australian cockatoo which not only talks and "sings," but has a mania for "chopping" wood. Each day the housekeeper provides her helper with a starch or soap box, and the bird breaks it up with its beak into short and thin pieces suitable for firewood, any nails in the way being drawn. "The amount of labour that bird has saved, in the way of wood-chopping, is enormous," says the housekeeper. "The only thing I have to do is to see that there is no paint on the boxes."

Who Won the Canary?

The winning number of the bird and cage given away at our recent show, is No. 152. Winner can have the same by applying to me, writes Mr. A. Freestone, 79, Clarendon St., Leicester, sec. Leicester Hand-in-Hand C.B.S. We have fixed Nov. 6-7, 1914, for our next open show.

Helping the Hospital.

The Deal, Walmer and Dist. F.A. after paying all expenses handed over to the local hospital the sum of seven guineas, being the profit from annual show held Oct. 29 and 30 last, write Messrs. Thompson and Lacy, the hon. secs. Our next annual show will be held Nov. 13 and 14, 1914.

Diplomas at Chester-le-Street.

The CAGE BIRDS diploma winners at Chester-le-Street show were: 10s. cash sp. and diploma champ., Mr. H. Briggs; nov., Riley Bros. Diplomas Champion: Lindsay, North, Bewick, Lock, Gregory, Davidson. Nov.: J. Robson, Cresswell, Price, McVay. The awards in the members' classes will appear next week.

Nest Among Big Guns.

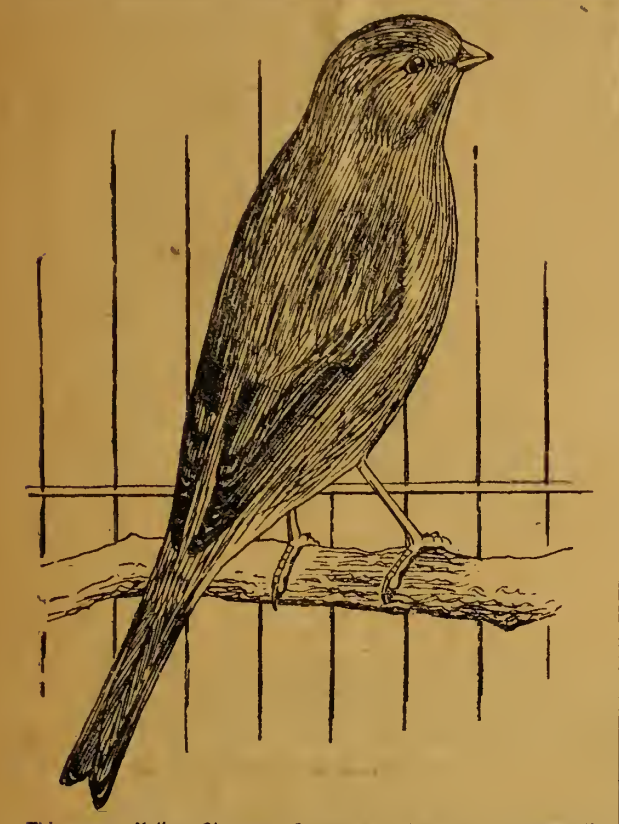
Gunners at the Cliff End Battery at Totland Bay found a nest containing four young Goldfinches. They placed it in a cage near the spot, and the parent birds came regularly to feed the nestlings. The cage was then put in the middle of the battery, where the parent birds feed the little ones quite unalarmed by the firing of the big guns.

Judges for Palace Show.

The judges at the next Crystal Palace show, writes Mr. J. W. Ramsden, the manager, will be Messrs. H. W. Battye, H. T. Camps, R. L. Crisp, J. F. Dewar, H. J. Fulljames, G. Gardner, T. Heath, J. Hodder, C. A. House, E. J. Lamb, W. Mundell, H. Norman, F. Oldroyd, A. Silver, W. Swaysland, G. E. Weston, J. Wones

Happy Highgate.

The prize distribution of the Highgate, Hampstead C.B.S., held Nov. 24, was distinguished by an exceptionally enjoyable musical entertainment, generously provided and organised by Mr. C. W. Law (the late sec. of the society, and present sec. of the L. and P.O.S.). Mr. Fred Gibson's concert party provided the programme, and these talented ladies and gentlemen hugely delighted the large audience, encores of every item being the order of the evening. Societies, in fact, desirous of ensuring their members of a genuinely entertaining and amusing time, could not do better than leave themselves in Mr. Gibson's hands. It is many a long day since we enjoyed ourselves as we did on this occasion. The duties of the chairman were shared by Mr. Geo. Gardner and Mr. G. E. Weston. The society is now prospering exceedingly.



CANARY BREEDING AND THE LAWS OF INHERITANCE.

By MISS L. M. DURHAM.

On November 20 last, at the headquarters of the London and Provincial O.S., the following paper, on the laws of inheritance and their application to Canary breeding, was read by Miss Durham, a lady associated with Professor Bateson in scientific work, and who takes considerable interest in bird breeding. Mr. G. Crabb ably presided, and there was an excellent attendance, including many ladies. An instructive discussion followed.

THE subject of inheritance and the laws which govern it are of paramount importance to the breeder whatever the material which he chooses to work upon may be, whether plant or animal. We owe the first elucidation of the principles which underlie the phenomena of inheritance to an Austrian, Gregor Mendel, by name. The story of his life and work has often been told, but I may be permitted perhaps to repeat it shortly here, as it proves a veritable romance in the history of science.

Gregor Mendel was born in 1822 of Austrian peasants. He became abbot of a monastery at Brünn, near Vienna, and it was in this monastery that he carried out his classic experiments on the edible pea—Pisum Sativum, by means of which he was able to enunciate the laws which now bear his name. His results were published in a somewhat obscure journal, the Proc. of the Nat. Hist. Soc. of Brünn; and partly owing to this fact and partly owing to the fact that the scientific world was entirely occupied with the work of Darwin, published some six years previously, remained unknown and unnoticed. Thirty-five years later, in 1900, his work was re-discovered independently and simultaneously by three separate observers in different parts of Europe, De Vries, in Holland; Couens, in Germany; and Tschermal, in Austria: and as each of these observers were engaged on analogous problems they were able to confirm his work from their own results.

Since that time a great deal of work has been done and the results have been repeatedly confirmed and his laws have become extended and amplified. Mendel realised that in order to obtain a clear result it was absolutely necessary to start with pure breeding material and to consider each character separately, and on no account to confuse the different generations together. He also realised that the progeny of distinct individuals must be separately recorded. He chose the edible pea for his work because the varieties in cultivation are distinguished by striking characters, easily recognisable, and also these plants are habitually self-fertilised, a fact which obviates many difficulties. I will not deal in detail with all the characters whose inheritance he investigated, but take as an example the question of height. Certain varieties of peas grow very tall and others have a short or dwarf habit.

The Secret of the Pea Revealed.

Mendel commenced by crossing these two varieties, tall and dwarf, together. He then crossed them reciprocally, that is, he used the dwarf pea as the male parent and the tall pea as female parent, and also he used the tall pea as male parent upon the short pea as female parent. The seeds were carefully collected and carefully sown. In each case the result was the same—the offspring was tall like the tall parent. This is the first generation F_1. This generation he allowed to self-fertilise itself. The seed was again carefully collected and sown; no family being mixed with any other. When this second generation F_2 had grown he found he had two kinds of plants, one tall, the other short, resembling in every way the grandparents. He found on counting the plants that the proportion of talls to shorts was 3 to 1.

These plants were again allowed to self fertilise themselves, and the third generation, F_3, was thus obtained. He then found that the dwarfs had bred true to dwarfness, but among the talls there were two kinds, those which bred true and those which gave talls and dwarfs in the proportion of 3 to 1. We can represent these results in tabular form:

TT (tall) x DD (dwarf)

TT	TD	TD	DD
1 tall	2 impure tall		1 pure dwarf

He gave the name of Dominant to the character which is the most prominent, masking the other in the first generation, and he called the character which is masked, Recessive.

Facts Concerning the Inheritance of Colour.

I have brought with me to-night skins of mice used by me in my own experiments to determine the inheritance of colour in mice, and I propose to illustrate the further application of Mendel's laws by recounting some of these experiments, using the skins as demonstrative specimens. A pure black mouse (that is a black mouse which breeds true to blackness) was mated with a pure chocolate mouse. The first generation was all black because black is D to chocolate. In the second generation, F_2, I obtained three black to one chocolate. Proportion: One of three black is pure; two are impure; and the chocolate is always pure. The impure black mouse is carrying reproductive cells of two kinds. Some which have the character for blackness only, and some which carry the character for chocolate only. Each reproductive cell can only carry one character. This is what we mean when we talk of the segregation of characters.

If the impure black mouse is mated with a chocolate then the offspring will be of two kinds, impure blacks and chocolates in equal numbers. The "black" reproductive cell will unite with a "chocolate" cell to form a new individual, and the "chocolate" reproductive cell will unite with a "chocolate" cell, and so we get an impure black and a pure chocolate.

On the other hand, when the impure black is mated with a pure black only blacks can result, because there are only "black" cells for the two kinds of cells, black and chocolate, to unite with; but you will easily see that the blacks will be of two kinds, pure blacks and impure blacks. I want to insist upon this point because it is just here that we find confusion and misunderstanding; you will often see it stated that a pure race will "throw back," or "revert," and that the Mendelian laws do not therefore hold true. A man will go on inbreeding with an apparently pure race and one fine day he will find impurity in his stock. The reason is that, unwittingly, he has mated together two impure individuals.

How Different Colours "Play Hide and Seek."

Sometimes one of the characters inherited is dependent for its manifestation upon another character. Thus in these pale skins of mice the paleness or dilution, the suppression of the depth of colour, can only be shown when colour is present. Nevertheless, this character can be inherited. We have blacks (full black), and blues (diluted blacks), chocolates (full chocolate), and silver-fawns (diluted chocolates). In the case of the blue mice which have the character blackness and the character dilution, and in the case of a full chocolate we have the character chocolate and the factor for deep colour.

In the case of the silver-fawn mouse we have the chocolate factor and the dilution factor, and for the black mouse we have blackness and the deepness of colour. You see, therefore, that if I mate a blue mouse and chocolate, or a silver-fawn and black, the offspring in each case will carry the same factors. The offspring are black because black is D to chocolate, and they are all black because the deep colour is D to dilution. In F_2 we get blacks, blues, chocolates, and silver-fawn, in the proportion of nine blacks to three blues to three chocolates to one silver-fawn. I will not stop to develop the scheme which shows this must be so, as I do not want to take up too much time. It is very fully put forth in the various books dealing with this subject.

One more illustration from mice and then we will turn to the Canaries. The albino mouse is a white mouse with a light pink eye, because the pigment is lacking absolutely for this animal. Albinos bred together always breed true. But now suppose you breed an albino with a coloured mouse. What happens. This experiment is of particular interest because it shows that a character can be inherited by an individual although there is nothing in the appearance of the animal to indicate its character. Albinos, as I said before, bred together never produce anything but albinos. But, nevertheless, there are as many varieties of albinos as there are coloured mice. Something we do not know is what it is prevents the albino mouse from being coloured, and yet it can carry the factor for making colour if it meets with the right factor in its mate.

Thus you can have an albino carrying the factor for blackness. This albino mated with a chocolate mouse will in F_1 give nothing but black mice, and these mated together will produce again blacks, chocolates, and albinos. Nine blacks, three chocolates, four albinos. You see three coloured to one non-coloured, nine blacks to three chocolates, and if you analyse the albinos you find one albino carrying black, two carrying black and chocolate, and one carrying chocolate only.

In this case analyses have shown that each parent behaves similarly, and it does not matter whether the D is carried by the male or the female; but when we come to analyse other forms we sometimes, and more often than might be supposed, find that it does make a difference as to which way the mating is made, and that the female differs from the male in the characters which she may carry. The interesting point is that in a so-called pure race we find that the female may always be impure while the male is pure.

This can only be found out by crossing with some other different form and doing the reciprocal cross. Thus, Prof. Bateson showed that in the peculiar fowl known as the Silky Fowl, the hen when crossed with a Brown Leghorn gave different results from that yielded by mating a Brown Leghorn hen with a Silky cock, and in Canaries we have an example of this sort.

How a Good Show Cage Can be Well and Cheaply Made.

I MAY add that it should never be attempted to drive a brad without first boring a hole with the bradawl to the full depth necessary (½in.). A useful check to prevent the awl going too deep may be improvised by slipping a small piece of cork over point of same, which allows only the requisite length to project. It will be noticed, by reference to later sketches, that these brads are always driven obliquely to each other. This adds greatly to their holding power, two nails so applied being better than twice that number straight driven.

Spires: These are the small wood ornaments which are placed on top of each post; they are turned from hard wood, and are procurable from cage makers. I always get a supply from Friend MacKay's stall at the Scottish National Show, in addition to one-fourth of their number of small knobs for seed drawers.

A Pastime for the Ladies.

The soldering I propose devoting particular attention to when I come to the wiring; the using of a soldering bolt is such a simple matter, when understood, that I know quite a few ladies who undertake this part of the work for their fancier sons or hubbie.

For bottom, take a piece of wood 13in. by 4¾, cut square; this allows for a projection of about ¼in. at both ends, and in front. Apart from adding to the appearance of the cage, this projection facilitates handling, providing, as it does, a grip for the thumb, and without which the judge must either use both hands or grasp the wires, which sometimes is sufficient to drive a nervous exhibit on to the wires of the cage. (Show stewards, please note.) These edges should be chamfered; that is, the top corner bevelled off with the plane.

For front and back rails, two pieces 12⅛ in. long and 1½ broad; and for the ends two pieces 4⅛ in. long and 1½ broad. It will be found that when we include the posts the above measurements are divisible into ⅛ths, the total length of cage inclusive of posts, and exclusive of projections in bottom, being 12⅜ in., and breadth a trifle over 4½ in., if ¼ in. wood has been used.

Operations that Need Care.

For the posts, four pieces a ¼ in. square and 3 in. long. The top ends should be slightly tapered; if tightly wrapped with thread before boring the hole for receiving the frame, or standard wire, the chances of splitting are reduced. The thread may remain on till the cage is finished. From the right-hand end of front rail a square piece must be cut out to form the entrance for the seed drawer. This may measure 1⅝ in. by 1½ in.; the piece should be cut carefully, and retained to form front of drawer. For the drawer cover a piece similar to end rail, but slightly higher, the extra height forming a perch for the bird when feeding. This is either nailed parallel to end rail and at a distance slightly in excess of width of seed drawer, or may slide into grooves cut in front and back rails. The latter method is preferable, as it facilitates cleaning, being removable, and becomes imperative if telescopic cages are preferred. I will explain how these are made later.

The top cover for seed drawer has a perforation, which may either be cut with a fret saw, or, much preferably, made by boring with a 1 in. centre bit, two holes about 2 in. apart, and cutting the intervening piece out with the tenon saw, or a sharp knife. If the centre bit is used, it is advisable to bore halfway through from each side, as preventing raggedness. A good 1 in. centre bit can be purchased for a shilling, and any sort of brace will do to drive same; mine cost 6½d., and I am sure I would have spent much more on fret-saw blades.

Fitting up: Nail both posts to back rail, and one to left side of front rail. The other end of front having been reduced by the removal of section for seed drawer, it were better to fix this post to end rail. Care must be taken that rails are upright and square, the former point being assured by planing the under edge of rail true, and the latter by marking off their position on bottom with the square, and boring the nail holes through the lines. It is a good plan to fix same with three bradawls, and when found correct withdraw each awl singly and replace with nails, as any deviation is thus easier to remedy than if permanently nailed.

Fix in ends, and remove all sharp corners from upper edge of rails. This can either be done with the plane before fitting up, or by rubbing with file and sandpaper after. Fix or nail in the seed drawer cover; then cage only requires a slight rub over with sandpaper to be ready for wiring.

The Mould: To make this useful implement take two pieces of wood about 5-8ths inch in thickness and cut each to the size and shape shown in sketch 2. Leaving one piece plain, the other must be marked off in lines, as shown, each 5-8ths. of an inch apart. Great care must be taken to ensure absolute accuracy, as any deviation will be reproduced in each cage moulded thereon. These lines correspond exactly with the holes bored in rails for insertion of wires. The using of a piece of true punched-bar as before mentioned simplifies the marking-off.

Then with a tenon-saw cut a groove (or saw draught) at each line. These grooves must be of a depth just sufficient to hold a 16 gauge cage wire; if the saw is too fine, a few rubs with the corner of a file will suffice to widen the grooves. Then bore two holes between the sixth and seventh grooves from each end, to hold a pair of small bolts, and a similar pair of holes in the half of mould which was left plain.

By J. TOMLINSON.

How to keep the Roller Canary in health, to breed for pleasure and profit, and train for exhibition.

For some years my business took me daily into the country, and I had the opportunity of seeing the cress growing under all conditions, from that cultivated in the clean running stream to the wild unattended cress in a dirty brook. The cultivated cress is perfectly safe to use; but who can say what harm may accrue from using the latter? I have used the various kinds of green food that are given to Canaries, but prefer the dandelion; and I use it all through the breeding season, choosing the small and tender, bright green, smooth leaves. I have no other reason for picking the smooth leaves except that they look fresher and more palatable than the darker coloured, rough-surfaced leaves.

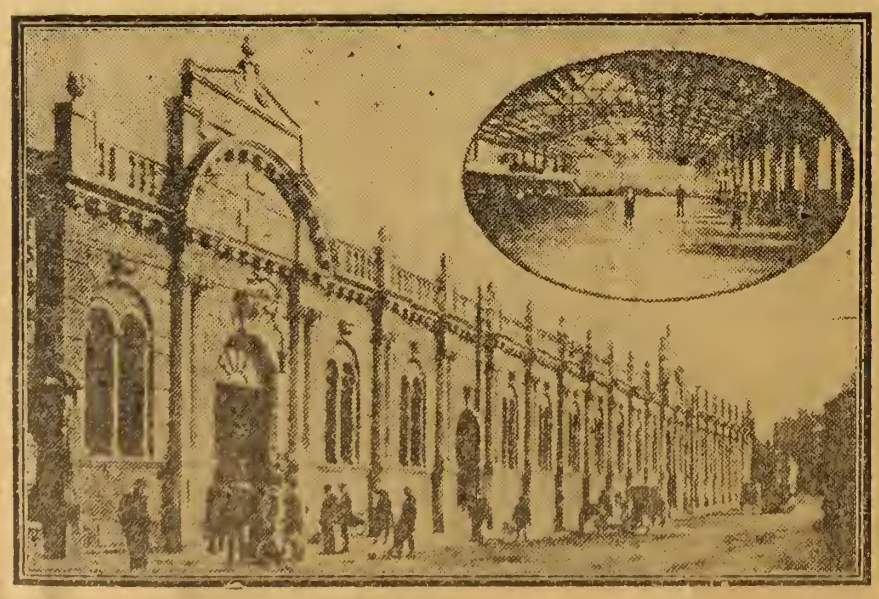
From time to time I have met fanciers who will shun the dandelion with a serrated leaf. Another will not use the red-stemmed leaf; while yet another fancier will not use it if found growing underneath the overhanging branches of a hedge; and the death of young birds has been attributed to the use of this shade-grown dandelion. It may be truly said that what is one bird's food is another one's poison, as for the last three or four years I have been using cultivated dandelion gathered from underneath a privet hedge.

It is very desirable that a hen should not lay her second round of eggs before the first brood are able to feed themselves—of course, it will be understood that this applies where the hen is rearing unaided by the cock. Where this occurs some hens will pluck the feathers from the young birds to make her new nest, and should she be allowed to sit, after her full complement of eggs are laid, she will leave the youngsters to shift for themselves.

From the result of experiments that I have made with various green foods, my experience is that the temperament, rather than the use of dandelion, is the dominating factor in hens plucking and going to nest again prematurely. I have, further, heard of this also being attributed to the giving of hemp seed to the feeding hen. I have tried hens addicated to plucking, etc., without either hempseed or green food of any description, but found the results in accordance with the previous nests, when both articles of diet were used.

Suiting the Varied Taste of Hens.

In addition to the egg food, green food, and the mixture of seeds given in the seed hopper, a small quantity of hemp seed and groats can be given in a separate vessel when the young are from two to four days' old. If a hen will not eat the hemp, which is not unusual when given in its whole state, a little should be crushed for her; this inducement will rarely fail. Many birds will not eat groats (it appears to be an acquired taste), but as these form a nutritious article of diet a few crushed may entice a hen to eat them—young birds can be got to eat them in this way. A small piece of bread, soaked in boiling milk, can be given twice per week. The tastes of many hens will now undergo a change, and foods they have previously eaten with a relish will now often be ignored. From the above variety it will be noticed which is chiefly partaken of, and this can be supplied accordingly, discontinuing any not relished.



Many of the devices we formerly adopted to mark our birds, so as to distinguish their parentage, will probably appear very simple and old-fashioned to the new fancier. One fancier would make small rings of brass, or copper, or even cage wire, closing them on the bird's leg with the aid of a pair of pliers. Others would tie a piece of black thread around one leg, using a white-coloured thread for those from another nest. Coloured strings were also used in the same way. Feather notching had many adherents. The method was to cut away half of a certain tail or flight feather for one nest, choosing a different feather for the youngsters from other nests. Indelible pencil also had its supporters; and the first time the birds had a bath the colour would "run" and form a beautiful blue blotch.

TYPES OF ENGLISH-BRED ROLLER CANARIES.

BUFF AND YELLOW EVEN-MARKED BORDER FANCY CANARIES.

The Toilet of the Show Bird:

By G. MURDOCK (Kilmarnock).

A Scottish fancier describes his method of washing birds by hand.

WHETHER or not cleanliness be next to godliness in general, it has very much to do with success in exhibiting Most birds, of course, are town-bred, and such must be washed occasionally to have a chance of success, though one good washing will suffice for more than one show. The evil of too frequent washing is a kind of giving way of the feathers, which might almost be called a rubbing out, and which is very apt to display itself about the back of the neck.

First of all, before operations are commenced, all the children (if any) should be put to bed. There are some children who know how to abide still as mice until need arises, when a little hand will pass a warm cloth or other necessary, neither one moment too soon nor too late. But average children are sadly in the way, and all the space by the fire is badly wanted. Besides, washing a small bird requires care, and chatter by no means assists the progress. Before commencing the washing, let a good fire be made up, free from ash or dust, and with some large vessel full of hot water placed upon the hob so as to keep simmering. An open cage should have previously had a good wash for the occasion, to be used as a "drying" cage. This must have the bottom covered with a clean piece of flannel; and be placed where a good heat from the fire can reach it. The mistress of the house must be asked for a few clean and soft cloths. And, lastly, you must be provided with three good-sized basins.

How a Good Start Can be Made.

The first basin should be half filled with lukewarm water. Dissolve in this a bit of clean soda about the size of a nut, and then, taking in one hand a piece of yellow soap, and in the other a soft shaving-brush, alternately dip the brush in the water and rub it over the soap, till you have a basin full of good "suds." Half fill the other basins with warm water, full blood heat (but not more). The soap must also be placed handy; it is a good plan to bed it in the soap-dish with flannel, so that it may not slip about while the brush is passed over it. With these preparations you are ready to begin.

Take your bird and place it along the palm of the left hand, the head towards the wrist, and the tail projecting between the thumb and forefinger, while the other fingers hold the bird lightly but firmly, the little finger securing the head, and the others the shoulder or side of the wing. It will be readily found that in this position the bird can be held lightly yet with perfect security, and that the position of its body can be changed at convenience, according as the back or sides are being done. Immerse all but the head in the suds for a few seconds, whilst the lather-brush is being plied with telegraphic speed over the soap; and as soon as a good free lather is obtained in the brush, lift the bird out, remove the thumb or second finger out of the way, and wash well the lower part of the body, the wings and tail; always working in the same direction as the feathers lie, and occasionally dipping the parts being washed in the suds.

Do this until the dirt seems got out; then hold the bird with the forefinger and thumb, and remove the other fingers sufficiently and alternately, like a fiddler, to give space for head and shoulders being washed, taking care that the dirt is well removed round the beak; the third finger placed under the throat will readily raise the head for that purpose. It is no use attempting to be too particular about the eyes; most sensible birds shut their eyes. Being satisfied that the back is clean, turn the bird over in the hand with its head coming under the little finger towards the wrist as before, and again commence brushing the wings and tail, opening the wings as much as possible. Finish off with the throat and belly. So far all is pretty simple, although at first one may be almost as afraid to handle the bird as average men are to meddle with a new-born baby.

Supposing now that you have the bird clean, squeeze the suds from the brush, and with it wash out the soap with the water in the second basin. Finally, holding the patient in as perpendicular a position as possible, scoop the water in the third basin over it with the right hand until it is perfectly free from soap; after which, draw the flights and tail gently through the fingers to remove as much water as possible before proceeding to the drying stage. Remember, that the great point is to get every particle of soap out of the plumage.

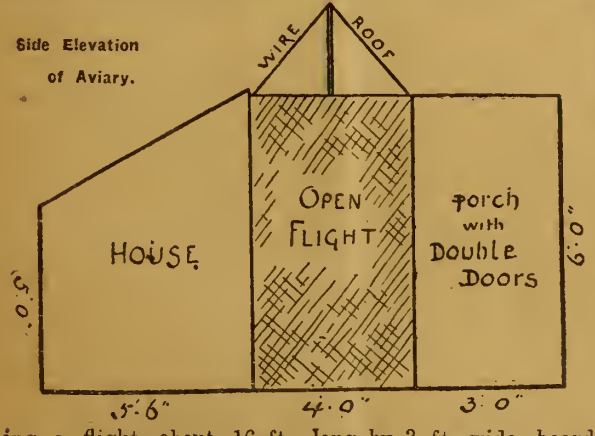
Being satisfied that all the soap is out, take one of the soft cloths, previously well warmed at the fire, wrap the bird in it, and dab it gently between the hands until the worst of the water is soaked up by the cloth. Be especially sure that the water is well absorbed from about the belly, vent, and under the wings.

The water being mainly soaked up by the first cloth, take another warm piece in the right hand and stroke the feathers into position, and place the bird in the drying-cage, pretty near the fire. The drying-cage must be very warm, the danger of chill being considerable. It is advisable, therefore, for the "better half" to keep turning the cage. As the birds get thoroughly dry, gradually move them further from the fire.

All being washed and cleaned up, it is best to draw a linen cloth over the cage and leave them for the night. In the morning, if time can be allowed, it is a good plan to put a flannel over the bottom of the cage and give them a natural bath, which is the surest and best way of getting the feathers quite right, and restoring the natural bloom, always rather lost by hand washing. The cold bath is called "fining," and is very necessary for showing birds in good bloom. They generally look their best a day or two after washing, and ought to be covered up to keep them from knocking themselves about.

A DEVONSHIRE FANCIER IN HIS BIRDROOM. . . .

Mr. C. J. Munday, of Tiverton, a lover of the Norwich Plainhead.



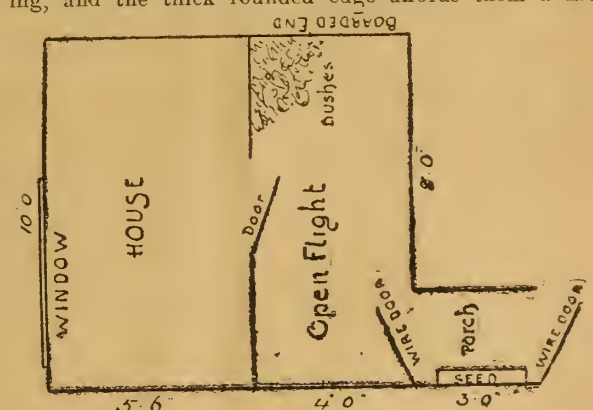
Mr. Munday writes that he has been in the hobby only two years, and exhibited a bird for the first time a few weeks ago. This, a clear yellow hen, to his delight came home with a third prize card adorning its cage.

The Delights of an Outdoor Aviary,

By Miss A. B. Ellis (Chertsey).

I THINK we have always kept a bird of some sort or other ever since I can remember. When I was very small my mother used to keep them, but as I grew bigger, I began to have birds of my own. They were generally common Canaries, Goldfinch Mules, and occasionally a pair of the commoner foreign Seed-eaters.

Then my father built me an aviary in a narrow verandah. He wired in the whole of the top piece, making a flight about 16 ft. long by 3 ft. wide, boarding it underneath for about 4 ft. each end. The middle part was wired down to the ground, so that I had an aviary 8ft. long by 3ft. wide, by about 7ft. high, with a flight above, 16ft. long by 3ft. by 2ft. high to the lowest part of the roof. I also had double doors at the side. In this place I kept at different times, Canaries, Goldfinch Mules, a Spice-bird, Bramble-finches, a Goldfinch, a pair of Redpolls, Greenfinches, and Linnets. Apropos of the Redpolls, I had never seen any in our garden, or even in the country around, but I had not had mine in the aviary a week before I saw three hanging on the wire outside.



About two years ago we left that house, and my present aviary consists of an old poultry-house ten feet by five and a half feet by five feet high at the back, and six and a half feet in the front, with an open wire flight in front, ten feet by four feet by six feet high, with double doors at one end. This sort of porch with two doors is most useful. It is two feet by three feet by six feet high, and the two sides and top are boarded, the doors being wire.

The Advantages of a Porch-way.

The boards make it firmer, and afford a certain amount of protection, so that I can keep all my seed in this porchway in tins in a strong wooden box which is placed on one side and covered over with a piece of American cloth to keep it dry. Another advantage of this porch is, that while it very greatly reduces the risk of letting the birds out, I find it most convenient when I wish to catch any of the birds, as they can be driven into it, and then caught with a good-sized handkerchief or a duster. As will be seen from the plan, the house has a door in the middle of the front, and a large window at the back, while the flight is completely boarded up at the east end.

I have one small rather low laurel bush growing in the flight, and in the early spring I put in large bunches of laurels, heather, fir, and other branches, amongst which are hidden nesting receptacles of various shapes and sizes. These with the branches, are removed about the middle of September, and only sufficient are left, both outside and in the house, to serve as perches and sleeping places for the birds. The seed-pots are put in a shallow wooden box, which hangs by four wires from a hook in the middle of the roof of the house. This is to prevent the mice getting at the seed, for I found when I put it on the floor, they ate a great deal of it.

For a bath I use a large flower-pot saucer, as being unglazed, it gives the birds a good foothold when bathing, and the thick rounded edge affords them a firm grip when drinking. It is also very easily cleaned. In the summer the door and the window of the house are left open day and night, but in the winter the window is shut up, and only the door left open in the day, while at night all the birds are shut into the house to sleep.

Ground Plan of Miss Ellis' Aviary.

I have at present eight or nine Canaries, a cock and a hen Goldfinch Mule, a pair of Goldfinches, a Bullfinch, Chaffinch, Greenfinch, and Redpoll, all cocks, and a hen Linnet. Of foreign birds I have pairs of Saffron Finches, White and Grey Java Sparrows, a cock Zebra Finch, and a hen Weaver. All the above birds I have found, so far, have agreed very well and live together quite peacefully.

The White Java Sparrows are most delightful birds for an outdoor aviary, though I found their conversation a little monotonous indoors—I had them in the winter, and was obliged to keep them in a cage in the house until the weather was warm enough to put them out.

Proposed Open Show for Falkirk and District.

Sir,—At a meeting of the Falkirk and Dist. C.B.S. held Nov. 6, some discussion took place as to the advisability of holding an open show of cage birds in Falkirk in 1914. It was finally decided to hold a meeting in Oddfellows' Hall on Dec. 6, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of further discussing this proposal. All members and fanciers in the district are cordially invited to attend and give their views. ROBERT RENNIE, SEC.

Are Specialist Clubs Doomed?

SIR,—There is a feeling extant that the support of specialist clubs is not necessary for the successful conduct of shows, and should the idea become general it will place specialist clubs at a very great disadvantage. The idea has already gained sufficient credence to make one extremely apprehensive for their future welfare. There can be little doubt that specialist clubs are on their trial, and if they are to maintain the position they have gained, I would urge upon those concerned the supreme importance of supporting those shows receiving their club's patronage, thereby proving it is a real benefit. It must be obvious that societies will not continue to give the classification required unless they get a reasonable number of entries to warrant them so doing. The handwriting is on the wall, and fanciers should take heed ere it is too late. My remarks do not so much apply to the S.Y.C.C. as to the S.N.P.C. and the C.C.C., in all of which I am interested.

Sunderland Fancier Secures Desirable Post.

SIR,—The many fancier friends of Mr. James Jeffrey, late secretary to the Sunderland C.B.A., will be pleased to learn that he has recently been appointed Registrar of Mr. J. Jeffrey, of Sunderland.

Births and Deaths for the Sunderland East District. This position is said to be worth £300 per year. His fellow-fanciers here heartily congratulate Mr. Jeffrey on his success, and are confident he will fill the position with great credit to all concerned.

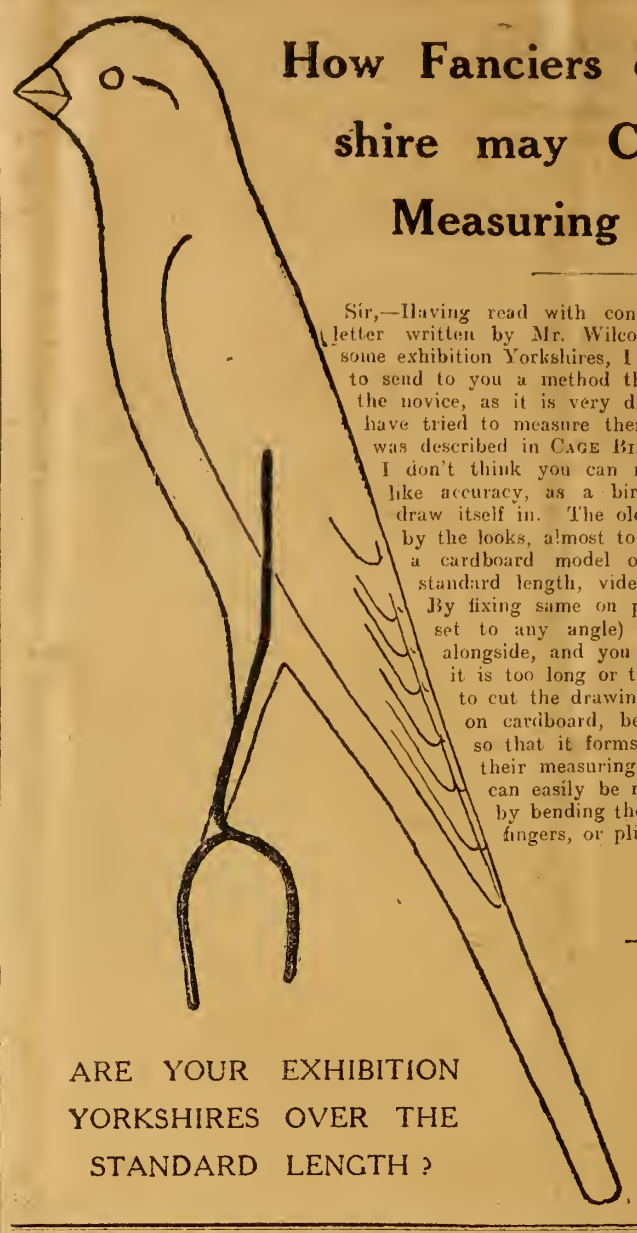
The Winning Hybrid at Preston Show.

Is it Only a Rare-feathered Bullfinch?

Sir,—Considerable interest was aroused by the winning Hybrid at Preston show, owned by Mr. Parlett, of Sheffield. The bird was catalogued as a Canary-Bullie, and is of monstrous size for that cross, with a mixture of white, buff, grey, and dark plumage. A great number of fanciers who examined the bird were of opinion that it was purely and simply an Albino Bullfinch; a very close examination did not reveal any traits that can reasonably be supposed to be derived from a Canary as one parent. It is of the Bullfinch shape, big, bold, wide head, short whip tail, big black beady eyes, twice as big as can be expected in a Canary-Bullie, very large and thick beak, bigger than that of a good Greenie-Bullie. It is not marked as is usual with variegated Hybrids, being a conglomeration of splashes of different colours; and on one wing there is a large patch of grey, the exact grey that is found in a cock Bullie. That is sufficient to "give it away," to my mind; but there is another little point that may have been overlooked by a superficial observer. I don't ever remember seeing a light Canary Hybrid with white legs and black toe-nails. I compared it with the winning Canary-Bullie, belonging to Mr. J. W. Johnson, and there is no resemblance either in shape, feather, or any other characteristics; then I compared it with a hen Bullie, and except for colour I could not find any difference whatever. Further the twitter or call note is the soft flute-like note peculiar to the Bullfinch. In spite of the judge awarding it first prize, in the absence of authentic evidence of its being bred from a Canary, I shall believe, with the majority of fanciers who saw it, that it is an Albino Bullie, probably a Russian. In my experience of breeding Hybrids, I never saw one that did not share the characteristics of its parents equally, but this one embodies all the traits of the Bullie and none of the Canary. I believe it will be like the Chaffinch-Bullie exhibited two years ago; when examined and judged by men who understand Hybrids, it will fizzle out. One last word: Why was the owner so anxious that the bird shouldn't be examined? And why were the words "Canary-Bullfinch" written in blackhead pencil on its number ticket? Was it because he was afraid the judge wouldn't be able to place its parentage.

T. JOHNSON.

Will the Breeder Enlighten Us?



Sir,—Regarding a light "Canary-Bullfinch Hybrid" exhibited at Preston, Nov. 21 and 22 by Mr. R. D. Parlett, of Sheffield. As an interested Hybrid breeder I generally make a practice of looking carefully over any Hybrids shown that have not been commonly bred and this bird was awarded first prize by the judge, Mr. Alf. Wellings, but after I had carefully examined it I failed to find a true combination of parentage; in fact I could not trace any of the Canary, in any shape or form, although in this class there was the Canary-Bullfinch which won at Warrington Show. On placing these two exhibits together there was not the slightest resemblance. A real Canary-Bullie does not use the Bullfinch call note, nor does it carry a large beak, and if it were a variegated bird I should think it would follow the Canary, and not show slate-blue feathers. However, I came to the conclusion it is not a light Canary-Bullfinch, but a freak, or partial Albino. I hope the next time it is shown it will be under a specialist judge, who will give it a careful examination. I have one strong objection to make, and that is to the writing on the label of this bird's show cage, which stated "Canary-Bullfinch." I do not call it justice to other exhibitors for this naming business to be carried out on labels, and it causes suspicion. I consider it is not necessary to do this writing on the cage label; put the bird under a specialist judge and leave it for his decision. I am sure it would be interesting if the breeder would give his experiences on the breeding of this rare Hybrid, as I am always glad to receive knowledge.

HERBERT WALSH.

The Camera as Witness Against Disqualified Birds.

SIR,—Respecting "the camera as a witness," I take it Mr. Morris would have a full-length portrait taken of himself, holding the bird in his hand. Now, assuming a man stands 5ft. 8in., and is pictured on a ½-plate negative, he will be reduced (roughly) to 1-17th of his size; at the same time the bird will be reduced. I think a picture this size would be much too small for a council to pass any opinion on, more so if serious issues were at stake. Further, I have had a few years of serious and interesting experiments with photographic plates, both ordinary and also orthochromatic, and I have not yet come across anything that would be a reliable guide to a jury in a case where the colours are so subtle as they are in this. The purple colour of a bird's skin, if bare, would take some showing if the place was a small one, and amidst cinnamon or green feathers, and if the colour values were wrong on the negative, they would be no better on an enlargement.

ARE YOUR EXHIBITION YORKSHIRES OVER THE STANDARD LENGTH?

How Fanciers of the Yorkshire may Construct a Measuring Device.

Sir,—Having read with considerable interest the recent letter written by Mr. Wilcock, respecting the length of some exhibition Yorkshires, I thought it an opportune time to send to you a method that I think will be useful to the novice, as it is very difficult to measure a bird. I have tried to measure them with the apparatus which was described in CAGE BIRDS some few years ago, but I don't think you can measure them with anything like accuracy, as a bird can stretch itself out or draw itself in. The old fancier, of course, can tell by the looks, almost to a nicety. I am sending you a cardboard model of a Yorkshire, the correct standard length, vide Yorkshire Union rule book. By fixing same on perch in show cage (you can set to any angle) the bird will stretch itself alongside, and you can see at a glance whether it is too long or too short. Readers have only to cut the drawing out of your paper, paste it on cardboard, bend a piece of wire, and fix so that it forms a "crutch" and they have their measuring apparatus ready to use. It can easily be made to grip a perch tightly by bending the "crutch" opening with your fingers, or pliers.

MAJOR HARLEY.

THE MYSTERIOUS KOLLER TOUR.

Mr. C. Roehl attends a meeting of Berlin fanciers called specially to consider this seemingly baffling item of the Roller's repertoire.

Sir,—One of the most interesting bird club meetings it has been my privilege and pleasure of attending was held by the "Club Canaria," of Berlin, on Nov. 13th. This meeting was specially convened in order to bring the so-called Koller tour into discussion. The large hall was crowded with interested breeders from all parts eager to learn the result of the debate. Precisely at 8.30 the chairman, Mr. Jepard, opened the meeting with an able speech, in which he specially welcomed the writer for having taken the long journey from London to Berlin in order to be present at the meeting. After thanking the chairman and all present for the very kind and brilliant reception accorded me, I at once gave him sincere fraternal greetings from all the Roller Canary clubs of this country.

After a short discussion of the club's usual business, seven birds were put up by different members, three single ones and one team of four. Each owner of the different birds was convinced that the Koller-like tours were possessed by the birds that were put up for show. A dead silence was observed, and we waited two hours with close attention, the three birds in the meantime singing their tours in a grand and beautiful style, but not the least trace of the Koller tour could be detected in any of the birds. The team of four birds shown by Mr. Utterstadt were really a splendid quartette.

The different tours of these birds were then announced by this gentleman, starting with a good, but short, hollow roll, passing to a very distinct hollow bell, schockel and deep bass, descending to a very beautiful glucke in three different keys, also very nice flute notes, and ending with a rather sharp bell tour, but not sufficient to be in any way disagreeable to the ear or to impair its song. I was informed later on that this team was bred from birds obtained from the same person from whom most of our present glucke strain in England originally came. It was the opinion of several gentlemen that had not Mr. Utterstadt put the cocks to a different strain of hens, they would have been even fuller, and the hollow roll longer.

Now a very lively discussion sprang up between several members about the so-called Koller. Mr. Schreiber remarked that he was most anxious to bring a good Koller to this meeting, and wrote to several breeders on the Rhine who advertise such stock, and received several answers; but on making the conditions that £5 should be deposited anywhere to suit the vendor's convenience, also three days' approval, he heard nothing more about the matter.

Mr. Walter, of Berlin, then described the Koller tour at great length, and I think him quite right in all he said. His description of the Koller tour was as follows: Kullernde hollow roll, with a tinkling of a schockel, or bell roll. The Koller is more valuable when rendered by the bird in a treble-sounding form, that is, for instance, the Kullernde hollow roll, Knorre, or bass and deep bell tour combined; the deeper the tour in conjunction with the Kullernde hollow roll, the more valuable it is. The writer, having just returned from the Rhine district, remarked that he could not find anything like Koller near as good as Mr. Walter described. At the last International show our judge, Mr. Frith, was kind enough to bring over four so-called Koller birds to our show, but from the description I had of those birds, the so-called Koller was not as good as those we possessed in England, and a great number were supplied to me by two or three of those present at the meeting, as far back as nine years ago.

A Novice Points Special at Southend Show.

Sir,—At the late Southend Show I entered six exhibits in the open novice class and won two 1sts, two 3rds, one vhc, and one hc. By the rules printed in schedule and show catalogue, if less than five entries the class would be cancelled. There were two specials given to the novice who gained most points in Novice Norwich classes, points to count 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1. As I made 23 points, I think I won the specials. I wrote the secretary and he replied saying that Mr. Cundy tied with me, as one class did not fill, only three in it. Then why was it not cancelled as stated in rules? He said that all entries were not entered in catalogue. So I was paid out half first prize money for the class, and the secretary writes that only three points count in that class. Even then, by deducting the four points, I still make 19, and the nearest to me is 18, which is Mr. Cundy, yet they write me to say he wins the specials. H. PAGE.

A New Cage Bird Society for Southampton.

SIR,—I have much pleasure in announcing through your valuable paper that we have formed a Cage Bird society in Southampton. On Nov. 17 a large number of fanciers met together to discuss the question, and it was unanimously decided to form one and name it the Southampton and District C.B.S. Mr. E. Holliday was elected chairman, and myself secretary. There is not the slightest doubt it is a long-felt want in Southampton, and we earnestly hope all fanciers will support us. It was agreed that the subscription should be 2s. 6d., and 1s. entrance; but those joining now pay 1s. entrance, and subscription will be due at the first meeting in January. Next meeting fixed for December 1st at 33, Lower Bullar Street, Southampton, where a room has been kindly lent us until we finally decide on our head quarters. A hearty welcome will be given all fanciers who care to attend.

Our Coloured Plate of Border and Roller Canaries.

The following information concerning the birds depicted on this week's coloured plate is taken from that intensely interesting work, "Our Canaries," the finest book of its kind ever published (see page 427).

IT is an axiom that facts are often stranger than fiction, and the story of the Border Fancy Canary reveals a strange tale indeed. Little more than 20 years ago it was a plebeian nondescript, unhonoured, yet unknown, with no more distinguished patronymic than the Common Canary: to-day it is, so to speak, the pride and the joy of princes, with the aristocratic name of Border Fancy Canary, bestowed upon it by its devoted admirers in conclave assembled on the 5th July, 1890, and by which it has ever since been known. For some time previous to this the bird had been attracting attention, and the term of Common Canary has fallen into disrepute, and the bird was being exhibited under the name of Cumberland Fancy at some shows, and as the Common Canary at others. There was in fact some rivalry and jealousy betwixt breeders in different localities for the honour of giving the bird its fancy name. But, happily, wise counsels prevailed, and it was eventually agreed to sever the nomenclature from any locality, and adopt a name representative of all the Border counties of England and Scotland where the bird was extensively bred and kept. To-day it is one of the most widely distributed and popular varieties we possess.

Its Rise and Progress.

That the future prospects of the bird were not generally recognised at this time is known by the notes contributed by Mr. J. S. Wilson, who writes us:—"'The breed can never become popular.'—So wrote an All-England judge to the writer many years ago, when the variety was unknown outside the Border counties. That was the honest opinion of the keen critic, but it only serves to show how hazardous it is to attempt to forecast future events.

"The Border should not be crossed with any other breed, as it contains within itself all the elements necessary for scientific development. It cannot be improved from outside sources as some other breeds. We remember in the old days certain fanciers taking a leap into the unknown by introducing Norwich blood with a view to improvement. The result was disastrous, the fusion producing objectionable features which required many generations to eradicate. And so it was with the marked variety; the small Yorkshire was requisitioned on account of its tendency to reproduce the required markings. But the result was again unsatisfactory; what was gained in markings was more than counterbalanced by the loss in type and quality. The secret of markings lies in the Cinnamon blood. Given this and suitable selection, there is nothing in the way of marks that cannot be accomplished."

In the Early Days.

"Before the club was formed," Mr. Henry Bennet says, "the great and best gatherings of Common Canaries were held at Selkirk, Hawick, Langholm, and a few shows in and around Cumberland. The Langholm fanciers of that date bred chiefly for even-marks and greens. The Cumberland men also had some very finely marked birds in their possession. The Selkirk fanciers were well-nigh invincible with clears and fouls, and had a few good marks. In Hawick we had a good mixture of all varieties, and also in Dumfries, Jedburgh, and Kelso. The type then exhibited was in many respects similar to our present day Border Fancy, although when I started I had to go in for two types to suit different judges, as there were those who preferred a neat and dainty bird, and others who were for a larger bird with more colour. Now, however, the type favoured by judges in England and Scotland is very similar, the only marked difference being that for a bird to win in most English shows a somewhat bolder head and fuller neck are required than we want in Scotland."

In South and West.

Concerning its popularity in the South and West of England we give a few extracts from a paper supplied by Dr. T. A. Bowes, who writes us: "Although the Border Fancy Canary did not have its origin in the south its popularity is increasing. It has spread south-west into Wales, and obtained a strong footing there, a large number of breeders having fallen victims to its charms. In and around London and in the South-east of England it is establishing a firm hold in the affections of fanciers. . . . . ."

The Ideal Bird.

The general all-round qualities and hardihood of the "wee gem of the Fancy," as the Border is often termed, account for its rapid rise to the position of an almost universal favourite. In size it must not exceed 5½ins. in total length, being therefore distinctly on the small side. Its hardihood and ease of management are beyond question. Its plumage is exceptionally fine and silky, and carries a beautiful natural bloom. Its colour should be perfectly natural and not enriched by colour food; its general appearance and carriage are those of an exceptionally smart, graceful, and agile bird, with the least touch of that "nerve" or action which characterises such "birds of position" as the Belgian; and its range of colours and markings is of the most extensive description, and includes both green and cinnamon types. It should stand in a semi-erect position, and its whole make-up be that of a trim-built, neat bird, as closely feathered as if moulded in wax, with no suspicion of looseness or superfluous feathers anywhere, nor an atom of surplus muscle or tissue.

Being also quite an accomplished singer, coming in this respect nearer to the pure Roller than any other purely fancy breed, the cocks that are wastrels from the exhibitor's point of view find a ready market as singing birds. Colour feeding is strictly forbidden, the general concensus of opinion being against it, a plebiscite of the total membership of the B.F.C. showing only 21 votes in favour of it against 111 against. Therefore birds showing signs of colour feeding are barred from competition on the show bench.

Points for Breeders.

The chief faults to guard against in stock birds are tersely detailed incidentally by Mr. J. Patterson, of Chirnside, in these words:—"Large heavy beak; large flat head; thick neck; frayed long flights; flights not meeting down the back; tail carried low or too high; fish-tailed; too thin in front, or vice versa; frilling in front or at thighs, or base of tail; long in legs; too high in thighs, or wide between; feet large and coarse; too large in body and side; too flat across perch; washed-out or uneven in colour; long and loose in feathers. All these faults should be avoided when mating up stock; never pairing two birds together when the fault is similar. Have every weak point strengthened in the mate, being guided by the faults and prominent good points inherited from their parents. See that all the good points of last season are kept; bad ones discarded; and any weakness made strong.

"I prefer to mate yellow to buff," he continues, "and have no special liking for either colour to be in cock or hen. All that I require is that the cock is sound in colour, tight in feather, ideal in size, and perfect in style and action. The hen must be typical and well-rounded, and her wing and tail carriage perfect. Type is derived more from the hen's side; therefore, if any fault, have it on the cock's side; the hen to be as perfect as possible."

The Roller and Singing Canaries

Of type or external characteristics for the breeder's guidance there is none pertaining to the Roller. Its vocal powers, quality of voice, purity of song, and freedom and ease of delivery are the only points, apart from general robustness and stamina, which weigh with the breeder of pure Rollers. Consequently, in appearance the Roller is the most nondescript type of Canary we possess, or, indeed, it may be truly termed the Canary with no type at all.

In size it is the smallest variety we possess, averaging from five to five-and-a-half inches in length over all; in shape it varies from a plump, cobby, well-proportioned bird to a lank, lean, leggy and long-tailed "slip of a thing"; and in colour practically every variety of variegation on a yellow or buff ground and self green may be found, but all of the most imperfect and washed-out kind, showing clearly the breeder's utter disregard for colour and markings. Its vocal abilities coupled with its comparative hardihood and ease of management have enabled it hitherto, and will probably continue to enable it, to command the admiration of a considerable army of devotees, to whom the cheery little songster is an indispensable part of the home life.

Strains of the Rollers.

In quite recent years the breeding and training of the Roller has become a large and growing portion of the Fancy in England, so that it is no flight of fancy to imagine a time in the not very distant future when the British workman will make as profitable a recreation of the hobby of rearing song Canaries as the peasantry of Germany and Switzerland have done for generations past.

The song required of the pure Roller Canary being a wholly artificial melody, it must not be expected that the young birds will acquire it without careful training and tuition, nor, indeed, given these necessary advantages, will all the youngsters become equally expert and proficient performers. In fact, there will be comparatively few of the highest-class performers of a pure and faultless type of song such as are required to carry off the laurels as contest singers, though the great majority of the young cocks may develop a very excellent style of song, with only trivial flaws of little moment to the average lover of a good pure singing Roller, but which materially reduce its chances of success in competition, where only the most faultless performers can be expected to come off victorious.

The song of the high-class Roller should be as a continuous stream of soft, sweet, flowing melody, soothing and pleasing to the ear, free from any harsh, zit-zittering or kettledrum-like tattoing upon the tympanum; as a German critic would put it, there should be only a sense of a smooth flowing or rolling with no indication of the hammering song of the ordinary type of singer.

YORKSHIRE UNION OF C.B.S.

Judges for 1914-15; the Halifax Disqualification Again Discussed.

The Council met Nov. 22, at the "Flying Dutchman," Leeds Road, Bradford. Mr. H. W. Walsh, President, occupied the chair, there being an exceptionally good attendance of delegates. Correspondence from Mr. F. Carl, in respect to the supply of Union cage labels was endorsed on the same terms as before. The Secretary's action in support of Mr. J. Clark's case was also endorsed, and the suspension of a defaulting member was removed, he having paid all dues and demands to the society, of which he was previously a member. The ballot for Union judges for the season 1914-15 was proceeded with and as five judges tied for the 13th position it was decided to place the names of each in a hat and that they should be called upon if required in the same order as they were withdrawn, viz.: W. Stables, C. Dykes, J. Bailey, A. Cooper, and J. C. Barnes. Result of Ballot declared as follows:—

Oct.	2 and 3.—Halifax O.S.	Judge, Mr. W. Stables.
,,	10.—Bradford East O.S.	Mr. A. Cowgill.
,,	17.—Skelmanthorpe C.B.A.	Mr. F. Allen.
,,	24.—Shipley O.S.	Mr. W. Mundell.
,,	31.—City of Bradford O.S.	Mr. R. Halliday.
Nov	7.—Bradford West C.B.A.	Mr. H. Sutcliffe.
,,	14.—Tong C.B.S.	Mr. H. W. Battye.
,,	21.—Manningham C.B.A.	Mr. P. Mason.
,,	28.—Queensbury C.B.S.	Mr. H. W. Walsh.
Dec.	12.—Huddersfield O.S.	Mr. J. Robson.
,,	19.—Easterdyke B.F.A.	Mr. J. Greaves.

Jan.	2.—Windmill, Shipley O.S.	Mr. H. J. Chittenden.
,,	9.—Great Horton O.S.	Mr. A. Hirst.

The Halifax Case Re-considered.

A letter from Mr. C. A. House, in respect to the Halifax disqualification case was brought before the meeting, asking the Council to reconsider their decision, as passed at a special council meeting, and calling into question the rulings of the Union, and the methods adopted by the Council in arriving at the conclusion they did in the matter. The minutes of the said council meeting, as submitted by the Secretary, were unanimously passed as a correct record, and after a very lengthy discussion, in which most of the delegates took part, the following resolution was proposed and carried: That the Council cannot accede to the request of Mr. House to re-open the case, as they had acted according to rule and precedent, and felt justified in taking the course they had done. But the Council passed a further resolution that the case be left open in order that further evidence may be taken, and then brought before the Council at a future date. The bird which had been before the Council at Halifax, and which had been kept in the possession of Mr. H. W. Walsh (the President of the Union) since the Halifax Show, was again placed before the Council and thoroughly examined by the delegates, who were shown the bare places on the bird's head, which Mr. House had been unable to detect at the previous Council meeting. Much discussion ensued at this point, and investigations, which had been made in the case, since Halifax Show were reported to the meeting. The President allowed a full and free discussion, after which the following resolution was carried unanimously: The Council are satisfied from the evidence received that the bird kept by Mr. H. W. Walsh in his possession since Oct. 18th, the date of Halifax Annual Show is the same bird disqualified by Mr. House at the said show; and, further, that the bare places on the bird's head, as shown to the Council, were quite natural. The Council sat 3½ hours dealing with this and the previous business, the President terminating the meeting by thanking the delegates for their attendance.—H. Hill, Sec.

As we ourselves looked up the Y.U. rules last week and expressed our opinion on them, perhaps we may be excused if, without entering into the merits or demerits of this particular disqualification, we say that the above report offers a very inadequate reply to the question as to what rule the Council considers gives them the authority to act as they did—personally, we can find none. Rule 9 says that committees of shows shall deal with such matters as the above. Further, it is nowhere stated that the Council has power to upset a judge's decisions. For the Council to say that they acted according to "rule and precedent" seems to us contrary to reason.

6.—The decision of the judge shall be final, unless it can be proved to the satisfaction of the committee that a bird has been entered in a wrong class, or is not the property of the exhibitor, or has been fraudulently tampered with, in which case such decision shall be void; and the committee reserve to themselves the right of adjudicating thereon.

8.—Any exhibitor who shall be disqualified at any show held under the rules of the Union for fraudulent practices or false statement as to ownership, shall forfeit all or any prizes or specials that may be awarded to him or her at the show, in addition to all entry fees. Such disqualifications must be reported to the Union Secretary, to be dealt with by the Council, who may inflict such other punishment as they may decide. Any Society failing to enforce this rule will be fined not less than one guinea.

9.—Any member or exhibitor found guilty of dishonest practices at any show held under the rules of the Union shall be punished as the committee of the said show decide, in accordance with these rules. Such person shall have the power to appeal to the Council of the Union, whose decision shall be final.

Note the use of the words "committee" and "council," also the phrase "such other punishment."—Editor, "C.B."

"I must speak very highly of your paper, as I have had five or six replies to each small advertisement I have put in, and they have come from all over the country, so CAGE BIRDS must be well read."—P. C. JULIAN (Battersea).

"I beg to say that through my small advert. in your valuable paper, CAGE BIRDS, I have received replies from a over England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales. This speaks well for 'C.B.' as an advertising medium: it excels all bird papers."—C. C. KING (Norwich).

Questions and Answers.

Queries will be answered under the following conditions:

(1) If questions must be clearly written in ink (or typewritten) on one side of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist or a pseudonym, or initials.

(2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper, and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

(4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructions re advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

(5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left-hand corner of the query.

(6) If an answer in the same week's issue is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attention they are likely to have.

(7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and an addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on receipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

(8)—All who desire letters of complaint written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclose a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this source will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Childrens' Fund (London).

(9)—All queries must be addressed to the Editor, "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C. only queries so sent will be answered. Postcards are not admissible.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staf of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no ense be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

Canaries.—Claude St. John. Mules and Hybrids—H. Norman. British Birds—H. J. Fulljames. Foreign Birds—Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S., Wild Bird Life—H. Norman.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc., of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his questions for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES

AVIARY ACCOMMODATION (Enos Ely).—You do not say whether the aviary is in or out of doors. The height of an aviary is of little importance in comparison with the floor space, and the height of yours is out of all proportion to the length and width, so that you cannot safely keep as many birds in it as you might expect. Twenty is as many as you should keep in it regularly, but with strict attention to cleanliness you may keep from 25 to 30 occasionally. If the aviary is indoors, and you were to divide the height by placing a second floor midway between the top and bottom, you could then keep 20 birds in each section quite safely.

CAGE WIRES GONE BLACK (Amateur).—You could paint the wires of your cage with any kind of hard drying enamel, but that which dries without gloss will give the best results, and only dark coloured or black should be used, as a light coloured wire detracts very considerably from the appearance of the bird behind it. Brunswick black is as good as anything you can use for this job, and before applying you should clean all the rust from the wires by scraping with a blunt knife, or rubbing with sand-paper or pumice stone, and finally wash them with a strong solution of common soda to ensure them being quite free from any trace of grease. Allow to stand until quite dry before applying enamel, which you will do with a small brush. Use it quite sparingly, and apply two very thin coats in preference to one thick coat, and allow the first to become thoroughly dry before applying the second. This is the way to avoid the enamel drying in lumpy "tears." Do not replace the bird until the wires are dry and hard.

NOT FINISHED MOULTING (Benwellite).—I am not sure whether I have your pseudonym correct. It seems to me that all your birds are still moulting more or less, as I do not see how those that are still casting a lot of feathers can be termed through the moult. The probability is that you are exposing them to cold draughts in some way, or it may be damp or extreme and sudden fluctuations. Either or all these exciting causes must be quite removed before you can hope to remove the effects. See that the birds are in a comfortable place, which need not necessarily be a very warm one, but the birds that have not finished moulting according to your ideas may with advantage be kept a little warmer. In the drinking water of these birds give 20 drops of whisky, five of syrup of saffron, and as much chlorate of potash as will cover a threepenny-piece, every second day for a fortnight, and in addition to the usual seed diet give on the alternate days half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with a slight dusting of flowers of sulphur, and sprinkled with maw seed. At the end of a fortnight stop all the above and give four drops of cod liver oil emulsion and four of sherry mixed in the sponge cake, and add 20 drops of Chemical Food to the water every second day until the moulting has ceased. Give the other birds that you think have finished moulting a little sponge cake with the cod liver oil and sherry, as mentioned above, every second day for a fortnight, and during the same period add 20 drops of Chemical Food to the water every second day, and on the alternate days add instead six drops of tincture of gentian and three of tincture of steel.

COLDS AND DISINFECTION (Inquirer, Brabote).—The birds in question seem to have been thoroughly broken up physically. Yet I do not quite see how the disease can be very infectious, if these birds have been in the same room as your other stock all through the summer, and suffering from this complaint, and have not infected the other birds. By all means keep them in a cosy, but not overheated, place, free from cold draughts, and give a quinine tonic until, at least, those that are moulting feathers are in tight plumage again. Dissolve half a drachm of ammoniated citrate of iron and quinine in an ounce of sherry, add a teaspoonful of glycerine, and give 20 drops of this mixture in the drinking water two days in every three for a fortnight at a time, and then miss a week, and begin again and give it for another fortnight, and so on. I do not consider it at all necessary, nor even advisable, to give medicine of this kind direct into the beak, as the constant excitement and shock of catching the birds and administering the medicine are not conducive to rapid recovery. Still, if you prefer this mode of treatment you may give the mixture in the beak in two drop doses every morning and evening. I cannot tell whether the term "infectious" was intended to apply to humans in your case or not; probably not. To disinfect the cage wash out thoroughly with a solution of Jeyes' of the strength of one in twenty—that is a tablespoonful of fluid in half a pint of water. The books that will suit you are "Canary Breeding for Beginners," 7d., post free, or House's "Canary Manual," post free, 1/2.

FAINTING FITS (Anxious).—The bird is doubtless of a very highly strung temperament, and the way it behaves is due to extreme nervousness. You can do very little to remedy matters beyond treating the bird with much patience and gentleness. You might try keeping it in a flight with several others for a few weeks, to see if that will induce it to assert itself and overcome the nervousness. Always approach its cage gently and without any unnecessary noise or bluster; go through all cleaning and feeding operations quietly and methodically; and always contrive to leave a scrap of dainty green food or some tit-bit for it. In short, endeavour to win the bird's confidence, and let it know that your attentions are all of a friendly nature. This is about all you can do in such a case. Drug treatment is quite worthless. Gentleness is essential in dealing with these specimens, as there is always a great risk of them dying instantly at the slightest cause for alarm.

MOULTING AND MITES (Enid Vaughan).—(1) You say your room is not a cold one. Does this mean that it is heated by any artificial means? If so, you should maintain an equable temperature, as near 55 degrees as you can, until the birds are through the moult, when between 45 and 50 will be quite sufficient for the rest of the winter. Give a staple diet of plain canary seed only, and in addition give separately every second day about half a teaspoonful of summer rape per bird, and on the alternate days give a similar quantity of crushed sponge cake lightly dusted with flowers of sulphur, and sprinkled with maw. Continue giving the latter for a fortnight only. Twice each week give a little of a mixture of equal parts hemp, niger, millet, and teazel. A spray of watercress or morsel of fruit may be given two or three times a week. In the drinking water give 20 drops of whisky, five of syrup of saffron, and as much chlorate of potash as will cover a sixpence every second day for a fortnight. If this does not soon set matters right, please do not hesitate to write again and let me know. No trouble at all to help you as far as possible. (2) Red mites do not live upon the bird. What you must do is to place the bird in a cage temporarily, during which time you should offer her a bath daily in which you have added a few drops of quassia essence, and thoroughly overhaul the cage in which the hen has been living. The mites will be harbouring in this cage, and if you thoroughly clean it and paint it all over with a good insecticide—paraffin, or methylated spirit and camphor—working it well into the joints and crevices with a small paint brush, and repeat this dressing twice at intervals of one day, afterwards repainting or distempering the cage as the case may be, there will be very little left of the red mites. But you must be careful to clean the wall or hook on which the cage has been hanging at the same time as the cage itself. Be careful not to return the bird to the cage until it is quite dry.

LOUD ROLLER YOUNGSTERS (Constant Reader).—It is most unlikely your young Rollers, which are now too loud in song, will get softer as they get older. The tendency will be all in the other direction. You did not commence the training early enough, and possibly also used a tutor or tutors that were loud singers, or perhaps kept them in open cages and uncovered, so that they heard the tutor's song at the extreme pitch. All this was wrong, and would cause the young to acquire a loud tone, which will be irremediable now that the birds have their song almost fully formed and fixed in type. Either the young should have been trained in closed song boxes, or had the cages kept covered during the first few weeks of training, or in case the tutors were themselves loud, they should have been kept in closed boxes, or boxes partly closed, as the case seemed to require. The best you can now do is to place the birds separately in boxes and keep them closed for a week or two, after which gradually open them a little at a time, and see how the birds perform, closing them again as soon as they begin to let themselves go. You may possibly make some improvement by this means in the course of a few months, but the prospect is by no means very hopeful. Get the "Nutshell" booklet on the Roller, No. 10, and feed and treat the birds as therein advised.

A BALD ROLLER (T.K.).—It is by no means uncommon for these cases of baldness to prove most obstinate to treatment. It is of little use painting the head daily as you are doing for so long a time, neither is there likely to be any improvement until a moult takes place, which may not be until next spring. Keep the bird in a fairly warm and equable place, free from cold draughts, impure air, or fumes from burning lights. Give a staple diet of a mixture of two parts canary to one part summer rape. In addition, give separately half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake slightly dusted with flowers of sulphur and sprinkled with maw seed, every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days give first a similar quantity of a mixture of equal parts hemp, niger, black rape, millet, and linseed, and next a morsel of banana or spray of watercress. In the drinking water add 20 drops of whisky, five of syrup of saffron, and as much chlorate of potash as will cover a threepenny-piece, every second day. At the end of a fortnight remove the bird to a cold room for a few days, and in case the moult begins, leave the bird there until it is well started, and then take it back to the warmer room to finish. Write again and say when the moult begins, or in three weeks hence, if it does not begin, and I will tell you further how to go on.

WHEEZING AND RASPING (Snap Shot).—First satisfy yourself that these two birds are not kept in a position where they are exposed to cold draughts sometimes perhaps draughts that occur only when a window or door is open. If there is no such exposure, then they are doubtless more than usually susceptible to cold, and are not likely to throw off this trouble in a quite cold room. Remove them to a room where a fire is kept, but hang the cages well away from the fireplace, where the temperature will be fairly equable, but be careful to avoid draughts, and do not hang them near or over a burning light in the evening, nor high up near ceiling. Having done this, give, in addition to your present seed dietary, to each bird half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion well mixed in it every second day for two or three weeks. If you can get any mealworms available you might with advantage give a live fat one to each bird daily for a time. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much sulphate of soda as will cover a sixpence for three days, and afterwards give the chlorodyne mixture again which you have already tried in 20 drop doses two days in every three for a week, and every second day afterwards for two or three weeks if necessary. Remember the question of a comfortable temperature is the main point in enabling these birds to throw off the trouble, so that must be the first step.

BATHING AND FOOD (C. A. O.).—(1) The force of example is about the best and simplest method of inducing birds to bathe which are not naturally keen on water. Keep them for a time either caged with or hanging where they can see and hear other birds bathing, at the same time providing them with a bath, and removing the drinking water for the time being, to prevent them making a pretence of bathing in that. A scrap of green food may be placed in the bath at first as an inducement for them to approach it. If this does not succeed watch for them bathing the head in the drinker. Then slightly bedew the plumage with a few blows through a sprayer, remove the drinker, and put on the bath for an hour or so. These tactics usually succeed after a time. If they fail, dripping water might attract them. You may have seen a number of contrivances illustrated in our columns for causing water to drip from bottles, etc., at top of cage into the drinker to induce newly-caught British birds to drink. Arrange something similar to drip into a bath placed in centre of bath-cage. An empty condensed milk tin with a tiny pin-hole punched in bottom, half-filled with water, and placed on the wire top of bath-cage, over the bath which would be inside on the floor, would answer the purpose quite well. (2) If you mean which proprietary food on the market is the best substitute for egg-food, I cannot say. I have not seen them all, much less used them. But of all I have seen and used, a goodly number, there is much of a muchness about them, and very little to choose between them.

BAD FEET (A. B. C.).—I have carefully read both your letters, and examined the feet, which you did well to send on after the bird's death. A glance at the latter suffices to convince me that it is not the disease I referred to as being common in some other countries. It is strongly suggestive of the complaint termed "bumble-foot" in poultry, caused by alighting from a high perch in confined places on to a hard floor, so that it is just likely your hard lath perches may be at the root of the mischief, which probability is increased by the absence of fresh cases since you put in soft wood perches. I will endeavour to get these feet pathologically examined, and if the above surmise is incorrect will let you know what else is discovered. Watch these replies for a week or two. It is a little curious to note that you say in your letter the painting with Friar's Balsam caused much bleeding. As a matter of fact this is quite a good styptic, and should stop bleeding rather than cause it. Make all your perches of soft pine, a trifle thicker than sample you sent, but no wider—say ½in. wide by 5-16in. thick—and plane off the edges to make perch a flattened oval. If you have any more of these cases bathe in a solution of boracic acid—a teaspoonful of the acid in a saucerful of warm water—daily, dry gently, and anoint with Lanocyllin. Keep perches and cage floors as clean as possible.

BRITISH BIRDS, MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Answered by H NORMAN.

WHAT BIRD? (South Wales).—According to your description, I rather think your bird is a young Crossbill. I know of no other British bird that at all fits it. Young Crossbills do not have the peculiar crossing of the upper and lower mandibles until they are full grown. If you are not acquainted with these birds, you will soon see an alteration in the beak, and a change in plumage. A good cock bird is a brilliant specimen. They will live upon a seed diet, with an occasional mealworm.

WILD SEED (No Nom-de-plume).—I am at present unable to give you the correct name of the plant of which you send me some seed. It grows freely around here, and all the Finches are very fond of it. Yours is a splendid sample, and you are very fortunate in getting it. I think you should use it in making a mixture as a change of diet for your birds; this would be better than using it separately. Will let you know the correct name later on; your local name is a different one to ours.

WINTERING HYBRID PAIRS (Next Please). I am glad to hear you had such a successful season with your birds, and hope your luck will continue. It is not absolutely necessary to let pairs of birds designed for hybrid breeding to fly together all the winter, but if you have the birds in your possession, it is just as well to do so to get them properly used to each other, and there is always the chance that they may strike up a friendship that will greatly assist in the success of the following season. I think this is more necessary with two British birds than with a Finch and a Canary, although some Canaries are very nervous when first introduced to a Finch, and if they fly together only occasionally during the winter, there is no shyness on either side when the spring comes. A cock Linnet and hen Canary can be put together without much difficulty as regards food, as a Linnet will live on practically the same food as a Canary. Let them have a staple food of two parts canary and one of summer rape. Then make a mixture of linseed, hemp, teasle, and maw, and give them a couple of teaspoonfuls once a week; and on another day in the week the same quantity of a good wild seed mixture, which you can procure at your seed shop. Some of the seeds, such as the linseed, and several in the wild seed mixture, the Canary will hardly sample, but the Linnet will eat them and do well.

OUTSIDE AVIARY (Novice).—I am very desirous of helping you, but if I answered your query as it should be done, it would be taking up too much space; in fact, nothing less than an article would be sufficient. Why not get a copy of "Aviaries and Bird Rooms," published at this office? It would give you all the information you desire, together with a lot of little other items that would be useful to you. There have been many sketches of aviaries in back numbers of CAGE BIRDS (one in this week). Would not some of these give you an idea? A place the size you mention would hold up to fifty birds. You could keep Finches, and a few Canaries in summer, or you could have some of the commoner kinds of Foreign birds, or even go in for hybrid breeding if you felt disposed. You do not say if you have a wall to build to, or if your aviary would stand by itself.

THRUSH WITH SWELLING (M. Ritchie).—In most cases these troublesome swellings are caused by improper treatment in the way of unsuitable food. No doubt many birds are more easily upset than others, and these should be treated in a rather more liberal manner. You do not say how you are treating your bird, but as you have already had two others die with fits, I am inclined to think you are not feeding them properly. First of all give your bird a dose of Glauber Salts, a piece about the size of a pea dissolved in warm water, in an ordinary drinker. Get some good insectile food, such as is given to delicate Warblers, and feed him on that for a time until he is better. After a time you can vary it with a mixture of your own. Crush some puppy biscuits (or get ground chicken meal) two parts, and meat meal half part. Soak half-a-part of fine crissel in hot water, and then add the other ingredients until it is crumbly moist. You could also put in a few grocers' currants and ants' eggs occasionally, so as to vary his food. Don't forget a few mealworms, or other insects. Paint the affected part with tincture of iodine; do it carefully with a small camel-hair brush. Every other day will be quite often enough. As you keep Thrushes, our "Nutshell" booklet on these birds, or the part on Softbills, Vol. 2 of "The British Bird Manual," should just suit you.

BLACK BULLFINCH (A. M.).—Yours is not by any means an isolated experience; from time to time we have had Black Bullfinches exhibited at the Crystal Palace and other shows. I do not think your feeding had anything to do with it; caged life may have hastened the tendency of melanism, which was already in the blood. He will, no doubt, get darker each year. If he is a good specimen you can, of course, still exhibit him in the rare-feathered class at the big shows. Small shows, as a rule, do not give such classes, and you are liable to have him disqualified in an ordinary Bullfinch class.

GOLDFINCH-GREENFINCH HYBRID (W. J. B.).—The bird you have caught may have been reared in an aviary, and managed to escape from there. Of course, it is possible for any cross between two British birds to be bred in the open, but as wild birds are able to find partners of their own species, such an occurrence would be very uncommon. You should be able to give a shrewd guess about this by the bird's behaviour when caged. If he has been caged before he would soon settle down, and find his food and water straight away. The cross is possibly the easiest to get of all the hybrids (although none of them can be called really easy). If he is large, of good shape and colour, showing a good blaze, he should make an exhibition specimen. No matter what the colour of his legs, he could be shown in the class for hybrids bred between two British birds—there is generally one provided at most shows. The value of the bird would be regulated by the above points; an ordinary specimen about 15s., a real good one anything from £3 to £4.

CAGE FOR HYBRIDS (W. L.).—Undoubtedly, a two-compartment cage is the best for hybrid pairs, as it is so necessary to occasionally part them, either because they at times quarrel, or for fear the Finch should destroy the eggs as soon as they are laid. I see no reason why you should not make your cage into one with two compartments. All you have to do is to file the cage front in halves, making it into two separate fronts, then file or cut off the projecting edges so as to allow a board (for a partition) to slide between them. Cut a piece of board the same height as the wood front, and nail it in from back to front; also two narrow strips in the roof for your partition to slide in. I think if you have one part of the cage rather smaller than the other, you will find this to be of great convenience that is, unless your present cage is very roomy. In that case it would possibly be as well to divide it exactly in half.

WHICH HYBRID? (Kelly).—The Siskin-Bullfinch hybrid is still to be bred. You could, of course, have a shot at it, as you appear to have two very suitable birds for the work, unless there is a great difference in size. But as this will probably be your only pair up for hybrid breeding, it would perhaps be as well to try for something not quite so difficult, although none of your suggestions are easy ones. If there is not much difference in the size of the cock Redpoll and hen Bullfie, this would be your most likely pair, but it is useless putting up a small Redpoll and a large Siberian hen Bullfie. If there is a great difference in the size, you had better pair her to a full-size cock Canary; young ones from this cross are still valuable

FOREIGN BIRDS.

ROSELLA PARRAKEETS (Retlaw).—(1) No nesting material is required, but, if you can, get a handful of rotten wood, so rotten that you can crush it almost to powder, and put this in the barrel, if not use a handfull of sawdust, but do not put the latter in more than half inch deep. (2) A well cleansed out oyster barrel will form a good nest receptacle. (3) This is erratic and they take some time to settle down, if you have a true pair they are sure to breed sooner or later, and the event may take place any time between early spring and November.

AILING BUDGERIGAR (F. W. T.).—I rather incline towards advising you to get a mate for this bird, it will liven it up and make it take more interest in life generally. From the further information you send I do not think the indisposition reported was more than the slight ailments that occur in the lives of all birds and folk, too, at times—he is kept under most happy conditions and should do well.

MEALY ROSELLA (W. Menger).—Get a quart each Canary, white millet, and oats; and a pint each of hemp and sunflower seeds, mix the whole well together; and see that it has a continuous supply but maintain somewhere near the above proportions. Also supply fruit (Broadtails usually very fond of sweet apple), and greenfood (fresh lettuce at this season, with the thick fleshy rib cut out). Grit, cuttlebone, and water must also be treated as part of the daily menu. Once the bird has come into condition it is a hardy species, and only needs protecting from draught. In a roomy aviary it can be left out of doors all the year round, but, of course, must not be turned out at this time of year—put it out in the spring if you have an aviary, and it can then be left ont altogether.

SCARLET BISHOP (Bishop).—These birds are sold promiscuously as Bishops and Weavers, and recently the Crimson-crowned Weaver has been advertised as Scarlet Bishop; the Madagascar Weaver is also so offered, but the latter has no black in its plumage: brown above, fiery scarlet below, the sides of the face are also scarlet, and the upper plumage is also tinged with the same hue. The Crimson-crowned has the crown of the head fiery orange-red, a patch of velvety black on the sides of face, enclosing the eye, cheeks and extending over the chin, front of throat, breast, and front of abdomen. Both of these species have black beaks, but the above sketchy descriptions should enable you to determine which species yours is.

BUDGIES AND COCKATEELS (E. Paterson).—The zinc hoppers you illustrate are not suitable for Parrakeets at all; a good way to feed these birds is to suspend a board about 2ft. above the ground, and in the board cut out circular holes in which you can put flower pot saucers, which will be kept in place by the rim. Of course, keep one on the ground till you are sure all the birds are using the shelf feeder. If you have a separate saucer for canary, white millet, and oats, replenishing these as necessary, this will be all the seeds the above birds will require, unless you care to give them millet sprays as well. They will also require green food, grit, cuttlebone, and water, and it would be well to offer a little fruit. Black-cheek Lovebirds, Red should consult Page's "Foreign Birds for Beginners" (1/1½); Arthur's "Budgerigars and Cockatiels" (6d.); Arthur's "Parrots for Pleasure and Profit" (6d.); "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); "Seeds, Foods and Wild Plants" (1/2); Dr. Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); Dr. Creswell's "Hygiene of Bird-Keeping" (1/1); "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each); No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure them," No. 9 "The Disinfection of Cages, Bird-rooms, etc.," No. 14 "Gouldian Finches," No. 16 "Avadavats," No. 17 "The Grey Parrot," No. 18 "Budgerigars," No. 19 "The Pekin Robin," No. 20 "Waxbills." All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet St., London, E.C.

Rosella Parrakeets, Ring-necked Parrakeets, and all Green Parrakeets are all hardy, but I should only advise in an aviary such as yours to add one pair of Lovebirds and one pair of Parrakeets, your accommodation will then be quite used up. All the above are breeders, but Parrakeets are frequently very long-winded in making a start, sometimes taking one or two years before settling down to nesting.

NONPAREIL BUNTING, ETC. (Tobacco).—In addition to the ordinary diet give the bird about four to six mealworms per diem, supply greenfood (lettuce at this season), also try if it will take either apple or banana. If it will take a little insectile mixture (soft food) so much the better, if it will take this stir in a quarter teaspoonful of flour of sulphur after the mixture is moistened. Twice a week either make the drinking water saline with Epsom Salts or stir in half-teaspoonful Dinneford's magnesia. Also twice a week put half a teaspoonful of Byno-phosphates in the drinking water. The true Blue Tanager (Tanagra episcopus) is pale silvery-blue with the flights and tail darker blue, and a patch of mother of pearl on the bend of each wing; but there are several near species sold as Blue Tanagers.

WAXBILLS AND FINCHES, ETC. (E. E. E.).—Birds, same as ourselves, do better on a varied diet, and if they care for them a mealworm or two occasionally will be to their benefit, and the same applies to dried ant's eggs, but when in season procure the latter fresh. They ought also to get flowering (seeding) grass, chickweed, lettuce, etc., as greenfood, according to the season. During cold weather a pinch of maw seed once a week will be appreciated. Some Waxbills are fond of nibbling at a piece of sponge cake and it is quite wholesome for them. Grit should be given regularly, you can keep a small tin of it hanging in the aviary for the birds to go to at will, also sprinkle a little over sand on aviary floor as required. Either a privet, or an aucuba plant in a pot can go in the aviary, but unless you place the pot on something smooth and dead level mice will harbour in the pot, if they burrow in from above you can easily flush well out with water. Re the mice in aviary, put a little tar down each hole you can find—if the aviary is not too large, putting sheet zinc 2ft. high round all the walls, having the ends (bottoms) of all branches above the zinc, should prevent them climbing. Both oil of peppermint and camphor are objectionable to mice, but, of course, these need frequent renewal. You could poison them off with either "extermo" or Virus, but with both preparations I should put them where they would not be accessible to the birds; I have killed off many mice by putting the bread or biscuit spread with above into their holes without losing any birds.

GREY PARROT (W. Bache).—I should advise you to get our Nutshell, "The Grey Parrot," 2½d., post free, from our manager, and get your bird on to the seed mixture and general diet given there as soon as possible. Unless it over drinks, keep water continually in the cage. Twice weekly put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in the drinking water, and on the intervening days half a teaspoonful of Byno-phosphates. Give it a piece of slightly moistened biscuit, that has been dusted with flowers of sulphur, once or twice daily. Continue the spraying, but see that the bird does not take a chill. Give it several pieces of stick, tree branch if possible, to cut up and keep up the supply, as, if it takes to this, it may distract its attention from its plumage. Also keep a piece of cuttlebone in the cage, and do not omit to supply grit. Try rubbing the bare areas with Spratt's "Pennaeura." Once this habit is acquired it is most difficult to eradicate—the flights may have been bitten off by the bird before it reached you; stumps, as a rule, are not easy to moult, and if the bird is tame enough to handle, it might be well to pull the remainder, drawing, say, two or three twice a week till the whole are removed, but leave the bird to moult out naturally all whole feathers. You will have to persevere—it will take much patience to check and ultimately cure it. It must not be teased, but at the same time, keeping it occupied and fussing about with and petting it will do much.

FOR INDOOR AVIARY (Baw Recruit).—You do not say whether you want the birds for breeding or merely an interesting series of brightly coloured birds. If you want them to breed, then only put in three pairs, and Zebra Finches, Bib Finches, and Silverbills, would be a nice trio for you to commence with. But merely as a mixed series your aviary would accommodate about a score of Waxbills and the small Ornamental Finches. Here are a few, which should do well in such a place, though you are almost sure to get a few losses in stocking it:—Pairs each of Avadavats; Grey, Orange-cheek, and Gold-breasted Waxbills; Bib Finches, Silverbills, Cordon Bleus, Firefinches, Zebra Finches, and Spice Birds. If you require to include Canaries or British birds with them, then you must lessen the number of foreign species, and count one Canary as equal to two Waxbills when considering what to put in; cocoanut shell and rush nests must be put in as sleeping shelters for the birds, and these must be periodically attended to, to keep down red-mite, etc. Our Nutshells would help you as to treatment.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 1, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. Any bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

F. Medcraft.—You are mistaken in thinking that the capture of a Shorelark is a rare occurrence. Numbers are taken every year in the winter on the East coast.

G. Rostron.—Your intentions are better than your poetry; which is a gentle way of expressing our opinion that the history of your "famous Linnet" would be better if reduced to plain everyday prose.

C. Craven.—This is a matter for the Yorkshire Union and the societies comprised in it. If it were shown by votes of the said societies that there was a majority in favour of closed rings, there can be little doubt that they would be allowed.

J. D. Briggs.—The secretary of the Ardwick and Dis. C.B.S. is Mr. J. Spence, 193, Palmerston St., Berwick, Manchester. If you were to write him, or call, he would give you all information, and doubtless welcome you as a member. Pleased to hear of your success in, and love for, our hobby. Your questions are being answered by Mr. Page; you do not state the kinds of birds you fancy as inmates of the aviary.

Lit.—You ask: "Is a person who is a champion in one variety of Canaries, allowed to enter as an amateur or novice with another variety?" The answer is, No. A champion in one variety (say Yorks.), is a champion in all other varieties.

Glass Bottle.—The Seifert is just a particular strain of Roller Canaries supposed to excel in the production of certain tours—the name is that of the breeder who brought them prominently to the front in Germany.

Missing Official of the Queenborough and Dis. F. and F.S.

Sir, The committee regret to announce the disappearance of an official, with the whole of the funds of the society (about £50). It appears he left his home about 6.30 a.m. on the 17th Nov., and left a letter for the chairman to the effect that the strain had been too much for him, and that by the time the letter was received, he would be beyond "recall." It transpires, however, that he left Queenborough for Victoria by the 6.44 train. The police have the case in hand, and the committee hope he will be brought to justice. It has hit the committee very hard, as they are only working-men fanciers, but every endeavour will be made to raise funds to pay out prize money, etc., to those who have not yet received same. Unfortunately this will take some time.

More Birds Stolen from a Glasgow Show.

Sir,—I should be glad if you would give publicity to my experiences in showing three birds at the Glasgow show, held in Grundyke Street, on the 22nd and 23rd Nov. I went to the secretary on the 22nd and requested him to pack my birds, as I could not get away from my work in time for the closing of the show, and he said he would not be away before I would call. I arrived at 6.40 p.m., but you may imagine my surprise when I found that the case and birds had disappeared. The secretary told me that perhaps a certain gentleman had taken them away with him for safety. I went to his home, but they were not there. He, however, informed me that he saw my case lying at the secretary's door, along with some others, at 6.30 p.m. I may also inform you that another bird was stolen on the 21st at this show, belonging to a Mr. Noble. I have been a reader of your valuable paper for many years, and was trying to build up a strain of Norwich, mainly working on the advice given in your columns. Wm. Henderson.

A Suggestion for a Heating Apparatus.

Sir,—I enclose a sketch of a hot-water heater for a bird house, made of galvanised iron, which will be useful to fanciers with outside bird-houses. "A" is the boiler, full of hot water; "B" the flue pipe which heats the boiler, and also carries away all fumes through the bird-house end and under the floor, to keep the floor dry. "C," oil-lamp, with smokeless burner; "D," block to stand lamp on; "E," floor line; "F," boiler support; "G," to fill boiler. The boiler is made circular in shape. W. Miller.

What's Wrong with Members of the Southern Norwich P.C.?

Sir,—It is with pleasure that I read the letter from our secretary of the Southern Norwich P.C., and note that he asks what's wrong with the members, when, surely, his own letter supplies the answer. There is, to use a paradox, too much owner, and the club caters for the owner and not for the breeder. When the club caters for the breeder, then we shall see the birds out, for members will be pitting their intellect against each other rather than the pocket. It is not sufficient for the well-being of any club that the trophies can be within the reach of anyone who has the largest purchasing power. By this I mean where the small man breeds perhaps only two good birds, he must sell them because he cannot compete with the "owner" of a team. What becomes of the novice when he has his three "firsts"? How does the club cater for him? He goes into the champion section, or, as happens nine cases out of ten, drops out of the Fancy. If one could only know how many of the winning teams were bred by their owners, we should see more of the grievance of the small man. Our secretary asks: What is wrong? I ask: What is right? As a means of an honest attempt to remove something of this inequality, I hope to put on the agenda paper that cups other than the ten guinea cup shall be competed for by birds that have been bred by the exhibitor, and perhaps the ways and means will be easily settled, and, as a suggestion, the closed ring, after the manner of the British Roller C.C., may simplify the means. My friend, Mr. F. Cole, has, I believe, sufficient cash to supply a further breeders' trophy.

What is a Norwich Plainhead?

Anxious to Know.

Sir,—I commenced breeding some seven years ago, with birds called Norwich Plainheads, which I later considered were too long in wings and tail, and also "browy"; these I cleared out, and restarted with a shorter and neater Plainhead, although I found some judges were partial to the former. Upon visiting the annual show at Norwich in 1912, I found the type to tend towards this shorter and neater bird; in fact, Norwich was keen on a fixed length, by offering a prize for best not exceeding 6½ inches. Now in the South I have visited some shows, and find that the largest bird wins, in spite of rough wings, length of tail, and being "browy." In fact, one specimen shown as a "Norwich" I had considered a fairly good Crestbred—certainly its eyes were covered up, and bunches of feathers were hanging down its sides. Where is the purity of breed, if they are half Crestbred? What does "Plainnead" mean, if their eyes are covered? The 6½-inch tape measure must have stretched to 6? or 7 inches. Why are some catalogues printed "Norwich," and others "Norwich Plainheads"? Where may one look for the gennine Norwich P.H.—at Norwich, London, or Glasgow? If there is only one true and genuine type, why do not judges study that type, and keep to it? That which is adjudged in one part of England a proper Norwich P.H., would not be recognised as such in another part of the country. Why not have official judges, who shall meet and agree upon a fixed type? Some judges appear to fancy the largest they clap their eyes upon, whilst others count out the points and select a slightly smaller and neater type. Both cannot be correct. There may be show birds and stock birds, also half-bred Lancashires and Crestbreds, but only one correct type to win. Which is it, and where?

An Enjoyable Holiday with the Bird-catchers of Isleham.

Sir,—For the past two years I have had a longing to spend a holiday amongst the bird-catchers of Isleham, in Cambridgeshire. So this season I wrote Mr. G. Fenn to ask if he could secure my wife and myself comfortable accommodation at the village inn, or could he see his way to put us up for a week's holiday? In due course he answered that he would accommodate us. We started at 9.15 a.m., July 12, and arrived at Isleham about 7 p.m.—distance about 220 miles. There is a service of only three trains daily; and you might start as a boy on a journey down here, and have grown a beard by the time you arrive at your destination! I fell in love with the place at first sight. As we walked along the road, I was informed that I should see no catching on the Sunday; you faddists, who are of opinion catchers snare birds on every opportunity, kindly take notice. Mr. Fenn's house was one of the nicest, neatest little cottages it has been my lot to stay in. Now, any constant reader of our paper, Cage Birds, must be struck with the number of advertisers of British birds hailing from Isleham (pronounced Eyesham). There is old "dad" Fenn (W.), then his six sons, George, Jack, William, Ted, Dick and Gotobed, and their two sons, Will and Herbert, also Old Starling Hives Drove, and his son; so you see what birds must be trapped during the season. What would become of the farmers around here, supposing they closed the district for even one year? I might say that I saw nothing cruel in the system; in fact it was quite different from what some would lead us to believe bird-catching really is. I enclose a photo of Master H. Fenn, the youngest catcher in Isleham. This little chap caught about eight dozen during the week I was here. We generally started about 4.30 a.m., and stayed out until noon. We always laid our nets near seed, which is grown on a very large scale around here, or near a drinking place—that is where there was some shallow water, for here the birds were sure to come and drink, especially on a hot, dry day. It is really surprising where all the birds go to, but they tell me a shilling or two spent on an advertisement in Cage Birds is quite sufficient. I was sorry when my week drew to a close; anyone interested in the bird Fancy could not do better than spend a holiday here. During the week I hired a pony and trap, and had a look round Newmarket and Ely. Next season, when I go down, I intend seeing more (London is only fifty-two miles off); a day can be well spent there. The board for the week is very cheap. It is not at all like that seaside resort, where some time ago a gentleman was walking on the front, when a friend came up and asked if he could direct him to some place for a good dinner. "Oh yes," he said, "go in there; I've just come out." "What did you have?" asked the friend. "Liver and onions," replied the gentleman. "Oh, I don't like that, it makes your breath smell." "That will be all right," said the other, "when they bring the bill in, it will take away your breath." J. Broxup.

Do Winning Borders Vary in Type?

Sir,—In reply to Mr. Moore, I fear his explanations do not apply in this instance, as I referred to shows which I attended, and the closest scrutiny revealed no failing in cleanliness or condition, which could scarcely be wondered at, as the birds were put down by past-masters in the art of staging. To allege colour-feeding would have been ridiculous. I have seen many assisted Borders, and also some which were shown honestly, shelved on suspicion of being colour-fed. I consider it the height of cowardice to shelve a bird which excels in type without marking the cage disqualified, as the open disqualification would leave the exhibitor, who knew his bird to be unmeriting such treatment, the opportunity of proving the injustice of stigmatising him as a dishonest fancier. But the wily judge knows this, and prefers to safeguard his "reputation." I myself have, by breeding for colour, produced Borders which made me fear they would be thus treated, but such fear was neutralised by the knowledge that I could disprove the allegation, if made; but I was quite nonplussed by shelving without remark. That it takes an exceptionally good clear to win consistently I agree, and have offered to double a judge's fee if he could separate the winners twice in a class of 12 (cages to be changed). Your correspondent's assertion that the difference is so slight that a topper of to-day may be down next, may apply in Borders; but if a champion of any other type stood cardless, surely some better explanation would be advanced if it had already beaten those in front. The opinion of experienced fanciers would be that the judge did not know a good one when he saw it.

In reply to "E. W. P.," I quite endorse his opinion that two (I say more) types are required, but one does not require to visit either Cardiff or Swansea to get the type portrayed in sketch 1, as we have quite a few judges who prefer the minature Norwich type here in Scotland. Wise fanciers prefer keeping to standard size and shape, and teaching such judge that he is not appointed to set up standards, but to acknowledge an oxisting standard already decided on by a body authorised and capable of doing so. It behoves every fancier to freeze out these judges by withholding entries from any show to which they may be appointed. I am happy in knowing that a similar method of stamping out that eliquism which was the cause of much recrimination last season, promises to be effectual in time; but it is a slow, and, to show managers, expensive remedy. The above may be taken as a reply to "Abertawe" also, as I am with him in decrying this craze for size. The remedy is the same. Support those judges who conform to standard size, and apply the refrigerating method to those who refuse. Scottie.

How the Fancy is Progressing in Far-away New Zealand.

English Standards of Breeding are Adopted, but Our Yorkshire Show Cage is Not Liked.

Sir,—Being a breeder and exhibitor of the Yorkshire Canary, both at home and out here (New Zealand) I thought I might interest your many readers if I penned a few lines on how I find the bird Fancy out here. Being an associate member of Cage Birds League, I try to keep my pledge, that is, to induce others to take care of their feathered pets. I have gained a great deal of my knowledge from Cage Birds, of which I am a constant reader, getting it sent out by my brother every week, and it is eagerly looked forward to. When I have a few hours to myself, I make it a pleasure to visit my friends, who keep a few birds, and tell them if they are not treating them properly (which they are very pleased to know, should they be wrong). For instance, a friend of mine brought a friend of his to see my birds. Afterwards the latter would have me go to their house to see his birds. I found them in a dirty condition (both birds and cages infested with grey lice) so I told him what to do with the cages, and I hand-washed the birds. Afterwards he did not know they were his own birds (he being out at the time of washing); he had never heard tell of birds being hand-washed. I might say that three weeks afterwards the same birds had eggs, which all proved fertile. I find the fanciers do not tell one another what to do, if one should not happen to know, but rather leave him to find out for himself.

They have some good Canaries here of all varieties, and the shows are well attended. The last show held here (Auckland) had 268 entries from all parts of the Dominion, there being some first-class exhibits staged. I think that if the societies here would adopt some mean of getting their members more interested, and to encourage others to join (by, might I suggest, having a few lectures on breeding, rearing, moulting, colour-feeding, staging and exhibiting) at their meetings, it would give the novices more encouragement, and swell their ranks. But I am sorry to say they don't adopt this, and a few other things that would improve the Fancy.

I am pleased to say we have adopted the English standards to breed to, but not the standard show cages, using for the Yorkshire variety a cage like the Norwich show cage, only higher, having wooden sides and back. This cage does not do justice to the Yorkshire, being a bird of position. The Norwich show cages are not unlike the ones at home, which suit admirably.

It is not half so hard to breed Canaries here as it is at home, owing to it being such a beautiful climate. The seasons are quite different from home, it being our breeding season now, from Sept. to about Dec. Then comes the moult, from Jan. to the beginning of April, and in June and July a few shows are held, after which the birds get a rest to prepare for breeding again. There are a good many British birds here, as I have already seen the Blackbird, Song Thrush, Starling, Lark, Greenfinch, Goldfinch, Chaffinch, Bullfinch, Yellow Hammer, Kingfisher and Sparrows. There are quite a number of Goldfinches (almost as common as the Sparrows) and they are easily caught. A few fanciers go in for the different crosses, such as the Goldfinch-Greenfinch, and Goldfinch-Canary, and they are successful with the same, as I have seen some good ones on the show bench.

I am enclosing a photograph of myself and wife and little son, along with my birds, taken outside of our house (see page 441). The little boy, I am pleased to say, is also a winner, having taken the two prizes on the top of the cages.

I am sending a catalogue of the Auckland show, to let you see how they pay prize-money out. It is on the scale system, and an exhibitor is out of pocket every time, which does not give encouragement, as there is not enough competition.

The Bradford National Charity Show.

Railway and Other Arrangements.

Sir,—All the railway companies running into Bradford will issue cheap Saturday to Monday tickets from every centre of the United Kingdom, and intending visitors should enquire at their local stations in respect to same. Cheap return tickets will also be issued from Leeds, Lockwood, Metham, Holmfirth, Pontefract, Askerne, Goole, Sheffield, Halifax, Dewsbury, Wakefield, Mirfield, Brighouse, Huddersfield, Sowerby Bridge, Luddendenfoot, Mytholmroyd, Hebden Bridge, Eastwood, Todmorden, Barnsley, Keighley, Skipton etc., etc., on the Saturday, so that all desirous of visiting the show can do so at a largely reduced cost. The North Eastern Railway are also running an excursion from Newcastle and District on Sat. Dec. 6. The local station masters will supply the times, with pleasure. Everything points to this show eclipsing those preceding it, and the committee hope to be able to make it a huge success in order that the funds of the Bradford Cinderella Club for poor children may be materially strengthened. I earnestly plead with fanciers to extend to us their wholehearted support. Not one single complaint has yet been received from exhibitors patronising the show; on the other hand shoals of thanks have been heaped upon the management. Successful exhibitors who visit the show are paid out on the Sat. and Mon., and all other exhibitors at the two previous shows have been paid out within three days, an astounding performance which will be repeated again this year. The diplomas are works of art, and will be highly valued by all successful in winning one. Extra prize-money will also be given where an excess of entries prevails, on the same scale as the Roller classes. A novel feature at this show will be that of giving a championship diploma to any exhibit having won four first prizes under four different judges at all England shows in open classes, prior to the National Show which should again prove successful in notching a first prize. The committee have acquired new staging for the Yorks., and Nor. sections. This will enable all exhibits to be staged in the large hall itself (the Rollers have a room to themselves). A special, value £1 1s., is given for most points in any class throughout the show, and another of equal value for outside exhibitors in the Yorks. classes, 1 to 22 inclusive, successful in obtaining most points, providing there are not less than ten such exhibiting. Exhibitors, help the world's greatest charity cage bird show. See review of schedule this week.

Do Early Entries Get Worst Place on Show Bench?

Sir,—I beg a little of your valuable space to reply to your correspondent, Mr. W. G. Andrews, and will try to make my points as general as possible. From every part of the United Kingdom comes the same complaint as to late entries for shows. Here, then, is matter of material value in my contention. Why do exhibitors persist in late entries? Is it because they are so unmindful of the undue hardship which they inflict upon secretaries, or is there some other reason more deeply seated? Surely it is the first duty of every exhibitor to help the secretary and officials of every show by sending in their entry forms as early as possible. A reason for late entries certainly exists. Who of your readers will give the correct solution? Let me assume that 15 or 20 birds are to be judged. Does it not stand to common sense that the first birds taken up would be the most timid and show themselves off the worst? Then, as to the question of a judge "warming up" to his work; supposing that I had a difficult piece of music in front of me, or a great game of billiards to play, or any other work before me, should I not get warmer to my task in the middle rather than at the commencement? Would not every exhibitor prefer that his exhibits should be rather in the middle of the class than at either end, where cold bleak draughts often do injury? In antagonism to late entries, I suggest the most simple of remedies. I advocate that the first entry should be placed in the centre of the class, and the odd and even numbers on either side outwards. I venture to assert that the simple remedy I suggest would relieve secretaries of an unnecessary portion of their hardships.

Have YOU had Yours? There are Plenty to Follow.

We have pleasure in publishing below the second list of winners of 10s. cash specials in our Coupon Competition. This, with one or two exceptions, includes the fixtures held up to Nov. 15. Next week we shall hope to print a further list. Two cases have cropped up in which, despite the free instructions supplied by us to show secretaries, the cash specials alone have been awarded and not the diplomas for the various section winners. We are endeavouring to have this put to rights.

We would again point out to exhibitors the excellent chances they now have of capturing either a diploma or a cash special, or both, and so of participating in the competition for the splendid specials we are offering at the Palace—over £100 in value. Some good shows in all quarters of the United Kingdom are being held next week, at which our Coupon Competition is in progress.

THE NEXT COUPON SHOWS.

Some Opinions on our Diplomas.

Thanks very much for the Diploma of Honour. It is very neat and attractive, and well worth the while of any fancier to try to win one.—G. W. Saunders (Haslemere).

Diploma I am very pleased with; great credit is due to the artist.—F. S. Baker (Long Eaton).

I am delighted with Diploma of Honour won at Southend. It is beautifully finished, and a great credit to your artist. Cage Birds has made me a fancier.—F. A. Hosier (Rainham).

Thanks for Diploma. It is very nice, and well worth winning.—W. Reid (Sunderland).

I received Cage Birds Diploma to-day, and thank you very much for same. It is grand, and reflects great credit on your artist. I won both cash special and Diploma, and I might mention that Gillingham was the first show I sent to, and the first coupon I used.—C. R. Bullen (Bromley).

Your Diploma of Honour is really very nice, and just fancy me being the first of all the Rotherham fanciers to win a Honour so beautiful; many thanks.—W. Brotherton (Rotherham).

The Next Coupon Shows.

Entries for the above shows are due to close now, and should be sent on at once. Those who wish to join in Cage Birds Coupon Competition should note the paragraph "How Exhibitors May Enter," printed below. Secretaries will be glad to affix the necessary coupons to the entry forms of exhibitors if the conditions of entry are duly observed.

FORRES has 51 classes covering Nor., Crests, Bord., Yorks, A.O.V., Can., Hyb., Brit. and For., one Novice Can. class and one Brit. Prizes, 14s.; fee, 1s. 6d.

How Exhibitors May Enter,

All who intend entering Coupon birds at these shows must do so under these conditions:—Cage Birds offers the following Championship Competition prizes:—

10s. cash for best champion coupon bird.
10s. cash for best novice coupon bird.

Diplomas of honour for the best champion and the best novice coupon birds in each of the following sections; or in as many of these sections as are included in the classification:—

(1) Yorkshire Canaries.
(2) Norwich.
(3) Crests & Crestbreds.
(4) Border Fancies.
(5) Scotch Fancies and Belgians.
(6) Greens.
(7) Lancs. and Lizards.
(8) Any Other Variety Canary.
(9) Mules & Hybrids.
(10) British, Hardbilled.
(11) British, Softbilled.
(12) Foreign.

All the exhibitor has to do is to stick one of Cage Birds Coupons on his entry form and write "C.B." opposite each bird he wishes to compete; except if a novice, when he must write "C.B. Novice."

Coupons, price 6d. each, may be purchased from the offices of Cage Birds, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C., or, if the time is short, enclose the necessary extra cash with your entry fees to the secretary of the show, and he will affix coupons opposite whichever birds you have marked on your entry form. Every coupon is numbered and a record of it kept at Cage Birds offices.

NOTE CAREFULLY.—A coupon must be affixed to the entry form opposite every bird intended to compete in this Championship Competition. Any number of coupon birds may be entered by any exhibitor, either in one section or in several, as may be desired, so long as a coupon is used for each bird. For every coupon bird, of course, the usual entry fee must be paid to the show officials. Entries in Cage Birds Championship Competition are accepted only on the understanding that the governing rules as published in Cage Birds are to be absolutely final and legally binding.

The winner of any one of the foregoing diplomas will have the rigbt to compete with not more than four birds, on payment to the Palace Show Authorities of the usual entry fee, in our final championship competition at the Crystal Palace Show of 1914.

FIRST PRIZE, £3;
SECOND PRIZE, £2;
THIRD PRIZE, £1.
FOURTH PRIZE, 10s.

The following cash prizes will also be offered for competition at the Crystal Palace Show:—£10 10s. for the best Coupon bird exhibited in the Champion classes in the above twelve sections; £10 10s. for the best Coupon bird shown by a novice other than the winner in the Champion Section. We shall also offer A Ten Guinea Challenge Shield, to be won three times in succession, for the best bird at the Crystal Palace Show entered in our Competition.

For Rules, see last week's issue.

CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE is an organisation of bird keepers and bird-lovers, banded together in mutual interest to promote good-fellowship and union, to inculcate the principles of humane cage bird keeping, and to protect the hobby against unjustifiable interference.

Leaflets setting forth the aims and objects of the League will be forwarded, post free, to any reader upon application.

No charge beyond the membership subscription is made for these certificates.

Henry J. Fulljames,
154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

How to become an Associate.

Many readers of Cage Birds have written to say that they would like to join Cage Birds' League, but cannot afford the subscription. To meet their wishes we have decided to form, in connection with the League, a body of Associates. All we ask of these Associates is that they will promise to give every possible attention to the wants of their birds. And they must induce others to see that their birds are kept happy and contented.

All that the intending Associate has to do is either to sign the coupon herewith, and send the same, together with sevenpence, or to get five of his or her friends to sign each a similar coupon, and send the six, together with a penny stamp, to the Secretary of Cage Birds League, who will forward by return an enamelled Button Badge of the League. There will be no other charge. NOW, THEN, BIRD LOVERS!—USE YOUR BEST EFFORTS IN THIS SPLENDID CAUSE.

THE BIRD LOVER'S PLEDGE.

I hereby promise to take every care of my feathered pets and to induce others to do the same

BRISTOL.

Twenty third annual show held November 26 and 27, in the Colisemn. The birds were nicely staged at one end of this vast building and were well looked after by a good body of fanciers. We were sorry to see so many classes cancelled, but those that stood were on the whole well filled with birds of the highest merit. Only one class of Norwich stood, this for birds bred 1913, where the local enthusiast, Mr. Tristem, stood at the top and captured the Bristol Bowl, with a rap-marked buff, put down in nice form. Yorksmires were good classes, both in numbers and quality, many well-known exhibitors being represented by birds of great merit. The Bristol Bowl for best 1913 bird fell to Mr. Thompson, with a nice feathered and good coloured buff, but it was closely pressed by Mr. Drymore's cap mkd. yell. of rare length and position, the Cardiff winner. The novices in this section came up well, the two classes being strong in numbers and in quality. Borders were good classes and competition keen. Some capital Britishers were staged, the winning Goldfinch and Linnet being two gems. The Light Mule class was a grand one for quality, and the winning Dark was a good one and nicely staged. Members' classes, although small in numbers, were of excellent quality.

The Hon. Sec., Mr. Muggs, as usual, had his work well in hand, and the show superintendent of the Cage Bird Section, Mr. Greenslade, is the right man in the right place, being methodical, unassuming, and most courteous and obliging to all. As usual at Bristol shows, the ladies played a prominent part and worked their hardest, and we must particularly mention Mesdames Garland, Tristem, Roberts, and Jones, and in the sterner sex Messrs. Tristem, Davis, Jones, and Water, all of whom worked with a will to make everything pass off as smoothly as possible. Mr. Battye judged Canaries, and Mr. Longden, British, Foreign, and Rybrids.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the judge, Mr. Sharpe, and to the proprietor of the Fox, Mr. Fenemore, who made us very welcome, and, being a fancier himself, understood what we wanted. The evening ended very pleasantly. We hope we shall see even more new faces at our next table show.—J. A. Walker, Hon. Sec. (94, Cobden Street).

CITY & SUBURBAN.

Eighteenth annual exhibition of the City and Suburban A.C.B., Nov. 14 and 15, in the Church Institute. It is a nice, roomy hall, and the birds were admirably staged and well-looked after by the working committee. As regards numbers of exhibits this is the second highest, nearly 500 birds being staged, but we venture to think the quality all round far excelled previous efforts. There was a slight falling off in Yorkshires. The Norwich were well up to average and the Borders far beyond any previous show both in numbers and quality. Mrs. L. M. Thynne staged a grand team and had a worthy rival in Mrs. Salter. Messrs. Hawes Bros. did well in Yorkshires, their grand yell. cock taking the spl for best Yorkie, and best bird in show. the Nor. were a nice level lot, one outstanding bird, Mr. F. J. Martin's, having to give way on account of broken plumage. Mr. Wakefield won spl best amateurs, also cup best unflight.; and Mr. Fleet the diploma for best novice. Mrs. Thynne won spl. for best bird shown by a lady, with a good Crest, also the spl best Bord.

The City and Suburban has always been noted for the many excellent fanciers it has schooled and turned out into successful exhibitors, some of our most prominent showmen have learned their first lessons under the splendid tuition of its enthusiastic and courteous hon. sec., Mr. V. Wynn, who puts his whole heart and energy into the work of the society. One good fancier makes many, and in their efforts to excel, one and all of its members have combined to make such an exhibition as very few All-England shows could equal, let alone surpass. Mr. Wynn's slightest wish is executed with alacrity, with the result that their annual show is always a model for good management.

British were a most magnificent collection both in number and quality, probably the best in the history of the society. For a purely members show it was really a marvellous display, which will not be wondered at when we say that the best teams of such well-known fanciers as Mrs. Weston, Messrs. Francis, Prior, and Marley were staged, many of them noted winners. The light was at times bad for judging, but in spite of this, and the very formidable array of specials which had to be awarded, the work was got through in good time. Foreign birds gave a nice finish to a remarkably fine show, Mr. Shepherd and Mrs. Thynne putting down some very fine specimens.

Mr. Wynn, the sec., asks us to thank the members for the grand way in which they supported him. He had a worthy band of assistants on the opening day, among them being Mrs. Thynne, Mr. and Mrs. Hobden, Messrs. Knight, Pooley, Shepherd, Sanders, Rons, and Lowe; while the assist. sec., Mr. A. L. Thynne, as usual put in full time and did yeoman service. Mr. J. Rooson judged Canaries, and Mr. J. Frostick the Hyb., Brit., and Foreign birds.

PONTYPRIDD.

A rattling good show was that of the Pontypridd F.F.S., which was held in the saloon of the Victoria Hotel, on November 26. It was a good show, so far as quality was concerned, and the entry, good as it was, we think would have been better had the committee not given Mr. House so many classes to handle. In this and other sections he had sixty-seven allotted to him, surely too many for one man to enable him to give satisfaction to himself or exhibitors. With this exception, we have nothing but praise for the arrangements of the Pontypridd Executive. The exhibits were nicely staged, and well looked after by an enthusiastic, hard-working lot of stewards, who knew their work and did it. Mr. John Davies, the show manager, is a most excellent official and a good leader. In the work of the secretariat, Mr. A. A. Gordon McLucas is one of the best, skilful, tactful, and indefatigable in the discharge of his onerous duties, and he did much to ensure the success which was achieved. The winner of CAGE BIRDS championship was a magnificent cinn.-mkd. yellow Yorkshire, shown by Mr. Phillips.

PRESTON.

Held 21st and 22nd Nov. The venue was changed from last year, being the Forester's Hall, Shaw St. This room is a suitable one, being well lighted and cosy, but was hardly big enough for a show of such size as the Preston Society generally holds. The large crowd which filled the room on the Saturday rather overcrowded the aisles. To the towns in the immediate neighbourhood Preston is known as Proud Preston, and if I were to be asked what it was they were most proud of, after last Saturday's cage bird show, I should reply that they were most proud of their Norwich Canaries. Many notable winners have been produced in Preston, and the present season doesn't seem to have been any exception in that respect, because many of the prizes went to the local fanciers. This show was the fourth of the N.P.C.'s patronage, and we have no hesitation in saying that it was the best, both for quality and quantity. Mr. Sam Cook had out a fine team of eight birds, seven of which were unflighted, and he annexed seven money prizes. His winning unflighted yellow hen is a marvel. Others who sent down great teams were Joe Thomas, who annexed both the unflighted cock classes; W. Vardy, Jude Huyhurst, W. Wrigley, Dr. McConaghey, H. F. Marsh, J. Beswick, E. Sutton, T. Seed, J. Raynes, D. Metcalfe, L. Granger, A. Hirst—in fact, all the "knuts" were there. The amateur classes were never better filled, which shows the healthiness of the Fancy at the present time.

The Green Canary Association granted their patronage to this show, and while we would like to have seen more in numbers, we were pleased with the quality all through. In the long 'uns, Mr. J. W. Metcalfe held a strong hand; while in the Norwich section the prizes were a little more evenly distributed. We were pleased to see a nice collection of Lizards. It is a hopeful sign for the variety. The British and Hybrid section was well patronised, and was responsible for causing great interest in one exhibit—viz., the bird staged as a Canary-Bullie by Mr. Parlett. We examined this bird very closely alongside another Canary-Bullie in its class, and the resemblance structurally was nil. If this bird is a Hybrid, it is a glorious exhibit, but——.

Foreign were all cancelled, yet we remember the time when no show excelled over Preston in its foreign bird classes!

The management was perfect. The society possesses a lot of members who are real exhibiting fanciers, and they do their best to see that outside fanciers' birds are attended to and despatched in good time on their home journey. That enthusiastic Norwich fancier, Mr. Tom Dent, is the chairman, and he it is who keeps these not unwilling fanciers hard at work. He has been at the head of affairs a long time now, and we take this opportunity of advising the Preston men to keep him there, because, like good wine, the older he gets the better he gets. The show manager is Mr. H. F. Marsh, another well-known exhibitor who understands the work of running a fixture. Of late years Preston has seen many changes in its secretaries, and although they seem to change almost every year, they are like the cat which is thrown into the air—they always alight on their feet. Mr. T. Barton is at the head of the clerical department at present, and he appears to the manner born. Everything was as it should be in the office. Mr. J. Pike is the keeper of the exchequer, and we hope they find him plenty to do. CAGE BIRDS champion diploma and 10s. cash was won by a Lizard belonging to Mr. W. P. Barnes; and the novice cash special by a Norwich belonging to Mr. J. Davies. Mr. A. Wellings (Greens, Hyb., Brit., etc.) and Mr. J. Trengove (Nor., etc.) judged, and on the whole seemed to well please.

The Critique.

NOR. CL. YELL. TARBRAX C.B.S.

Second annual exhibition held Institute Hall, Nov. 15, when over 130 exhibits were staged, nearly double the entry of the previous year, and quality was also above the average. Mr. A. Thomson, Edinburgh, who judged, had a rare task in making his selections in some of the classes. There were 19 classes, and 36 specials made competition keen. Mr. D. Agnew won sp for most points, Mr. Jas. Taylor 2nd most points.

THE GREAT CHARITY SHOW AT BRADFORD.

The schedule of the 3rd great annual exhibition to be held Dec. 5, 6, 8, next is to hand. As is well known to our readers, this wonderful show is held in aid of the funds of the Bradford Cenderella Club, an organisation which does an immensity of good in the Yorkshire city. The schedule is worthy of the great object for which the show is held. The 128 classes provided cover all sections of exhibition birds, Yorkshires, of course, holding pride of place. The "birds of grace and beauty" have more than a third of the classes, 44 being their portion—Champion classes 22, Green Yorks. 4, Open Nov. 5, Yorks. Union Nov. 8, and Sell 5. Norwich have 24 classes—Champ. 10, Amat. 6, Greens 4, Yorks. Union Nov. 2, Sell 2. Borders have 9 classes, Cinnamons 6 (2 Nov.), Lancs. 4, Lizards 4, Belgians 3, Crest. C.B., and White Canaries 1, British 14, Mules or Hybrids 6, For. 8 (2 Local), and Rollers 3. Most of the specialist societies hold their competitions and offer valuable specials, and there are over 70 specials besides. The prize money is 10s., 6s., 4s., 2s., with extra prizes if over 40 entries in a class. Entry fee is 1s. 6d., and entries close Dec. 2 to the show sec., Mr. H. Hill, 15, Settle Terrace, Thornton Lane, Little Horton, Bradford. The Executive Committee, show stewards, and door attendants comprise some of the most enthusiastic and experienced fanciers in the North Country, and there is no need to say that no stone will be left unturned to ensure the comfort of the birds and the smooth working of a show which is worthy of the support of all. The judges are Messrs. W. Mundell, Yorks. (part) and Belgians; T. Heath, Yorks. (part) and Crests; W. A. Cowgill, Greens, Nor. Sell., and Nov. Cinn. Borders; R. Halliday, Yorks. Open Nov., Yorks. Sell., and White Canaries; J. C. Barnes, Champ. Nor.; A Hirst, Amat. and Nov. Nor., and Champ. Cinn. Bord.; J. Robson, Champ. Bord. and Lizards; C. A. House, Y.U. Nov. Yorks., and Lancs.; J. Maddison, Hybrids and Brit.; F. Finn, Foreign; and W. Massey, Rollers.

In asking you to review our schedule, writes Mr. H. Hill, the show sec., I would like you to correct one or two errors and omissions. In the first place the prize-money, 10s. 1st, 6s. 2nd, 4s. 3rd, and 2s. 4th, has been omitted also the entry fee, 1s. 6d. per cage. Mr. R. Halliday's name should have been on the front page in the list of judges, thus making eleven specialist judges. Additional specials received are: Mr. H. Towers, value 5s., for most points in foul marked, classes 21 and 22; Mr. J. Lane, silver medal, most points in Polish bird and Hybrid sections, by a member of the Yorks. and Lancs. B.B. and M.C. A judges' luncheon will be provided on the Friday, about 1.30, and all visitors desirous of participating should let me know immediately, so proper arrangements can be made with the caterers; price, 1s. 6d. per head.

TIDESWELL.

Show held Nov. 15, by the Tideswell C.H. Improvement Society. The Oddfellows' Hall provided capital accommodation for the exhibits, which were ably staged to the best of advantage. The entry was a record one, and the quality the finest ever obtained, providing great delight to both members and visitors. Truly a grand show, and near on 100 more exhibits present than last year. President Mr. S. Bagshaw is a right loyal supporter, while Mrs. W. C. Mallison, Cressbrook Hall, is a patroness, and assists nobly with her generosity. Messrs. W. Millward and T. Fox, well known and highly esteemed, act jointly as treasurers, being right men in the right place. Hon. auctioneer is Mr. F. F. Harrison, who deserves thanks for services so kindly rendered. Committee of management, judiciously led by chairman, Mr. W. S. Flint, who has as his under-study Mr. T. V. Lomas, a most capable and enthusiastic colleague, are a band of most willing and merry workers, praise being due to the following: Messrs. G. Robinson, A. Flint, W. Hartle, J. Longstone, A. Bradbury, W. Daniel, C. Barton, F. Millward, L. Townsend, T. Fox, C. Wagstaff, T. Hudson, J. Taylor, G. Oven, and A. Gibson. In the person of the secretary, Mr. W. F. Swarbrick, our "Tidy" friends are served with the very best, courteous to a degree, a genuine fancier, and a most popular official.

Yorkshires and Norwich were the feature of the function, gems being put down in class after class. British were a nice collection, many envious eyes being cast towards the superb Bullie (R. E. Griffith, Carnarvon), and the delightful Hawkheh, the property of Mr. W. Bull. Mules were good, Mr. R. H. Parlett standing 1st and 2nd, his noted Yell. Greenie Can. leading. Members' classes contained many meritorious specimens standing out and good enough for "open war." CAGE BIRDS Coupon Scheme again attracted a good entry, competition being of a very warm nature, as is usually the case. Strenuous battles were fought; the 10s. spl. and diploma (champ.) went to a yellow unflighted Norwich, grandly shown by Mr. W. N. Turner, and novices' 10s. special and diploma to Mr. T. A. Lomas, his very stylish yell. Yorkie doing the trick, closely pressed by a rattling C.B. owned by Mr. E. Barker. Diplomas of honour were gained as follows:—Champ. Yorks., W. E. Hutchinson: Nov. Nor., W. J. Dean; Champ. Crest, E. Barker; Champ. Mule, R. E. Griffith: Champ. Brit., W. Bull; Nov. Brit., G. Oven. Members' cups were gained as follows, after strenuous conflicts: Nor., A. Flint; Yorks., A. Flint: British and Mules, W. F. Swarbrick. The show steward, who acquitted himself with efficiency and promptitude, was that good old stager, Mr. E. L. Payne. Management throughout was superb. Mr. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield) judged; his awards were well received.

The Critique.

YELL. YORKS. (8): 1, E. Radley, cl., straight as a rush, rare length, smooth as wax well on leg, a topper; 2, Dykes, cl., full of swagger, tight as a Java, lovely feather and col., very lengthy, pressed hard; 3, Sampson, cl., ablaze, capital qual., good pos. and length, well filled back, neat wings, stronger; vhc, Snead; hc, Farnish; c, Thomas. BUFF (11): 1, Blackburn and Mitchell, cl., richly fed, clinking pos., sweetly moulded, lengthy, and shows for all it is worth, a gem; 2, Thomas, eye tick, good pos. and length, not quite the texture, grand back and wing carr., close up; 3, Snead, cl., true type, full of nerve, feathered to perfection; vhc, Dykes; hc, Brooks; c, A. Radley. YELL. CNFLIG. (8): 1, vhc, Dykes, grizzled root of tail, not a feather misplaced, straight as a gun-barrel, rare length, clever legs, most promising; 2, Snead, cl., lovely feather and col., slim and upstanding, best of back, neat wing carr., beaten in length only; 3, Thomas, cl., well clothed, A1 col., good pos. and length; hc, Potts; c, A. Radley. BUFF (8): 1, Dykes, grizzled neck, smooth as marble, correct shape, nice length, quite a charmer, well-known winner; 2, A. Radley, very stylish cl., stands like a guardsman, well on leg, not quite so lengthy; 3, Thomas, mkd. wing and eyes, red-hot, rare pos., very lengthy, good back, flights and tail, not so tight; vhc, Brooks; hc, F. Potts; c, J. Potts. YELL. HEN (7): 1, Dykes, mkd. wing, beautiful contour, rare qual. and col., lengthy, with plenty of leg; 2, Snead, cl., with more length, nice tone of col., A1 feather; 3, Thomas, cl., well up in pos., capital qual., lengthy, neat wings, not so good in head expression; vhc, A. Radley; hc, J. Potts; c, Cockeram. BUFF (7): 1, A. Radley, mkd. cheek, shooty, of exquisite feather and col., grand length of side, fine back, flights and tail; 2, H. Sampson, mkd. wing, smooth as a bottle, straight as a pencil, rare length and clever legs, pressed; 3, Dykes, cl., delightful symmetry, rich tone of col., superb feather not the length, very promising; vhc, Thomas; c, Snead. HEN, UNFLIG. (11): 1, Dykes, cl. yell., wonderful shape, superior col. and feather, neat and narrow, full of action, good length; 2, A. Radley, buff, mkd. wings and head, tight as box, capital position and length, fine back and wing carr., gem; 3, Snead, var. yell., lovely pos., A1 qual., fine length and style; vhc, Farnish; hc, Sampson; c, Blackburn and Mitchell. NAT. COL.: Cancelled. NOV. YELL. £5 (6): 1, CAGE BIRDS' diploma, 3, Hutchinson, exquisite feather and col., wedge shaped, good length, plenty of nerve, could win open competition; 3rd, cl., not quite the character of his stable companion, but very meritorious, in the pink; 2, c, Potts, red-hot cl., full of qual. and col., stands well, beaten a little in length, yet one we liked; vhc, Lomas; hc, Midgley. BUFF (8): 1, Potts, rich salmon tinted cl., straight up, neat and narrow, lovely texture of feather, well on leg, beauty; 2, Potts, richly fed, good pos. and length, well filled back, capital wing carr., not quite the style; 3, hc, Hutchinson, cl., fine pos. and length, good col. and feather, well on leg, not far behind; vhc, c, Midgley. NOR. YELL. (9): 1, Thomas, bouncer of a cl., ablaze with col., true type, best of carr., clean cut, well known winner; 2, Wilson, cl., better in head and neck, good front and wing carr., little longer in wings and tail, yet close on the heels of winner; 3, Turner, cl., plenty of subs., A1 qual. and col., fine head, neck and chest; vhc, Rathbone; hc, c, Parlett. BUFF (8): 1, Granger, cl., short and thick-set, superb feather and col., jaunty carr., plenty of size, gem of gems; 2, Varey, cl., shade larger, even lovely col., silky texture, not quite so good in head, and little longer in build; 3, Turner, cl., monster, A1 shape, teeming with qual. and col., bit slack in feather, when tight end will take some stopping; vhc, Rathbone; hc, Hathaway; c, Thomas. YELL. UNFLIG. (7): 1, CAGE BIRD 10s. special and diploma, Turner, cl., for shape and quality, size and carr., all one need desire, certainly not ablaze, but a knock-out nevertheless; 2, vhc, Hathaway, finely fed cl., capitally clothed, to [illegible] shaped body, not quite so full in head and neck; 3, Thomas, cl., not enough to fire lds cage, grand shape and feather, best of carr.; hc, Vardy; c, Rathbone. BUFF (9): 1, Parlett, cl., rare shape and col., well up in subs., jaunty carr., clean under, should do some winning; 2, Hathaway, red-hot cl., plenty of size, A1 feather, good carr., 3, Hathaway, mkd., good subs., fine symmetry, paler in col., and little loose in feather on left side, still well worth its place; vhc, Vardy. YELL. HEN (6): 1, Turner, mkd. wings and head, beautiful feather and col., fine size and shape, clock-like action, clean under, real eye-opener; 2, Parlett, cl., shapely, superior col., not the subs. or qual. quite, yet very choice; 3, Dean, cl., smooth as box, true type, delightful movement, built on smaller lines; vhc, Vardy; hc, Thomas; c, Wilson. BUFF (6): 1, Wood, cl., chubby, exquisite feather and col., plenty of size, grand carr., one of the best; 2, Vardy, mkd. eyes, teeming with qual. and col., lovely head, neck and chest, bit cloggy behind to-day, or would have won, no doubt; 3, Thomas, very shapely and capitally fed and clothed cl., best of carr., beaten in size; vhc, Granger; hc, c, Parlett. HEN, UNFLIG. (6): 1, Granger, magnificent cl. yell., bordering on perfection, stormer, should make a name; 2, Vardy, yell., mkd. wing and neck, shade more subs., equal in qual., hardly so warm in texture and not quite the finish; 3, Forrest, yell., mkd. wing, race subs., grand shape, col. and feather, jaunty carr., pressed hard; vhc, Hathaway; hc, Parlett; c, Hulse. NAT. COL. (5): 1, Hathaway, monster of a cl. yell., superb feather, A1 shape, jaunty and clean cut away; 2, Vardy, fine cl. buff, tight as a Java, A1 col. and size, close up; 3, Longstone, very shapely buff green, nice size, smooth as wax, cleanly made, one we liked; vhc, W. S. Flint; hc, Hulse. NOV. YELL., £5 (4): 1, CAGE BIRDS' novice diploma, Dean, mkd. wing and head, red-hot, plenty of size, grand shape and qual., capital carr.; 2, Bond, mkd. wing, A1 col. and feather, grand shaped body, not quite so bold in head character, still a good one; 3, Sheppard, thigh tkd., ablaze with col., silky feather, good in shape and carr., not quite the size; vhc, Scarborough. BUFF (9): 1, Sheppard, cl., rattling head and neck, deep and broad fronted, rare feather and col., jaunty and clean cut away; 2, Richards, cl., shapely and delightfully clothed, rich col., good subs., not far away; 3, Sharman, mkd. wing, shape, qual., and col. all there, not overdone with size, still one we admired; vhc, Sturgess; hc, c, Dean. CREST (6): 1, Radley and Son, buff, heavily mkd. D.C., heaps of rich qual. feather, rare subs., crest large, dense, and as round as a hoop, delightful droop and centre; 2, Burrows, buff green pied tail, wealth of A1 feather, giant, crest thick and as round as a rim, not the droop, good centre, yet a gem; 3, Radley and Son, buff green, pied tail, plenty of feather, fine size and radiation of crest, neat centre; vhc, Stevens; hc, Barker; c, Handley. C.B. (7): 1, CAGE BIRDS' diploma, Barker, buff green, abundance of grand qual. feather, rare width and rise of skull, lashed to perfection, found many admirers; 2, vhc, Radley and Son, buff green, pied tail, heaps of feather, good subs., hardly so wide in entrance, yet fine length of head covering, neat brow, close up; 3, Stevens, buff var., shapely, and plenty of subs., capital width and rise of skull, not so lengthy in feather, nice lash; hc, Memmott; c, Burrows. EDINBURGH NORWICH & M.B.S.

Annual show held in the Buccleuch Hall, St. Patrick Square, Nov. 15, and it proved a great success. Entries were a shade down, but quality was extra good all round. C. W. Finnie won sp. for best in show with what is Scotland's premier Norwich this season, a grand yellow hen, a gem of the first water, staged in this gentleman's usual faultless style; a very popular win. The Border yell. hen, medal winner, was a sweet wee gem, well staged by an old warrior at the game, Mr. J. Welch, while the dark Mule well shown by Mr. Carson also received its share of admiration from Mule judges. The sp. winning Britisher was a grand Blackie, well put down by Mr. Lee. We heard he reared it himself, and has been a runner-up for sp. before, but everything comes to him who waits, and can wait patiently. The management is composed of the leading breeders in Edinburgh, and with an ideal sec. at the helm in the person of Mr. Stormont, everything was in apple-pie order, and the staging beautifully arranged, an array of cups and specials the like of which is seldom seen, and, what gladdens the heart of any society, a grand gate. Everything passed off A1, and the show was voted to be one of the best ever held in these historical halls. Mr. J. Adams, Dundee, judged the Nor. section, Mr. J. W. Bruce the remainder, and we have never heard fewer complaints at a show, their awards being exceedingly well received.

HETTON-LE-HOLE.

Third annual show held Saturday, Nov. 22. As in previous years, the cage birds section was not a success, and the difficulty of obtaining a big entry was considerably increased by the fact that there were six or seven other open shows on the same date, all within a few miles of each other. Nevertheless, the entry, poor as it was, was slightly in excess of the two previous years, and would have been considerably more but for the fact that the committee decided to cancel all classes that did not fill to the number required, and consequently several exhibitors had their entrance fees returned to them. The show was held in the Workmen's Club Hall, our section being staged in a corner by themselves. Quality was very good, and some really capital Yorks. and Nor. were staged. The chairman of the society is Mr. R. Gibbons; vice-chair, Mr. J. Henderson; with Mr. J. Burt, treas. Mr. A. J. Notley, the genial sec., had everything in good order, and got through his duties in fine style, and he was well supported by Messrs. R. Lawson, E. Robinson, G. Vipond, and G. Gowland, the stewards for our section. Mr. W. Reid (Sunderland) judged.

NOR. (8): 1, hc, Wilson, cl. yell. leading, good size, grand shape, short cobby body, good col. and qual., neat head, short, well carried wings and tail; 2, Lawson, cl. buff, plenty of subs., good deep chest, both head, good col. and qual., nice wings and tail; 3, vhc, Earl and Bainbridge, tkd. yell., leading, not so short and cobby as winner, nice head, good col., but not quite level in tone, nice carr.; c, Atkinson. YORKS. CK. (10): 1, Wearmouth, cl. yell., grand length, straight up on good legs, hot col., neat head, nice shoulders, well drawn, capital wings and tail; 2, hc, Swinsco, cl. buff, nice length and pos., well rounded shoulders, nicely drawn, neat head, good col. and qual., well braced wings and tail; 3, Stevens, lightly mkd. yell., scarcely the length of leader, or so good in col., well up on leg, nicely drawn, nice shoulders, neatly braced wings and tail; vhc, Nattrass; c, Hutchinson. HEN (7): 1, Stevens, cl. buff, medium length, lovely pos., straight up on fine legs, neat head, grand shoulders and waist, nice col. and qual., lovely wings and tail; 2, Wearmouth, cl. yell., fine length, nice col., well up on good legs, neat head, capital shoulders, not so well finished at thighs, well braced wings and tail; 3, Nattrass, cl. buff, nice length, good pos., neat shoulders, not so well drawn, or so good in col. as leader; vhc, Cresswell; hc, Hutler; c, Dixon.

Another Excellent Show in Glasgow.

Well managed by the fine body of Fanciers comprised in the Glasgow C.B.A. The first prize Yellowhammer disqualified for alleged trimming.

Annual show, held Nov. 21, 22, in the Highlanders, Drill Hall. The hall, which is very large and commodious, is well lighted, and heated, and was very comfortable. The staging was neatly arranged round three sides of the building, with a double row down the centre, and left so that there was any amount of comfortable accommodation. Entries were a bit up on last year; but with the extra classification granted, met with only half-hearted support. It cannot be for want of proper men to carry on the work of the society as a perusal of the names connected therewith brings one face to face with some of the best and ablest of Scottish fanciers and exhibitors, whose knowledge and ability to look after anything with feathers is an assurance worthy the trust of one's most valued specimens. The gate was about up to the usual standard. Sales were rather more numerous than usual, some good birds being claimed at the catalogue price. Mr. Melville's winning unlighted buff Plainhead Nor. was claimed at £5, a nice specimen. Quality was well up all over the show, and we greatly admired Mr. McLaren's Crested cock, Mr. Noble's young hen, and Mr. Hamilton's young Crestbred cock as being exhibits worthy of special mention. Yorks. were not quite as numerous as might have been expected, but quality predominated, and many of the best known winners of the season again faced the fray. Borders, on the whole, were good, although a shade weak in numbers. The medal winning yell. hen (Bennett) was a good one, being in rare trim, and the correct weight, so much desired in a good yell. hen. Even marks were a good class ,and very carefully judged. All over the quality was A1, and in many cases a mere trifle separated the winners.

Mules were a grand collection, some extra good ones being out, Mr. Higgins' noted clear Greenie again being to the fore, while the 2nd prize Dark Goldie was a stunner for a baby, and should make things hum with a bit of luck. All the classes were interesting, and some rare crosses were on view. British were the feature of the show, some of the classes being extra. Messrs. McQuiston and Patterson, and Sykes had some grand specimens forward, and made themselves felt in the prize list. The sp. for best in section was won by Messrs. McQuiston and Patterson, with their well-known Cornish Chough, which needs no comment, except that to-day it was better staged than ever. The winning Yellowhammer was disqualified for alleged trimming of head feathers. Mr. P. Arnott led the way in the foreigners with his purple Sugar Bird and Golden-fronted Honeysucker exhibits of the first rank, and without blemish or spot, perfect beauties.

With the patronage of all the specialist clubs, it was not to be wondered at that quality would be bound to make its appearance, and with the same patronage another year, and the same capable staff of workers, a deserving and more generous support should be given. Office-bearers: Pres., J. F. Park; vice-pres., R. T. Anderson and A. Sloan; assist. sec., D. F. Webster; sec., W. Hutchison; treas., W. Gunion; committee, John Brown, E. Barron, M. Craig, T. Fraser, S. Hadley, P. Houston, C. Martin, W. Priest, D. Morrine, J. E. Sinclair, F. Taylor, A. Walker, R. Watson, E. Taylor; auditors, R. Heggie and A. Maxwell completc this deservingly popular band of fanciers. The judges were: Crests, C.B., Non-fed Novice, and Sell. Nor., J. McLay, Kirkintilloch; all other Plainheads, A. G. Cameron, Kelso; Borders, T. Arnott, Hawick; Yorks., L. Dykes, Bradford; Brit., and For., A. W. Watson and L. J. Arrighi, Edinburgh.

LAUNCESTON.

Annual show, held Nov. 25, at Market Hall. The birds were nicely arranged in a cosy part of the hall, but the light was hardly as good as it might have been. The staging was well arranged, and plenty of room was allowed for the exhibits, so that visitors could have a good view of the birds. Unfortunately several classes had to be cancelled, the entry numbering 120 in the 15 classes left in. There must be a considerable number of fanciers able to show birds, who might have patronised this show, especially as most of the cracks will be due at L.C.B.A. this week. In Plymouth alone, although Plymouth was not badly represented, we know of many who seem to forget cage birds can be shown at an easy railway distance at shows of the same calibre as Launceston, and to exhibit a bit more would do fanciers good, and gladden the secretaries' hearts. Norwich came up well, in spite of the two clear classes being cancelled, 25 in the three classes standing, and a good lot they were. Yorks. numbered 23 in three classes, some exceptional birds being staged. Mule classes were cancelled, and only one British class, the Goldfinch, filled. Where are the Cornish fanciers? They have some good British, why not show them? If something is not done to support mixed societies, we are afraid they will drop the cage bird section from their schedule. Mr. H. Hoskin was an able and obliging hon. sec., and to him and his assistant, Mr. Pascoe, every praise is due. Messrs. Jasper, Sargent, Hoblyn, and Avery were responsible for the welfare of the cage bird section. Mr. Toy, Truro, judged, and his awards met with a good reception.

BUCKHAVEN.

Sixth annual show held Nov. 22. The venue this year was changed to Methil, a much more populous district, and the change enabled the society to secure a much better hall. The Bowling Green Hall, in which the show was held, is an admirable place for a bird show, being well lighted from the roof, and from one end, very free from draughts, and nicely heated by steam pipes. Entries totalled 420, a very satisfactory number considering the number of shows held during the week-end. Norwich did not come up to expectation, and a few of the classes had to be cancelled, which was a pity, as this society deserved better support. Mr. John McLay judged with his usual care. Yorks. did not draw the entry one would like to see, considering there were eight classes provided, and a judge for that section alone. Mr. Thos. Reilly, of Buckhaven, had a grand team forward, and he scored fairly well. Mr. C. Martin, of Glasgow, placed the cards, and his awards left no room for grumbling.

Border Fancy classes were all well filled, and we believe it was a record entry for that section, all the well-known exhibitors sending teams, and it gave the judge, Mr. George Brown, Leith, a very hard day's work finding the winners. The buff cock class was a real stinger, with 19 entries, and scarcely a bad bird among them, several recent winners having to take a back seat. The buff hen class also contained some real toppers; the two B.F.C.C. medal winners were found in this class, the foul buff belonging to Mr. A. Gilchrist, Coldstream, capturing the open medal, while Mr. A. Windrum, Edinburgh, secured the novice with a charming cl., second in his class. British bird classes, which stood, filled fairly well, but five classes had to be cancelled, owing, no doubt, to the large number of shows held on the same date. The judge, Mr. Wm. Sharp, Bathgate, lost no time in placing the cards, to the satisfaction of everybody. Rose bowl for best unflighted Plainhead was won by Mr. Alex Paterson, a novice member.

The management of the society is in very capable hands, everyone being a keen fancier, and all well-known exhibitors. Mr. Allan Peters, pres., worked with right good will, and had a kindly smile for everybody. We cannot single out any individual committeeman, as they all worked like Trojans to make the show a success; but in Mr. William Foster, their popular sec., they have the right man in the right place. He was ably assisted by Mr. Thomas Reilly, the treas. Mr. Thomas Reilly won the Dawson cup for most points in any one section, and also secured the "Allan Peter's" cup for four nominated birds. The gate money, we hear, was also a record, and the show will doubtless prove a financial success.

CRAMLINGTON.

Annual show held Nov. 22, in the Co-operative Hall; a nice little hall for the occasion, plenty of room for exhibits, nice light; if anything, too piercing a sun at times striking the windows. The birds were nicely staged in tiers. Entries were down from last year, but no one could expect anything else with so many shows within a short radius being held on the same date; five or six shows, all important ones, were running at the same time. Still we found a grand entry, and quality—one class only, the best. CAGE BIRDS Coupon sps. were on the prize list here, and some keen competition for the diplomas took place. Diploma winners were: champion, Messrs. McGinn, Dykes, Wilson, Hancock, McVay. The novices falling to Messrs. Forster and Thurston. It is a pity more novices did not enter the field; what chances they are letting slip past. Mr. R. Hancock took champion 10s. with a nice Goldie-Bullie, and Mr. Thurston novice with a typical Yorks. Mr. Smart took spl. for best Bord., Mr. Wilson best Member's Bord., Messrs. Archbold and Lascelles best Member's bird in show, and Mr. Wilson best opposite sex.

Of the officials we can only speak in the highest terms. This show gets good patronage, and well deserves it. All are hard and willing workers, ever obliging, ably led on by that ablest of secretaries, Mr. J. R. Chestney; one who possesses an eye to business, and has the entire working of a show at his finger tips. He had everything spic and span. The officials were: President, Dr. Forsyth; chair., Mr. S. Wilson; assist. sec., Mr. T. Wilson; show manager, Mr. W. Thurston; committee, Messrs. D. Moore, Ellison, Thurston, Hutchings, Ducker, W. Moore, Scott, Salkeld, Forster, Gaskill, Dodds, Archbold, Lascelles.

We were pleased to see a grand gate, and to come across quite a host of familiar faces from a distance. Messrs. A. Hay, Tweedmouth; A. Holden, Gateshead; and R. Tindale, Newcastle, judged.

WIVELISCOMBE.

Show held Nov. 20, in the Town Hall, and proved a success, quality all round being most excellent. The exhibits were nicely staged in a separate room, which was well lighted and cosy, and had every attention paid them. Special for best in show went to Mr. Howick, with a grand Canary-Bullfinch, put down in faultless condition. Mr. Hill makes a most admirable secretary, and had everything in thorough working order, and he was most ably asisted by his wife, who worked as hard as anybody to ensure a success. Mr. J. H. Payne judged, and his awards were very favourably received.

CHESTER-LE-STREET.

First annual open show, held Nov. 22, in the Mechanics' Institute Hall, a capital place for a show, plenty of room, free from draughts, and nice light. For a first venture the society issued a very nice schedule, comprising 27 open classes, and 30 members, and despite the clashing of six or seven other open shows, in close proximity, entries came up very well, totalling over 400. Yorks. especially, were good, quality being of a very high standard. The staging was very nicely arranged, all the exhibits being placed at a convenient height to allow the birds to be seen to the best advantage. The genial sec., Mr. R. Ward, had everything in first-class order, and got through his work in a very creditable manner. We always found him courteous and obliging to everybody, and under his enthusiastic management Chester-le-Street promises to be right in the front rank as regards cage bird exhibitions. His initial success will undoubtedly be a great incentive to him to work even harder (if that were possible) on behalf of his society. He was well supported in his work by a grand body of fanciers, consisting of the chairman, Mr. W. Forster; treas., Mr. W. Davidson, and Messrs. Wild, S. Lindsay, A. Forster, J. Redpath, A. Parkin, C. Turn, H. Briggs, R. Sanders, F. Price, T. Harrison, R. Wilford, G. Cresswell, W. MacNair, and J. Hedley, all keen fanciers, and doing their best for the good of the show. CAGE BIRDS coupon scheme was in vogue at this show, and it is easy to see that the scheme has become very popular as the season advances. The show was well attended by visitors, and we came across many old friends, notably Mr. J. Patterson (Chirnside), and Mr. Tom Winter (Tyne Dock). Friend Tom has not been much about the shows of late, owing to illness, and we were delighted to so unexpectedly come across this grand old fancier again, and find him looking so well. Fine weather favoured the show, and we hope to hear that it has proved to be a financial success. The judges were, Mr. T. Dixon, Canaries, and Mr. J. Hands, British and Foreign.

RAMSGATE.

Second annual show of this flourishing and go-ahead society on Nov. 19 received a great fillip by CAGE BIRDS coupon competition being held in connection therewith. Whereas the entries last year totalled 212, this year the grand total of 313 was reached, an increase of 50 per cent. This is very cheering to the members, and an incentive to future advancement. All that is needed now is some arrangement by which the society can guarantee full prize money in all classes. Exhibitors appreciate this plan. The show was held in the splendid rooms connected with Mr. Brockman's Restaurant on the Harbour Parade. Plenty of light, a clever system of ventilation aiding in the free distribution of ozonic air—indeed, the show-room was an ideal one. At 2.30 in the afternoon his Worship the Mayor (Mr. Councillor Cook), who was accompanied by the Mayoress and a bevy of ladies, opened the show, addressing a few well chosen words to the audience in appreciation of the society's efforts and aims, and appealed for support for "such a splendid and deserving institution." His Worship was supported by Pres., Mr. J. W. Chapman, who generously sent a large collection of palms and ferns, which added greatly to the general arrangement of the show. At the close of the opening ceremony, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to his Worship. Messrs. F. Thomas and T. W. Brown, the hon. secretaries, did splendidly, and they were helped ungrudgingly by Mr. W. E. Thornton, the treasurer, and a band of willing stewards, including Messrs. F. Shaxted, A. G. Fasham, T. Cockram, E. G. Kew, and H. T. Willard. Cards were up promptly, and catalogues of awards on sale in the show by 3 o'clock of the first day. Mr. J. Hodder once again vanquished all comers for "C.B." cash sp. in the champion section for Norwich with his romping yell., the runner up being Mr. J. Roberts with his rattling buff cock. In Yorks. the diploma was won by Mr. H. A. Olivo with a pretty bird. In novices the Norwich diploma and 10/- cash special fell to Mr. Woodcock; Yorks. to Mr. H. Wellard. Mr. W. G. Thornton won diploma for British; Mr. Wellard, Mules; and Mr. W. E. Thornton, Foreign. In champions, Mr. Casemore secured the Mule diploma; and Mr. Dell that for British. Quality throughout was grand. The list of specials was a good one, and the care taken of the exhibits worthy of great praise. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged, and had a hard task.

HIGHGATE, HAMPSTEAD C.B.S.

Sixth annual members' show, held in Spencer Hall, Nov. 21 and 22, by far the most successful exhibition the society has yet had. There were 260 entries, and quality was universally pronounced to be splendid, far excelling that staged at any former show. A very large share of the credit for this satisfactory result is attributable to the labours of Mr. J. Hyde, the hon. sec., who took over the office at a critical moment, and by unremitting labour and enthusiasm has thoroughly resuscitated the society, and secured the esteem and respect of the whole of the members. In his labours Mr. Hyde has found a warm and generous friend in Mr. C. W. Law. The hall was none too large for the purposes of the show, but everything was arranged to the best advantage by the sec., aided by Mr. Law, Mr. G. H. Neal, Mr. Shakespeare, Mr. Dann (vice-chair), and other members of the committee. The dreadful weather on the opening day prevented many fanciers from attending, but on Saturday there was quite a crowd of visitors, and many congratulatious were accorded to the society. Special prizes numbered close on 70. Mrs. C. W. Law, who enthusiastically seconds her husband's interest in the society, and Mr. Law gave several valuable specials; Mr. G. E. Weston a points cup, which was won outright, and Mr. W. has generously promised another cup for next year's show, to be competed for under the same conditions. A great surprise of this show has been the gift of a silver challenge cup for the best Norwich, by Mr. Ayers, a gentleman who has thus shown a practical interest in the welfare of the society. This year the Touche Challenge Cup for best current year bird was won by Mr. Byne, in champion section. This gentleman also won special for best Norwich, a very creditable performance. Special for best in the amateur section was won by Mr. Bush, with a rattling Yorks., and in Novice by Mr. Wills, with an equally meritorious Norwich. Mr. C. W. Law won special best British with a bonny Chaffinch; Sandiford's special, Mr. Wills; Mr. Street's colour special, Mr. A. Lovegrove, the same bird winning sp. for hottest fed specimen. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged, and catalogues with awards were up early.

BRADFORD (CITY OF).

433. This was the total entry at the 33rd annual show, held in the Feversham Street Council Schools, Nov. 22. The entry did not come quite up to expectation, but, still, was as good as the average at Union shows of this year. Quality was quite up to the standard, several noted winners being staged. The novices rolled up in large numbers; there is no doubt that they keep the shows going. The novice classes were good all round; the competition in the second half of the season is apparently going to be a greater draw than in the first half. In the champion section the hen classes were the best. The Norwich classes had a fair entry for a Yorkshire Union show. The room is an ideal one for a show of the kind. The staging was perfect, and the exhibits were placed so that no one had need to handle them, which is beneficial to all. Judging was got through in good time, the gate was a bumper, a record, and with this and the sales the show would surely be a success. Bradford City, like most of the Union societies, is blessed with having a good secretary in Mr. W. Helliwell, and he was ably assisted by Mr. P. N. Jenkinson; they got through their share of work in a very business-like manner. The show stewards, Messrs. Horsfield, Hunter, Ludbrook, Fortman, Bower, Kitson, Plowright, Airton, Roe, Lythell, and Rhodes all worked well. The judges—Mr. H. W. Walsh, Yorks., and Mr. H. J. Chittenden, Nor.—seemed to give general satisfaction to all. Points winners were: Champ., Ogden; Nov., Greenwood, Nor., Thomas.

COCKERMOUTH.

The Drill Hall, in which the 8th annual exhibition was held, Nov. 22nd, is in every respect a fine hall, quite capable of accommodating a much larger entry, roomy and well lighted from the roof, it admits of every exhibit being well staged to the best advantage, both of the exhibits and exhibitors. The arrangements were admirable, and everything pointed to a most successful show. The committee responsible for the management, and to whom every credit is due, consists of Messrs. Deacon, Gorley, Jackson, Jos. Little, Sewell, Walker, Ellwood, Crozier, Tyrell, Hutchinson, Nicholson, Johnston, Dickson, Lennox, Armstrong, Gate; vice chair, J. Simon; chair, G. Oglethorpe, with John Jackson, sec. Borders opened the schedule, and while we have seen a larger entry at previous shows, quality was well represented, classy birds from both sides of the Border being present. The Yorkshire section, with the patronage of the Cumb. and West. Y.C.C., drew a nice entry, the novice class totalling 15 entries, and containing many nice birds. The British section, for some reason or other, only filled indifferently, several classes having to be cancelled for lack of support, an exceptional class to be thus treated being the bonse moulted Linnet. The winner of CAGE BIRDS championship diploma and 10s. cash special turned up in this section, the well-known Chough belonging to Mr. Lewis securing the honour, thereby adding another victory to his long list, now running well into three figures. This being the first CAGE BIRDS coupon show held in Cumberland, considerable interest was taken in the awarding of the diplomas, and as the scheme gets better known more exhibitors are taking advantage of it. Winners of diplomas were, 10s. cash sp. for novice, Mr. Johnston, with an evenly-mkd. Border; diploma in Borders, Mr. Wilson; do., in Yorks, Mr. Coulson; in Brit. Seedeaters, Mr. Ellwood; Insectiv., Mr. Lewis; For., Mr. Lewis. Mr. H. Bennet, Kelso, judged.

INVERNESS.

A Record Entry and a Thorough Success.

Thirty-third annual show held Nov. 19, in the Music Hall, an ideal hall for a bird show, being well lighted from top and sides, and free from draughts. Sir Hendry Munro, an old and trusted friend, performed the opening ceremony. He informed us that he had been present at thirty-two of the shows. Entries were in excess of last year by nearly two hundred. We were indeed delighted to see once again in the capital of the Highlands such a fine array of Scotch Fancies, which have been on the decrease for some years. Thanks are due to the vice-pres., Mr. Edward Todd, for offering a cup for competition in Scotch Fancies, and this was won by Mr. Robert Gibb, "the father of the Fancy in Inverness," with a nice buff hen, with plenty size and substance; Mr. G. Clyne, Wick, also having forward a good team. Mr. McLeay, Kirkintilloch, judged the Canary section, and Mr. D. Ross, Forres, the Mules, Hybs., and British, and they evidently gave entire satisfaction, for no grumbling was to be heard, although in some cases an occasional "hard lines" was to be heard. Norwich were grand, and Mr. Mackie, a novice of last year, cleared the boards, winning cup for best Nor., and medal for runner-up of cup, and also piece of plate by assoc. for best Nor. local. The show of Borders was one of the best ever seen in Inverness. Mr. John Connochie won cup for best Border with a nice green cock. Crests and C.B.s were really marvellous, and crowds gathered round to see "the birds with the bonnets," Mr. Edward Todd winning CAGE BIRDS championship, and special for best bird in show, with a lovely green Crested cock, the best Crest ever shown in Inverness—really a marvel, and a study in Crests. Yorks. were grand, some splendid birds being forward. Mr. H. Clunas won medal for best Yorks. Mules and Hybrids were an object-lesson in ornithology. Dark Can. Mule class was one of the strongest in the show. The show of Brit. was an attractive one, many Southern birds having to take a second place. We were indeed glad to see Messrs. Fox and Milne, Dundee, here to-day with a good team. Mr. R. Gentleman won sp. for best Brit. with a lovely Hawfinch, and sp. for points was won by A. Junor, Tomaton. Foreign birds were a great attraction, Mr. T. McKenzie winning with a lovely Green Amazon. Sec., Mr. J. Connochie, deserves great credit for the manner in which he conducted the show; he was ably assisted by a committee of fanciers, Messrs. E. Chisholm (pres.), E. Todd (vice-pres.), D. Falconer, W. Simpson, Hector Fraser, E. Harcombe, Alex. Smith, J. Anderson, J. Mackie, F. Stanford, James Duncan, Robert Duncan, Hugh McLean, G. Dorward. The CAGE BIRDS' Coupon Competition created quite a stir, and we heard several comments regarding the Editor's pluck in launching forward such a scheme. The 10s. champion prize was won by E. Todd for Crests; diplomas: Scotch Fancy, E. Todd; Yorks. and Brit., Junor; Borders, W. Simpson; Mules and Hybrids, J. Duncan.

SKIPTON C.B.S.

First show of the season held Nov. 15, in Friendly Society's Hall, 62 birds being staged. Entries were rather down on last year's show, but, nevertheless, some grand birds were staged. Silver cup given by Mr. J. Nicolson for best young bird bred by a member was won by Mr. J. Hodgson with a grand yellow Yorks. hen, a credit to its owner; silver medal best fed bird on Gill's colour-food, was won by Mr. J. Miller. Mr. J. A. Taylor (Frizinghall) judged, and gave every satisfaction.

YORKS., CL. OR TKD. YELL. CK.: 1, 2, Hodgson; 3, hc, Miller; vhc, Greenwood; c, Waddington. BUFF: 1, 2, hc, Miller; 3, Linford; vhc, Hodgson; c, Moorby. YELL. STOCKTON-ON-TEES.

Ninth annual show, held Nov. 22, in the Temperance Hall. The birds were nicely staged around the sides and up the centre of the hall, and made a very fine display; entries came up well in all sections except Crests. Yorks. were a nice lot, showing good type and quality. The Norwich classes contained some rare hot-coloured clubby ones. Borders appear to be coming into favour in this district; the three classes provided brought forward 40 entries, and some real gems were amongst them. The two classes for Crests and Crestbreds had only seven entries each. We noticed quite a number of Canaries looking very lumpy, evidently feeling the effects of the cold. The Mule, British, and Foreign sections were the feature of the show, the classes being well filled, and competition keen. The management was all that could be desired. Mr. Lowes, who has had such a long experience as secretary, had everything in perfect order. The society has a good big working committee: Messrs. Freeman (chair), Saunders (vice), Nicholson, Yeates, Acheson, Angell, Dawson, Shepperd, Briscoe, Chesworth, Rounds, Carlisle, Palfreman, Bryan, Sanderson, Gardner, Bullock, Thornton, Ridley and Masters, Nicholson, and Briscoe, and with such a list of well-known fanciers it is no wonder that everything in connection with the show was carried through without a hitch. Mr. J. Robson judged Canaries, and J. Maddison the remainder.

CAMBRIDGE.

Second annual show, held Nov. 13. Entries were somewhat up on last year, and some good birds were staged, the quality all round showing a great improvement. The hon. sec., Mr. W. Ridgeon, had all arrangements well in hand, and was ably supported by assist. sec., Mr. C. W. Bishop. The room is an ideal one for a show, and the birds were very nicely staged. Medal for best Canary was won by Bishop and Son with a splendid cl. yell. Nor., while Mr. Hart took medal for the best Brit. or Hyb. with a lovely Goldf.-Can. Mr. Papworth won Sandiford's sp., and Mr. Manning the novice medal. Mr. J. T. Palmer judged, and satisfaction was expressed all round.

Nests of Birds, Poultry, etc., should be regularly sprinkled with KEATING'S POWDER, especially when hens are sitting. Don't forget to do this just previous to the eggs hatching, to destroy the Red Mite. Kills all insects. Harmless to everything else.

WEST BROMWICH.

Seventh annual exhibition, held Nov. 21, 22, in the Assembly Rooms of the Dartmouth Arms Hotel, the headquarters of the Club. The room is a most comfortable one for a show, being free from draughts. The management at this fixture is superb; chairman, Mr. S. N. Taylor, is a fine worker and cautious to a degree; vice-pres., Mr. J. A. Tonks, is really great, and is always found where the work is most strenuous, as he is heart and soul in the Fancy, and everyone was pleased to hear he won the Society's cup. In Mr. T. Duffield, the treasurer, the Society is possessed of another real good worker. The committee consist of well known men in Messrs. Viles, Collier, Beck, Bamsley, Palmer and Amos. Mr. W. G. Andrews, the esteemed hon. sec., is without a doubt most valuable to the society. His method in handling the merest detail, his straightforwardness, and his businesslike manner all stamp him as an ideal hon. sec. He had a right hand man in Mr. G. Russell, of Birmingham, who very kindly gave his experience in show duties. With such men as these at the top one need not wonder why things went smoothly. The stewards, who worked laboriously, were Messrs. Barnsley, Palmer, Collier, Tonks, Taylor, Duffield. Catalogues with awards were soon on sale. Amongst the many visitors were noticed Messrs. Weaver, Robinson, Hampton, Loach (Wolverhampton), Price, Burrows, Barrett, Onions (Walsall, Wells and Clempson, Baker, Eckersley (Birmingham), Wedge Bros., Dudley, and many others. The clubby ones were down in number, but quality was good; the shining light was the clear yellow unflighted, ablaze with col., and staged to the second by Mr. P. V. Williams; another worthy of special mention was his massive clear yellow, which has such a wonderful record.

Yorkshires were the feature of the show, which was under the patronage of the Midland Counties Y.C.C., both champion and novice. Five teams were sent from Bradford by Mr. L. Dykes, T. Bennett, and J. Thomas. The yellow hen, Wells and Clempson, was near on the best hen in show. British were down in number, but quality was good. Mr. J. H. Roe, of Birmingham, judged.

HALTWHISTLE.

Third annual show held in the Mechanics' Hall, Nov. 21 and 22. The Hall is a good one, fairly well lighted, but at end seemed somewhat draughty. The entry was much as on former years, and quality first class. The Border section was the feature of the show. Some lovely gems were in every class. Mr. Nicholson won B.F.C.C. medal with his well-known cinnamon mark, a bird of rare good quality and lovely symmetry. Mr. J. Denholm, Chirnside, won novice medal with a sweet three pointed buff hen. Another exhibit which took the fancy of visitors was Mr. Smart's clear buff hen, which is, without doubt, the best we have handled in her class, but she was soiled in plumage, against the cinnamon mark. Norwich were on an average about the usual, the best in section being a clear buff hen shown by Mrs. Thomas, Yorks, were rather disappointing. British and foreign contained some good ones. The Mule classes were clearly won by Messrs. Bruce and Gilchrist, Coldstream, with two well-known winners. Mr. Nicholson makes an ideal show manager, no detail being too small, and no trouble too great, and he had evidently left no stone unturned in his efforts towards the success of the show. Mr. Tallantyre, as hon. sec., had everything in tip-top order, and in consequence things worked so smoothly as to seem as though everything had been accomplished without any effort at all; only the most assiduous attention to the little things that matter could have achieved such a result. Their endeavours were well backed up by an enthusiastic committee, and one and all worked together in the most harmonious manner. The stewards were most obliging and capable of any we have met this year, and their work went far to assure the complete success of a most pleasant exhibition. The judges were Messrs. Patterson, Chirnside, and Dixon, Bedlington Station, and their awards seemed to be satisfactory to winners and losers alike.

Mr. Patterson's Classes.

CL. YELL. BORD. CK. CLYDEBANK AND DIST. C.B.C.

Usual monthly meeting, held Nov. 20, Mr. McGown presiding over a good attendance. Mr. Greer intimated his resignation; the secretary was instructed to communicate with him. Several notices of motion were tabled for the next meeting. Specials won at our annual show were handed over to the winners.—Wm. Kane, Sec.

ARBROATH.

This Society, which had been dropped for some years, has again been set going, and held a fairly successful exhibition on Nov. 22, in the White Hart Hall. The hall is a capital one for a show, and is well lighted. The exhibits were well staged round three sides, leaving plenty of room for the many visitors, who crowded round the birds during the afternoon. Entries totalled about 300, and quality in Norwich and British was fairly good, and in Borders, which were the feature of the show, it was of the very best, especial praise being due to the grand team shown by Mr. John Craig, Brechin, which took most of the honours of the show, his medal winner at Cowdenbeath again scored, taking B.F.C.C. Medal, CAGE BIRDS 10s. Championship, and special for best bird in the hall, while his winning yellow hen took special for best hen. Hyde's was won by Mr. Boath, Forfar. In CAGE BIRDS Coupon Prize Competition great interest was taken. Mr. J. Black, Brechin, won Novice Diploma, 10s. cash prize, with his non-fed Norwich cock. The Society promises well, and with a little more experience will turn out all right. President, Mr. Muir, is a grand worker, and is ably backed up by his assistant, Mr. Jamieson, while Treas. Colville was a host in himself, and had much to do with the success of the show, while the committee, Messrs. Heenan, A. Rae, C. Ray, Wilson, Stewart, and Chalmers, were also in evidence, and working toward the common good. Secretary Gray was courteous and obliging to all, and had his arrangements well made. Judges were Mr. Mossie, Borders, and Mr. J. F. Dewar the remainder, and their awards were generally well received.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expirration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

NOTICE TO BIRD PURCHASERS.

It is advisable that all newly-purchased birds, especially foreign birds, be kept isolated from established stock for a week or ten days, until by their condition they establish the fact that they are thoroughly healthy.

What a Reader thinks of "OUR CANARIES."

Shincliffe,
Durham.

I am very well satisfied with "Our Canaries," and, as far as I have gone into this wonderful book, I have found some very useful hints. Although only a Novice, I tried my hand at washing a few birds and getting them ready for our Local Show. I washed nine birds in all, only spoiling one. I have had them examined by a friend, who is considered an expert at the game, and he gave me credit for washing them very well, this being my first attempt. I am delighted to think I did so well. The information, which is very concise, that enabled me to wash them so well, was in "OUR CANARIES."

USE DITCHFIELD'S

Famous bird medicines, as supplied to the London Zoological Society. They are genuine remedies, which can be given with perfect confidence to all classes of cage birds. We have hundreds of testimonials testifying to the value of our bird medicines A. Sammons, Southend-on-Sea, writes: "You have got a genuine remedy, which no fancier should be without." B. Hutton, Holbeach, writes:—"Your Revivo is a marvellous remedy." R. Seekings, March, writes:—"Have saved three young birds with your Tonic Drops." W. Addison, Brynwhelach.—"Your Tonic has worked wonders with my birds." W. H. Harris, Halberton:—"I find your medicines very excellent." F. Clay, Settle:—"Have used your medicines with great success." J. Sherwin, Regent's Park:—"I have found your Tonic Drops most valuable for my birds." Special Notice.—When ordering medicine, kindly mention for what complaint, as in some cases an extra bottle is required, which we enclose free. Ditchfield's Tonic Drops are a guaranteed cure for soft moult, going light, not singing, feather plucking, diarrhœa, and inflammation of the bowels. Sold in 7d., 1/1, and 2/- bottles. For bronchitis, wheezing, hoarseness, and inflammation of the lungs, get Ditchfield's special Lung Tonic, also in 7d., 1/1, and 2/- bottles. This tonic is undoubtedly the grandest medicine ever introduced for chest and lung affections in cage birds. For cases of constitutional weakness and debility get Ditchfield's Revivo. There is nothing to equal it for giving new life and vigour to the bird. As a pick-me-up for birds before and after showing, Revivo is absolutely unequalled, in 7d. and 1/1 Bottles. To advertise our medicines, we will send two 7d. bottles of either of the above medicines for 1/-, or two 1/1 bottles for 1/9. All medicines are sent post paid per return; any bottles broken in transit replaced, also two seed recipes: How to feed Linnets and Rollers for song, given free to all purchasers of our medicines: Frank Ditchfield, Bird Specialist, Oldham. HARRY ALLEN, THE ORIGINAL LINNET KING

Many Thanks to Scotland

For their kind patronage they call me the Goldfinch King. They want good birds and they pay the price. They are good buyers and good judges, and they will always have my good word. I do my best to suit everybody. Please read a few testimonials from Scotland.—18, North Hamilton Street, Kilmarnock.—Dear Sir,—Goldfinch duly received; quite satisfactory.—Yours truly, E. Metcalf, to H. Allen. 14, Montgomery Street, Port Glasgow, Scotland.—Dear Sir,—The Goldfinch and Linnet arrived safe, and I am very well pleased with them. The Goldfinch is a beauty. Shall recommend you to all my friends. Please send another Goldfinch. P O enclosed.—Wm. Potter, to H. Allen. Cadham, Markinch, Fife.—Dear Sir,—I received the Goldfinch and Bullfinch quiet safe. I am very well pleased with them. I am writing to the Editor to send you on the money.—Harry Summers, to H. Allen. 72, Upholland Road, Billinge, Wigau.—Dear Sir,—I received Lark quite safe and in good health. I am very well pleased with it. It is a beautiful bird. I thank you for your houesty and kindness to me.—G. Hurst, to H. Allen. I have testimonials similar to the above coming every post. My Roller Canaries can beat the world for pure Canary singing for length, turns and form and deepness of tone, and the changes in each note are beautiful; price 7/6, 10/6, and 15/-; and a few of the best Canaries ever heard in a cage, 25/- each; they are the real goods; try one. Real Siberian cock Goldfinches, the largest in the world, with deep square-cut scarlet blaze, well tanned, with beautiful wing bars and nicely buttoned, 5/6, 6/6, and real champions, can win under any judge, 7/6 and 10/-; real English Peartree cock Goldfinches, the largest in England, with deep square-cut scarlet blaze, well tanned, with beautiful wingbar and nicely buttoned, 2/6, 3/6, and neat prize winners for the bench, 4/6 and 5/-. These Finches cannot be beaten. Very large cock Bullfinches, with beautiful cap and bib and double rich colour on breasts, splendid wingbars, 3/-; sure prize winners, 5/-. Linnets; I have the largest Linnets in England; my A1 specials can beat the world for steadiness, size, colour and markings, 2/6 and 3/6, and extra specials 4/6 and 5/-. Linnets taught by the champion Linnet of the world, with new cage and my book of secrets, 3/6. These are right for catching or contest singing; a few with quality notes, sing indoors or out, 5/-. Linnets from the same place as the champion Linnet of the world. They can sing like Germans; 1/6 each. Beautiful Yellow cock Siskins, very large birds, with beautiful cap and bib and splendid colour, like paint, sure prize-winners, 4/6, and one extra special 5/6. Yellowhammers, Redpolls, Chaffinches, Greenfinches, prize winners for the bench, 2/- each. Larks, singing daylight and gaslight, a treat to hear, 1/6 and 2/-; a few hand-reared ones, finger tame, 4/6. I have the finest strain of quality singing in the world, everybody welcome to come and see and hear what they are buying. Trippers cordially invited. If you want real honest value send to the man who knows the game and has had a life's experience and knows what is wanted: Harry Allen, British Bird Champion, City Aviaries, 40, Beckett-st., Leeds. Please give me a trial, if only for one bird, and send elsewhere for one of double or treble the price, and if mine does not turn out to be the better bird, you can return it, simply because I send everything out on my well known approval system, and I am quite willing to return your money if my birds do not prove to be exactly as described; travelling cages, 3d. each. Thomas Hughes, Bird Merchant, Saltley rd., Birmingham. (1078)

I AM SUPPLYING

Winners every week all over England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales. If you want something good send to the man that has them in stock. I have one of the largest stock of birds to be found in England, not on paper, but kept in the largest, most up-to-date indoor and outdoor aviaries in the North of England. One bird from me makes you a regular customer, as I am bound to give you satisfaction. All I ask from you is one trial order, then I am sure others will follow. My rooms and aviaries are all fitted up on the latest sanitary principles, and I guarantee every bird I send out to be healthy and as advertised. I have hundreds of Birds pass through my hands weekly. If you are visiting Hull, inquire for the aviaries, anyone will direct you to Day's, as the only aviaries known, within two minutes' walk from station. Trams constantly passing. Gentlemen, when you place your order with me, you place it with the only advertiser in Hull competent to pick you a bird for exhibition, having been a breeder and exhibitor over 30 years; what I don't know about birds, both for show and song, is not worth knowing. See report Hull show, November 15th; Mr. Hogg won special for best Linnet in the show, supplied by me week before the show; seven birds supplied by me took high honours at Selby show; in fact, I am supplying winners all over England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales. Please read a few letters received last week.—"Nottingham.—Sir, —Birds arrived safe; am very pleased with them; can do with more if as good.—Mr. Hayter to Mr. Day." "12, Auchirath Row, High Blantyre, Lanarkshire. — Dear Sir,—Received birds safe; highly pleased; they are A1 value; please send another Siskin as good as last, better if possible; thanking you for quick despatch.—R. White to Mr. Day." "13, Church-st., Dumbarton.—Dear Sir,—Birds arrived safe; thanks for quick despatch; I must say I am well pleased with them, also with the others I got from you; thank you for honest dealing.—J. Currie to Mr. Day." "110, Chenies Mews, Tot. Ct. Rd., London.—Dear Sir,—Bird arrived safe; very pleased with him.—G. Turney to Mr. Day." "Lilac Cottage, Burnhead, Larkhall, Lanarkshire.—Dear sir,—Birds arrived in good order; am very pleased with them; please send me, etc.—G. Boag to Mr. Day." "2, Clifton Rd., Belfast.—Dear Sir,—Received Siberian Bullie ben in the pink; was astonished at the value; I have never seen one to equal it at double the price.—P. Rigan to Mr. Day." "West Roddymoor, near Crook, Co. Durham.—Dear Sir,—Birds arrived safe; am quite satisfied; enclosed p.o. for best cock Bullfinch; thanking you for straight dealing.—W. Rutherford to Mr. Day." "51, Scot-st., Treherbert.—Dear Sir,—Birds arrived safe; am very pleased.—T. Bremmer to Mr. Day." "38, High-st., King's Lynn.—Dear Sir,—A line to let you know I got first and special with bird you sent me; please send Siskin, p.o. enclosed.—J. Riley to Mr. Day." "Blanket Row, Norwich.—Dear Sir,—The Siskin you sent me got first, be was much admired; please send another as good; p.o. 7/6 enclosed.—G. Dixon to Mr. Day." These are names and addresses in full. Now, gentlemen, I have over three hundred cock Siskins just arrived, and amongst them some of the largest and best ever seen. I have picked out a few large, rich, yellow cocks, with broad black caps and bibs, grandly laced, bound to win, 7/6 each; other good yellow cocks, 3/6, 4/6 each; all guaranteed yellows, with caps and bibs; other healthy Siskins, 18/- dozen; don't hesitate, but send at once. Siberian Bullfinches, cocks or hens, real giants, not from Gothenberg, which are palmed off by some as Siberians, 5/6, 6/6, 7/6 each; two extra good cocks, very rich in colour, grand caps, 10/6 each; three monster aviary-moulted Siberian Bullie hens, finger tame, 10/6 each, and over a hundred very large Siberian cock Goldfinches, biggest and best ever imported to England, 4/6, 5/6, 6/6; and a few specials, can win at once, 7/6, 10/6 each; British cock Goldfinches, full colour, 2/6, 3/-; a few picked for show, with lovely square cut blaze, nicely tanned and buttoned, 5/6, 6/6 each; also three monster cock Linnets, grand shape and colour, well pencilled, exactly the same as supplied by me to Mr. Hogg, winner of special prize for best Linnet at Hull show last week; he is a fancier whose knowledge of British is second to none; 2/6, 3/6 each; I also have two of the best Lesser Redpolls ever caged, sure winners, 2/6, 3/6 each; and a grand lot of cock Goldfinch Mules, in full song, 6/6, 7/6 each. The BULL-DOG STRAIN.

CHAMPION NORWICH PLAINHEADS

This strain needs no bounce. All I need do is to refer you to the reports of the leading champion shows, where my birds are consistently winning highest honours in the keenest competition.

I am also constantly receiving letters from clients who are winning regularly with birds supplied by me, or with birds bred from my stock.

I have had a very successful breeding season, and have now for disposal a large number of birds, both cocks or hens, yellow or buffs, in clears, ticked, marked or variegated.

Blood is sure to tell in the end, and now is the time for the amateur to make a start with the best possible stock, or for the old hand to introduce a little fresh blood into his room at a reasonable price. I can now send out good birds for stock or exhibition at the following prices:—Cocks or Hens, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-, 30/-, 40/-, 50/-, 60/- each upwards. Pairs, specially matched for breeding winners, 20/-, 25/-, 30/-, 40/-, 50/-, to 100/- per pair. I am prepared to give a guarantee that these are bred from my own strain, and will send to any address at my risk on seven days' approval with pleasure.

I have also a few real good, short, thick-set birds from other noted strains at following prices:—Cocks, in full song, 6/-, 7/6, 8/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each; Smart Cobby Hens, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, 7/6, 10/-, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each; Matched Pairs, 10/-, 12/6, 15/, 17/6, 20/-, 25/-, 30/-, 40/- per pair.

I invite you to visit my rooms and select your own stock, but if unable to do so I will select the birds personally, and send to any address at my sole risk on seven days' approval. Easy Payments can be arranged to suit the convenience of genuine fanciers. Send a P.C. for my free illustrated catalogue, and remember I guarantee absolute satisfaction to every client, or cash returned in full.

Six yellow and buff hens, clear, marked from even marked, 5/6, 6/6 each, all unflighted; approval; receipt P.O.: Lewin, 58, Marlborough-rd., Oxford.

THERE is a lot of difference between a bird specialist and a Norwich specialist; one keeps any and every description of bird, the other is expert in what he breeds and sells; I am and have alway been a Norwich expert, and I can rightly claim to be what I am the greatest Norwich expert. Grand show and stock birds for sale, birds with some pedigree, and birds to look at, as well, state requirements; every bird on approval; see last week's advert.: Judge Silk, Whitstable. (1078)

CHAMPION Norwich. Few real good stock and exhibition Norwich Philheads now ready for immediate showing; plenty of size, good colour, large heads and full necks, rare type and quality of feather; yellow and buff cocks, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 21/-, to £3 each; yellow and buff hens, 5/-, 7/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 21/-, to £2 each; judiciously matched pairs to breed winners, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 21/-, to £5 pair, all cold room bred, strong, healthy, and vigorous, and in tip-top show condition; for size, type and quality I defy competition; give me a trial, and I will guarantee full satisfaction; state wants fully; approval: Warminger, 28, Guernsey-rd., Norwich. (1029)

THE most up to date manual on this popular breed is "Norwich Canaries: How to Breed, Manage, and Exhibit," by C. A. House. It contains a beautiful coloured plate, and many black and white illustrations. In it will be found fullest hints and instructions on all the various points which go to make up a champion Norwich. It deals in a most practical manner with all the various stages of the life of a Norwich from the egg to the show bench, explains fully how to pair up the stock birds, how to feed the young, the art of colour feeding, and the way to wash and prepare birds for show. Do not be without it, post free 1/1½, from: "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet-st., London, E.C.

ROLLER AND SINGING CANARIES

Coming from one with a thorough knowledge of his subject, combined with honesty of purpose, should suffice to satisfy even those who scepticise. I have for disposal a 1913 B.R.C. rung cock that sings a good toned, straight hollow roll, bass, deep bubbling water-tour, in two keys, water glucke, bell glucke, schockel, flutes, bell roll, and bell tour; also set of flutes above normal tone, but not sung sharply. Its fault is a disconnected delivery, hence low price, 32/6; a suitable hen could be mated if desired: J. Tomlinson, Thistleberry, Newcastle, Staff.

Finest Hartz Mountain Rollers.

Advanced Singers, in full song. Price List Free. Special Canary House.—E. LEHNICH, Braunschweig, Kannengiesserstrasse 5, Germany. (1074)

WANTED ONE MORE

customer. Will you be that one? If you are looking for a Roller Canary, I have no hesitation in saying I can give you better value at a lower price than any man in the trade. For years past I have invited intending purchasers to test a Leipzig Roller from me against an ordinary Roller costing any higher price from elsewhere, and I have repeatedly published letters from persons who have done this, saying the Leipzig Rollers have beaten birds costing three times as much elsewhere. I now hold a very large stock of genuine Leipzig Roller cocks in full song day and gaslight, with long, hollow and double rolls, sweet, silvery trills, water-bubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trills, jugjug of the Nightingale, bell, harp and flute notes, etc., and guaranteed entirely free from any harsh or objectionable notes whatever, price 6/6 and 7/6 each; special Bandmasters, which have an exceedingly soft, mellow tone, and excel in the deep bass and bubbling water tours, 10/6 and 12/6 each; hens of same strain, 2/- each, 3/6 couple. These Bandmaster Rollers are real professor birds, and just the thing for tutors for young birds. For those who prefer a loud, noisy singer, I have a splendid lot of free singing Hartz cocks, all loud, vigorous singers, day and gaslight, and just right for public bar or coffee house, price 5/- each. Special travelling cages, 3d. extra in all cases. Singing box cages, 1/6 each; special Roller cabinet cages, with loose fronts, and folding doors, 3/- and 4/- each. Following few letters are sample of the hundreds I receive, and are guaranteed entirely unsolicited, and unduplicated. Note full name and addresses given in each case. "1, Caroline-st., Seaham Harbour; Nov. 1st. Sir,—Roller arrived in good, health, and singing a treat. I am highly satisfied.—Yours, R. Wilkinson." "Cheddleton Leek, Nov. 3. Sir,—Roller arrived safe, and I am highly satisfied. He sang grand at night. Thanking you for way you have treated me.—Yours, G. Oakley." "15, King's-rd., Whithorn, Nov. 1st. Sir,—Birds give every satisfaction. The cock is singing night and day. Thanking you for such good birds, at the price, and quick dispatch.—Yours, A. C. Christine." "Sybil Villas, Clydach, Oct. 25th. Sir,—Roller to hand, a beauty. I paid double the price for one from ——, which was not so good.—Yours, Mr. Morgan." "34, South-rd., West Hartlepool, Nov. 2. Sir,—Please send two Leipzig hens. The Roller cock I had from you has done extra well. His singing is great, and better this year than ever.—Yours, G. Wilson." "154, Swanston-st., Glasgow, Nov. 4. Sir,—I am more than pleased with Leipzig Roller cock, as he is singing from early morning ever since arrival. I shall recommend you.—Yours, J. Foley." "14, Herberton-rd., West Southhourne, Bournemouth, Nov. 5th. Sir,—Birds arrived safely, and give me every satisfaction. I shall be pleased to recommend you.—Yours, H. Miller." "35, Kay-st., Freetown, Bury, Oct. 30. Sir,—I have received birds in the perfect condition you advertise them. I can hardly express my thanks, as they are the three nicest birds I have seen, and anyone wishing to see them can with greatest of pleasure.—Yours, J. Lindley." "169, Lenton Sands, Derby-rd., Nottingham, Nov. 10th. Sir,—Please send two more Leipzig Rollers. I was highly pleased with those I had last year; they have such a nice mellow tone, and the changes are so nice.—Yours, H. Garton." Please note all genuine Leipzig Rollers are stamped on wing. "Hans Weber Leipzig," and I am the sole importer of this strain. All are safely and warmly packed with food and water for 48 hours' journey, and sent on full week's trial, solely at my risk, during whole time, immediately on receipt of cash (or if same is deposited with Editor), and unless bird proves in every way satisfactory, and realises your every expectation, you only have to return it, and the whole of your money is promptly and cheerfully returned, and remember, when you deal with me, you are dealing with a continuous advertiser for past 22 years, not here to-day and gone to-morrow sort. I INVITE YOU to come, see, and hear my birds any day (except Sundays), and you will be convinced who has the best collection, and who gives the best value in singing Canaries. If you cannot come to select the bird you require, allow me to send you one on seven days' approval at my sole risk. I guarantee to give you satisfaction. I have thousands of genuine solicited testimonials open for your inspection, of which the following are samples: "Ballachulish, East, November 28, 1913.—I received Roller safely, and am highly pleased with same; he is a high-class singer. D. Campbell." "58, Pearl-st., Chessells.—Roller arrived safe and sound, singing lovely; many thanks for your prompt attention. J. Salter." "91, High-st., Guildford, 28/11/13.—Many thanks for Roller, safely to hand, in splendid condition, singing well on arrival; he is a beauty, and has such a good note.—W. Charman." "Hill Top, Broadsall, 28/11/13.—Received Roller in good condition; the family are delighted with him; your care in packing does you great credit.—A. Moore." "South Burn-rd., Airdrie, 29/11/13.—Received Roller in splendid condition; it was singing grand the whole day long; I am delighted with it, and shall send you more orders.—G. Bell." My genuine St. Andreasburg Rollers are imported direct (by myself) from the most reliable and experienced breeders in Germany. No middleman's profits, hence the high quality at reasonable prices. St. Andreasburg Roller cocks, with full change of song by day and artificial light, genuine, up-to-date songsters, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each; a few extra good contest singsters, 15/-, 17/6, 20/-; hens, same strain, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6 each (not common German rubbish). For cheap reliable songsters try Hartz cocks are unequalled, and acknowledged by all to be the real working man's friend. Birds in full, loud, free song by day and gaslight, real loud, sweet songsters, Hartz cocks, 4/9, 5/3, 5/9, 6/3 each, according to quality of song. CHAMPION YORKSHIRES, CRESTS and BORDERS,

I make no bounce about my birds, but simply refer you to the reports of all the leading shows, where my Yorkshires are regularly securing premier honours in hottest competition. I am now offering some real clinking stock and show birds, bred from these winners at very reasonable prices; and am also prepared to sell any of my winners at a working-man's price.

The following is one out of a large number of testimonials received during the last few weeks, all of which are filed for inspection:—

East Kirkby, Notts, Nov. 28, 1913.—I had three nests with the Yorkshire cock you sold me, and last Saturday I won two firsts and two specials with two of the youngsters, which is not amiss for a novice in his first year of breeding. F. B. Blackburn to Joe Thomas.

If you require any stock, let me send them on approval, and compare with all others. Note the following prices:—Lengthy Yorkshire cocks, in full song, 6/-, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each upwards; smart, erect, racy Hens, feathered to perfection, 3/6, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, 7/6, 10/- each; Matched Pairs, personally selected by me to give best results, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-, 30/- per pair.

EXHIBITION YORKSHIRES.

55 FIRSTS 45 SECONDS

33 thirds, and over 30 specials, diplomas, etc., etc. The above are my winnings during October and November with Yorkshires. This is not empty bounce, but facts that cannot be denied, and, remember, not a season's wonder, as I have won almost twice as many firsts for years past as any other exhibitor or firm. If you want a strain that is up to date, try the old reliable breeder and exhibitor, who breeds his own winners. Follow the leading shows; they tell their own tale. Try my specially matched pairs at 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-, 30/-, 40/- per pair; these are bred from and related to my winners, and sure to breed winners. Cocks from 0/-; hens from 4/-; travelling cages, 3d. extra. Exhibition cocks or hens from 10/6 upwards. Inspection cordially invited, and, remember, my rooms are like my birds—most up-to-date in the Fancy. A visit will convince you, or send for price list, post free: L. Dykes, Reliable Aviaries, Shann-st., Bolton Woods, Bradford.

SITTINGBOURNE F & F.S.

Fourteenth annual show held Nov. 26 and 27 at the Town Hall. Cage birds were nicely staged in a separate room, a large, well lighted, and ventilated apartment—in fact, an ideal room for our section. The exhibits were in charge of two capable stewards, viz., Messrs. T. J. Monday and H. A. Olive. The sec., Mr. Chas. Minter, and his colleagues had everything well in hand, and cards were up in double quick time. Mr. J. Roberts put down a nice team of Norwich, and won special for best in that section, special for second best going to Mr. T. Monday. Mr. H. A. Olive took special for best Yorkshire, also Hyde's. Special best Brit., G. Grant. Mention must be made of the Bullfinch shown by Mr. G. Whatford; this is a splendid bird, but had frayed one of its flights a little. This therefore put him back a peg. Mr. Jeffery Jefferis judged, and his awards were well received.

The Critique.

NOR. CL. YELL.: 1, vhc, Broadbridge, good front, well rounded, splendid qual.; 2, Roberts, not quite the bold front; 3, Olive, similar. BUFF: 1, sp, 2, Olive, two nice birds, good qual. and cond., not much between; 3, Roberts, longer in flights and tail; vhc, Monday. MKD. OR VARIEG.: 1, sp, 2, Roberts, grizzle capped yell. and variegs., two good Norwich, leader best finish, both well staged; 3, vhc, Broadbridge, nice bird, fails head and wing carr. to the others. UNFLIG.: 1, hc, Monday, winner nice cl. buff, good qual. and cond., takes 2nd best Norwich; 2, 3, Olive, cl. buff and mkd. respectively, not quite the finish, little to choose; vhc, Roberts. YORKS CL. YELL.: 1, 3, Olive, leader very smart and typical, good pos.; 3rd not the smart finish, rather hoopy; 3, Monday, nice type and cond., hardly the length; vhc, Copping. BUFF: 1, Monday, nice feather and cond., well braced wings, stylish; 2, 3, vhc, Olive, two nice specimens, hardly so nicely balanced. MKD. OR VARIEG.: 1, 2, 3, Olive, leader good feather and position, 2nd fails wing carr.; 3rd not so straight. HEN: 1, 2, 3, Olive, 1st and 2nd two nice buffs, leader a little longer, not much to choose; 3rd variegs. yell., fails pos. UNFLIG.: 1, 2, vhc, Olive, a very nice trio, 1st good yell., 2nd buff, not quite so stylish; 3, hc, Monday, smart yell., not quite the length. A.O.V. CAN: 1, 2, 3, Roberts, all nat. col. Nor., nice type and feather. GOLDF. OR BULLF.: 1, sp, Grant, charming Goldie, well tanned, splendid head and blaze; 2, Whatford, topping Bullie, frayed one flight, hard lines; 3, hc, Roberts, nice Goldie, but unsteady; vhc, Rolls. LINNET OR REDPOLL: 1, Edwards, nicely pencilled Linnet; 2, Whatford, Lesser Redpoll, nice cond.; 3, Grant, good coloured Linnet, fails pencilling. SISKIN OR GREENF.: 1, Grant, nice Yellow Greenie, good size, well staged; 2, Edwards, Siskin, well faced cap, nice cond.; 3, Jacobs, Greenf., not the col. or finish of winner.

OSWESTRY.

Annual open show held at the poultry market, Nov. 22, in suitable weather. It is a great pity that this event does not get better support, as the management was ideal. Mr. Parry had everything well in hand, and was most attentive and obliging, and was also assisted by a grand body of stewards. Entries were not so large as expected, but what was missing in number was made up in quality. Mr. Gough judged, and the awards seemed to give entire satisfaction.

The Critique.

YORKS., BUFF (6): 1, r, Butler, good upstanding bird, nice length, in fine cond., carries wings well.; 2, hc, B. Broster, close and compact, fine slim body, not the length of winner; 3, c, P. Broster, similar in type to 2nd. YELL. (7): 1, sp., Butler, grand, tight, and neat in feather, and good sound col., racy type; 2, C. Broster, same type as winner, very fine size and length; 3, hc, Roberts, trifle on the heavy side, carries wings well; r, B. Broster; he, Mrs. Mathews. NOR. (7): 1, 2 sps., hc, Eccles, col.-fed, good large body, full cheeks, well set frontal, wins; 2, Butler, not size of winner, a little loose in feather; 3, Broster, fair size, bit too long in tail feather; r, Gittins; hc, B. Broster. A.O.V. CAN. (6): 1, 2, sps., Butler, cinn. Nor., sound col., good full front, tight in feather; 2, res, B. Broster, another cinn., same type as winner, but longer in feather; 3, Mason, cinn. mkd., Yorks., evenly mkd., alert and jaunty, we much liked; hc, Cheeseman. MULE OR HYB. (4): 1, 2, 2 sps., and medal for best bird in show, Rogers, Goldf.-Bullf. Hybrids, winner excels in col., a fine pair, and a credit to the breeder; 3, Mason, Goldf. Mule, nice size, rather too much buff in col., good head and markings; r, Butler, Linnet Mule. BULLF. AND GOLDF. (amalgamated) (6): 1, Castle, Bullf., bright col., good square cap, little loose in feather on thighs; 2, Williams, Goldf., large, full blaze, well placed; 3, Chetwood, Goldie, more chubby in type, not the col. of 2nd; r, Jones; vhc, Roberts. LINNET OR REDPOLL (6): 1, Jones, Linnet, steady, in grand cond., but pale in col., and not clear in pencilling; 2, Butler, Mealy Redpoll, shady in col., not quite ready; 3, Pilot, Linnet, rather on small side, not clear in pencilling; r, Joseph; vhc, Roberts; hc, Richards. A.O.V. (6): 1, 2, Chetwood, Chough, good sound beetle gr. col., quite steady, wins, 2 Hawfinch, rather wild at present, will be heard of again; 3, hc, Jones, lovely pair of Budgerigars; r, Williams, Cockatoo.

DARTFORD F.S.

Although the entries were not numerous, there was quite a nice little display of cage birds at the annual show in the Assembly Rooms, on Nov. 25. Mr. A. Lambert, the hon. sec., worked hard to make the show a success, and it is a pity his efforts were not more liberally appreciated. But the glut of shows during the week is explanatory of the sparse entry. Where so many bid for support, some are sure to go to the wall. The committee worked hard, and every arrangement was made for the comfort of the exhibits. There were quite nice classes of Nor. and Yorks., and the medal winner for best in these classes was a rattling ticked yellow of Mr. Squires'. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged.

The Critique.

NOR. (9): 1, medal, 2, 3, vhc, hc, c, Shires, a grand team, leader having fine body, nice head, colour, and quality, 2 good bodied cl. buff, fine under col., hardly so short as winner, 3 yell., lovely feather, hardly so full in head. YORKS., CL. OR TKD. BIRMINGHAM.

Annual show held Dec 3 and 4. The entry was nearly 600 up on last year. The show was held in the Assembly Room of the Crown Hotel, the room being free from draughts, and kept at a genial temperature. The electric light is splendidly arranged so that the birds can be seen to advantage at all times. The exhibits were judged in good daylight. Tables for judges having been arranged facing large windows. The arrangement of the exhibition, and the attention to exhibits, was all that could be desired. In Mr J. H. de Maillet the society has an ideal vice pres., no flurry or bluster, carrying out everything systematically, and being at the call of everyone needing information. Mr. J. H. Jones, sec., we found as enthusiastic and energetic as ever, supported by a splendid chairman in Mr. Broadhurst, who is most obliging and an energetic worker. H. T. Collier, treas., is ever at the side of his colleagues, helping in every possible way. The officials were well supported by a splendid staff of workers. Messrs. Crowther, Fissey, Peace, Raby, Childs, Clay, Bay, Dipple, and Groves.

Norwich came up well both in numbers and merit; so keen was the competition that many fine birds could not get into the tickets. The show being under the patronage of the M.C.Y.C.C., Yorks. classes were splendid, and many grand specimens stood vardless. This being a coupon show a grand lot was mustered in competition for the 10s. specials. Mr. A. J. Smith, Erdington, won in champion section, and Gough and Loach novice. Diploma winners were: Champ. Yks., Shackleton; Nov., Bayliss; Nor., Judd; nov. Nor., Gough and Loach; Crest, Smith; Borders, Philpott; A.O.V. Champ., Gilbert; nov., Southron; Mule or Hyb., Hart; Brit. Hard., Portman; For., Small, Fordred. Mr. G. Baker won Sandiford's special. Judges were Messrs. J. Robson, W. C. Wells, and M. Jacquemain.

WINSFORD.

Second annual show, held Nov. 26, in North Western Hotel Club Rooms, which are large, lofty, and well lighted, and very suitable for a show. The exhibits were nicely staged in the larger room, and the Birds were judged in a separate room adjoining. Entries, which totalled 150, did not come up so well as they might have done, especially in the Canary section, only two classes filling, such poor support is very discouraging to the officials concerned. British were better, especially the Linnet and Goldfinch classes, which were very good, and contained some really first-class specimens. Mr. Brooks makes an ideal and obliging sec., and is ably assisted by Mr. Tomkinson. They had everything in first-class order. Mr. J. Walsh, Blackburn, judged, and his awards were well received.

KENFIG HILL.

Open show held Nov. 19, at Talbot Institute, an admirably adapted place for a show. The attendance broke all records, and the hall was packed to its utmost capacity; indeed, in the evening people had to wait for room before they could gain admittance, Sec. Mr. W. Price is a very energetic and obliging official, and was well supported by a willing band of workers, who took every care of the exhibits under their charge. Mr. W. H. Sylvester judged our section.

PENZANCE.

Fourteenth annual show, held in the Corn Exchange, Nov. 19 and 20, an ideal place, with plenty of light, and the exhibits arranged on the three-tier principle, at a nice height, and plenty of room for the visitors to move around. The Society is to be congratulated on having such a good hon. sec. in Mr. W. C. Bodimpar, and on the able way in which he carried out the secretarial duties. He had everything at his finger tips, and was most obliging and attentive to every inquirer; he was well supported by an ideal chairman, Mr. E. Mitchell, and a splendid committee, Messrs. Williams, Carne, Batten, Watkins, Phillips, Rowe, Howard, Hocking, Crowle, and Hosken. The society has a good president in Sir Clifford J. Coty, Bart., M.P. Competition in Norwich was very keen, several of the foremost exhibitors sending splendid teams, in fact some of the finest specimens living were staged. Yorks. were a good collection without doubt, and this variety is coming to the front with breeders in Cornwall. The one class given for Crests and Crestbreds contained some champion birds, and the winner captured the special for best bird in show, truly a marvellous bird. The Hybrid and British classes were good, and competition was very keen, especially in the Softbill class; the first three birds were very hard to separate, as they were all big winners. Of the members' birds we can speak in most favourable terms, and the birds could hold their own in any of the open classes. Taking the show all round for quality, it was worth a good journey to see. Mr. W. G. Poole, Stratford-on-Avon, judged, and his awards were well received. One pleasant feature, not often seen, in Cornwall especially, was that the judge stopped behind until the last train to give the exhibitors a few points on their exhibits, and this was greatly appreciated. The silver cup for most points was won by F. Collins (Camborne) with a grand team, 85 points; silver rose bowl for local member most points fell to Mr. H. G. Howard.

SEVENOAKS.

First annual show held at the Club Hall, Nov. 26. This being a first venture and three other shows being held on the same date, the show did not turn out so successfully as had been hoped. It is a pity when a society notifies in the Press their date that other societies should hold their shows so as to clash; it is injurious to all as regards entries. However, they are good fanciers, and no doubt their next show will be a greater success. There were some very good birds on the benches, and several members will gain experience as regards staging their birds by this show. The several kinds of cages birds were shown in prove that it must have been the first time some had exhibited. Sec., Mr. Westcott, worked hard, and was most obliging. He was ably assisted by members of the committee in getting everything ready by the time Judge F. Easterling arrived.

CAMBORNE F.A.

Second annual show held Market House, Nov. 10; Norwich classes were the strongest and contained some grand specimens, the winning cl. buff, Collins, being a gem, with all Norwich properties, and grand col. and feather. This bird captured the silver cup for best Norwich. In Yorks. the nonflights came on top and the winner was of good type and quality, lovely col., and well shown. The novice class came in for a good deal of attention on account of a silver cup given for the exhibitor who had never won a prize in open competition, and drew an entry of 19 birds, the winner, Waters, being a Yell. Unflig. Nor., of good type and lovely col., well shown. Sandiford's medal for hottest fed bird fell to the 3rd prize nonfligh. Yell. Nor. (Uren). Silver cup given by the Pres. for best six birds rung 1913 was won by Mr. Lee with Norwich and Crests, Mr. F. R. O. Mewton, St. Austell, judged and his awards were well received.

From the catalogue received we gather that the principal winners were: NOR.: Collins, Stroud, Uren, Lee, Lowry, Cock and Son, Waters. YORKS.: Perkins, Cock and Son, Laity, Lee, Eddy, Rowe. CRESTS: Lee, Collins. C.B.: Lowry. CINN.: Collins, Scoble, Stront. MULES: Collins. BRIT.: Collins, Herring, Cock and Son. FOR.: Scoble. NOV.: Waters, Lee, Eddy, Scoble, Strout.

In the Courts.

A WARNING TO BUYERS OF PARROTS.

Elizabeth Burrows, 48, bird dealer, was indicted recently at the Chelmsford Quarter Session for obtaining four sums of money, amounting to £9, by false pretences at Southend by offering for sale a talking Parrot.—Mr. E. H. Tindal Atkinson and Mr. Digby prosecuted, and Mr. H. Warburton defended, prisoner pleading not guilty.

Mr. Atkinson said prisoner had carried on a rather clever system of fraud by the sale of Parrots. She would advertise in provincial papers a clever talking Parrot, and when particulars were asked for she would give in great detail the accomplishments of the bird. Then when the money was forwarded a Parrot with very small accomplishments and of no value was sent. In one case a Cockatoo was sent. In some cases where the bird was returned money was sent back to the purchasers. Counsel read numerous letters which had passed between the prisoner and the purchasers. In practically every case the prisoner wrote that she was going as companion to an invalid lady, that "Polly is such a dear, sweet companion" about four years old, and could say 64 words, whistle the National Anthem, and two or three bits of tunes, and beat time to any music with a little stick. The bird was further described as loving children, and would ride on her dog's back all over the house. In each case the bird was sent for a month on approval, and in each case there were complaint that the bird would not do anything which had been put forward.

Parrots that Failed to Please.

Mrs. Short, matron of Keighley Infirmary, said the Parrot she received was only about a year old, and had not cast its baby feathers. It did not say one of the 64 words.

Mr. Digby: What about the National Anthem?—I have not heard it. (Laughter.) Did it whistle?—No. She wrote complaining about it, and asked for her money back, as the bird was an utter failure. She did not return the bird, because she did not get her money.—Cross-examined: The bird would now talk a little, and she was more satisfied with it.

Mrs. Fear, of Exeter, spoke to sending £2 10s. and receiving a Parrot which had no accomplishments, and could not talk or whistle. It was worth about 5s. The bird was sent back, but as the money did not come witness took proceedings in the County Court, and had received all but 18s. 6d.

Mrs. Simpson, Doncaster, said she wrote in response to an advertisement by prisoner, who replied that "Polly loved children, and would hold quite a conversation with them." (Laughter.) The bird did not correspond with the representations, and witness was so indignant that she went to Southend and informed the police. She received no money back until after prisoner was arrested, when she received the full amount paid.

Wm. Watson, stationmaster, Westcliff, said that between May and September prisoner sent off 24 Parrots and received 16, as well as other birds.

W. C. Wood, County Court bailiff, said that between Nov., 1912, and Aug., 1913, he served nine County Court summonses on the prisoner relating to money not returned for Parrots.

When Lies Can be Told.

Mr. Warburton said he did not dispute the facts. He admitted that the prisoner's dealings were most unsatisfactory and worthy of condemnation, but people could tell lies as long as they did not tell them with intond to defraud. A certain amount of puffing and fibs were matters for a civil, not a criminal court; and he strongly submitted that this case did not come within the four corners of false pretences.

The Chairman said mere puffing or exaggeration was not regarded as criminal, but it was very common and not very moral. No punishment was provided for it, but a definite false statement was another matter.

The jury found prisoner guilty, but said that owing to the frequency with which such advertisements appeared it was not a case for heavy punishment.

A detective said the prisoner told him she had to "tell them something," and one tale was as good as another.

The Chairman, in placing the prisoner under probation for a year, said it was a serious offence to endeavour to get money by making up a tale of this kind, and the Bench were determined to stop it, but they listened to the recommendation of the jury.—"Essex County Chronicle."

Club Reports.

WINCHBURGH AND DIST. C.B.C.

Annual general meeting held Friday, Mr. John Robbin in the chair. The Treasurer gave his report, which was very satisfactory. The income amounted to £20, and the expenditure to about £3, leaving enough money to pay 9s. per class, which was done, 4/- for first, 3/- for second, 2/- for third; not bad for a small club show. Arranged to run concert after the New Year to try and raise enough money to get a trophy or two for competition at our next show.—A. Bishop, Sec.

ERITH F.S.

Thirteenth annual show, held Nov. 22, at Central Schools, and this year a few cage bird classes were included, with the idea of trying to raise interest among local bird fanciers. Entries did not come in as was expected, but the birds on view were of good quality. Next year it is to be hoped that a little more inducement in the shape of prize money, etc., can be arranged, and with the help of local fanciers joining the society our section might be worked up into a nice little show. The Editor of CAGE BIRDS kindly offered a framed plate as a special. Mr. Sutton, the Sec., got through his work in a painstaking manner. Mr. J. Hazell judged, and gave general satisfaction.

YORKS., CL.: 1, sp, vhc, hc, Osmond, smart, lengthy bird, well set up; 2, res, Bignell, stylish, fine feather, stouter build; 3, Selborn, nice col. and type, runs winners close. MULE: 1, 2, 3, res, Millward, nice team; 1st wins on type and col.; 2nd, not so steady; 3rd, fails bloom of winner. NOR.: 1, 2, Shaw; 1st, level col., nice body, well shown; 2nd, beaten col. and type. A.O.V.: 1, Millward, Goldie, good blaze, nicely mkd., pretty exhibit; 2, Pamplin, nice Yorks. Cinn., useful bird; 3, Selborn another Yorks. Cinn., fails trifle colour.—Geo. Webb.

RAWTENSTALL AND DIS. F.S.

The last show and meeting of the year will be held Tuesday evening, Dec. 9th, at the Mission Room, Hall-st. One class any variety cock or hen. Judge, Mr. Edgar Lord. Will all cage bird members try to exhibit as to finish the year with a successful show?—H. Kershaw, Sec.

BLACKWOOD F.A.

Fully attended meeting, held at the headquarters, Pres., Mr. Budd, in chair. Final arrangements for show were gone through, and schedule made up with a good supply of specials coming in, specials for every class, also specials for classes collectively for most points.—Hy. Palmer, chairman.

FALKIRK (Good Intent) C.B.A.

Meeting held Oddfellows Hall, Nov. 29, James Muir presiding; 8 new members were admitted, making a membership of 64. The specials were placed. Members please have entries in on Sat., 6th, or Monday at latest, to give the printer a chance to get catalogues ready for show on 13th.—W. Clarkson, Sec.

NEWCASTLE (East End) C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 27, at Foster's Cafe, Shields-rd., Mr. Young in the chair, when ten new members were proposed and accepted. Rules were then drawn up and adopted. Owing to next regular meeting falling on Christmas Eve at was decided to cancel it. Next meeting Jan. 28, when a table show will be held five classes being provided: 1 Nor., 1 York., 1 Bord., 1 A.O.V., and 1 Brit.; Mr. Hutchinson and Mr. Robson will judge.—J. W. Coutts, Sec.

LEYTON C.B.A.

Annual concert and prize distribution, Dec. 1st, at headquarters, Grange Park Hall. A good muster of members and friends assembled. Mr. S. C. Rhodes occupied the chair, and at the interval presented the cups and specials to the successful members. Mr. Will Hellens conducted the musical arrangements, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The following artists contributed: Miss A. Gay, Miss K. Talbot, Miss L. Hellens, Mr. W. Stevens, Mr. H. Quibell, Mr. J. Talbot. Mr. Will Hellens and Mr. C. Willacy kept the audience greatly amused while they occupied the stage. The Chairman expressed the pleasure it had given him to preside and congratulated all concerned on the success of the evening.—Forse and Son, Hon. Secs.

REDCAR AND DIS. C.B.S.

Washing exhibition, Nov. 24, at headquarters. The thanks of the members are due to Messrs. Rand and Watson (Middlesbrough), who kindly came down and gave them a lesson in the art of washing. A fair number of members turned up. Those present derived much benefit from the masterly manner in which these gentlemen handled the birds. General meeting was held Nov. 28, and Sec. reported that the Cleveland Hall had been secured for our annual members' show, and that Mr. Rand would officiate as judge. Sec. also read a letter from Mr. Nicholson re Federation, and although the members present were in favour of joining, it was decided to leave this matter open until after the annual show. Two new members were proposed and accepted.—C. L. Mallory, Hon. Sec.

DUNFERMLINE C.B.S.

Annual general meeting held Co-operative Hall, Nov. 29, Mr. T. J. Rankine presiding. After finally rounding up the Society for another year, it was agreed to formally continue the Society. Nominations for office bearers for the ensuing year resulted in the following accepting office: President, Mr. D. McLaren; Vice-Presidents, Mr. J. Rankine and Mr. W. Rolland; Assistant Sec., Mr. J. Anderson; Treas., Mr. J. Warwick. The position of Secretary was left open until Dec. 13th. Committee: Messrs. Rae, Rice, Kilpatrick, Reny, Howie, Coutts, Kennaway, Leslie, Cumming, Hunter, Low, Penman, Pringle, Wildridge, Grewar, Watts and Smith. At this point the meeting was adjourned until Dec. 13, when we hope to see a fuller number of members, as this Society wishes to consider the question of an open show.—R. T. Campbell, Sec. (pro. tem.).

BISHOP AUCKLAND C.B.S.

Held in Y.M.C.A. Hall, Nov. 26; Mr. Burton, chairman, presided. A statement of the first annual show was submitted and unanimously received as satisfactory. Decided to hold supper and smoker, etc., at Messenger's Cafe, on Dec. 10, when the cup, bowl and other specials will be presented to the winners. Mrs. Boothroyd, the wife of the donor, is to be asked to present the cup. A sub-committee was formed to carry out the arrangements. Tickets for supper, smoker, etc., 1s. 6d. per head, and each member is expected to take one and make early application for same. A balance sheet of the year's work is to be presented at the next meeting in January; for date see CAGE BIRDS. Messrs. Walton and Robson were appointed to audit the Society's accounts.—Elliott and Sattran, Hon. Secs.

BURNLEY O.S.

First supper and concert Nov. 26th. It was a huge success. There were 38 who sat down. The catering in the capable hands of Mr. T. Edwards, who provided us with a royal feed. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers, a present from our chairman, Mr. A. E. Barwise. After supper we adjourned to the billiard-room, where we were entertained by the St. Andrew's Quartette (Messrs. A. Slatter, Nuttal, Driver and Barnes), Mr. Grey and Mr. Robinson, comedians. The following also responded with good songs: Mrs. Smith, Mrs. J. Whittaker, junr., and Mr. Stackhouse. Mr. Edwards proposed a vote of thanks to all the artists, and said it would give him the greatest of pleasure if all the gentlemen would accept a cigar from him, and all the ladies a cigarette. The party sang "Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgot," and then dispersed, all having spent a jolly evening.—G. Whittaker, Sec.

WIMBLEDON C.B.S.

For the first time in the history of the Society the visitors at the meeting, held at 6, The Broadway, on Dec. 1, outnumbered the members. The feature of the evening was an interesting washing exhibition, given by Mr. A. E. Pattrick, who had kindly come all the way from Southend to show those present how birds should be washed. A proof that the company was intensely interested was the very hearty vote of thanks accorded Mr. Pattrick by acclamation at the close of the exhibition. Two new members were elected, and there were three nominations for membership. The secretary, Mr. H. Smith, announced that one of the vice-presidents, Mr. J. G. Warley, had been seriously ill, and a message of sympathy and hope for his speedy recovery was ordered to be sent. The subject for January meeting is "Hints on Pairing," and York., Nor. and Bord.; a dozen of each sex of each variety will be brought to the meeting place for those present to try their skill at a pairing competition.—H. Smith, Hon. Sec.

CHARLOTTEVILLE F. AND U.S.S.

The 1st general meeting was held Nov. 27, when Mr G. Russell Cox presided over a good attendance of members. The society has a balance of £3 10s. 4d in hand on the year's working. The membership is nearly 80, more than ever expected when the society was formed last December. C. H. Pope, Hon. Sec.

WIGAN AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Annual members' show, held Nov. 22, in the large Assembly Room, "Legs of Man" Hotel, the society's headquarters. Mr. J. Lomax (St. Helens), placed the cards, and his awards gave every satisfaction. The society's amateur cup was won for the second time by J. McAndrew, and it will be presented to him at next meeting, Dec. 6, at 8 p.m. Members please attend.—E. Ball, Hon. Sec.

COLINTON AND CURRIE PARISHES O.S.

Monthly meeting held Village Hall, Juniper Green, Nov. 15; pres., Mr. Begbie, chair. Sec. submitted financial statement, which showed an income of £26 12s. 5½d., and an expenditure of £16, 7s., 0½d., leaving a balance of £10 5s. 5d. Decided to pay 8s. per class prize money, and to carry £3 2s. 5d. over to next year. Next meeting, Dec. 6, in the Village Hall, Juniper Green, at 8.—Jas. Napier, Sec.

LOCHGELLY C.B.S.

Meeting held Drill Hall, Nov. 26; Mr. T. Wildridge presided. Unanimously agreed to hold a members' show, Jan. 31. Sec. was instructed to notify all members to be present at next meeting, Dec. 10, when specials will be placed and schedule drawn up. The committee trust that all members will turn out and make this show a great success. Prize-money will be paid according to drawings.—R. Muir, Sec.

DARVEL C.B.C.

General meeting held Nov. 25. Mr. N. Hopkins presided over a good turnout of members. Financial statement of members' show was submitted, and it was found that a good substantial balance would be handed over to the funds of the club. Prizes and specials were distributed to winners. Arrangements made to hold a table show of British birds at next meeting, classes: Goldf., Bullf., Linnet, Greenf., Redpoll, Siskin. Mr. G. Alston nominated as judge; one penny each entry. Pres. and Sec. both promised special prizes for points competition at table shows; other prizes will be welcomed. Next meeting Dec. 16, at 7. Fanciers, step in, you will enjoy an hour discussing your pets with your brother fanciers.—J. Robertson, jun., sec.

NORTH MANCHESTER C.B.S.

A smoking concert was held Nov. 18 at headquarters, Balmoral Hotel, Harpurhey. Our worthy president, Colonel H. M. Wilson, Esq., J.P., the prospective Conservative candidate for North Manchester, attended, and presented the Grigg Cup to Mr. A. Cooper, along with a gold medal. He said that he thought every man should have some sort of a hobby, as it refreshed his mind after his day's work. He was very glad to come to our smoker, as it was a change from political work. He then gave the cup to Mr. Cooper, and hoped that he would win it outright. Mr. Cooper suitably replied. There was a fine programme. Mr. Robinson proposed that our best thanks be given Colonel Wilson. Mr. Pike seconded, and said that it was a great honour to have our worthy President amongst us. Colonel Wilson said it was a pleasure to come, and if he was able to do anything to help the society he would only be too pleased. A vote of thanks to the artistes brought an enjoyable evening to a close.—J. Davey, Hon. Sec.

Ealing and Hanwell F.S. holds its annual show at the Drill Hall, Churchfield Road, West Ealing, on Dec. 10, when all fanciers are cordially invited, writes Mr. R. Bamber, the sec. Judge, Mr. R. J. Pretty.

For Wandsworth Show, Dec. 10 and 11, entries are dreadfully short, and many classes will have to be cancelled unless supported, writes Mr. W. Lightfoot, the sec. Entries will be accepted to Saturday, Dec. 6.

Bootle C.B.S. hold their annual show on Dec 13 in St. Andrew's Parochial Hall, Linacre Road, Litherland, under the patronage of G.C.A. novice scheme. Six open novice classes (2 Yorks, 2 Nor., 2 Bord.). To any novice who would like a schedule I will be pleased to send one.—L. S. Hamilton, hon. sec. (The Lodge, Linacre Lane, Bootle).

I have sold my winning Hawfinch that was awarded the Diploma of Honour at Burton-on-Trent show to Mr. C. Beavis, of Exmouth, at a good figure, writes Mr. J. M. Williams (Ashbourne), and hope he will win him many prizes.

I have removed from Montholme Road to 58, Bramfield Road, Clapham Junction, London, writes Mr. F. Moore, hon. sec. Southern Border F.C., and Metropolitan C.B.A. Will members and show secretaries please note.

Will members kindly note that exempted specials should read Nos. 38, 39, 45, instead of 38, 39, 44, as printed in schedules, writes Mr. W. H. Gibb, hon. sec. Brighton and Hove C.B.A. Only 1913 members are eligible for these.

We are sorry to find that a few of the coloured plates of the Blackbirds given with our issue of Nov. 1 were not correctly cut. We shall be glad to replace any of these that may have been inadvertently sent out, if readers will return them.

Mr. Richards (Narbeth) won the British cup at Cardiff show, writes Mr. E. Thomas, the sec. He tied with Mr. Bancroft, but won most prize-money, therefore wins the cup. Mr. W. Merritt won the members' cup; Mr. Barrow the gold medal.

OBITUARY.

The past week has been a very sad one for the secretaries of the two leading Tyneside societies, writes Mr. T. C. Crawhall, Newcastle. On Monday Mr. Curry, Gateshead's popular secretary and Newcastle's show manager, lost his sister-in-law, Mrs. Rae, after a very painful operation. The combined meeting of the Northern Norwich and Northern British Bird and Mule Societies sent a message of sympathy to Mr. Curry and his friends in their sad bereavement. On Friday last Mr. Reed, Newcastle's energetic sec., also had a sad loss in the death of his father, who took a stroke on Thursday, and died Friday night. All who know these two worthy fanciers will join me, I know, in expressing very deep sympathy with them in their loss. I hope that should anyone have been overlooked in the matter of Gateshead's schedules for their show that they will understand the cause of it, and write for one, as Mr. Curry expressed to me last Sunday when they were waiting for the end, that he hardly knew where he was, the suspense was so great. Mrs. Rae was Mrs. Curry's favourite sister, and they had lived next door to each other all their married life.

I desire to thank exhibitors for their entries, and the donors of special prizes; also all who took part in the management (especially our friends from Cadzow Oak), writes Mr. T. Cosgrove, hon. sec. Uddingston show. All prize-money has been paid.

Entries are extended at Brighton show till Saturday, writes Mr. W. H. Gibb, the hon. sec. They are very short. Large prize-money for 1s. 6d. entry; also 6 money-prizes in British. Fanciers please help us; send along, and I will classify. It is a coupon show.

Messrs. W. A. Rudd and Co. are giving a bag of Goldfinch mixture and a bag of Lark food as specials in the British section at Tredegar show, Dec. 11, writes Mr. W. B. Watkins, sec.; these are extra specials, and should encourage British exhibitors to give us a good entry.

We are asked to notify the following changes of address: Mr. R. J. Pretty from 6, Old Burlington Street to "Inverness," Reginald Road, Northwood, Middlesex: Mr. F. M. Littledale to 17, Duncan Road, Southsea; Messrs. Reid and Co. from Vale View to 1, West View, St. Bees, Cumb.

I am shortly being removed to Lowestoft, after being stationed 4½ years at Loughboro', and that is why I am offering many of my winning Lancashires for sale, writes Mr. F. J. Green, the well-known Lancashire breeder and exhibitor. I shipped 16 grand Lancashires to Toronto (Canada) last week.

Waxwings Caught in Scotland.

There was caught at Macmerry, in Mid-Lothian, on 21st Nov., a splendid Waxwing, which is alive and doing well, writes Mr. J. W. Bruce. One was also caught on the 15th Nov., but it has since died. Surely this is early for Waxwings, as the weather has been very open in the North. Has any other fancier heard of them in Scotland?

A Cinnamon's Fine Record.

Permit me to thank you for the unexpected honour done me in publishing a sketch of my yellow cinnamon cock, writes Mr. Thos. Pope (Plymouth). He is a real good bird, excelling particularly in Norwich type and purity of colour, and has not yet been beaten on the show bench; his winnings being 1st Merthyr, 1st, special and Cage Birds Diploma Plymouth, 1st and special Barnstaple, Wimbledon, Taunton, Bodmin, and 1st award of merit last week at L.C.B.A.

Entries Extended.

Good News from Llanelly.

Am pleased to say that I am now out of hospital after my operation, and doing well, writes Mr. D. John, sec. Llanelly C.B.S. It has, I believe, been a success.

Prize Money Paid.

We hear that prize money has been paid in respect of the following shows. Anyone overlooked should apply to the various secretaries; Wiveliscombe, Cadzow Oak, Bonsall, Arbroath, Dublin S. County, Nottingham and Notts, Penzance.

Sale's Successful Show.

I am pleased to tell you we had a very good show, and that prize money was paid out to all the winning exhibitors who were present. All exhibits were got off in good time with the exception of the Scotch and Welsh birds, these were kept over and were dispatched early this (Monday) morning.—Geo. F. Hardcastle, sec.

Corrections in Show Reports.

1st in tkd. or varieg. buff Yorks. should be Simeson, not Swinsco; Mr. J. Napier writes that he was runner-up for the B.F.C.C. medal at Edinburgh Nor. and Mule Breeder's Show, not Dods. At Inverness Mr. A. Rhind won 1st and spl in Yorks. hen, not vhc as reported.

L. and P.O.S. Annual Dinner.

The L. and P.O.S. dinner, writes Mr. C. W. Law, the sec., will take place on January 8th in the Duke's Saloon, Holborn Restaurant. The musical arrangements are again in the hands of Mr. Fred Gibson, and the programme will include Miss Nance Haines, who was such a success last year.

Frome Wants Entries.

Entries are dreadfully short for Frome Show, writes the sec., Mr. C. I. Young, and I think it sickening after all the trouble one takes to get a good schedule and judges to have always to beg for support. Will exhibitors please send on some entries (note our show advt. this week).

Two Enthusiasts from "Canary City."

Mr. H. E. Phillips, chairman of the Norwich All-England Alliance C.B.S., and his son, who also takes a great interest in the birds. Mr. Phillips is a staunch supporter of the Norwich Plainhead Canary.

Insects on Wild Birds.

Some people are under the impression that wild birds are not subject to insect pests. This is a mistake. The writer caught a Hedge Sparrow recently smothered with lice; it was a weakly, unhealthy specimen, and these are the birds mostly attacked when adult, but if one handles a brood of young ones just getting their feathers the lice are frequently seen. Birds that nest in holes or against buildings appear to have them more than those that nest in the open hedgerows and bushes. Sparrows and Skylarks undoubtedly dust themselves to clear the feathers of insects in the same way as domestic poultry do. The Swallow tribe appear to be particularly prone to them; their mode of nesting probably encourages them. To handle a brood of young Swallows is not at all a "nice" operation.

International Show at Liege, Belgium.

The thirteenth annual show of the Ornithological Society of Liége will be held Dec. 20th to 23rd next. Bird lovers are numerous in Belgium, and one of the greatest is Mr. Pauwels, who has had many successes at our Crystal Palace and L.C.B.A. shows. He is the honorary chairman; the president is Mr. T. Braconier, who has a very beautiful aviary at his castle at Moolave, and one of the finest collections of foreign birds in the country. Mr. Braconier and the secretary, Lieutenant Ch. De Neeff, are the founders of the society. The Bird Fancy is in a flourishing condition at the present time in Belgium. English Canaries are not very well understood, so it will be an excellent opportunity for English fanciers to make their birds known. Many cups and other valuable prizes will be offered, and it is certain that many birds from England will find buyers. The entrance fee is 1 franc (10d.) per cage. Small birds and Canaries are shown in pairs. This young society is offering many cups and other prizes for the best birds reared during the breeding season of 1914. The secretary of the show (who understands English) will give all information to fanciers who will write to him (postage 2½d. letters, postcards 1d.) at 46, Rue des Mineurs, Herstal, Belgium. Every care and attention will be given to foreign birds sent to the show. Entries close Dec. 10th next.

A Splendid Christmas Number is in course of preparation.

A Correction.

Our representative at Arbroath show writes: "In my report I referred to Mr. Booth's 1st prize clear yellow as being an old winner in a new stable. This I find was incorrect, as Mr. Booth bred this bird himself. I regret the mistake."

Cock o' the Walk.

At the Glasgow C.B.A. show, writes Mr. Hutchinson, the Queen's Park Society won the Taylor shield with 207 points. The rose bowl went to the Glasgow and W. of S. Society, 179 points; 3rd, West of Scotland Society, 160 points; 4th, Partick, 114 points; 5th, Glasgow North West, 111 points.

CANARY BREEDING AND THE LAWS OF INHERITANCE.

By MISS L. M. DURHAM.

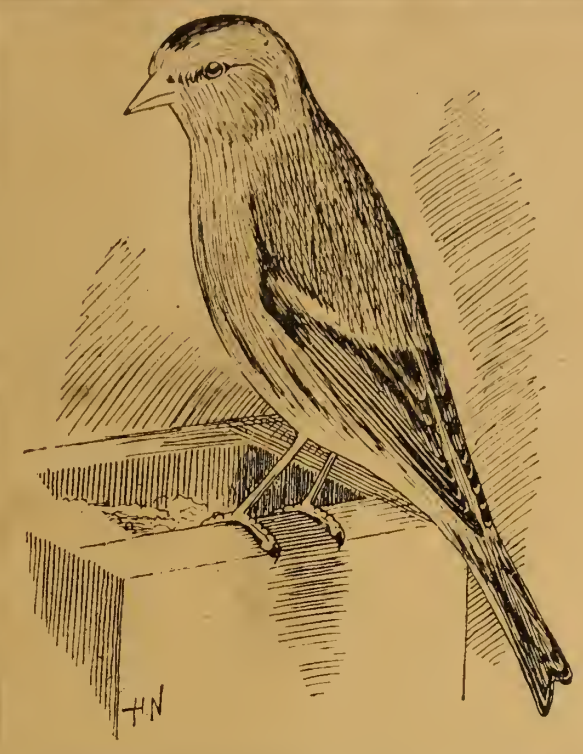
IT is a familiar fact to all Canary breeders that if you mate a green cock with a cinnamon hen you get only greens in the F₁ generation if the cock was of pure green strain; whereas, no matter how the hen has been produced, a green hen mated to a cinnamon cock gives greens and cinnamons. Further, here we have another curious point: we find that all these cinnamons are hens. This is really a case of one character being dependent upon another—the sex character (the character for femaleness) is allied with the character for cinnamon-ness in such a way that every cinnamon must be a hen.

I will say now that we are not at present able to explain completely and satisfactorily what happens exactly here, although I have no doubt in my own mind that we shall be able to explain it in time. The question of the inheritance of sex is an extremely difficult problem, and there are a great many points still to be analysed before we can arrive at a just comprehension of what is happening.

As you probably know, in the case of many animals (as for instance man) the properties of the sexes born is about equal. In man there is a slight excess of males born, and if we are justified, as experimental research suggests, in regarding sex as a character which can be inherited and will therefore behave in a Mendelian way, we must suppose from what I said before, that one of the sexes is impure for sex character and the other pure. Without going into elaborate details I may say at once that in certain insects it appears as if the male was impure for sex and the female pure for femaleness, but that as a general rule it seems to be the female that is, as we say, heterozygous, while the male is homozygous—that is pure for maleness. The female would then carry reproductive cells of two kinds, one with the character for maleness, the other with the character for femaleness; the male only carrying reproductive cells for maleness, and the femaleness being dominant, we get as a result of these cells males and females again.

A Connection 'twixt Color and Sex.



The green hen Canary then seems to have a further association between colour and sex, and the green colour being associated with maleness, we get green cocks and cinnamon hens. Unfortunately, although this is true for the major number, I have exceptions I cannot account for.

I have bred in all sixty-nine green cocks, eleven green hens, and ninety-two cinnamon hens by mating green hens with cinnamon cocks. Theoretically there should be equality in greens and cinnamons, and you see I have eighty greens to ninety-two cinnamons. Also there should be equality of cocks and hens, but here there is a more serious divergence, as there are sixty-nine cocks to 103 hens. I will refer to this again.

When green hens are mated with impure green cocks (bred from a green and cinnamon mating) we ought to get green cocks, green hens, and in cinnamons only hens, because, as explained above, the cinnamon factor is coupled with sex factor for femaleness. There should be a proportion of three greens to one cinnamon. My numbers give 114 green cocks, 93 green hens, 2 cinnamon cocks, and 83 cinnamon hens—that is, 207 greens to 85 cinnamons—the expectation being 219 greens to 73 cinnamons. There are 116 cocks and 176 hens, instead of equality.

In the mating cinnamon hens and impure green cocks we should expect to get cocks and hens of both colours, and the colours should be in equal numbers. My numbers are 27 green cocks, 59 green hens, 32 cinnamon cocks, and 47 cinnamon hens that is, 77 greens to 79 cinnamons.

You will see that in all these cases the sexes are very far from being in equality. In every case there is an excess of hens. I am not able at present to explain why this is, and I have been trying to obtain the experience of other breeders. I find some breeders get more cocks than hens, some get more hens than cocks, and some get equality.

This exceptionally good jonque Goldfinch-Canary Mule secured first prize at the Horticultural Hall Show for Mr. J. Crone (Glasgow). It is a well-known winner in Scotland.

At a lecture I gave recently at Wimbledon upon the question of the conditions affecting the sex of the offspring, I went into this matter in some detail. I showed, and I hope conclusively, that the age of the parent does not influence the sex of the offspring I suggested as a result of analysing my own records that perhaps the cocks were more sensitive and less likely to develop in the egg, because it is just in the years when I was breeding under adverse conditions, and had a very large proportion of sterile and addled eggs, that I got such a large excess of females. Now, when I have better housing for my birds, and the conditions of temperature do not vary, I get few failures, and the numbers are practically equal. I do not, however, think that this will account for all the phenomena, and there is still much work to be done in the matter.

What was the Origin of the Crest?

I will now pass to the consideration of other features in Canaries and deal with the question of Crests. I have not done very much with Crest breeding myself, and I have never attempted to produce the magnificent creatures I see adorning the show benches. In fact, I should be ashamed for any Crest breeder to see my Crests, and but that they really do possess crests, they are unworthy of their title. It is, of course, a familiar fact to all of us that if Crested birds are bred together they do not breed true, they give Crests and non Crests, and that when Crests are bred with non-Crests, again we have Crests and non-Crests. I have bred too few Crests together for my numbers to be of any value, but breeding Crests with non Crests I find that I have bred fifty three Crests to sixty two non-Crests, an excess of non Crests. We know nothing about the origin of Crests in Canaries, and when they first appeared. With the Crested Canary, as with the other varieties, the history of its origin is lost, and we cannot tell, therefore, anything as to its origin.

But if it be true that all the known varieties arose from the wild Canary, from which they all differ so markedly, it must have arisen originally from birds without crests. Last winter, when I was in Teneriffe, I visited a lady who had a large aviary of Canaries in her garden. She had originally brought from England a pair of clear Canaries. She had never added in any way to her stock, but had let these birds breed at will and increase in number without interference. They lived in a large out-of door aviary under most ideal conditions. She had clears and variegateds and Crests. She could tell me nothing as to the origin of her first pair of birds, beyond that they were not crested and were clears.

How Crests May Crop Up.

This summer I had a similar experience, and got Crests from two non-Crested birds. One of these birds had had a Crested grandfather, but as far as I know the other bird had had no Crested ancestor. I should be very grateful if any breeder could tell me of any like experience. I cannot at present account for this in any way, but it is possible that two factors may be required for the production of Crests, and that only when these two factors meet together can the Crest be produced. This would be somewhat the same kind of thing as in the case of the albino mouse, which carries a factor for producing a certain colour, but this can only manifest itself when it meets with the factor enabling colour to be produced at all. With regard to the other point of marked and variegated birds arising from the mating of two clears, that is, I expect, a familiar enough fact to all of you.

I have not myself done very much in breeding clears together, but I have obtained clears and variegateds in this way, but so far no selfs. Clears paired with variegateds have given clears, variegateds, and selfs, and selfs mated with clears have given clears, variegateds, and selfs, and I have got all three sorts from mating variegated with selfs.

I do not know if there is a pure race of clears, but there certainly is a pure race of selfs, which never produce anything but selfs, and which act as Dominant to clears and variegateds.

By WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S.

(See Frontispiece this week.)

THESE notes are written round the figures so ably portrayed by Mr. Goodchild—they were not the only "jewels," however, and others will appear in later issues.

SOUTHERN MALACHITE SUNBIRD (Nectarinia famosa).—The fortunate owner of this rare and exquisite species informed me that it was kept in a large cage in his bird-room, which is bright and kept at an even temperature of about 60 degrees Fahr. He considers it hardy, and stated that it was a very fine songster, made a charming pet, and is the prettiest of all the Sunbirds he has seen. It is fed on a mixture of Mellin's Food, Nestlé's milk, and honey—a teaspoonful of each in a cup of boiling-water. It also gets grapes and green flies when obtainable. It is a native of South Africa, and is found at a high altitude. Description of plumage: A rich metallic green, abdomen glossed with blue; quills black, pectoral tufts golden-yellow. The metallic hues are only worn during the breeding season. This is one of the largest of the Sunbirds, but its contour is most elegant and graceful. The specimen figured belongs to Mr. A. Ezra, and carried off premier honours in its class.

A Striking Colour-Scheme from India.

RED-TAILED MINLA (Minla ruficauda).—This is an Indian species, of Tit-like demeanour, subsisting largely upon insects, and requiring a good strong insectile mixture and live insects in captivity. While not clad in gorgeous plumage, it is a handsome and charming bird of slender and graceful form, about the size of our Long-tailed Tit. Its confiding and cheerful demeanour is its chief charm, while its little song, if not very varied, is pleasing, mellow and musical. Description: Body plumage, brown and white, the contrasts being bold, the pattern being strikingly depicted on our plate; the base of tail is crimson; outer webs of tail and flight feathers are margined with red, or crimson. The confiding and fearless manner in which it endured close scrutiny at the hall indicated fully its charming demeanour as a cage-bird—it was awarded second prize. The specimen figured is the first to reach England alive, and was brought over last March by Major Perreau, and passed at once into the hands of its present, and much to be envied owner, Mr. A. Ezra.

FIRE-TAILED FINCH (Zonaeginthus bellus).—This beautiful Finch is unfortunately not a long liver with many bird-keepers, but has done well with others out of doors during the summer, being brought into a temperate bird-room for the winter. It is, however, very erratic, specimens that have done well for a period in one aviary promptly dying when transferred to another (under equally good conditions) in a different locality. It evidently needs careful nursing after every change, and its quarters should only be changed during favourable climatic conditions. For those kept in cages, a bright, sunny room, in which the temperature is pretty even, will suit them best. Their menu is very simple, canary, millet, spray millet, grass in the ear, and other green-food being about all they require. In the aviary they are very keen on catching flies and picking blight off the foliage—an occasional mealworm and some green-fly, when obtainable, will greatly benefit those kept in cages. The species has not yet been bred in captivity.

Description: Upper plumage brown-grey, light grey below, the whole plumage being finely lined with black; forehead, lores and eye region black; eyelids pale blue; rump and upper tail coverts, vivid scarlet; ventral region and under tail-coverts, black; beak, crimson; legs and feet, flesh-colour. The general colour pattern is fully indicated on our plate. The bird portrayed by Mr. Goodchild is one of the magnificent pair exhibited by Mr. C. H. Row (who has privately imported the species several times), deservedly first in their class.

Not Gorgeous, but very Entertaining.

BLACK-THROATED WREN BABBLER (Stachyris nigriceps).—This is a rather plainly clad, yet extremely handsome and entertaining bird. It is the only living specimen at present in this country, being brought over by Major Perreau in March last, passing at once into Lady Kathleen Pilkington's possession, who finds it a most charming bird and cage pet. Like many another shy and skulking species when in its native haunts, it becomes very tame and confiding under the conditions of cage life. The main dietary will be insectile mixture and insects. The latter should vary according to the season; almost all kinds will be readily taken. Major Perreau states that while in his aviary it visited the "sponge cake and milk" dish.

Description: But little is needed, as the general plumage is strikingly indicated in Mr. Goodchild's drawing of the bird. It is bright olive-brown above, and rich fulvous below; head, black streaked with white; a white ring round the eyes; throat black, mottled with white; beak, crimson. Length, 5½ inches. Its fearlessness was very obvious, even when under the scrutiny of strangers; evidently a most active and vivacious species. It was third in its class, being preceded by the Black-chinned Yuhinas and Red-tailed Minla.

DUFRESNE'S WAXBILL (Lagonosticta dufresni).—The beauty of this bird is beyond description in a few sketchy notes; only a coloured plate could do justice to the soft and pleasing hues of this chastely clad species, and my readers must content themselves with Mr. Goodchild's fine portrayal. I can only add that the principle hues are soft greys, yellowish-olive, olive-brown and olive-green.

Success almost Achieved in South Africa.

In "Bird Notes" (the Journal of the Foreign Bird Club) a member (Mr. H. E. Bliss) gives a most interesting, but brief account of this species in his South African aviary, which I quote in full: "The Dufresne's Waxbills commenced nesting in June, but it was not till December that, feeling in the nest one day, I discovered it contained four or five eggs. The domed nest was built in a branch of dry heather rather low down in one corner of the aviary, and was composed chiefly of lichen (in preference to moss, which was also supplied) lined with soft grass and a few feathers. The eggs were hatched on the 19th December, but several days later I noticed the birds had deserted the nest, and I found the young had disappeared; whether mice were the culprits, or some of the larger birds in the aviary, I never discovered. These Waxbills moulted in January."

One would fain have read a more successful conclusion—this species has not been bred in Great Britain. Dufresne's Waxbill needs somewhat careful nursing on arrival, and may be dieted as the preceding species. The bird figured was exhibited by Mr. H. Strong, and won fifth prize in a strong class, when competing with such species as Red faced and Melba Finches, Violet-eared Waxbills, etc.

Questions and Answers.

Queries will be answered under the following conditions:—

1)—All questions must be clearly written in ink (or typewritten) on one side of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist or a pseudonym, or initials.

2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper, and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

3)—Queries intended for different specialists must not be written on the same sheet of paper.

4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructions re advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left-hand corner of the query.

6)—If an answer in the same week's issue is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attention they are likely to have.

7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and an addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on receipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

8)—All who desire letters of complaint written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclose a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this source will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Childrens' Fund (London).

9)—All queries must be addressed to the Editor, "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C. only queries so sent will be answered. Postcards are not admissible.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc., of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his questions for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES

NORWICH HEN AILING (R. S. D.).—The hen has evidently got a chill, to which it may be susceptible. You should place it at once in a comfortable place, not overheated, but still quite away from the chilly side. Give a morsel of bread and milk with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it and sprinkled with maw seed every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days add to the drinking water 20 drops of whisky, five each of oxymel of squills, and ipecac. wine, and three of sweet spirit of nitre. Continue this treatment for a fortnight, and then give 20 drops of the quinine tonic advised in this issue to "Shoer" for a few days. You will probably have to be very careful not to expose this hen to any cold draughts or severe cold. As regards the loss of feathers on the neck you ought to have treated the hen for this during the moult, in the manner you might have seen repeated almost weekly in this column at that time.

TREATMENT OF YOUNG (G. B.).—I am glad to learn that you have, although late, made such good success by following my previous advice. The young birds are really very young, and will be so for breeding next season until it is again almost too late to commence breeding. It is just such youngsters as these that should be kept over the first season without breeding. You may, however, mate one of your oldest birds bred this season about the middle of

should consult St. John's "Canary Breeding for Beginners" (7d.); House's "Canary Manual" (1/2); Battye's "Yorkshire Canaries" (1/1); House's "Norwich Canaries" (1/1); Weston's "Stock Book" (7d.); Dr. Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); Dr. Cresswell's "Hygiene of Bird-keeping (1/1); Normon's "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); Ramsden's "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); "Seeds and Foods for Cage Birds" (1/2); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each: No. 5 "The Pet Canary." No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure them," No. 9 "The Disinfection of Cages, Bird-rooms, etc.," No. 10 "The Roller," No. 23 "The Border Fancy," No. 24 "Green Canaries." All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free, from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London E.C.

April next with the Goldfinch if both birds are quite ready to mate, and as the Goldie will probably not be ready to mate earlier than this you will not really lose much time. The youngest of your stock should not really be mated before May, and it would be good policy to take one nest only from them next season—that is, of course, to say one nest from each bird. During the winter feed them on a staple of plain canary seed, and in addition give separately every second day half a teaspoonful of summer rape per bird, twice a week a teaspoonful each of egg food, bread and milk, or any similar equivalent, and on two other days a similar quantity of a mixture of equal parts hemp, niger, millet, teazel, and broken groats. Give a small spray of watercress occasionally, or a morsel of fruit as a substitute. The young cocks will begin to sing somewhere about the middle of January, and should be in full song by the middle of February.

NOT SINGING (R. M.).—The first step is to remove the cause of the constant feather dropping, which is almost certain to be either exposure to cold draughts; rapid and extreme fluctuations of heat; damp; or impure air, such as prevails near ceilings, or near or over burning lights in the evenings. Any or all of these causes which exist in your conditions must be removed before you can hope to cure the effects. Having attended to these points and seen that the bird is in a comfortable, though not necessarily overheated place, give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion mixed in it and sprinkled with maw seed every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days during the same period give a pinch of the seed mixture advised to "G. B." in this issue. In the drinking water give ten drops of syrup of buckthorn for two days, and afterwards 20 drops of chemical food every second day for a fortnight or so as may seem necessary. You may also give a little of the paste advised to "Novice, E. T.," on Nov. 15th, for two or three weeks. The sample of seed you sent would do nicely for occasional use as a tit bit, but for regular use, as you seem to be using it, it is most unsuitable, the proportion of linseed being very excessive, and the canary far too scanty.

NOT MOULTING OR SINGING (H. L. W.).—See reply to "F. G. S.," a fortnight ago Nov. 22—for details about getting a bird to moult which appears to be "skipping" this very necessary process. Of course I take it that the birds have not moulted gradually so as not to attract your attention particularly to the matter. Their plumage should show you if this is so. If really not moulted the probability is that they will go into moult when the weather becomes mild in spring, and will in consequence be very late before they are ready to start breeding with. You had better treat the birds as advised in the reply referred to, and see if that will bring about a moult before the spring arrives, and thereby avoid the excessive delay in commencing to breed next season. If this treatment does not succeed I am afraid you will have the misfortune of seeing the birds barely free from moulting at the time you should be putting them together for breeding. The cause of the newly caught Linnets not singing is probably that they have not yet become accustomed to their new surroundings, or, possibly, they may be of the wrong sex. Anywny, you may be sure that the presence of the Canaries is not responsible for their silence, nor they for the Canaries' condition, except in so far that all the birds being subject to the same conditions all may be adversely affected by any unsuitable treatment.

WHEEZING AND NOT SINGING (A Constant Reader).—See that both these birds are kept free from draughts and impure air, such as hanging near the ceiling, or near or over a burning light in the evenings. Keep in a fairly equable and cosy place, but do not overheat them. Give No. 1 half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion mixed in it every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days add to the drinking water 20 drops of whisky, five each of oxymel of squills and glycerine, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken together. If this does not quite remove the trouble write again and I will advise you further. (2) Give this bird a little sponge cake the same as advised for No. 1, every second day for a fortnight, and also keep a cube of the paste advised to "Novice, E. T." on Nov. 15th, stuck in the wires for it to nibble at for a week or two. (By-the-bye you may also give a little of this paste to the other bird.) In the drinking water give as much Epsom salts as will cover a sixpence for one day, and afterwards ten drops each of glycerine and lemon juice, and as much chlorate of potash as will cover a threepenny-piece two days in every three for a week, and afterwards every second day for another week. Give a spray of watercress three times a week, and when this is not available substitute a little banana instead.

BREEDING SONGSTERS (C. C.).—If you get a Roller hen of a good singing strain to pair with the Yorkshire cock, you will get much better songsters than you would get from a Yorkshire cock and a Norwich hen, and the Yorks-Roller cross should also produce longer birds than the Yorks-Norwich cross, although the latter may be the largest in substance. There is really very little to choose between the Yorkshire and the Norwich so far as singing is concerned, but the Yorks is not, perhaps, quite so loud and piercing. The Yorkshire cock and Norwich hen would give you the best-looking birds, but in singing powers they would be distinctly inferior to what you would get from a Roller hen. I should also prefer a Yorkshire hen to mate with the Goldie cock, but a Norwich would also produce a good large and attractive Mule. A German hen is about the worst possible choice if you want to get a really good Mule.

A STEP HIGHER (Master).—I wish you great success in your venture in starting with Crests after a probation, so to speak, of two years in breeding common Canaries, and studying "Cage Birds." But I am afraid you will have to open your purse strings a good bit wider to begin with "a really good strain of good Crests." At the price you name—£2 per pair—I am afraid you must not look for exceptional quality in both strain and birds, as they will more likely be of very mediocre quality if they come from a really good source. About £5 per pair would be much nearer the mark for a pair of good stock birds from a good and reliable strain, and the price might go to double, or even treble, this figure for high-class stock birds likely to produce winners in fair competition. It depends, however, very much upon the source from which you get the birds, and you may get a useful pair to begin with at the former price. I certainly do not consider Crests at all delicate provided they come of a robust strain, where stamina is given proper weight in breeding. This is really the crux of the matter, as when any breed or strain gets a notoriety for delicacy it is invariably due to this point being more or less ignored in the building up or subsequent breeding of the birds. I bred Crests myself for a number of years, and found them quite as hardy as some strains of Norwich or Yorkshires, but this does not, of course, apply equally to all strains. You cannot do better than get parts 12 and 13 of "Our Canaries," in which you will find the Crest and Crestbred fully dealt with in all their aspects.

RETURN FROM SHOW (Shoer).—(1) In reply to your first question the bird might have caught a slight chill, either at the show or in transit to or fro. In similar cases in future keep the bird in a comfortable temperature for a few days, give a morsel of bread and milk sprinkled with soft sugar each day, and add to its drinking water 20 drops of sherry, in an ounce of which you have dissolved half a drachm of ammoniated citrate of iron and quinine, and shaken in a teaspoonful of glycerine. The frilling will probably disappear after the bird has had a bath or two, but if it does not you will have to deal with it when you are next washing the bird, and be careful not to brush the feathers in the wrong direction, and not dry too near the fire. If any frill then appears after the bird is dry you must carefully moisten the tips of the curled feathers with warm water, and gently draw out the curl and cause them to lie in the proper direction. (2) If you mean to include distant journeys in your programme, once every fortnight is too often to show the bird all through the season. Still, if you wish to attempt it you should mix together two fluid ounces of port wine, one ounce of malt extract, and half a drachm of ammoniated citrate of iron and quinine, and give the bird 20 drops of this in the drinking water every second day during the week before you are showing him. Also give a small teaspoonful of egg-food twice during the same week, and on two other days half a teaspoonful of mixed seed. Let the staple diet consist of plain canary seed.

SANG TOO LOUD (J. T.).—I assume the bird has gone out of song, but you do not say when or for what probable reason. In fact, beyond saying the bird sang so loud that people had to throw things at him to silence him, you give no clue at all as to what is wrong. Maybe he feels the indignities heaped upon him, and really any self respecting bird would "dry up" after such treatment. If the bird is in good health and only ceased singing at the commencement of the moult it will doubtless begin again in a short time. Some birds do not resume full song after the moult until the spring is approaching, and it is not necessary for them to hear another bird sing to induce them to start afresh, although the singing of one bird will frequently incite slow starters to begin earlier than they otherwise would do. Give the bird a little bread and milk sprinkled with soft sugar every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days a morsel of banana, and a pinch of a mixture of equal parts hemp, niger, millet, teazel, and broken groats. In the drinking water add 20 drops of whisky and ten each of glycerine and lemon juice two days in every three for a fortnight. If there is then no sign of it coming in song, please write again and give particulars of your treatment, and say when it went out of song and if it was likely to be the result of shock from having something thrown at him.

LITTLE BETTER (A. B.).—Sorry the bird is not yet well, but the disappearance of the swelling at the vent and the other little improvement is a hopeful sign. If you are expert at hand washing, I would advise you now to wash this bird once, and use fairly warm water, and in the first two basins add a little Creolin, which you can get at almost any chemist's, in the proportion of a teaspoonful to each pint of water used. Keep the cage floor strewn with clean gritty sand instead of sawdust for a time, and treat as follows for another month, and if not then quite well, write again and say what progress has been made. Give a staple diet of plain canary seed, and give separately every second day half a teaspoonful of summer rape, given dry. Also break open a grape, sprinkle a little maw on the inside to induce the bird to peck at it, and fix it on the end of a perch, and renew it as often as is necessary during the week. In the drinking water add 15 drops of glycerine and as much Epsom salts as will cover a sixpence every second day. At the end of the first week add to the dietary half a teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, niger, black rape, and teazel, every second day, and on the days when you are giving rape, give also a morsel of banana, and twice a week a tiny spray of watercress. Give a scrap of egg food or bread and milk about once a week In the drinking water after the first week give 20 drops of Chemical Food every second day for two or three weeks, and on the alternating days in the first fortnight give 20 drops of sherry, in an ounce of which you have dissolved half a drachm of ammoniated citrate of iron and quinine, and then added a teaspoonful of glycerine.

BRITISH BIRDS, MULES AND HYBRIDS.

TROUBLE WITH THRUSH (Ed. Richards).—You had better treat your bird as advised to "Squibs" in this issue. The food you are giving him is suitable for a healthy bird, but yours just now is below par and requires a little special treatment. If there is any sign of constipation, mix the food with a little scraped raw carrot.

MAGPIE (C. A. O.).—These birds are neither difficult to hand-rear or to keep in captivity. They are quite hardy and will live all the year round in an outside aviary. If you intend hand-rearing next season it would be as well to write again then. In the meantime why not procure the softbill part (vol. 2) of the British Bird Manual? You will there find a chapter on the Magpie; also one upon hand-rearing, that should be useful and interesting to you.

WHAT BIRD? (Robert Mackie).—You do not say when you saw the bird. By your description I should think it was a Wheatear, which should be now in its winter home, although the season has been so wonderfully mild that it would not astonish me to hear that one was still in this country. The breast of the Wheatear is not a light brown; it is what one might describe as tawny-buff and the back is slate colour, but the hen bird is much browner and it may possibly have been one of these that you saw. They keep to the ground, flying from one lump of earth to another.

BLACKBIRD MOULTING (Squibs).—In the present condition of health of your Blackbird your food is hardly nutritious enough. You had better procure a good brand of insectile food and feed him upon that for a time at least. What I mean by a good food is one that is specially made for the more delicate Warblers. Before you commence the change of diet, give him one good dose of glauber salts, put a couple of crystals of the salts about the size of a pea, in warm drinking water, and let him have it to drink for one day only. Afterwards you had better give him a tonic as advised to "Belfast" in this issue. Keep him free from draughts and on bright sunny days let him bathe in the morning so that his cage gets thoroughly dry before roosting time.

BULLFINCH SEEDY (Zephie).—The fact of your bird being troubled with grey lice is positive proof that she is not in the best of health. By your letter I gather you have had advice before as to seed diet. I would only add that you should just now slightly increase the amount of hemp and maw seed. You had better give her a course of tonic as advised to Belfast in this issue. It is quite possible for half a dozen birds to be in a flight or cage together, and only the one have grey lice. They are seldom or never found on perfectly healthy specimens; the birds they patronise with their attentions are always a bit below par. You do not ask for advice so I presume you know how to get rid of them. The wild seed mixture you sent is rather good and I should not hesitate to give a teaspoonful every other day to the Finches. Bathe the Bullie's face with a solution of boracic acid. Put half a teaspoonful in half a cup of warm water. You must mix the powder first with a few drops of water, and rub it up into a paste, and then pour the remaining quantity of water on it. Let the bird have clean perches daily. You will want an extra one or two for this purpose. This is very important SEXING GOLDFINCHES (Constant Reader).—As a rule the blaze is the best guide. In the cock bird it should extend well past the eye, and be fuller and broader. The wing butts are also of a good sound black; when seen in a good light they have a greenish cast, whereas the hens are inclined to be brownish. The yellow on the wings in some specimens is slightly richer, and the tanning also. The bird itself is bolder looking with a stronger beak, and the head less round than in the hen; but these are little differences that would hardly be detected by the novice. The blaze is the best guide for any one but an expert.

SHOW CAGES FOR FINCHES (Shower).—There is no colour better than green to show off the good points of a hen Bullfinch. Get a fresh laurel leaf and match it as near as possible. Paint the bars and interior this colour. Make one a couple of shades darker for your Siskin; that will be rather darker than the colour on his back, but not nearly so dark as his cap. You can use the same shade for your Greenfinch if he has been at all colour-fed; if not I think a pale blue, almost white, shows the bird off best. I advise you to paint the Bullfinch and Siskin cages first, and then run the Greenfinch in and see how he looks. They vary so much in tone that what suits one will not the other, so you must use your own judgment. A nice size for a Siskin show cage is eleven inches long, ten high, and five wide.

ABOUT A TREE SPARROW (Weekly Reader).—Feed your bird upon mixed seeds: canary 2 parts, rape 1 part, ½ part each of hemp and linseed, a few sunflower seeds say twice a week, and occasionally give it a little soft food, as given to Canaries or Softbills. He should also have mealworms or other insects. If you are getting him into good condition two or three every day would not hurt him. There is very little difference in colour between the cock and the hen, excepting in the breeding season when the cock bird is a little brighter. You would have to show your bird in the "Any Other Species" should consult Houlton's great work, "Cage-Bird Hybrids" (7/6); Norman's "British Bird Manual" (2/3); or Part 1 "Hardbills" (1/1), Part 2 "Softbills" (1/1); "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); "Seeds, Foods, and Wild Plants" (1/2); "Secrets of Hybrid Breeding" (1/2); Dr. Cresswell's "Hygiene of Bird-keeping" (1/1): Dr. Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each): No. 1 "Goldfinch," No. 2, "Linnet," No. 3, "Skylark," No. 4 "Song Thrush and Blackbird," No. 11, "Bullfinch," No. 13 "Chaffinch," No. 15 "Greenfinch," No. 22 "Siskin, Redpoll, and Twite," No. 25 "Small Insectivorous Birds," No. 26 "Large Insectivorous Birds," No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure Them," No. 9 "Disinfection of Cages, Birdrooms, etc.," No. 12 "How to Moult British Birds." All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

BRITISH BIRD & HYBRID QUERISTS

class, which generally means that he is competing with Hawfinches, possibly also Chaffinches, and Bramblefinches. It is all according to the size of the show and the classification given. Unless your bird should be an exceptional specimen he would never get very high in the cards. He might compete more successfully in members' classes, where the competition is not so keen. A rather small Norwich show cage, painted green inside, would be a suitable one to exhibit him in.

HAND-REARED BULLFINCH (Baggie).—I am afraid you have been making too much of a pet of your bird, and allowing him to have too many dainties. You had better give him a couple of doses of glauber salts, missing one day after the first dose. Put a piece the size of a pea in warm drinking water. Keep him without water for two hours before giving it to him. Bathe the eye with boracic powder as advised "Zephie" in this issue. If when you catch him you find an open sore, you had better anoint it after bathing, with a little healing ointment, but be careful in this, should it be discharging you had better simply bathe it for a day or two, and let it clear itself, then when it looks healthy use the ointment. Should there be none of these symptoms examine the eye with a strong glass to see if it is quite normal. Give him clean perches every day.

TROUBLE WITH SKYLARK (Oldham).—The bad habit your bird has acquired is not a new one. Captive Finches and Canaries are sometimes guilty of it, it is generally the birds that are in high condition. The only remedy I can advise you is to give him a dose of salts and place his drinker in a position that it will be rather difficult for him to get at it; or another way would be to have his drinker placed so that he could not reach it, and then make a syphon by means of a piece of twisted wool round bent wire, and let it drip on a board opposite his drinking hole. He would be able to get a drop at a time sufficient to keep him from suffering from thirst, and possibly in a few days he would forget the habit. When you went near his cage you could let him have a good drink if necessary.

HYBRID QUESTIONS (S. A. M.).—The cage you are having made would hold about eight birds, but they would be too crowded to breed; it should be given up to one pair only with any hope of success. (2) Hybrids between a Goldfinch and Bullfinch have been bred in an ordinary breeding cage. You would require hen Canaries to hatch and rear, as the hen British birds are not very reliable. (3) Some of the Finch mixtures put up by the best firms are very good indeed, but they should as a rule be used in conjunction with other seeds. If you are going to keep the birds together all the winter, make up the following mixture:—Two parts canary 1 part summer rape, ½ part hemp, linseed and sunflower. Let this be the staple food, and make them clear it up pretty well before giving more. Another mixture would be 2 parts teazle, ½ part dandelion, thistle, and gold of pleasure. You could give them a teaspoonful of this twice a week, and vary it with the Finch mixture you mention in your letter. (3) The law relating to the catching of wild birds is not the same everywhere. You may catch certain birds in one county and not in another. (4) The colour of the blaze in your Goldfinch is quite correct. He will improve as the season advances. The fact of him coming on to song proves that he is in good health. (5) You had better keep the Goldie and Bullie in separate cages, and let them have a fly together occasionally. When they are separate, do not feed the Bullie quite so richly, let him have a larger share of canary and rape.

BREEDING CANARY-BULLFINCH (Sweet).—(1) I would advise you to use a heavily marked or variegated yellow cock with your Bullfinch hen, if you can spare one. Colour plays such an important part in competition that anything that would give you a good start in that direction should be taken advantage of. (2) Hybrids pairs as a rule are rather late in commencing to breed, July is possibly the most prolific month, and I have known them to be produced quite late in the autumn. (3) Let them fly together all the winter if they agree, and then part them for a time in the spring. If they do not agree at first, put them in a two-compartment cage and draw the slide occasionally when you are in the room.

GOLDFINCH SOFT (J. G., Belfast).—Your bird is evidently run down and requires a tonic, and a little different treatment. Procure from the chemist one ounce of the crystals of citrate of iron and quinine. Dissolve as much as will cover a threepenny piece in two tablespoonsful of water, and give him this to drink for a week, fresh daily. If you think he requires a further course, give on alternate days; plain water in between. Should he be at all constipated try him with a cube of bread that has been soaked in hot milk and had a little soft sugar dusted over it. Your seed mixture should consist of the following:- Tenzle 4 parts, canary 3 parts, hemp 2 parts, and linseed 1 part, sunflower and summer rape ½ part each, mix these together as staple food. Then make another mixture consisting of 3ozs. thistle, 2ozs. of both dandelion and sesame, 1oz. of each lettuce and gold of pleasure. Give him a teaspoonful of this every other day, and in between a pinch of niger and maw. Until he is on the mend give him a small pot of soaked teazle seed three times a week. Do not move him from the position he now occupies. (2) A protracted moult is frequently the cause of infertile eggs the following season, but it is a long time to the spring, and with care your bird may be as fit as ever.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

WHAT PARROT? (H. J. W.).—If there is no blue at all on the front of the head, it is a Yellow-fronted Amazon, but if there is any blue, or indications of blue coming through the yellow on the forehead or fore-crown, then it is a Blue-fronted Amazon. You should be able by another examination to decide which of the above two species the bird in question is.

GROSBEAKS (Grosbeak).—The White-throated Grosbeak or Sparrow has quite a nice little song in the breeding season in the aviary, and I have also heard it sing in late autumn, but I have not kept it in a cage. Once your birds are established and have become quite accustomed to their quarters, there is little doubt but what they will sing, at any rate during the summer months, when thoroughly fit.

BUDGERIGARS (R. McG.).—Paddy rice can be obtained from any of the large seed merchants advertising in our pages. Almost every corn chandler keeps crushed oats, which answer as well as the "kibbled," being very similar, simply a difference in the crushing process. The principal dietary of the Budgerigar is canary, white millet, and millet sprays, with green food, grit, cuttle-bone, etc., and the other items are to vary the dietary a little, and oats will meet the case if you have any difficulty in getting the "rice in the husk" (Paddy rice), and whole oats will meet the case if there should be any difficulty about the crushed kind. For a pair of birds a quart would last you some time.

RED-CRESTED CARDINAL (J. O.).—The bulk (say two-thirds) of the seed mixture should consist of canary and white millet seeds, the other third of rape, hemp, and sunflower in about equal parts. It should also have ripe fruit daily (any kind it will take); sweet apple and banana are very good; also green food (fresh lettuce at this season), and two or three mealworms per diem, as well as any stray spider, beetle, or smooth caterpillar you can capture. For all birds, grit, cuttle-bone, and water must be supplied. It is a hardy species, but must not be subjected to draught, and the more even the temperature of its domicile the better it is likely to thrive. They are active, restless birds, and need a roomy cage—the above may sound rather formidable, but really amounts to very little in practice, and a bird repays by its happy, contented demeanour and song any extra care bestowed upon it.

FOREIGN BIRD QUERISTS

should consult Page's "Foreign Birds for Beginners" (1/1½); Arthur's "Budgerigars and Cockatiels" (6d.); Arthur's "Parrots for Pleasure and Profit" (7d.); "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); "Seeds, Foods and Wild Plants" (1/2); Dr. Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); Dr. Creswell's "Hygiene of Bird-Keeping" (1/1); "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each); No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure them," No. 9 "The Disinfection of Cages, Bird-rooms, etc.," No. 14 "Gouldian Finches," No. 16 "Avadavats," No. 17 "The Grey Parrot," No. 18 "Budgerigars," No. 19 "The Pekin Robin," No. 20 "Waxbills." All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet St., London, E.C.

CARDINALS, PEKINS, ETC. (E. E. S.).—Cardinals, as a rule, are wild and restless birds. They try one's patience considerably, and seldom become really tame, though, of course, there are exceptions to all rules. A Pekin Robin might nicely meet your case, as with patience these birds become quite confiding, and they are both handsome, cheap and hardy. About the size of the English Redbreast, but stouter built. The cage a cock of this species permanently lives in should not be less than, say, 24 by 12 by 18 inches high, and once it is tame it will benefit greatly by a fly round the room daily. I do not consider Quails suitable for permanent cage life. The Tanagers you name are worth about 25s. each. A Shama, or a Gold-fronted Green Fruit-sucker, would suit you best. Both these birds become finger tame fairly soon, and are charming pets, but they cost about 40s. to 50s. each, though occasionally they are to be obtained a little lower.

AMAZON PARROT (F. Y.).—I do not keep queries by me, and can only say that my previous reply was based on the data supplied in your letter of enquiry. As regards your present query, I take it the bird is quite tame, and can be handled. You must spray or bathe with a tepid glyco-thymoline solution daily till the trouble ceases. The best method is undoubtedly two dishes, one containing tepid water, the other the glyco solution; first cleanse the nostrils with tepid water, with a sponge, then, after cleansing the sponge, bathe with the glyco solution. As regards injection, there is no reason why you should not use this method, but it must be injected gently, and only about one drop of the solution at a time.—I should say use both methods. With an ailing bird it is always best to keep the bowels moving quite freely by an occasional laxative—one teaspoonful of Dinneford's Magnesia in one ounce of water is as good as any. Examine the bird's mouth, and if it is at all furred or slimy, put a little honey and borax in its mouth daily until it becomes quite clean. I shall be pleased to hear how the bird progresses.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 1, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. Any bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

F. Litchfield.—Your letter was delayed owing to the fact that we had to ascertain the gentleman's address. We will try to arrange for an article to appear on the subject you mention.

Thrush.—We have from time to time published many articles on the subjects you mention. A chapter on cage-making appears in our book on Cages and Aviaries. We have heard of captive Skylarks, singing practically all the year round; it is far from uncommon.

TONBRIDGE.

Seventh annual show held in the Public Hall, Dec. 2 and 3. Our section was beautifully staged upon the platform and down the centre of the hall, a fine roomy place with a good light. The entry was rather better than last year, the Norwich being particularly responsible for the increase. These were exceptionally good, some of the birds being quite first class. Yorks were a nice level lot and put down in fine condition. The show, as usual, was ably managed, Mr. Percy Stone (next once more officiating in his best possible manner, and he had good assistance from a hard-working committee consisting of Mr. Christee (chairman), Messrs. Cross, Cullham, Dennis, Fisher, Greenaway, Love, Millen, Parker, Plested, Palmer, Read, Smithers, and others. The show was well attended, Mr. J. Robson judged.

We heard several complaints about the cards used on the cage birds; these were about the largest we have ever seen, and only suitable for poultry pens.

The Critique.

YORKS YELL. (4): 1, Wraight, smart and shapely, clean cut, good wing and tail, A1 qual. and col., well put down; 2, cup best member's, Cross, grand length, very clean cut, grand shoulder, well braced wings, wee bit open in front, but a good Yorkie; 3, Walker, nicely moulded, paler col., but capital length, nice long wings, A1 condition. A Wild-Caught Linnet-Twite Hybrid.

SIR, On Nov 20th, while out catching Twites, I caught a Linnet-Twite Hybrid. I showed it to several birdy men, and all were of the same opinion as myself. It proved to be a hen. I would like to know if any other netter has had the same thing occur.

OLD FOWD.

A New Society at Barry Dock (South Wales).

SIR,—A society has recently been formed at Barry Dock (South Wales) with a membership open to the United Kingdom. A meeting will be held on Dec. 6, 7.30 p.m., at Rosser's Restaurant, Holton Road, Barry Dock, to which all interested in cage-birds, etc., are cordially invited.

The Radius of Luton C.B.S.

SIR, I have been a member of the Luton Society for nearly four years, and as I was making my entries for the coming show, to my surprise found they had altered their radius from twenty miles to ten miles. I wrote, enclosing my subscription, when to my surprise my postal order was returned, saying they could not accept me as a member, as they had altered the radius to ten miles of Luton; could anyone advise me if they have power to expel old members, or does it only apply to all new members, when altering old, or making new rules?

Remarkable History of Two Hybrids.

An Unparalleled Case, We Believe.

SIR,—It was a pleasure to have my Greenfinch-Bullfinch Hybrid illustrated on the front page of your valuable paper. I bred this bird last year (1912). I have not shown him very much. At Oxford 1912 Annual Show he was 1st, sp, and cup for the best bird. In 1913 he was again in that splendid position, 1st, sp, and cup. His brother, a Linnet-Bullie, was second to him at Reading, where Mr. Lamb won with his Greenie-Chaffinch Hybrid. This Linnet-Bullie as a "brother" may appear strange to you. I will try to explain. In my aviary I had a hen Bullie and hen Goldie, a cock Greenie and cock Linnet. The hen Bullie goes to nest and lays her hatch of five eggs. I placed these five eggs in a Greenfinch's nest: result, she hatched two (one dead in shell, two clear eggs). One proved a Greenfinch-Bullfinch Hybrid, the other a Linnet-Bullfinch Hybrid, and both were cocks. This, I think, was purely a slice of luck. I now thank your artist, Mr. H. Norman, for the life-like picture of the bird, and wishing CAGE BIRDS every success.

Foreign Bird Exhibitors' League

Testimonial to Mr. Allen Silver.

SIR,—As one of the originators of the F.B.E.L., I, in common with foreign bird lovers throughout the country, was very much delighted with the magnificent response made to our appeal by exhibitors, with the result that the recent show held at the Royal Horticultural Hall was a gigantic success—a record for this, or any other country. One and all seemed resolved to back up the extraordinary classification to their utmost. Foreign bird-keepers have shown the world what they can do when properly catered for; fanciers, aviculturists, and traders have benefitted; and what is more to the point the Foreign Bird Exhibitors' League is an assured success. The entry fees covered the full prize money guaranteed, and its funds provided by generous patrons will not be touched, neither will the guarantors of special classes be called upon to pay a single farthing. Instead of being crushed by its extraordinary initial effort its position is strengthened, and it will now be able to extend its help to other societies requiring its aid. No one knows better than myself how our hon. sec., Mr. A. Silver, has worked to bring about this splendid result, and in the midst of my enjoyment of the show, it struck me we ought to give expression of our gratification by giving him some little token of our appreciation for services so willingly rendered. That the idea was general will be seen from the following list of donations which I have the honour to enclose, and which were collected by myself in a few minutes from visitors at the show. As it is possible that others might like to add their names to the list I should be glad if you would insert this together with my address, and respectfully ask all who have promised donations to send along as quickly as possible, as I propose to make the presentation at an early date. Subscriptions: A. Ezra, Esq. £1, Col. J. J. Routh 10s., Lady Kathleen Pilkington, Mrs. Thynne, Messrs. R. L. Crisp, T. R. Trower, C. T. Maxwell, H. Goodchild, Andrews Bros., J. C. A District Amalgamation Show for Rochdale.

SIR,—At our last committee meeting the above show came up for discussion, and it was arranged that I should call a meeting for Saturday, Dec. 13, at the Rochdale Temperance Club, Toad Lane, at 7.0 p.m. I hope that the different societies will send delegates to it, as we are of the opinion that a show can and will be held if at all possible at an early date, as we have a very good offer, I believe, to come before us. I think that it should be a success, and more so seeing that this year we have not had an open show within a radius of 12 miles. This should encourage us a little towards an amalgamated show. There are scores of fanciers in this radius and I think that if a few of the societies followed this movement we could get a show equal to any open show. Let some delegates attend the meeting (if they are not already members) and form their opinions, and then bring it forward at their next meetings. I will, for one, use my best endeavours to bring it to the front. I see other districts have this kind of show. If any of their secs. think they could assist us a little with any information, I should like to see Oldham, Ashton, North Manchester, Todmorden, Bury, Small Bridge, Littleborough, Heywood, Middleton, and R.O.C. represented at the meeting.

W. ADAMS,

Popularising the Norwich Plainhead Club.

SIR, I think the scheme suggested by "Sub-Rosa" an admirable one, if it can be successfully carried out, and I don't see why it shouldn't be. I am a member of the N.P.C. and I hope they will consider this or some such scheme, because there is really nothing for the average fancier to compete for at patronage shows. He finds it much easier to make part of his expenses if he shows at outside shows, because the competition is not so keen. Unfortunately we cannot all be "deck sweepers," so it behoves the N.P.C. to give the scheme their earnest consideration, if they want to keep their members and get new ones. I see other specialist clubs are also waking up to the fact that cups and trophies, instead of being an asset to the club, are really as a millstone hung aromnd their necks.

PLAINHEAD.

The Winning Hybrid at Preston Show.

SIR,—My time is too valuable to write to papers or to disappointed critics getting cheap information, but if they included Mr. Metcalfe, who "wrong-classed" the above Hybrid at Sale show last Saturday, I only expected it, as he was in the clique at Preston show. Will they post from £5 to £50 with any bank? I will cover the same, and they can name any nine expert mule breeders or judges and send these nine names to the Yorkshire and Lancashire British Bird and M.C., and the National British Bird and M.C. for them to pick three or six out. I will let either club name the judges themselves, along with the proud owner and the breeder (the lady that practically hand-reared the bird) and a well-known exhibitor and judge who saw the bird in the nest. The winner to take all, to pay expenses. The bird in question is perfect, which is more than the Redpoll-Bullfinch that was second is, as it is minus centre claw, left foot, therefore not a perfect bird. The only thing I objected to was people carrying the bird round the show. When I got to Preston show I could not find it; someone had it in another aisle. What are the committee doing? Anyone can examine the bird until their eyes drop out of their head, but I will not allow them to carry it round the show. Your reporter does not seem to know much about Mules and British birds. Your reporter at Tideswell reported my Greenfinch-Canary as fit to fight for a kingdom, and so is the Canary Bullie 1st at Preston, also their happy owner. It was not awarded 1st prize at Preston without some great study from Mr. Wellings; but I agreed with him to give the bird the benefit of the doubt, as I had to pay its entry fee and pay carriage same as the other exhibitors. I would always give the exhibitor the benefit if I was not sure in any case. I would never put a bird out unless I was sure and prepared to back my opinion against the world, in a case like this. Now is Mr. Metcalfe's chance. He asked his steward at the show what he thought it was.

R. D. PARLETT.

SIR, I will send the pedigree of the bird, if the two gentlemen who wrote last week will withdraw the insulting remarks about the bird.

J. MALLATRATT.

SIR,—In all fairness to Mr. Parlett I may say I saw the above exhibit before and after judging at Preston Show, and there was then no name written on the label to indicate what kind of specimen it was. In fact, I was asked my opinion as to what cross it was, by at least eight fanciers who were watching the judging.

J. W. METCALFE.

SIR,—In reply to Mr. Walsh and Mr. Johnson, re the Preston sensation, I can vouch for the bird being a Canary-Bullie. Mr. Mallatratt, of Mansfield, was the breeder of this bird, and has shown the same at Nottingham, Derby, and Mansfield. The hen Bullie was caught at Pleasley by Mallatratt and Oscroft, and the cock Canary was a four-years inbred Buff Norwich. I saw the bird reared from the nest, and Mr. Vardy, the well-known judge, has known the bird since it was eight weeks of age. I do not know how the fanciers could make it an Albino Bullie. The hen Bullie laid 33 eggs in the year 1912, and three in one nest were fertile, and were hatched out and reared. Two of the birds died at eight weeks of age, and "Joey," as we always called him, has lived to cause a sensation. We at Mansfield are proud of the bird and his breeder.

BERNARD GABBITASS, Sec. Mansfield C.B.S.

Revival of the Pendlebury, Swinton and Dis. C.B.S.

SIR,—It has been decided to reform the above society, and some 20 names have been given in. We want to liven the cage bird fanciers up in this district. Will anyone interested kindly give their name to Mr. W. Lloyd, the local bird specialist, or to his son at the Windmill Hotel, Pendlebury, where it is proposed to have our headquarters. Would fanciers at Walkden, Farnworth, and other outside districts kindly watch "Club Notices" in CAGE BIRDS, as I will announce meeting as soon as it can be arranged. I will be pleased to give any information to anyone who will drop me a post card. There are some hundreds of fanciers in the district, and I think it only needs them to get together and pull together, when we can form a very good society. We could carry on a good local society at 1d. per week. I hope to have a good number of names this week-end.

ALEX. DONNELLY.

A Novice Special at Southend Show.

SIR,—In answer to Mr. Page's letter re novice special at Southend show, he entered six exhibits in the open novice classes, and won two 1st, one 4th, one vhc, one hc. In one class, where he took a first, there were only three birds, and he wants to count 7 points, but he only counts 3 points; that makes him 19 in all. He is asking why the class was not cancelled. We will explain. Where there were three in a class, as there was a gentleman in the Southern Norwich Plainhead Club and N.B.B. and M.C., we let them stand. And there are other gentlemen who have got specials to come, but they have not threatened to show us up, like Mr. Page, in the papers. He said we were trying to bluff a novice out of his specials. We are novices ourselves, but not so childish; we have never refused Mr. Page his specials, nor anyone else. Everybody who has won specials will receive them in due course. We paid out twenty shillings in the pound three days after the show, as we reckon ourselves as smart as any other society. We hope it will fit where it is meant for.

SIR,—When writing you re Southend show I made a mistake. I won class 20 hc, 21 1st, 23 1st and 4th, 24 vhc. In my last letter I stated two 3rds by mistake.

ARE SPECIALIST CLUBS DOOMED?

SIR,—In answer to Mr. Crisp's letter I should presume that all specialist clubs are in for a bad time, except the S.Y.C.C., yet at the Great International Show, the S.N.P.C. was financially better than the S.Y.C.C. Total birds in open champion and novice section (Norwich) 211, total birds in open champion and novice section (Yorkshires) 179, open champion and novice section (Borders) 138. No, I do not think specialist clubs are doomed, but the reason of former shows being short in entries for Norwich, was mostly through the birds not being out of the moult early enough, as most are bred in cold rooms.

F. S. MATTHES.

P.S.—I will answer Mr. Tomsett's letter next week; also those friends who have written me kind letters of sympathy regarding my accident. I wish to state that I am getting on nicely, and thank them all for their wishes that I may soon be amongst them again.

SIR,—I say yes, unless the specialist clubs come to their senses quickly. Here are Mr. Crisp and Mr. Matthes grumbling because the members don't patronise the club shows satisfactorily. But where is the use? Why should a fancier who is not in the running for the cup or other trophy exhibit against birds which he knows will beat him, when he can send to another show where the exhibitors are more numerous, and the competition less keen? Mr. Crisp is right. It isn't necessary nowadays for shows to have a specialist club's patronage to make them pay. Rather is it the reverse, so far as entries go; although we must admit that the club's patronage carries with it a certain amount of drawing power in the "gate." But those fanciers with a small team and a short pocket find it pays better to exhibit where the specialist club is not. Why should they enter birds to make full prize-money for the cup hunter? Let the specialist clubs think out some new scheme of giving extra prizes at patronage shows, instead of giving ten guinea cups; then their patronage will be something for the societies to clamour for, and their members will find it pays better to show where these extra prizes are given. Such a scheme would give the specialist clubs new leases of life, and would be an inducement for those remaining outside to join. To appeal to fanciers to exhibit at patronage shows so as to make the classes pay, when they know they can't win, is to appeal to their sentiment for the club. But sentiment won't pay the heavy railway charges and entrance fees. I have no doubt the cups and medals look well on the pot-hunter's sideboard, and I can see his eyes light up with pride as he surveys them; but he had better make the most of them while he can. The plodding fancier is beginning to open his eyes, and to think for himself. He sees that he doesn't fit into the present state of things, and he knows that the present state of things can't fit without him, so he is going to make the future state of things fit to his own style and cut. Yes, Sir, the specialist club, as at present constituted and managed, is doomed.

SUB ROSA.

SIR,—I was pleased to see Mr Crisp's warning in your last issue. Some specialist clubs are certainly doomed unless the members of same realise their obligations and act accordingly. Too often do we see classes standing half empty, when the said classes have been provided by a confiding society at the request of a specialist club. Apart from the serious question of members of specialist clubs not supporting classes provided at their request, the fact has to be faced that classes are often better filled when they are really open, and not under the so-called patronage of a specialist club. Outside exhibitors shy at this "patronage." Too often the specialist club judge judges according to the rules of the specialist club, and not according to the rules as printed in the show schedule. If questioned, the judge replies that the club rules say so and so, and as the show was under club patronage he judged according to club rules. The outside exhibitor knows nothing of these rules, and so loses his entry fees, perhaps prize-money. If the specialist club rules are to govern the section, it not only ought to be so stated in the schedule, but the specialist club rules ought to be printed in the schedule, for the benefit of intending exhibitors who are not members of the club. The action of the specialist club judges judging under any other rules than those printed in the schedule is illegal, it having been declared by a judge of the High Court that a competition is governed solely by its "advertised conditions." I quite agree with Mr. Crisp that societies will not continue to give the classification required unless some guarantee is forthcoming that the classes will be supported. You might, Sir, allow me to state in conclusion that the next National Cage Bird show to be held at the Crystal Palace in February, will be held entirely free from the official patronage of any specialist club.

The Disqualified Yorkshire at Halifax Show

Sir, The resolutions passed at the last meeting of the Yorkshire Union Council, as reported in CAGE BIRDS of Nov. 29, are even more astounding than those passed at Halifax. I have pointed out that the Halifax decisions were wrong, and my reading of the rules is supported by yourself, and by legal authority, but the Council by their decisions at Bradford say plainly that I am wrong, the Editor of CAGE BIRDS is wrong, and also my solicitor. The rules distinctly state that the matter should have been dealt with by the Halifax Show Committee, and could only go to the Council upon appeal against the punishment inflicted, and not upon the question of the disqualification itself. It seems that the Council is a law unto itself, and when it thinks fit it overrides all its own rules, the authority of show committees, and the power of its own judges.

I will not say that the committee have shown over zealousness in their desire to uphold the exhibitors. It might be unfair to say so, but it cannot be said that I am unfair towards the Council when I say that they care not what the effect may be upon the judge, their own appointed judge. It must not be overlooked that the Council appointed me to Halifax, not the Halifax committee. One would have thought, under the circumstances, that some desire to uphold their own judge would have been shown by the Council, but there is none. They upset my decision, which they legally have no right to do. It is in contravention of their own rules for them so to act.

By their decisions at Halifax they imputed to me incompetency, and misstatements, and now by their action at Bradford they add insult to injury by stating that the bird they had before them at Halifax and Bradford is the one which I disqualified at Halifax. It must be remembered that at Halifax I handled the bird I disqualified, that I also handled the bird which the Council had before them. I explained to the Council the difference in the marking of the two birds, and I also made the serious statement that the bird I disqualified was not the one presented to the Council. The birds were not alike in their markings, richness of colour, or quality of feather. I saw and handled both birds. The members of the Council never saw the bird I disqualified, yet they now go beyond their Halifax decision, and say—"The Council are satisfied from the evidence received that the bird kept by Mr. H. W. Walsh in his possession since Oct. 18, the date of the Halifax Show, is the same bird disqualified by Mr. House at the said show: and, further, that the bare places on the bird's head as shown to the Council were quite natural." If this matter were not so serious it would be most laughable. The Council have now decided that in addition to being incompetent and a liar, that I am also blind. I see a bird one day with anterior eye markings, as well as posterior, and the next I see a bird with only posterior markings, and, as any sane man would, I say it is not the same bird, but a Council of some twenty men who had not seen the first bird, say that the first and second are one and the same bird. Even marks of old nsed to change, but not in the manner in which this bird must have done, if the Council, in the plenitude of their wisdom are right.

It is one against many, but I still maintain, as I did at Halifax, that the bird was changed. I make no charge against any man. I have not done so, but in the exercise of my duty I found it necessary to disqualify No. 3, class 12, at Halifax, and I did it.

In my letter to the Council, as well as in CAGE BIRDS, I have asked the Council to show me by what rule or authority they have acted as they have done. They wisely refrain. But they do say they have "acted according to rule, rule and precedent."

The whole inquiry seems to have been conducted with a desire to overrule the authority and action of the judge. If there was doubt, as there must have been, after I said the bird had been changed, why did the Council so hurriedly decide the matter? Why did they ignore the evidence of myself, Messrs. Clegg, Robertshaw, Ross, and Macpherson? Why did they pass such resolutions as they have passed at Halifax and Bradford? No attempt has been made by the Council to probe the matter and clear it up.

The Union is supposed to exist for the purification of the Fancy, and the upholding of its honour. Does any single member of the Council imagine that in the future any judge appointed by them will disqualify a trimmed or faked exhibit? No! No man worth his salt will ever lay himself open to the indignities which the Council have heaped on the Halifax judge.

Fortunately for me the fanciers of the kingdom are not blind. From Scotland, from Wales, and North, South, East, and West of England have I received letters congratulating me upon my stand for right and justice, and condemning the action of the Yorkshire Union Council. Some of these letters have come from secretaries and officials of societies in the Yorkshire Union.

One word in conclusion. Have the Council called for certain evidence which they know could be given by a member of the Union? They know that it has been said that the particular member to whom I refer could open their eyes? Do they wish them opened? They have imputed blindness to the judge. He denies it. The Council is blind, and does not wish to see.

C. A. HOUSE.

[Messrs. Ogden Bros. having spoken to us on this subject at the L.C.B.A. Show, we should like to make it clear that we are not taking sides, or concerned with the merits of the disqualification at all. Our sole point is that we have looked over Y.U. rules, and can find none which gives the council power to deal with the matter in the manner in which they have done. Our view is that the rules state that the disqualification should have been dealt with by the Show Committee (Halifax): and no rule has been pointed out to us to cause us to alter that opinion.—EDITOR.]

Pentrebach and Pontypridd Shows.

Sir,—I regret having to take this step, but in justice and fair play both to the exhibitors at Pentrebach show and ourselves, I feel compelled to inform all our exhibitors how my society was dealt with by the Pontypridd officials. In the first place, the Pontypridd secretary is also the secretary of the Welsh Federation, and he arranged their date the day before ours, although the Federation was formed to prevent clashing, etc. Pontypridd have always held their show a week later than ours, but we have been compelled to make the best of things this year. The result of their holding their show the day previous to us has proved a failure, and I trust members of the Federation will make a note of this. Several exhibitors made entries at both shows, and I feel it is my duty to inform these exhibitors of the way their exhibits were sent from Pontypridd to Pentrebach. Almost in every case the Pentrebach labels were not attached, and had it not been for the fact that we had a Pontypridd catalogue, many birds would not have been penned at Pentrebach. Almost every cage-bird we received from Pontypridd we had to classify. We also received about half a dozen baskets which should never have been sent us. The Pontypridd officials had marked the labels "To the Show Sec., Pentrebach." I have received a postcard from the Pontypridd secretary, dated 26th November, postmark 12.5 p.m., 27th November, and received by me first post 28th November (day after our show) saying "A cage-bird has gone wrong, will you take notice if it is at your show." I wonder how many wrong birds we received. Perhaps this will be an eye-opener to the Federation. In conclusion, will all who exhibited at our show kindly accept my very best thanks. I am pleased to say all birds were returned the same night, and I hope by the time this is in print that all prize-money will have been paid.

Mysterious Hybrids in the Liverpool District.

Sir,—Just recently, near Liverpool, some "wild" Hybrids have been caught. One was exhibited last Saturday at the L.B.B. Annual Show, entered as a Redpoll-Greenfinch, and awarded first in a good Mule class. It was claimed and taken from the Show before the bulk of visitors had the pleasure of seeing it, which was very unfair to many of us who had hoped to examine it more closely. I had seen it previously and closely examined it, and I am of the opinion that there is no Greenfinch in its composition. Firstly it is too small (size of Siskin), secondly the beak is absolutely Canary-like. In colour it is like a dull Green Canary, slight black bib. I am convinced it is a Redpoll-Canary, bred off a small Green or Variegated Canary hen. Perhaps an escape from an aviary? I have had another, identical with exception of slight bib, in my possession, caught by a friend of mine. Another has also been caught, but this I have not yet seen. It is very much to be regretted that the show manager allowed this exhibit to leave the show so early on Saturday before visitors interested had a chance to see it.

BOOK FOR THE PALACE AT ONCE!

The List of Coupon Shows Grows Smaller, but Exhibitors Chances of Diplomas and Specials Were Never Brighter.

WE are getting now towards the end of the list of this season's Coupon Shows, and exhibitors who desire to secure one of our splendid cash specials at the Crystal Palace should seize their opportunities at once. There are plenty of them, and they amount to will over £100 in hard cash. Remember that you have only to win a Diploma (an artistic and desirable prize in itself) to be "booked for the Palace." The chances of your doing so were never brighter, for no exhibitor can win more than one; and so the way has been cleared for you. Secure your coupons (only sixpence each) at once; some excellent shows are due, at which you can compete. There must remain scores of exhibitors capable of winning one or other of our prizes, who have been, perhaps, too modest to enter their birds in our Coupon Competition. We, however, want all our readers who exhibit birds to share in them. Don't be too late. Exhibitors, whether of Canaries or Hybrids or British or Foreign birds have now glorious chances.

THE NEXT COUPON SHOWS.

Dec. 9-10.—Brighton and Hove.—W. H. Gibb, 19, Bond St., Brighton.
Dec. 11.—Frome.—C. I. Young, 8, Palmer St.
Dec. 11.—Tredegar.—W. B. Watkins, 35, Whitworth Terrace.
(Any entries for the above must be sent immediately.)
Dec. 12-13.—Gateshead.—W. Curry, 102, West St., Gateshead-on-Tyne.
Dec. 12-13.—Walsall.—F. Price, 18, Milton St.
Dec. 20.—Newtongrange (Scotland). — W. Bryson, 42, Fifth St.

Many thanks for the fine diploma of honour won at Cheltenham Show in the Border section.—J. Madagan (Cheltenham).

Diploma received, for which I thank you. I need hardly say how delighted I am with it, I shall have it framed, for it will look very nice, and it is well worth hanging on any wall. —C. Richards (Newport).

Accept my best thanks for fine diploma of honour. I shall value it very highly, and have had it framed.—S. T. Jones (Lynton).

Many thanks for your splendid diploma of honour which I won with my young Yellow Belgian cock (also challenge bowl) in open competition as a novice at Barnstaple Show; also 1st Swansea, 1st L.C.B.A.—F. Butts (Barnstaple).

Many thanks for the two diplomas of honour you have sent me, one for British and one for Norwich. They are beautifully finished, and a great credit to your artist.—J. N. Williams (Ashbourne).

Diploma design is very neat, and I am very pleased with it.—W. Francis (Tooting).

THE NEXT COUPON SHOWS.

Entries for the above shows are due to close now, and should be sent on at once. Those who wish to join in CAGE BIRDS Coupon Competition should note the paragraph: "How Exhibitors May Enter," printed below. Secretaries will be glad to affix the necessary coupons to the entry forms of exhibitors if the conditions of entry are duly observed.

We gave particulars of the classification at Brighton, Frome, and Tredegar Shows in our last issue; note the respective show advertisements, also our "Twitterings" page, this week, for latest date of entries closing.

WALSALL has 48 classes covering Nor. (4 special novice classes), Crests, Yorks. (4 novice), A.O.V. Can., Hyb., Brit. and For. The prize-money is 17/6; entry fee, 1/6. Entries close first post Dec. 9th.

GATESHEAD has 82 classes, covering Nor. (2 special novice classes), Cinns., Crests, Yorks. (3 novice), Scots., Bords. (2 novice), liz., Hyb., Brit. (2 novice), and For. Prizes, 20/-; entry fee, 1/6. Entries close this Saturday, December 6, or first post Dec. 8 latest.

NEWTONGRANGE has 45 classes, covering Nor., Bords., Scots, Yorks., Hyb., Brit., and For. Prizes, 17/6; entry fee, 1/6. Entries close Dec. 13th.

How Exhibitors May Enter.

All who intend entering Coupon birds at these shows must do so under these conditions. CAGE BIRDS offer the following Championship Coupon prizes:

10s. cash for best champion coupon bird.
10s. cash for best novice coupon bird.
Diplomas of honour for the best champion and best novice coupon birds in each of the four sections, or in as many of these sections as are included in the classification:

(1) Yorkshire Canaries.
(2) Norwich.
(3) Crest & Crestbred.
(4) Border Fancies.
(5) Scotch Fancies and Belgians.
(6) Greens.
(7) Lizards and Variegated.
(8) Any Other Variety Canary.
(9) Mules & Hybrids.
(10) British, Hartzdorf, Belgian.
(11) British, Scotch.
(12) Foreign.

All the exhibitor has to do is to stick one of CAGE BIRDS Coupons on his entry form and write "C.B." opposite each bird he wishes to compete, except if a novice, when he must write "C.B. Novice."

Coupons, price 6d. each, may be purchased from the offices of CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C., or, if the time is short, enclose the necessary extra cash with your entry fees to the secretary of the show, and he will affix coupons opposite whichever birds you have marked on your entry forms. Every coupon is numbered and a record of it kept at CAGE BIRDS offices.

NOTE CAREFULLY.—A coupon must be affixed to the entry form opposite every bird intended to compete in this Championship Competition. Any number of coupon birds may be entered by any exhibitor, either in one section or in several, as may be desired, so long as a coupon is used for each bird. For every coupon bird, of course, the usual entry fee must be paid to the show officials. Entries in CAGE BIRDS Championship Competition are accepted only on the understanding that the governing rules as published in CAGE BIRDS are to be absolutely final and legally binding.

The winner of any one of the foregoing diplomas will have the right to compete with not more than four birds, on payment to the Palace Show Authorities of the usual entry fee, in our final championship competition at the Crystal Palace Show of 1914.

FIRST PRIZE, £3;
SECOND PRIZE, £2;
THIRD PRIZE, £1.
FOURTH PRIZE, 10s.

The following cash prizes will also be offered for competition at the Crystal Palace Show:—£10 10s. for the best Coupon bird exhibited in the Champion classes in the above twelve sections; £10 10s. for the best Coupon bird shown by a novice other than the winner in the Champion Section. We shall also offer A TEN GUINEA CHALLENGE SHIELD, to be won three times in succession, for the best bird at the Crystal Palace Show entered in our Competition.

Some Important Points to Note.

2.—No coupons sold after the last day of December, 1913, except to previous purchasers, who have the right of duplicating their order up to the end of the season.

3.—No bird with trimmed, painted or dyed plumage, will be eligible to compete, and all entries must be the bonafide property of the exhibitor.

4.—The birds entered may be of any age, and either rung or not rung.

5.—The Judge will be instructed to withhold a diploma should the merit of the competing birds in any particular section not justify its award.

6.—We reserve the right, in the event of there being less than 10 separate competitors altogether in our competition at any one Diploma Show to withhold the cash prizes thereat, the diplomas remaining on offer for as many birds as are eligible for them.

7.—No exhibitor may win more than one diploma in the season in any one section, and no exhibitor will be allowed to win more than two of the 10s. prizes offered at the Diploma Shows, each of which must be won with a different bird; but an exhibitor may (if able) win one diploma in each of the 12 sections.

8.—An exhibitor who has won a diploma need not necessarily enter the same bird for the final competition. By winning the diploma he has the right to nominate and enter not more than four birds in any one of the 12 sections for the final competition, and for each entry made for the final competition at the Crystal Palace a coupon will be necessary.

CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE : For Full Particulars See Last Issue.

Many readers of CAGE BIRDS have written to say that they would like to join CAGE BIRDS' LEAGUE, but cannot afford the subscription. To meet their wishes we have decided to form, in connection with the LEAGUE, a body of Associates. All we ask of these Associates is that they will promise to give every possible attention to the wants of their birds. And they must induce others to see that their birds are kept happy and contented.

All that the intending Associate has to do is either to sign the coupon herewith, and send the same, together with sevenpence, or to get five of his or her friends to sign each a similar coupon, and send the six, together with a penny stamp, to the Secretary of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE, who will forward by return an enamelled Button Badge of the LEAGUE. There will be no other charge. NOW, THEN, BIRD LOVERS!—USE YOUR BEST EFFORTS IN THIS SPLENDID CAUSE.

HENRY J. FULLJAMES, Secretary CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE. 154, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

SALE (Cheshire).

Once again this enterprising Society came to the fore with an entry of nearly 600 exhibits in 50 open classes, which were staged in the Technical Schools on Nov. 28, 29, a room that any executive would be proud of, exceptionally well lighted and cosy for the birds, every door was well screened, so that not a bit of draught was felt anywhere. Staging was at a nice height, so that the birds could be comfortably seen, and the management was of the best. The entry was in advance of last year, especially in York., which created a record for Sale. In the e classes, quality ran very high, and the winners must have been hard to separate. The outstanding bird was undoubtedly Mr. W. R. Knowles' clear yellow. Norwich were down on former years; this being a Norwich centre we expected to see greater numbers. There was a good classification, good specials, and a popular judge; another year we hope to see a better entry. Quality was good. It is a long time since we saw such a collection of British; in most classes a double set of winners could easily be found. It is a feather in the Society's cap to see so many of the crack British men exhibiting here. Mules and hybrids were an eye-opener, some choice specimens being on view. The much-talked of Canary-Bullie, the property of Mr. Parlett, was entered, but the judge put it out for an Albino Bullfinch. We heard at the show that its former owner, a lady at Nottingham, bred it from a Greenfinch and Bullfinch, and that it was quite dark in feather the first twelve months, but afterwards moulted out lighter. Foreign came out well, and were a decided attraction. There was a good gate. We noticed many well-known clergymen from Manchester being escorted round by Mr. Boothman, show manager of Manchester. The Hon. Sec., Mr. Hardcastle, may feel justly proud of his endeavours. He gets through his work without trouble either to himself or Committee. He was admirably backed up by a lot of hard-working fanciers. Messrs. Hollsworths and Kitchen, worked like Trojans. Mr. W. Middleton, the well-known Border enthusiast, was busy feeding and watering all the wee gems. Mr. Whitney gave great assistance to the hon. sec. and looked well after the British birds. The open challenge cup was won by Mr. W. Middleton with 109 points; Mr. Parlett runner up, 79. Messrs. Whitney and Son won the nomination cup in British, while the cup for best Border was won by Mr. W. Middleton. The judges, Mr. J. W. Metcalf, Liverpool and T. Harrison, Altrincham, got through their work in good time and gave universal satisfaction.

DUNDEE.

Annual open show held Nov. 29 in the Gymnasium, Ward Road. The hall is one of the best for such a purpose, and is splendidly lighted all round, and a great improvement on most shows was a cloth screen stretched all round the back of staging, thus excluding any draught and doing away with the glare of light which is present when windows are at back of staging. Entries, we are sorry to say, were 100 down from last year. There is a good deal of truth in the assertion that there are too many shows nowadays for all to succeed, but it seems a pity that an old society like Dundee should suffer, and we hope lanciers will rally round the old club and not let what was once considered one of the most important shows in Scotland go out of existence for want of support. The average over the whole show was less than seven per class. The executive is a grand band of workers, consisting of the President, Mr. Herschell; vice, Mr. Mitchell; and a grand working committee, while the stewards also worked very hard to make the show a success. We noticed, as usual, Mrs. Miller, the wife of the genial sec., taking duty for him during his temporary absence, and must congratulate her on the way she carried on the duties during the busy time of judging and helped to carry out the arrangements so ably made by Mr. Miller. Cup for best young Crest, Mr. McMaster.

Scotch Fancies did not turn up in any great number, only 51 entries in nine classes. Challenge cup for best young cock bred by a member was gained by Mr. T. Thomson; cup for best hen bred 1913 Mr. A. McLauchlan. Mules and British came up fairly well, and some birds of excellent merit turned up, outstanding amongst them being Messrs. Stewert and Dailing's team. The challenge cup for best Brit. was captured by Mr. A. R. Towns with his well-known Redstart in perfect plumage; this is the third year in succession this bird has won, so the cup becomes Mr. Towns' own property.

Judges were:—Scotch Fancy, Mr. D. Black (Govan) and Mr. J. Black (Arbroath); Crests and P.B., Mr. J. F. Dewar (Edinburgh); Bord, Mr. J. Craig (Brechin); Mules and Brit., Mr. J. Lyon (Aberdeen); and their awards seemed to give satisfaction, for, except in one or two instances, no grumbling was heard.

The Critique.

CREST CK. (5): 1, Herschell, grand Green, massive build, very good crest, of fine radiation, long leafy feather, coming well over, nice qual.; 2, Whitton, good wing mkd. WHITEHAVEN.

Annual show held Nov 28, 29, and it proved a great success. Entries were well up to former years, and quality was A1. Norwich and Yorks. were a grand collection, especially the Yorkshires, which contained some of the cream of the fancy, many of the classes being very keenly contested, particularly the novice classes. Bord. and Brit. were also good, the Borders having many well-known winners in their ranks. Gold medal for best bird was secured by Mr. J. Dixon with a sweet, even marked bull hen. Mr. A. Bennett judged Yorks., Norwich, and Sell., and Mr. J. W. Bruce the remainder, and their awards were well received. The management of this show is well known to be of the best, and this year was no exception. The staging was A1, and the committee had everything in apple-pie order, the proceedings being supervised by the worthy sec., Mr. W. A. Douglas, who was very busy indeed. The special feature of this show is the payment of prize money, which was being dispatched as soon as judging was completed. The show was well patronised, and we hope to hear of a financial success

BRIDLINGTON F. & F.S.

Show held Nov. 27; the entry in the cage bird section was more than double that of last year, whilst quality was splendid. Yorks. had seventy entries in five classes, and a grand lot they were. Norwich were also a most typical lot; several would doubtless have done better had they been better staged. A like remark applies to some of the Yorks. The exhibits were nicely staged at the far end of the hall, and no draughts could possibly reach them. The stewards looked well after the needs of the birds, whilst the secs., Messrs. J. R. Sturdy and J. Chadwick, did their utmost for the welfare of exhibitors and visitors. Mr. C. A. House judged.

"CAGE BIRDS," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C

A Magnificent Success at the Horticultural Hall.

L.C.B.A.'s ENTERPRISE MEETS A DESERVING REWARD.

A Splendid Attendance: Money Flows Into the Sales Office: Grand Exhibits in All Sections: The Finest Display of Foreign Birds Ever Seen.

BIRDKEEPERS will heartily congratulate the London Cage Bird Association on the magnificent exhibition held Nov. 27, 28, and 29 in the Horticultural Hall. In certain of its features it could claim to be unique, no such gathering of foreign birds, for instance marvellous in numbers and superb in rarity and beauty ever have been gathered together before. There was a feast of good things in every section, however, and these were appreciated to the full by the crowds of bird-lovers who visited the show. On the opening day there was quite a fashionable attendance, and it is evident that the keeping of birds appeals to a large section of those who move in the higher circles of London society.

During Saturday, and especially towards the evening, it was not easy to move about, despite the spaciousness of the hall. The latter, as we have pointed out in previous years, is absolutely ideal

It would puzzle the most inveterate grumbler to pick a fault in it as a rendezvous for a bird show. The birds were very neatly staged and could be inspected with every comfort the hall itself can rarely have presented a prettier or more charming spectacle. As we have remarked before, the L.C.B.A. deserves hearty congratulations on its great achievement.

Lady Pilkington Opens the Show.

The opening ceremony was performed by Lady Kathleen Pilkington, herself an enthusiastic bird-keeper. Lady Pilkington made an admirable little speech, in the course of which she said some nice things about the hobby and the L.C.B.A.'s show. Mr. R. L. Crisp presided, and he was supported by Mr. C. Pelham Sutton. There was an excellent attendance.

Two fanciers can fairly claim to have "won their spurs" as a result of this exhibition. We refer to Messrs. J. Bray and F. Knight, who filled the responsible posts of show managers. Though their first venture, they proved themselves masters of every detail and, what is equally essential, lovers of hard work, which they got in plenty, and in a stream that must have lasted for a week! Only those who have inside experience of the running of shows can adequately appreciate the anxieties and labours attaching to it. We heard nothing but high praise bestowed on Messrs. Bray and Knight, and right well they merited it. In Mr. Bray the Association has a truly splendid secretary, while genial Mr. Knight is just "it" in matters of show diplomacy.

The Association is also fortunate in its president, Mr. R. L. Crisp, than whom there can be none more fitted for such a post. He takes a real interest in every detail of the work, and is always accessible and courteous. Mr. Crisp has done much for the L.C.B.A., and every member realises and appreciates it. Mr. J. Robson, the very popular chairman, also lent able assistance.

An Unexpected and Annoying Happening.

One thing caused the officials great regret and not a little annoyance; this was the attitude taken up by the Hall authorities at the last moment on the question of dispatching the birds on the Sunday. They refused to permit it, and no arguments would move them, notwithstanding the fact that the Society had always previously got away the country exhibits then, and had made all arrangements to do so on the present occasion. The keeping of these particular birds back until Monday morning must have caused uneasiness in some quarters, and the Society ask us to express regret. They were landed in a quite unexpected difficulty.

A splendid band of workers assisted in the management of this great show, prominent amongst them being Mrs. Litchfield, Mrs. Thynne, Miss Robson, and Messrs. J. Tyson, Tyson, jun., W. H. Mugford, H. Peverall, J. W. Wright, J. Carson, A. J. Marley, F. Easterling, E. C. Offord, W. C. Penton, T. L. Sayer, W. A. Shepherd, A. Silver, A. Wallington, T. R. Trower, F. Boxall, H. W. Cook, A. C. Askew, J. Wright junr., V. Wynn, Castell, Walcham, Crust, J. Taylor, R. A. Newley, W. G. Elsmore (Taunton), Evans (Hindhead), Franz, Schlüter Townsend, Nichols, H. Smith, and H. W. Dickinson. That very hard-working and able fancier, Mr. J. Dewhurst, again took charge of the staging and feeding arrangements and, needless to say, these met with the appreciation of everybody.

A notable feature of the show was the centenarian Cockatoo, kindly put on exhibition by our old friend, Mr. J. F. Hills, and veteran judge, of Sudbury, Suffolk. This bird came to England in 1819, as can be established beyond question, and, as he was "no chicken" then, he must now be over 100 years' old! With the visitors he was a centre of interest—talked to and petted from morning until night. And the pressmen, too—how they seized on him. Surely no Cockatoo that ever lived was so much photographed and paragraphed; every newspaper featured him. And "Joey" is still so chockful of youthful vitality that it would occasion us no surprise to meet him again half-a-century hence—we will keep hopeful.

The "gate" on each of the three days the show lasted was very good, and we are informed that it promised to be ahead of any yet garnered by the Association. Over £70 in cash was taken at the door. The sales, too, came well up to the average—about £175—so that the heart of the Society's treasurer should find ranse for rejoicing. No sensational amounts were paid for birds. The highest was £15 for Mr. Crisp's young green marked yellow Yorks., and we believe this was paid to remove the temptation to buy him which two well known Yorkshiremen seemed likely to succumb to. Mr. Collinge's Bull Lanes, Plainhead found a buyer at £8 8s.; Mrs. Thynne's Crest at £5 5s., and Maroon Tanager, £5 5s., while many Yorks., Nor. and Crests changed hands at from £3 to £5 each. Mr. Maxwell's Red-faced Lovebirds (unnoticed) were claimed at £7.

A Pretty Problem Set for the Committee.

Incidents of an unpleasant nature happily were none. We heard of no disqualifications. A curious point was raised by a protest lodged against the several pairs of Bearded Tits which won prizes. It is alleged that pairs were not eligible to compete, as there was a special class provided for hens. This interesting problem is to be dealt with by the committee in due course.

Messrs. Trower and Co., the well-known seed and bird-food merchants, had a fine stall in the centre of the show-room, and were kept very busy booking orders. The samples they had on view were exceptionally good, and served to enhance the reputation of excellence and quality which this firm has established. The exhibits during the show were fed on seeds and foods supplied by Messrs. Trower, and the condition of the birds evidenced their appreciation of the fare.

Messrs. Baron and Co. had on view their "Kozy Karrier," and this really wonderful case for holding show cages, etc., was universally admired. Nothing like it for strength and lightness combined has ever been put before the Fancy, and we predict a big future for it. Users of the "Kozy Karrier" will very considerably reduce their bills for railway charges. Inspect one and see for yourselves how money can be saved.

Another attractive stall was that of Messrs. Hyde and Co., whose packet seeds and foods are so widely used and appreciated. CAGE BIRDS stall was in its usual place, and we had many visitors, while the demand for our books, etc., was brisk.

The Wonderful Improvement of the Norwich.

Norwich were a splendid lot, some of the best birds in the country were on view, far ahead of anything seen of late years down south. It is wonderful how this variety has improved of late years instead of the flat snaky headed, and frequently browed specimens, we used to see, we have birds with large round heads, possessing grand width and rise in front, wide round shoulders, and great depth, and size, and yet withal type and qual. has been preserved. Some fine specimens were exhibited by Messrs. Hodder, Whetstone, Saunders, Houghton, Collings, and Thomas, the latter of whom showed two of the loveliest unlighted birds we have ever had the pleasure to see. Members' champion silver challenge cup was won by Mr. J. Hodder with one of his unlighted yellows. Large numbers of fanciers were to be seen around the chubby ones, among whom we had the pleasure of seeing once more that ardent lover of a good Norwich, Mr. E. Baker, of Cowes, also Messrs. Keech, Cole, Thomsett, Pounsett, and Treasure, of Cheltenham, Mr. Midgley, and many others.

Craze For Size Not Pandered To.

As usual, the Yorkshires made a wonderfully imposing show, and had a host of admirers. Mr. Kearns (Rawtenshaw), Messrs. Ogden Bros. (Bradford), and Mr. Binns (Blackpool) were the chief representatives of the Northern exhibitors, and although they did well, they had to take back seats in some of the classes, where the men of the South held the trump cards. It is doubtful if the popular president, Mr. R. L. Crisp, ever staged a better team than he did this year; he was either winning or in the cards in every class except the yellow cocks, where Mr. G. T. Green (New Southgate) put down a magnificent specimen. There were some lovely birds in the novice section, and all the classes were well filled, particularly the unlighted, which drew an entry of thirty-five; the leaders were all right, but we did not think the merit all through was quite so high as in previous years. The winners in both sections were not noticeable particularly for size, but no one could complain about them for good Yorks properties, well bred, proportionate birds, all possessing quality as feather of the very highest excellence. Many of the extra big ones were left quite out in the cold. The Greens were not numerous, and were chiefly remarkable for their general levelness, both in type and colour, and must have given the judge a few moments of very serious thought. Mr. Metcalfe (Liverpool) staged the winners in both classes.

There was a good show of Lancashires, some thirty birds being staged, which is good for a Southern show, as these grand birds are not so popular around London as in the North, where most of the exhibits came from. Mr. F. J. Green (Loughborough) had out a magnificent team, and did remarkably well.

Belgians were only sufficient in numbers to let us know that the variety is still in existence, the three classes being confined to three exhibitors, all from the West Country, this variety still being fostered by a few enthusiasts in Devon.

One Solitary White Canary!

One solitary specimen represented the White Canaries. Will they ever become popular?

It was the best show of Borders seen in the South this season, and so it should be, when one considers that three specialist clubs devoted to the "wee gems" were represented. The Southern men held their own fairly well, Mr. Pratt (Exmouth) winning in yellow cocks with one of the best, and Mr. Jenkins (Swansea) romping home with a sweet yellow hen. Mr. J. S. Wilson (Workington) staged some gems; his buff hen was quite an outstanding bird, and much admired by the Southern fanciers. The grand class of Cinnamons was eagerly looked over, the three leaders, owned by Mr. W. S. Wilson and Mr. D. Hamilton, being as near perfection as one could wish. One hardly knew which to admire most, the yellows or buffs. The two Green classes contained twenty-eight charmers—a particularly level lot—and all the premier awards went North; Greens do not appear to quite take on in the South just yet, although we heard many expressions of future interest to be taken in them.

A Hybrid Everyone Wanted to Inspect.

Each day there was always a crowd round the Hybrid section. These birds are popular with all classes of fanciers and ordinary visitors. The classes, with one or two exceptions, were nicely filled, and although everyone could not follow the selections made by the judges, the differences were little, for the merit of all was so high that in some classes every bird was nearly perfection. This was especially the case in Bullfinch Hybrids, the first half-dozen being gems of the first water. Mr. Higham repeated his Watford success by again standing in the premier position with his charming Cinnamon Canary, a bird that everybody was enquiring about. Mrs. Middleton's Greenfinch-Chaffinch had its due share of admirers. It looked in splendid fettle, and once again headed the class. The lightly marked class was a stormer, and was not to be passed lightly by anyone interested in these fascinating beauties. Mr. Gilbert (Coventry) put down a couple of gems. Mr. Lamb (New Malden) was the only exhibitor in the clear class, these birds apparently being as difficult to obtain as ever. Darks were a magnificent collection, it being a toss-up between the three or four leaders in the Goldfinch class, the same remark applying equally well to the Dark Linnets, where Mr. J. Crone held the two winning cards, a charming pair. Although the class of pairs matched for Hybrid breeding had sixteen entries, somehow they did not appear to attract much attention, all the interest being centred upon the produced article.

Classes Worth A Long Journey To See.

The Insectivorous classes contained some 110 entries, and made a very interesting collection, which must have afforded much pleasure to those interested in this branch of the Fancy, and be a complete answer to those fadaists who preach upon the "cruelty of caging our wild birds. Those who saw the charming little Goldcrests, Treecreepers, Dartford Warblers, Nightingales, and other of the migratory species, could, we are sure, only feel that such birds easily adapt themselves to cage life and afford much pleasure to their owners, who so assiduously attend to their daily wants, and give them the many "tit-bits" they so much appreciate. The public are able to see many species that are even now practically unknown to it except perhaps by name. For instance, we heard many express surprise that the Nightingale was not as large as a Missel Thrush, and that Wagtails and Wrens could be kept in cages afforded no little surprise. The small insectivorous class was a sight well worth a long journey to see, also the Nightingales and Blackcaps. Mr. Frostick secured the diploma with his noted Dartford Warbler. The Albino class also proved of great interest to the public. The novice classes brought out some birds that could well have held their own in the open classes, particularly in the Goldfinches, and it is worthy of note that an exhibitor in the novice section secured 1st prize in the open Nightingale class. A little more attention to cages in these classes would add very much to the chances of the exhibits to "catch the judge's eye." It is the first time Mr. Marley has officiated at this show, and on the whole his awards were well received, although one or two of them did not pass without considerable comment.

The Most Wonderful Collection Ever Seen.

The enlarged classification guaranteed by the F.B.E.L., met with a well deserved reward, there being a grand total of 450 entries in this section, which was also under the patronage of the F.B.C., and the League is to be heartily congratulated on the initial success. The Parrot section was perhaps the least successful, although there were some birds of exceptional merit and rarity; but the birds staged give little indication of the variety or large numbers of the Parrot tribe which are kept in captivity. Miss Clare's Hooded and Queen Alexandra Parrakeets, the Rev. G. H. Raynor's Ambreys, Le Vaillant's, and Red-vented Parrakeets, and Mr. C. T. Maxwell's Blue-rumped Parrot being the only birds of note. True, there were a few beautiful Lories and Lorikeets, but these we are accustomed to see staged annually. It is a surprise that these classes did not secure a larger entry, for the keepers of Psittacii have certainly increased lately in number; such birds, however, are now largely kept in aviaries, and the trouble of catching and sending probably explains why more of the rarer species were not staged. Parrot-keepers should remove this reproach at another exhibition. In the group of classes which covered the "Common Ornamental Finches" there was a truly great display, abundant testimony to the popularity and the exquisite beauty of these cheaply obtained species. Among the Grassfinches and Rarer Waxbills, avian gems were arrayed in goodly numbers, far too numerous to pass in review. In the classes for Rarer Species, to the Sunbirds must be awarded the palm, Mr. Ezra's exquisite sextet being a marvel of dazzling beauty, elegance, and grace, attributes which belong to many Foreign Softbills, but more especially so to the Fruit-eating and Honey-sucking groups. In the group of classes given up to Insect-eaters the same pleasant story is to be told, and species either very rare or new to the bench were gathered together in grand array, making a galaxy of beauty that had to be seen to be adequately realised. We give, en passant, groups of first appearances or rarities. First appearances: Greater Amethyst, Lesser Double-collared and Black-breasted Yellow-backed Sunbirds, Yucatan Jay, Lutino Blossom-headed Parrakeet, Small Minivet, Red-flanked Bush Robin, Large Niltava, Indian Fire-caps, Red-tailed Minla Black-throated Wren Warbler, Mahali and Bronze Weavers, and Chilian Finches. Rarities, or only occasional appearances: Ambrey's and Le Vaillant's Parrots, Yellow-backed and Gold-collared Paradise Whydahs, Fire-tailed Finches, Peale's Parrot Finch, Black-faced Quail Finches, Red-faced Finches, Peter's Spotted-sided Finch, Chilian Siskin, Blue Chaffinch, Black Bullfinch or Grosbeak, Southern Malachite and Yellow-backed Red Sunbird, Black-crested Bulbul, Brown-eared Bulbul, Lutino Ring-neck Parrakeet, Blue Budgerigars, Short-billed Minivet, Blue-fronted Redstart, Black-chinned Yuhinas, Pigmy Woodpecker, Pink-crested Touraco, Indian White-breasted Kingfisher, and Le Vaillant's Barbet. We believe the above list is about correct, but the shortness of time before going to press prevents any exhaustive analysis.

The foregoing gives merely an indication of the success of this section, such numbers being unprecedented the interest of the public was sustained during the whole period of the show and to one and all there has been the pleasure of witnessing an unqualified success.

The light during the progress of judging was splendid and, of course, materially assisted the judges in their anything but easy task. These gentlemen seem to have done well, for we did not hear any considerable amount of "grumbling" even from the exhibitors whose birds failed to catch their eye. In one or two sections some difference of opinion was expressed, but as the competition therein was perhaps of unparalleled severity, this is matter for small wonder. Those officiating were Messrs. J. E. Davies, F. Easterling, F. Finn, F. E. Fisher, D. A. S. Longden, A. J. Marley, P. Mason, C. Prior, J. Robson, D. Seth-Smith, J. Tyson, and G. Warcing. The sections allotted them are made clear in our critique.

THE CRESTS & CREST-BREDS

Mr. J. Robson's Classes.

BUFF CREST HEN (10): 1, Broad, almost green, huge body and tremendous spread of crest, good texture, shape and centre, thickly built, but inclined to life a little—too rough, in fact, in both body and crest for a good show bird, yet hard to pass, wonderful stock hen; 2, Dobson, heavy variegated, not the phenomenal size of crest, yet a big spread, very neat and nice, beautiful droop and leafy feather, extra good body, grand hen; 3, 7, Radley and Son, two clinkers, 3rd mkd. right wing, fine, grandly radiated headpiece, round and neat, well lined at back, shade open at centre, good body and feather; 4, Evins Bros., cl. body, lovely spread of crest, nicely drooped, very neat, not quite so thickly packed; 5, Mrs. T. Taylor, grand hen, loses a shade in texture; 6, King. BUFF C.B. HEN (13): 1, 2, Evins Bros., winner almost green and simply magnificent, exceptionally broad, leafy feather, huge body, wonderful width and rise of skull, long, thick head feather, gem, 2nd we did not like the look of, poor feather texture, comparatively, and not the frame; how it handled, of course, we cannot say, catalogued at 70s., and claimed; 3, Lieut.-Col. Gabriel, green, not over big, beautiful texture of feather and plenty of it, fine width of skull, nice cushion and lash, neat all over; 4, White, grand big bird, splendid qual. feather, trifle pinched in skull; 5, Jones and Crest; 6, Franz, looked a grand one; 7, Miss Onslow. YELL. C.B. (7): 1, Evins Bros., almost green, really wonderful head and subs., magnificent texture of feather and plenty of it; 2, Crow, good body, trifle narrow in skull, splendid feather properties, this bird is very oddly marked at base of beak, which quite spoils its looks; 3, Mrs. Litchfield, wonderfully good

THE NORWICH CANARIES.

Judge, Mr. J. E. Davies.

CL. YELL. (10): 1, Hodder, grand round head, with nice rise, good broad back, wonderful depth of chest, beautiful wings and tail, fine qual., glorious col., gem; 2, Baker, nice shape, short and compact body, well cut away, silky texture of feather, col. of the best, loses only depth of chest, good second; 3, Houghton, neat and compact all through, nice even colour, hardly the subs.; 4, Irons, type and qual. all there, grand col., loses a little in compactness; 5, 7, Collings; 6, Gill and Pethick. BUFF (13): 1, diploma, Whetstone, massive bmkd, wonderful subs., and feather, little slack at thighs to-day, otherwise real stormer; 2, Thomas, well formed head, correct shape, beautifully round back and chest, wonderful bloom, deserves its place; 3, Hodder, fine bold bird, neat, full head, lovely shape, grand under col. and meating, hardly so shut; 4, A. E. Silk, well moulded frame, close feather, of fine qual.; 5, Houghton; 6, Gill and Pethick. TKD., ETC., YELL. (17): 1, award of merit, Saunders, beautiful broad skull, short neck, thick set body, beautiful qual., nice bird; 2, Baker, mkd. shoulder and wing, short and compact, well filled in back, lovely feather, hot col., hardly the wing carr. perhaps, close up; 3, Thomas, grand subs., chubby in build, glorious col., fails a little in wings; 4, Rippon, head mkd., well known winner, fine bold bird of right sort, fails head to leaders; 5, Houghton; 6, Gill and Pethick; 7, sp, Keech. BUFF (10): 1, award of merit, Houghton, saddle mkd., big one, grand front, splendid feather, best of under col., well known winner; 2, Collings, neck mkd., neat head, fine silky texture of feather, beautiful sheen, tending to carry one wing rather awkwardly at times; 3, Hodder, grand, full large head, well filled back, perfect wings and tail, well cleaned out, close up; 4, Keech, good shape and best of feather, hardly so tight; 5, Olive; 6, Rippon; 7, Midgley. YELL. HEN (12): 1, Collings, well-known winner, in grand form, one of the sweetest yellows seen for a long time; 2, Hodder, last year's winner, cobby shape, sweet head, beautiful wings and tail, smooth as glass, hardly the size of leader; 3, Whetstone, model for shape, well up in size, good col., but open in feather when we saw it; 4, Thomas, bouncing hen, well over perch, rather narrow over beak; 5, Richardson; 6, Gill and Pethick; 7, Keech. BUFF (13): 1, Houghton, real stormer, wonderful size, rare subs., qual., and type, all to be desired; 2, Thorburn, beautiful bird throughout, short beak, neat, full head, glorious type and qual., loses only in size; 3, 5, A. E. Silk, nice large hen, qual. and col. all there; 4, Gill and Pethick, another of right stamp, loses a little in head and wing carr.; 6, Mrs. Williams; 7, Richardson. UNFLIG. YELL. (16): 1, Thomas, real beauty, head tkd., wonderful skull, grand texture, feather, great size, all front, take some stopping another year; 2, Houghton, well shaped head, back nicely filled in, close feather, level col., fails to winner in size and wing carr., nevertheless nice bird; 3, Whetstone, one of the best for shape and col., seemed a bit slack in feather when we saw it; 4, A. E. Silk, neat, cobby, good qual., bit on small side, tail feathers appearing rather rough; 5, Irons, rare type, grand size, glorious col., and nice feather, really fine bird, one of the best in class, our choice for 2nd place as we saw it; 6, Saunders; 7, Whetstone. BUFF (19): 1, Thomas, head and wing mkd., all to be desired, wonderful frame, greatly admired by many, grand under col., rare bloom, gem; 2, Butterfield, good second, neat all over, pleasing exhibit, tight as a Java, hard to find fault with; 3, Houghton, well moulded throughout, sweet head, well over perch, good col. and mealing, in its right place; 4, 7, Saunders, all there for size, and carries a tight fitting coat of grand qual., bit flat on skull; 5, 6, Collings. YELL., CL., ETC. (15): 1, diploma, Leese, fine size, well proportioned throughout, fine firm col. of the best; 2, E. A. Smith, nice qual. feather, neat head, loses a little in shape of body; 3, Leech, very smart bird, good back and chest, bit horned when we saw it, which probably told against it; 4, W. N. Smith, neat exhibit, nice fitting jacket, hardly subs.; 5, Thurley, typical bird, of good qual., bit unsteady; 6, Cole; 7, Burt, very nice bird, could have stood higher. BUFF. CL., ETC. (16): 1, diploma, E. A. Smith, slashing big bird, well filled back, fine under col., and mealing; 2, Annison, well shaped head, rich qual., tight fitting feather of right texture, loses little in col.; 3, W. Smith, good feather, nice shape and style; 4, Burt, good round back, deep chest, close feather, well cut away; 5, Walmsley; 6, Griffin, grandly shaped head, tight as a Java, could we think have stood higher; 7, Leech. MKD. (13): 1, James, neck mkd. yell., large bird, nice shape, very steady; 2, Laccohee, varieg. Yell., very good shape, lovely back, nice varieg., appears in soft moult, which no doubt put it back; 4, massive bird, of good shape, quality of the best; 5, Cole; 6, Leech; 7, Laccohee. HENS, A.V. (27): 1, award of merit, George, nice shape, well across perch, nicely moulded, even col.; 2, Laccohee, head tkd., yell., good hen, feathered to perfection, hardly so short in neck; 3, George, neck mkd. and grizzled tail yell., lovely hen, shown in grand form, could have stood higher; 4, E. A. Smith, neat wing mkd; 5, Beavington; 6, Cooper; 7, Johnson. UNFLIG. YELL. (2): 1, 2, Lamb, two beautiful exhibits, leader, this year's winner at many shows, looking hardly so fit as usual; 2nd, although a smaller bird, beats him hands down in condition, a gem for shape and proportion, not a feather out of place. UNEVEN GOLDF.-CAN. (17): 1, 3, Gilbert, yellow, mkd. wing, capital size and shape, with a good touch of blaze and richness of body col.. seldom seen in one so nearly clear, nice cond.; 3, gem, we liked equally as well, quite as good in col., a little more rounded in contour, brimful of qual., feathered to perfection; 2, 4, Lamb, eyes and tail mkd. buff, larger than winner, hardly so shapely, capital blaze, good rich wing bars, lovely qual. of feather; 4, grand wing mkd., shade paler in col., but beautifully modelled and packed, rich bars, faultless cond.; 5, Ramsden, big variegd., capital blaze and wing bars, hardly the shape of winners, still lovely qual., in grand cond.; 6, Wood, wonderful size, four-pointed, stormer for subs., wee bit pinched in face, but A1 qual.; 7, McQuiston and Paterson. A.O. UNEVEN (3): 1, Hart, Greenf.-Can., splashed on cheeks and grizzled on wing, wonderful size and shape, beautifully proportioned, nice rich even tone of col. throughout, in the pink of condition; 2, Gilbert, Linnet-Can., mkd. wings and tail, fair size, Linnet, type and style, nice cond., interesting exhibit. DK. GOLDF.-CAN. (9): 1, Crone, excellent shapely body, wee bit snaky in head and neck, good expansive blaze, hot rich col. throughout, beautifully burnished; 2, 4, Lamb, wonderful size, shapely, good full head, dense rich markings, grand colour, although scarcely so full toned as winner, brimful of qual., magnificent cond., must have pressed hard; 4, another gem for polish, hardly the subs. of winners, but grand depth of col., in the pink of condition; 3, McQuiston and Paterson, rather sweeter type than leaders, scarcely the subs., good rich blaze, splendidly coloured, grand well defined wings, in wonderful feather; 5, Law; 6, Leavers; 7, Askew. DK. LINNET (13): 1, 2, Crone, leader, grand size and shape, beautifully proportioned, good col. throughout, nicely pencilled, fine cond.; 2, a trifle more shapely, and bit better burnished, hardly the size, but full of col. and qual., a gem; 3, 4, Middleton, grand size and shape, beautifully proportioned, clean cut, rich, dark col. well laced and burnished; 4, shade smaller, but a bonny bird for shape and qual. of feather, full of polish, grand depth of col; 5, Juby; 6, Wilson; 7, Ramsden. A.O.V. DARK (20): 1, McQuiston and Paterson, magnificent Greenf.-Can., real stormer for size and subs., grandly proportioned, good bold front, wonderful depth of col., capital wings, in the pink of cond.; 2, Miss Bousfield, Twite-Cah., a grand exhibit, showing the wild bird strongly, full of pencilling, rich depth of col., in very fine condition; 3, Middleton, grand Siskin, wonderful size, well filled and packed, nothing snaky about him, densely mkd., A1 tone of col.; 4, Goodall, Redpoll-Can., lovely size and shape, wonderful depth of col., brimful of qual., a big swell for a yell. bird; 5, Johnstone; 6, Buckingham; 7, Ford. BULLF.-HYB. (10): 1, Higham, Cinn. Can.-Bullie, Watford winner, shapely, nice size and chaste in colouring, hardly the condition and polish one expects to see in a big winner; 2, Crone, Can.-Bullf., magnificent size and subs., shapely, dense, rich wings, good back, a blaze of col., in the pink of condition, many preferred to winner; 3, 5, Lamb, Redpoll-Bullf., good as one could wish of the cross, grand size, shape, density of markings, and a wonderful richness of col., a real gem; 4, Dewhurst, Greenf.-Bullf., not an extraordinary size for the cross, nor particularly rich in col., but grand shape, good cap, and nice dense wings, in capital cond.; 5, Lamb, another magnificent Can.-Bullie, quite equal to 2nd, even a shade larger, better cap, and markings more richly defined, but hardly the depth of breast col., put down in the pink of cond.; 6, Hart; 7, Wilson. BETWEEN TWO BRIT. (8): 1, Mrs. Middleton, Greenf.-Chaff., interesting, capital size and shape, good wings, showing nice splash of yellow on wing-butts and eye stripe, in lovely cond.; 2, Collins, grand Goldf.-Redpoll, chubby build, full head and neck, capital blaze, good wings, with well defined bars, grand feather; 3, 5, Ramsden, well-known Redpoll-Greenf., lovely tone of breast col., a nice spec. of the cross, in grand fettle; 4, Gilbert, Bramble-Chaffinch, grand size, wonderful col., more Bramble than Chaffie, in capital order; 6, Mascall; 7, Wood. PAIRS: 1, Nicholas, Greenfinch and big hen Bullie, grand size and shape, both rich col., and fine cond.; 2, Manner-ing, big cock Greenf. and hen Chaffineh, apparently on the best of terms with each other, the Greenle a beauty for size and col.; 3, Mrs. Frostick, ck. Goldie, of wonderful blaze and richness of col., big and shapely, with hen Bullie of size and type, a show bird all over, we preferred as winners; 4, Francis, cock Chaffineh, grand col., and good hen Bramble, very fine cond.; 5, Hobden; 6, Vale; 7, Offord.

THE BRITISH BIRDS.

Mr. C. Prior's Classes.

GOLDF. (11): 1, Marley, just a fair Finch, medium sized blaze, cleanly cut, not very solid in colour, shapely body, nice tanuing and polish, well mkd. wings; 2, Bowler, better col. and buttons, tighter and more polished in plumage, rich blaze, but not large, good tan and markings, pressed hard; 3, Col. Routh, very nice cond., best col. in class, deep crimson blaze, but not cleanly cut, or expansive, lovely chestnut back and breast, either of this trio could have won; 4, Pearce, stylish, shapely Finch, well-cut blaze, of fair size, excellent cond., claimed at 32s. 6d.; 5, Casemore; 6, Francis; 7, Dell. No. 6, Drowley, nice one, not moulted yet. The poorest lot of Goldfinches ever seen at this show; not a real good one amongst them. BULLF. (11): 1, Woods, on the small side and a shade slim in build, otherwise a gem, magnificent fiery breast, lovely cap and wings, shining like silk all over, very steady and tight as wax; 2, Carrier, the best bird for size, shape and cap, beautiful cobby body, bold head and neck, grand back and wings, splendid solid rich breast, perhaps hardly so hot as leader's, we liked, but understand was a bit wild when judged; 3, Nicholas, hardly so thick set as 2nd, but tremendous colour, very fine cap, best of wings and polish, should make a grand bird; 4, Bignall, much paler on breast, beautiful type and style, sleek and neat all over, well cut cap; 5, Sykes, nice one, close up; 6, Wren; 7, Drowley; absent, Lloyd-James. SISKIN (11): 1, McQuiston and Paterson, colour-fed, truly a gem, best cap and bib, in combination, we remember seeing on a h.m. bird, remarkably dense and clean cut, grand body and style, plumage polished to perfection, lovely flank lacing; 2, 7, Francis, leader nat. col., trifle unsteady, good size, shape and colour, bonny cap and wings, neat little bib, good flanks, should make nice one; 3, Gillivray Bros., real beauty, nicely col. fed., waxlike in plumage and shining like a mirror, lovely size and shape, splendid cap and bib, well pencilled flanks, presses 1st hard, not quite so perfect in cap; 4, Lloyd-James, best bib in class, very nice size, shape, and col. (fed), grand wings, hardly so bold in head; 5, Sexton, very good, the Clapham, etc., winner; 6, Marley. LINNET (10): 1, McQuiston and Paterson, lovely bird, simply romps home, great size, grand head and chest, magnificent colour, the true "nutty" tone so seldom seen in these days of winners that are marked like hens, carries a charming sheen, and is well pencilled—not "streaked" like a hen; 2, 5, Marley, leader beautiful cobby shape, grand size, very stylish, full of work all over, beaten colour and polish, the noted "His Majesty," has seen his best days; 5th, we liked, big, fine, nutty colour, lovely polish, not so sharply marked; 3, Francis, grand bird for size and style, though a thought fine in head, bold chest, very heavily streaked, but henny in this character and in its colour, which is grey, and not brown, put down in excellent cond.; 4, Emms, lovely warm colour, polished like plate glass, good wings and tail, nice mkgs., loses a little in size and shape; 6, Drowley; 7, Pankhurst. Unnoticed, No. 5, Lloyd-James, unlucky to be out of it, but nervous when handled. TWITE AND MEALY REDPOLL (13): 1, McQuiston and Paterson, last year's winner, we believe, wins well again to-day, great size, bold head and chest, nice wings, grandly mkd. on breast, style and cond. all one could desire; 2, 3, Heal, a remarkable Redpoll, not, we venture to think, the ordinary Mealy, but a near relative, tremendous size, lovely clean tone of col., well laced at flanks, grand head, gem; 3rd another topping Twite, pressed winner very hard, not mkd. quite so well across breast, otherwise equal, in fascinating cond.; 4, Marley, also a very good Twite, lovely col., mkgs., and polish, but a size smaller; 5, Francis, huge Mealy Redpoll, nice col., extra good bib; 6, Fletcher; 7, Drowley. No. 8, Pankhurst, wrong class, should have been among the Lessers. LESSER REDPOLL (20): 1, 4, Marley, leader h.m., and one of the best and soundest coloured ever seen, splendidly mkd., tight as the proverbial drum in plumage and shining like silk, but he was decidedly lucky to win; 4th fine shapely h.m. bird, magnificent colour and lacing, loses in bib, again in A1 cond.; 2, Lloyd-James, h.m., wonderful size and shape, very thick-set, remarkably bold head, big, clean-cut bib, splendid lacing, beautiful cond., not so sound in breast col. as leader, but well ahead at all other points, we heard would not settle down when judged; 3, Ford, h.m., better head than 1st, nice neat bib, good shape and carriage, fair size, loses in colour a trifle, the Clapham, etc., winner; 5, Heal, another very excellent 'Poll; 6, Offord, the Shelfield winner, real good; 7, Miss Bousfield. Unnoticed, No. 10, McQuiston and Paterson, and No. 19, Sykes, two grand birds, the former a great winner this season in Scotland, rough when judged, we were told. GREENF. (20): 1, 3, 5, Marley, very fine trio, leader really grand solid-coloured Jonque, extra big and good in shape, plenty of gold in wings and tail, steady, well polished, and shows to perfection; 3rd extremely thick-set and shapely, grand head and neck, nice tone of col., lovely cond.; 2, Holborrow, exceptionally good buff, bouncer for size, rare qual. and excellent col., tight as wax in feather, well staged; 4, Vale, huge size, loses a trifle in cond. and col., grand head and chest, fine wings, worth its place; 6, Ford; 7, Francis. Unnoticed, No. 2, Drowley, lovely size and col., but has a curious square-looking head, a pity; No. 10, Lloyd-James, minus some secondary lights, or would have altered the awards. CHAFFINCH (10): 1, Sykes, beauty at all points, grand build and shape, bold head and chest, magnificent, solid, rich col., very forward cond., nice blue cap and dense bar, good whites and wing mkgs., wins to-day; 2, 7, Marley, 2nd real gem, wonderful head and chest, carries fascinating polish and exceptionally fine colour, good wings, very stylish carr., not quite so forward in cap, may turn the tables later; 3, Francis, also a magnificent Chaffie, but likewise not quite so forward as winner, all there for size, very racy and neat, wonderfully deep in tone of col., nicely polished; 4, Raine, big, bold, grandly built bird, very good sound col., steady, stylish, A1 cond., not far away; 5, Adams, really good, thinner in neck; 6, Nicholson and Son, we liked very much, gem for colour, shape and cond., struck an unlucky patch. A very hot class, this. HAWFINCH (9): 1, Oliver, perfect beauty for colour and cond., very rich at all points and waxlike in feather, excellent, clean cut bib, grand wings, chubby shape, but not very large, quickly claimed at £3; 2, Sykes, bigger, but shade narrow in head and thin in neck, nice col., very steady, perfect cond., fine bib; 3, McQuiston and Paterson, close up, thick set and more shapely than 2nd, grand col., very good bib, seemed unsteady, and had broken one or two of the "bill-hook" wing feathers; 4, 5, 6, Marley, real good trio, leader marvellous col. and polish, but on the small side; absent, Burrows. BRAMBLEFINCH (13): 1, 2, Sykes, two beauties, leader rare size and splendidly rich in col. all over, exceptionally well carried down breast, lovely clean-cut hood, finely spangled back and well laced flanks; 2nd grand size and shape, extra good head and chest, loses only in richness of col.; 3, 4, 5, Marley, highly creditable feat, three rattling good Brambles, too, good in all the exhibition points, the 4th was our fancy, being steeker in cond. than the 3rd and more sound and solid in breast col.; 6, Heal, good one for size and shape; 7, Francis, very nice; strong class. YELLOWHAMMER (8): 1, Lloyd James, grand bird of beautiful contour, rich body col., extra line in back markings, nice V on skull, and well marked checks; 2, Chesterfield, big as winner, but not the beauty of body col., lovely depth of yellows better skull, not yet clear on top of head, may beat winner later; 3, Marley, size smaller, beautiful back markings, head markings excellent, lovely "horse-shoes"; 4, Miss Bousfield, smart bird, best marked breast in class, lovely polish, bit nervous or might have done better, looks like improving; 5, Taylor; 6, Francis, nice one indeed; 7, Ford, strong class for quality. A.O. BUNTING (8): 1, 3, 6, Marley, leader Corn, extra fine in markings, had broken its frontal feathers earlier, and traces still showing, still bare on left side of face; 3rd, we liked even better than 1st, bigger, steadier, and quite as well marked; both shown in rather too small cages for the species; 2, Pearce, well marked Cirl, inclined to squat on perch, and wild when disturbed, or might have been 1st; 4, Mrs. Frostick, lovely Snow, but very wild, with a bit more cage life should be a good winner; 5, Clarke, very nice Corn; 7, Bignall, prettily mkd. Cirl. SONG THRUSH (9): 1, Wellings, one of the best marked Thrushes to be imagined, arrowheads beautifully distinct and well arranged in rows, lovely sheen and plumage, nicely steady, a good win; 2, Askew, very nice, plenty of markings, but not so well arranged as those of the winner, lovely quality of plumage and very steady; 3, Lott, the most profusely marked bird in the class, and the largest, loses in definition and arrangement of markings, great winner, but fairly beaten here; 4, Lund, charmingly steady, seems to be a hand-reared one, nice condition, and properly marked; 5, 7, Marley, leader beautiful Thrush, marked nearly as well as winner, lovely gloss of plumage, tame as possible, unfortunately lacks the middle claw of left foot, or must have been 2nd; 6, Taylor. BLACKBIRD (8): 1, 2, Marley, two wonderful Merles, Shakespeare's phrase personified, "The Ouzel-cock so black of hue"; black, indeed, yet shining with a metallic lustre, hard to say which of the two is the better, both perfection, enough said; 3, Adams, another marvel, extraordinary size, lovely gloss of plumage, dense black, beautiful orange beak and eeres, three equal 1sts would be the best way to put it, but for the unfortunate fact that the 3rd has lost the hind claw of his left foot; 4, Lott, lovely plumage, dense as possible in its blackness, size smaller than the three wonders above it, and a trifle unsteady; 5, Shirley; 6, Askew; 7, Frostick; a class of extraordinarily good Blackbirds. STARLING (10): 1, Lean and Son, mass of marvellous spangling all over its body, supreme gloss, beautifully steady, and yet sprightly enough to show its beauties to the very best advantage; 2, Dell, profuse spangling, well arranged, perfect in gloss of plumage, an old stager, steady as a rock; 3, Andrews, another lovely one, tame as possible, and singing to the best of a Starling's ability, evidently proud of it, not so much spangling as the others; 4, Oliver, slick upstanding bird, beautiful polish, of the small spangled persuasion: 5, Lott, nicely spangled, not the polish to-day of the others; 6, 7, A. and O. Wellings.

Mr. D. A. S. Longden's Classes.

TITS, ETC. (8); only three of the seven species of Tits represented, and some of them struck us as as having had assisted passages: 1, Goodall, Bearded Reedlings, perfect feather, but pale in body col., looked quite at home amongst the rushy cage decoration; 2, Mrs. Thynne, better coloured pair of same species, the cock bird having a rich coloured head and fine check markings, perfect cond., shown amongst the ivy this time, rather unlucky to take second place; 3, 6, 7, Miss Smith, nice pair of Marsh Tits, well polished black caps, perfect plumage and tastily shown; 6th, Blue Tits; 4, Harris, another pair of Bearded Reedlings, cock an extra large bird, but too pale in plumage, the cage was not the most suitable that could be found, too small; 5, Col. Routh. LARK or PIPIT (13): 1, Fletcher, capital Tree Pipit, good col. and heavily pencilled, full of bloom, shows itself well on a ladder of perches, well shown; 2, 4, 5, Lott, Skylark, Shorelark and Tree Pipit respectively, former a bold upstanding bird, in splendid condition, plenty of markings and sound col., well worth its place; 4th, fine cage moulted Shorelark, well up in col., plenty of size, but appeared a trifle nervous; 5th, very rich coloured Tree Pipit, shade smaller than winner, but a better col.; 3, Bascley, Skylark, we liked much, very tame and full of condition, good chest and bold carr., rich shade of plumage, looks like a hand-reared one; 6, McVay; 7, Smith, Rock Pipit, in nice order; abs., No. 3, Drayson, No. 13, Smth. SHRIKE, ETC. (8): 1, Frostick, Waxwing, rich col., lovely head and wings, good wing tips; 2, Wood, rare big Missel Thrush, densely spotted, the spots distinct and running well down the breast, full of bloom and steady as a rock; 3, 4, 6, Marley, well known Great Grey Shrike, spotless plumage, nice eye marks, very steady, and not a feather out of place, some liked this for 1st place; 4th, capital Fieldfare, lovely head, beautifully spotted, put down in A1 order; 5, Miss Bousfield. NIGHTINGALE and BLACKCAP (13): One of the best classes of these species that has been on view for a long time; 1, Lund, a very large 'Gale, and a grand col., but showed markings on breast which are only to be found on the Sprosser or Continental Nightingale, possibly the marks escaped the judge's eagle eye, perfect feather and condition, claimed at £2; 2, Maxwell, good Blackcap, lovely cap and very silky plumage, nice size and well shown; 3, Evans, another nice 'Gale, not nearly so large as 1st, but in grand condition, rich chestnut back and tail, shows well and quite tame; 4, Peck, charming Blackcap, must have pressed 2nd very hard, tight as wax, and well polished plumage, we liked better than 2nd; 5, Rose, real good 'Gale; 6, Vale; 7, Bent. CHOUGH, ETC. (3): A very small class, and the first time for many years that the Chough has not been represented, in fact, one usually finds our lustrous black friend with the red beak and legs heading the awards: 1, Vale, good Jay, nice size and col., well mkd. head, rich blue wings, spotlessly shown, very tame and interesting; 2, Whithair, real good Magpie, very pure in whites, full tail with the pretty greenish sheen, well polished head; 3, Pilgrim, another Jay, paler than winner and a little smaller, nice wings, perfect feather. WAGTAIL (4): Only two of the five species represented, Wagtails are easy to obtain and not difficult to keep, especially the Pied, and on the next occasion we hope to see this interesting class better filled; 1, Tout, large col. fed yellow, good eye marks and deep col. throughout, perfect in feather and well staged; 2, Dewhurst, Grey, fine lengthy bird, good col. and eye marks, shows well; 3, Rose, Yellow, pale in colour, and a bit patchy on the breast, not col.-fed, small compared with winner; 4, Maxwell, very large Grey, showing a little of the black throat of its summer plumage, claimed at £1 10s., and cheap at the price, nicely staged, might well have gone higher up. SMALL INSECTIV. (14): Grand class, containing no less than 9 species, including a Wood Warbler, a bird rarely exhibited, Dartford Warblers, Treecreepers, Goldcrest a very fine Wheatear badly shown, in a finch cage, and had in consequence hurt its head, as might have been expected, Whitethroats, Redstarts, etc. 1, and diploma, Frostick, well known Dartford Warbler, several times cage moulted, a little gem, and shown in Mr. F's usual style, the colours are very beautifully blended, tight as possible in feather; 2, 5, Taylor, very fine redstart, splendid shape, jet black cheeks and throat, with the white frosting of winter plumage, bright reddish breast and tail, very tame, a beauty; cage is rather too small for our liking; 5th, grand Wheatear, not in the best of condition, lovely white eye marks, cage too small, in this case unnecessary cross-wire had caused a cut head; 3, 6, Tout, sweet little Goldcrest, bright golden crest, perfect cond., and evidently quite content with cage life; 6th, nice Treecreeper, very white throat, well shown; 4, Jeffrey, grand Wryneck, beautifully laced breast, rich throat col., and well shown; 7, Evans, pretty Woodwarbler, rather hard lines; No. 7, Wynn, bonny little hand-reared Treecreeper. HEN (except Song Thrush) (18): A well mixed class, including Dartford Warbler and Goldcrest, Nightingale, Corn Buntings, etc; 1, Tout, Goldcrest, perfect specimen, well shown; 2, Heal, very tame Cornbunting, nice size and well mkd., deep col., very steady; 3, Evans, Dartford Warbler, very similar in plumage to the male, but smaller, capital specimen, nicely staged; 4, Dewhurst, Bearded Reedling, good size and col., quite at home without her mate; 5, Francis, Corn Bunting; 6, Lott, 'Gale; 7, Leavers, Hawfinch; No. 8, Smith, cock Goldfinch. PIED ALBINO, ETC. (7): Much smaller class than usual, but containing one regular occupant, the Cinnamon Redpoll. 1, Langlands, White Blackbird, very steady, very clear white, with a nice crocus beak, in capital feather, nicely shown; 2, Frostick, another White Blackbird, hardly so clear as 1st good specimen and very steady; 3, 5, 6, Wade, 3rd, White Hedgesparrow, perfectly white, and quite tame, pretty exhibit, many liked for 1st; 5th, Pied Blackbird, lightly marked on back; 6th, Pied Linnet; 4, Lamb, well known Cinnamon Redpoll, looking as fit and perky as ever. HAWKS, ETC. (1): 1, Askew, the Little Owl, not his first outing at this hall, in good order. SIBERIAN GOLD. OR BULLF. (8): 1, Adams, Goldie, good face and plenty of tanning, nice even buttons, rich yellow wings; 2, Boswell, Bullie, good size, very nice colour and shape, lacks polish, good wing bars, but might be whiter; 3, Price, Goldie, a real topper, wonderful square blaze, and full of col., deeper breast tanning than 1st, rich flights, well buttoned, a nice, upstanding, shapely bird, many preferred this to the winner; 4, Jenner, good Bullie, clear, bright, pink breast and grey back, well polished, clean-cut cap, and very white wing bars; 5, Clarke; 6, Price; 7, Paterson. A.O.S. CONTINENTAL (4): 1, Mrs. Vernon, Redbreasted Flycatcher, looks like a young bird, shows very small trace of the red breast, capital feather, and tame as one could wish; 2, Puck, Blue-throated Warbler, nice specimen, very bright blue band on chest, and clear white spot in centre, very, sleek in plumage; 3, Frost, pretty Blue Rock Thrush, rarely seen on the show bench nowadays, rich blue feather throughout; 4, Fletcher, Nutcracker, well shown and in grand order; this is a species that has won recently in British classes, but this time it is in the right class, Continental.

HORTICULTURAL HALL SHOW.

OPEN NOVICE BRITISH.

Mr. A. J. Marley's Classes.

GOLDF. OR BULLF. (18): A good class for numbers, and contained some good birds, but we could not follow the judge in the winners: 1, 4, Stephens, former a fair Goldie, rich col. face, but too pinched about the blaze, nice size and shape, and in good order; 4th, really typical British Bullie, beautiful pinkish breast, good wing bars and clear grey back, well polished cap, flights, and tail, ought to have taken 2nd place; 2, Shipton, a very good Bullie, Siberian in shape, and a lot too big for a Britisher, good cap and bars, hot colour, seems to have caught the judge napping; 3, Hobden, Goldie, fit to compete in any company, pure square cut blaze, well tanned on breast and flanks, rich yellow flights, even buttons, could well have headed the class; 5, Shelcott, very nice Bullie; 6, Annison; 7, Smith; No. 13, Woodcock, a really fine Goldie, grand face, best blaze of any in the show, including open. LINNET, ETC.: 1, Sadler, big Linnet, full of pencillings, good whites in flight feathers, fine polish and tone of colour, a little "flighty" when we took our notes; 2, 5, 7, Dr. Evelyn Sprawson, former a very nice col. fed Siskin, neat cap, good wing bars, and rich yellow breast, plenty of flank markings; 3, Stephens, Good Linnet for size and shape, nice pencilled breast, sound colour; 4, Lewis, bonny Lesser Redpoll, very shapely, small bib, steady as could be desired; 6, Smith, A.O. FINCH OR BUNTING (11): 1, 3, Stephens, clinking Bramblefinch, rare rich breast and shoulders, colour running well down the flanks, good spangling on head and mantle, nice pencillings, a good winner; 3rd, capital Chaffinch, medium size, clear whites, good bold chest, rather flighty, wants a little more training to the show cage; 2, Miss Whitlaw, really good Hawfinch, colours well defined, splendid cond., full of bloom, and well put down; 4, 6, Miss Cooper, bonny Yellow Bunting, very rich yellow head and throat, col. going well on to chest, rich tint of body plumage, wants more distinct head marks, otherwise a good one; 6th, a good Bramble; 5, Dr. Sampson; 7, Orange. INSECTIV. (13): 1, 4, Woodcock, Yellow Wagtail, rather small, perfect feather and steady; 4th, perfect Grey Wagtail, very tame, and in nice order; 2, 7, Miss Smyth, Meadow Pipit, good pencillings and in high condition, but on the small side; 3, Miss Cooper, good-coloured Waxwing, medium size, well shown, good colouring on wing tips, some thought might have gone up a bit; 5, Orange, Bearded Reedling; 6, Lund. This class contained some good birds which were shown in somewhat unsuitable cages, the cages being much too small for their occupants, and it seems really necessary for exhibition specimens to possess tails. Nos. 3, 4, and 5, Nightingales and Wryneck, were tailless. The latter would probably have won if perfect. A. Dunlin was also included in this class.

MEMBERS, HYB. (7): 1, Lamb; 2, Marley; 3, 4, 5, Nichols; 6, 7, Brumbridge. GOLDF. (8): 1, 3, and 4, Marley; 2, Wade; 5, 7, Francis; 6, Taylor. BULLF. (5): 1, 5, Marley; 2, Francis; 3, Maher; 4, Offord. LINNET (6): 1, 2, 4, Marley; 3, Offord; 5, 6, Francis. SISKIN, ETC. (9): 1, Offord; 2, 3, 4, 5, Marley; 6 Francis; 7, Miss Shepherd. A.O., FINCH OR BUNT. (9): 1, 7, Francis; 2, 4, 5, 6, Marley; 3, Offord. INSECTIV., SMALL (7): 1, Maher; 2, 4, 5, Dewhurst; 3, 6, 7, Marley. LARGE: 1, 3, 4, Marley; 2, Dewhurst.

PERSEVERANCE CLASSES.—CAN.: (1): Sheppard, nice little com. Can. of Border type, fine plumage, and very tame. HYB. (1): Mulling, pretty Siskin-Can., showing cross well, beautiful back markings. PET MULE OR HYB. (2): 1, Miss Dickerson, nice Yorks., in good feather, but looks as though it had been somewhat carelessly washed; 2 Miss Peacock fine large Canary, no particular type, favouring the Lancs. if anything, evidently a real pet, shown in an all-wire "drawing room" cage, quite at home in the unaccustomed surroundings of a bird show. PET A.O.V. (3): 1, Orange, very good Brit. Goldf., nice blaze, good tannings, well mounted, good enough to take its part in open competition; 2, Miss Winifred Montgomery, beautiful pair Zebra Finches, lovely cond., tame, and sprightly, charming couple of pet birds; 3, Miss Olga Montgomery, very pretty Brit. Bullf. hen in perfect plumage.

THE FOREIGN BIRD SECTION.

Mr. F. Finn's Classes.

COCKATOOS AND MACAWS (4): 1, Mrs. Newmarsh, good Military Macaw, a blaze of col.; 2, Williams, Ducorp's Cockatoo, an uncommon exhibit; 3, 4, Rochl, nice Leadbeaters and Lesser Sulphur-crested Cockatoos. GREYS AND AMAZONS (9): 1, Schluter, Grey Parrot, large bird, tight and well mkd.; 2, Mrs. E. Johnston, Blue-fronted Amazon, rich col., tight and silky; 3, Rev. Raynor, Grey Parrot, well mkd., large bird; 4, Rapson, Blue-fronted Amazon; 5, Wade, Salvin's Amazon, very uncommon, might have been higher; 6, Vipond; 7, Lupton, Blue-fronted Amazons. This class contained no less than six Blue-fronted Amazons, and the variability of this species was very apparent, one having the forehead and almost the whole of the crown blue, another with only a little blue, the others intermediate; this variability extending also to the yellow areas, etc. LOVEBIRDS, ETC. (10): 1, 4, 5, Miss Smyth, White-winged Parrakeet, Red-faced Lovebirds, and Tui Parrakeets, in order given, a fine trio in excellent cond.; 2, Miss Clare, very fine pair Peach-faced Lovebirds; 3, Benty; 6, Col. Routh; 7, Schluter, Black-cheeked Lovebirds, all beautiful pairs, varying about as placed. A.O. PARROTS (6): 1, 4, 5, Rev. G. H. Raynor, Red-vented Parrot, Aubrey's Parrot (might have been first), Le Vaillant's Parrot (very hardly treated), a grand trio, the two latter very rare; 2, 3, Maxwell, nice Senegal Parrot, very tame and steady, and Blue-rumped Parrot; 6, Wade, nice Red-vented Parrot. GREEN BUDGERIGARS (17): A fine array of these beautiful and pleasing, but common birds; all were classy birds, but varying to some extent in colour and markings. The class was well judged, and further comment is uncalled for, except to give the placings. 1, Mrs. Longden; 2, Col. Routh; 3, 7, Frostick; 5, Watts; 6, Bayley-Ransom. RING NECK AND OTHER COMMON PARRAKEETS (9): 1, 2, Miss Smyth, Red-rumps and Red Rosellas, the latter apparently two hens; 3, Frost, good pair Alexandrines; 4, 6, 7, Mrs. Newmarsh, Red Rosella, Alexandrine, and nice pair Cockatiels; 5, W. Baxby, Alexandrines, a good pair. LORIES, ETC. (6): 1, Mrs. Longden, Red-collared Lorikeets, grand col., tight and silky; 2, 6, Frostick, Yellow-backed Lory and exquisite pair of Purple-capped Lories; 3, Hon. Mrs. McLaren Morrison, Red-collared Lorikeet; 4, 5, Maxwell, Red-collared and Ornate Lorikeets, an exquisite couple, tight as wax. This class a blaze of tropical colour. A.O. PARRAKEETS (3): 1, sp., 2, Miss Clare, Queen Alexandra and Hooded Parrakeets, in pairs, exquisite and beyond praise, tight, silky, and not a feather out of place—of equal merit, but of course they must be placed first and second; 3, Meager, Mealy Rosella, rather soft.

Mr. D. Seth-Smith's Classes.

YELL. BUDGERIGARS, ETC. (12): 1, Shipton, good pair Yellow Budg., good col., with green undulations faint; 2, Rev. Paterson, White Java Sparrow, in good form, large and pure cnl.; 3, Andrews, another good pair White Javas; 4, 5, 7, Silver, Choc. and White Bengalese, and White Javas, both in good form, and Yell. Budgerigars, good col., but green markings, rather distinct; Miss Smyth, another good pair of Yell. Budg., with rather light green markings. COMMON MANNIKINS (39): A good array of these freely imported, heavily formed, yet pleasing species, all in good fettle: 1, S. Beaty, Combassou, a gem, one of the smartest we have seen; 2, Miss Bousfield, pair Grey Javas, in perfect form; 3, 4, 5, 7, Silver Magpie Mannikins, Combassous, Sharp-tailed Finches, and Bronze Mannikins, a very smart quartet of pairs; 6, C. Cooper, charming pair of Bib Finches. There was but little to choose between the exhibits, all really being in good feather and condition. Black-headed, White-headed and Tricolour Mannikins, Striated and Spice Finches also competed. WEAVERS AND WHYDAHS (18): This class contained many uncommon species, among which we may mention Bronze, Mahali, Mangar and Small Masked Weavers. We are very near the period when the species grouped together in this class shed their gorgeous summer plumage. An amusing incident illustrated this, Mr. R. Watts' well known Queen Whydah shedding its long caudal plumes a few hours after winning premier honours. 1, R. Watts, Queen Whydah, in perfect plumage; 2, 4, Beaty, Golden-backed and Gold-collared Paradise Whydahs, a handsome and uncommon couple, in perfect form; 3, 5, 7, Williams, Mahali Weaver, Golden-backed Whydah, and Black-headed Weaver, an uncommon and interesting trio; 6, Fletcher, Bronze Weaver, an interesting exhibit, we think a first appearance on the show bench, plumage rich bronzy-cinnamon, with wing of blackish-brown, edged with light brown. A most interesting class. RIBBON AND ZEBRA FINCHES, ETC. (16): 1, Watts, Ribbon Finches, richly coloured and well marked pair, in fine form; 2, Silver, beautiful pair of Af. Silverbills, perfect; 3, Hattersley, Zebra Finches, large and well coloured pair; 4, Andrews, Saffron-Finches; 5, Miss Bousfield, Ribbon Finches; 6, Buckingham, Ind. Silverbills; 7, Schluter, Zebra Finches. All the above in fine form, in fact this applies to all, for there was little to choose between the winners and those which failed to catch the judge's eye. GOULDIAN FINCHES (23): A goodly array of this beautiful and deservedly popular species, with scarcely a bird out of form among them, the Red-headed and Black-headed varieties being about equally represented. The chances of some shown in pairs was marred by one of the pair not being in tip-top form. 1, Buckingham, R.H. cock; 2, Miss Buckhouse, pair R.H.; 3, 4, Miss Bousfield, pair R.H. and H.H. cock; 5, Woodcock, R.H. cock; 6, Meadows, R.H. cock and part-coloured hen; 7, Mummering, H.H. The writer has refrained from criticising this class, as Gouldian Finches are affected by unusual conditions almost more than any other species—he was there the three days, and his criticism would have varied considerably on each day! CERTAIN GRASSFINCHES, ETC. (17): This class contained two entries not for competition, both uncommon and beautiful species—the Fijian or Peale's and Tricolour Parrot Finches—sent by Mr. Frost: 1, Row, exquisite pair of Fire-tailed Finches, rare, tip-top form; 2, Mrs. Galloway, nice Tri-coloured Parrot Finch; 3, 6, Miss Bousfield, grand pairs of Pin-tailed and Common Parrot Finches, exquisite colour and form; 4, Maxwell, good pair Common Parrot Finches; 5, Hawkins, good Painted Finch, now very rare; 7, Woodcock, fine pair Pin-tailed Parrot Finches (Nonpareils). A most interesting class. A.O. GRASSFINCHES (27): 1, Maxwell, Yell.-rumped Mannikins, tip-top form; 2, Watts, Black-faced Waxbills, not so pretty as the common species, only appeared on show bench twice previously, new to aviculture this year; 3, Miss Bousfield, Masked Grassfinches, exquisite form; 4, Rev. Paterson, Long-tailed Grassfinches, perfect; 5, Schluter, Diamond Finches, rich colour and well marked; 6, Miss Smyth, cock Red-headed Finch, grand colour and markings; 7, Silver, Long-tailed Grassfinch. In addition to the above, Common Quail, Pectoral, Chestnut-breasted and Bichenos Finches were staged, and the all-round excellence of all made separation largely a matter of individual opinon. COMM. FIREFINCHES, CORDON BLEUS, ETC. (41): A truly glorious array of the Common Species, amply indicating what a beautiful series of the "Small Ornamental Finches" may be procured and kept at a very small cost. 1, 7, Howe, exquisite pair Gold-breasted Waxbills, one of the best pairs we have seen, like paint, and a good pair of Cordon Bleus, hen not so good as cock; 2, Strong, Cordon Bleus, good col., tight, and steady; 3, Beaty, Firefinch, perfect in every way; 5, Newley, another good pair of Firefinches; 6, Silver, Lavender Finches. With very few exceptions, the whole of the exhibits were in excellent show form. COMM. WAXBILLS and AVADAVATS (29): 1, Col. Routh, Green Avadavats, rich col., perfect in every way; 2, Howe, St. Helena Waxbills, equally perfect; 3, Silver, Red Avadavats, like paint; 4, Newley, Orange-checked Waxbills, rich col., very tight; 5, 7, Miss Blagg, Red Avadavats, and Grey Waxbills, in perfect form; 6, Gibb, Green Avadavats, very rich col. Here, again, almost every exhibit was in best show form. A.O. WAXBILLS (26): Every exhibit notable, where such avian gems as Violet-eared, Ruddy and Black-faced Waxbills, Melba, Red-faced and Dufresne's Finches, Jameson's and Vinaceous Firefinches are gathered together in a crowd words fail to fittingly describe them. Eight of the entries in this class were not for competition. 1, Maxwell, Peter's Spotted-sided Finch, one of the rarest birds in the show, but not yet in full feather, the crown of the head being almost bare, evidently quite recently imported; 2, Col. Routh, Violet-eared Waxbills, exquisite pair, a dream of beauty and perfection, in our opinion might have been first, considering the feather of winner; 3, Frostick, Ruddy Waxbills, a rare and beautiful exhibit, in good form; 4, Miss Bousfield, Melba Finch, grand col.; 5, Strong, Dufresne's Finches, uncommon and beautiful, tip-top form; 6, Hawkins, Melba Finches, a fine pair; 7, Watts, another fine pair of Melba Finches. A grand class. CARDINALS (5): One is surprised that this class did not fill better, as these are favourite cage birds with many. 1, Matthes, Green Cardinal (cock), an easy first, good col., tight and silky; 2, Montgomery, Red-crested Cardinal, rich col., in good form; 3, Col. Routh, pair Virginian Cardinals, rich col., bit soft; 4, Mrs. Moore, hen Virginian, in fine form; 5, Miss Smyth, Red-crested Cardinal, rich col., tight as wax, might have been higher. SERINS, SISKINS, ETC. (9): Another class which should have filled better: 1, Ezra, Chilian Siskin, very rare exhibit; 2, Vale, good Alario Finch, with unusual white markings about head and neck, in good form; 3, Miss Greene, Black-headed Siskin, in tip-top form; 4, Rev. Paterson, Alario Finch, typical markings, in fine form; 5, 6, Meadows, Sikhim Siskins, might have been higher, and a good B.H. Siskin; 7, C. Cooper, Grey-necked Serin, good col. and excellent form. TRUE FINCHES (26): An interesting class, two most notable exhibits being Mr. Ezra's Blue Chaffinch and Chilian Finch, the latter a wee bit rough, but rather hardly treated. Other uncommon exhibits were Miss Smyth's Black Bullfinch, Mr. Williams's Grey Grosbeaks, and two good Sepoy Finches, but not in natural colour. 1, Ezra, Blue Chaffinch, an easy first, in tip-top form; 2, Miss Smyth, Mexican Hawfinch, evidently a hen, but we failed to recognise the species; 3, Beaty, exquisite pair of Cuban Finches; 4, Hattersley, Sepoy Finch, in good form, but yellow instead of the crimson of the wild bird; 5, Miss Smyth, Black Bullfinch or Grosbeak, an interesting and uncommon exhibit; 6, Townsend, Sepoy Finch, in excellent form, might have been higher, better col. than 4th; 7, Williams, Grey Grosbeaks, very uncommon and interesting, but of somewhat sombre plumage. Ruddy, Hair-crested and Rock Buntings, Chiliau, Euler's, Yellowish, and White-throated Finches, Mexican Rosefinch and Yellow Sparrows also competed. DOVES, QUAILS, ETC. (2): Mr. Schluter's Diamond Doves were in perfect form, and might well have been first, but were placed second, 1st going to Mr. Frost's Douglas Quail, in good feather, but mopy, and not looking in best form. SUNBIRDS, ETC. (11): The feature of this class was Mr. Ezra's wonderful Sunbirds, truly a sight for the gods, of which he staged six species, all worthy a first; beautiful as were the others, it was the Southern Malachite, or Cape Long-tailed Sunbird, which was the cynosure of all eyes, and before which everyone paid homage, and most came again and again to feast their eyes upon its grace and beauty. It is described elsewhere in this issue. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and many specials, Ezra, Southern Malachite (beyond praise), Greater Amethyst, a living jewel, flashing out changing hues, with every different angle of light, Cape Lesser Double-collared, another glorious species, of flashing green, blue and ruddy bronze, Amethyst-rumped (this is the well-known individual of many shows, looking better than ever), and Black-breasted Yellow-backed, the plumage is glistening black, washed with maroon above, with a patch of yellow on the crown, and narrow moustachial streaks of metallic violet-blue, tail steel-blue. A marvellous quintet, their condition and staging reflecting great credit on their owner; 6, Lady Pilkington, exquisite Black-headed Sugarbird, like silk; 7, Maxwell, hen, Purple Sugarbird, tip top condition. Blue Sugarbirds and an exquisite Gold-fronted Green Finchbucker, never seen better, were also staged; truly a wonderful class. CERTAIN NAMED TANAGERS (16): 1, Mrs. Thynne, lovely Maroon; 2, Townsend, really grand Tricolour; 3, 7, Col. Routh, Superb and Scarlet, very rich col. and perfect; 4, Lady Kath. Pilkington, Blue, a beautiful exhibit, in perfect form; 5, Maxwell, Scarlet, in fine form, very deep col.; 6, Miss Bousfield, good pair of Maroon Tanager. TANAGERS (12): There were some beautiful birds in this class, some of which were somewhat hardly treated, among which we may mention Lady Pilkington's Blue and Black and Black-cheeked Tanagers, both in fine form, and unnoticed, also Mr. Townsend's Black-backed and Col. Routh's Golden-shouldered Euphonia. The placing in this class gave rise to considerable comment. 1, Ezra, Pretre's Tanagers, good pair, the cock a recently imported bird, and not in full col.; 2, Miss Bousfield, White-capped Tanager, perfect form; 3, Maxwell, Red and Black Tanager, a rare exhibit, which has not yet been got into its owner's usual form; 4, Miss Bousfield, Festive Tanager, rich col. and in good form; 5, Townsend, Black-backed Tanager, exquisite condition and col., absolutely flawless, should have been much higher; 6, Mrs. Sevastopulo, Rufous-throated Sugarbird, now uncommon, in finest condition (this exhibit should properly have been entered in class 191); 7, Col. Routh, Golden-shouldered Euphonia, uncommon, in tip-top form, might have been higher. BULBULS, SHAMAHS, ETC. (11): 1, Major Horsburgh, Brown-eared Bulbul, rare and beautiful, deserves its position; 2, Lady Pilkington, Black-crested Yell. Bulbul, very uncommon, in good form; 3, Col. Routh, Red-eared Bulbul, not rare, but its clean, rich col. and contrasting plumage and condition, marked it out for notice at once; 4, Frostick, Shama, excellent form; 5, 6, Miss A. B. Smyth, Pekin Robins, very rich col., but we rather doubted these being a true pair, and a nice Shama; 7, Andrews, another good Shama. CROWS, TROPIALS, ETC (16): 1, Maj. Horsbrugh, Yucatan Jay, a rare exhibit, new to the bench, but a young bird, not yet in mature plumage; 2, Silver Mandarin Mynahs, an interesting, quaint, and attractive species, in very good form; 3, Mrs. Warren-Vernon, Hunting Cisso, lovely bird, perfect, uncannily tame, might have been higher; 4, Stewart, Wandering Tree Pie, in lovely plumage, tight as wax, and very steady; 5, 6, Shepherd, perfect Greater Hill Mynah, and Black-throated Laughing Thrush, both in tip-top form; 7, Fletcher, Brazilian Hangnest, lovely col., tight and silky. Yellow-headed and flame-breasted Marsh-birds; Glossy Starlings; Baltimore, Black-throated and other Troupials also competed. A most interesting class. HYB., ALBINOS, ETC. (15), almost every exhibit was of interest, there were some very interesting Hybrids among the birds not in the money e.g.: Capt. Reeve's Grey Singing Finch-Canary, this bird being white, varied with light and dark brown on the head, neck, wings, and tail, and only faintly tinged with yellow on the shoulders, outer webs of flights, and tail feathers, also Mr. Wade's Greenf.-Mexican Rosefinch, which much resembled a hen Goldfinch, but had the Rosefinch marking indicated on back wings, and also by pale ruddy buff on forehead, eye streaks, chin, and upper throat. Mr. Tomlinson's Mexican Rosefinch-Canary, showed very little of its male parent, but the old gold of the fore crown and hib was slightly tinged with red, and there were indications of the Rosefinch in the markings of upper plumage. Mr. Woodcock's two Silverbill-Bengalese were very similar to a pale Striated Finch. The outstanding feature of the class was Mr. Ezra's lovely Lutino Parrakeets, and Miss Clare's Blue Budgerigars, the latter (unnoticed) were "streets ahead" of the single bird which was awarded fifth prize. 1, 2, A. Ezra, Lutino Ring-necked and Lutino Blossom-headed Parrakeets, unique and beautiful, the latter new to the bench; 3, R. S. de O. Quincey, Parson-Long-tailed Grassfinch Hybrids, about intermediate between their respective parents, in fine form; 4, Miss Smyth, Redheaded Finch-Cutthroat Hyb., nice pair, in which the male parent is dominant, though the Cutthroat is clearly indicated, not only by the throat band, but by the markings of the upper plumage; 5, Sutton, hen Blue Budgerigar, very lucky to win against Miss Clare's fine pair; 6, Rev. Paterson, Hooded Siskin-Can. Hyb., a nice stubby, clearly mkd. bird, showing clearly its Siskin origin, but lacking entirely the black head and fiery red of its male parent; 7, Woodcock, Silverbill-Bengalese Hybrid, about intermediate between the parents, but having a striking resemblance to the Striated Finch. An intensely interesting class calling for more space than can be given here. FLYCATCHERS, TITS, ETC. (12): Another wonderful class, including several first appearances, and many other rare and beautiful species. Mr. Ezra staged a very rare pair of Indian Fire-caps (about the size of our Fire-crest), which have never previously been exhibited, but being in immature plumage these failed to catch the judge's eye; 1, 2, 3, 4, A. Ezra, Small Minivet, an exquisite bird, though not in natural col., a first appearance; Large Niltava, a gorgeous bird in azure blue and black, also a first appearance; Short-billed Minivet, in beautiful form, but lacking the fiery scarlet of the wild bird, which in captivity moults out pinkish-white; Red-flanked Bush Robin, a charming bird of dull blue, with areas of glistening palish-blue, whitish underparts, and flanks rufous; an entrancing quartet; 5, Lady Pilkington, Loo-choo Robin, now becoming well-known, but a beautiful and charming bird of confiding demeanour and fine song; 6, Maj. Horsbrugh, Blue-fronted Redstart, another gorgeous species of glistening blue and rich chestnut-rufous, an ideal cage-bird; 7, Frostick, Japanese Redbreast, though only 7th, this bird really merits all the warm praise applied to the above; excellent specimens of Rufous-bellied Niltava, Silver-eared Mesias and Black-headed Sibias also competed. A.O.S. (13). This class also contained at least two first appearances, as well as others which we think have only appeared once previously this season: 1, Lady Pilkington, charming pair Black-chinned Yuhinas, minute Tit-like birds, of fascinating demeanour, but chastely clad; 2, Ezra, Red-tailed Minla (a first appearance), another Tit-like bird, clad in dark brown and pure white (see front page), with the upper tail coverts and margins of outer webs of tail feathers and flights scarlet; 3, Lady Pilkington, Black-throated Wren-Babbler, a first appearance, not gorgeous, but very pretty and entertaining, depicted on front page; 4, 6, Townsend, Pigmy Woodpecker and Indian White-breasted Kingfisher, the latter a gorgeous bird clad in rich chocolate-brown, pure white and glistening blue; 5, 7, Maxwell, Levaillant's Barbet and Pink-crested Touraco, both rare species and in excellent form. MEMBERS' SEED-EATERS (12): 1, Mrs. Thynne, Black-headed Gouldian; 2, 4, 6, Silver, Blue-breasted Waxbills, Aurora Finch and Chestnut-breasted Finch; 3, Brambridge, Firefinches; 5, 7, Rev. Paterson, Diamond Sparrow and Alario Finch. INSECTIV., ETC.: 1, 2, Dewhurst, Colcys and Metallic Starling, the winners quite among the veterans of the show bench; 3, Mrs. Thynne, Blue Tanager.

UDDINGSTON.

Annual show held Nov. 22, and it proved a great success. Entries were well up to former years and considering that their next door neighbours, Glasgow, also held their show the executive had nothing to grumble about. Scotch Fancies were good all round, and contained some real class birds. The buff piebald cock, a gem for style, staged as that old hand, Mr. Joe Higgins, knows how, was runner up for cup. Yorks. were rather poor in numbers, but quality was all there. Borders were grand class. The winning buff hen shown by Mr. Voy being greatly admired. We were pleased to see this old fancier mooing them again as he has been resting for a few seasons. Chinamons and Greens were great, both winners being able to hold their own at any fixture. Norwich were a grand all round lot, the quality being very level, and in many classes the winners were hard to separate. The winning buff cock of Mr. Martin's was a gem, and greatly admired, and was a runner for cup. Mules and British were here in force (Where do the Scotchmen get all these rarities?) and gems of the first water were forward. The pick of the bunch, however, was the charming Redpoll-Bullie shown by Mr. Pirrie. Although only a young fancier he has been success ful in achieving what some have tried a lifetime for, and has succeeded in getting the cross, and also the best that has ever been seen of it, an ideal specimen, which only wants to be seen to be admired; it won the cup for best in show after a strenuous fight, as each of the best in sections received the same vote, and the Hybrid won on the toss off.

British were good. Messrs. McQuiston and Patterson secured the rosebowl for most points in the British section with six nominated birds. The hall is an ideal one for a show, and the staging was beautifully erected; although we heard the committee were unable to get it until early in the morning of show. Mr. Cosgrave is an ideal sec. and treas., and had everything in apple-pie order, and was ably assisted by an enthusiastic committee.

The show was well patronised by fanciers from the Hamilton and Blantyre districts, and we hope to hear of a financial success. Mr. J. W. Bruce judged Scots Fancies, Yorks., Bord., Cinns. and Greens; Mr. W. G. Muir the Norwich; Mr. R. V. Raine and Mr. G. McGillivray the Mules and Brit. alternately.

The Critique.

SCOTCH FANCY YELL. CK. (7): 1, Higgins, good yell. piebald, hard up on top, grand mover, and plenty of sub., hot one; 2, Stewart, another piebald, grand style and sub., scarcely so prominent in shoulders; 3, Turner, cl., fine qual., good top end and reach, A1 side, fine order; 4, Watson cl., a shade slow, fails in droop, but grand sub. and qual. HEN (6): 1, Watson, stylish, good top end and rare mover, clean got up, free style; 2, Stewart, longer in side, but fails in top end, sweet wee bird, grand qual.; 3, Higgins, plenty of go, but slim in build, very nice snaky head; 4, Buchan. BUFF CK. (7): 1, and runner-up for cup, Higgins, hot one, massive shoulders, and rare droop, very nervy, fine free action, and plenty of subs., could be better staged; 2, Higgins, clean made one inclined to raise head, but a hot one for style, rather slow to pos.; 3, Kennedy, nice qual. and fine sub., beaten in droop; 4, Watson, very clean got up, grand length of side; he, Sharpe. HEN (6): 1, Watson, sweet one, nice size and lovely order, grand top end and reach, and fine sub. throughout; 2, Stewart, fine style, beaten in subs. only; 3, Sharpe, fine length of side, fails a little in top end, good qual.; 4, Higgins, stylish, rather slim in build; vhc, Kennedy; he, Boyd. NOV. (5): 1, McCaskill, plenty of size and good top end and reach, in grand order; 2, 3, Turner, close up, fine depth across; 3, fails a shade in length, good subs.; 4, vhc, Boyd, stylish. YORKS. YELL. CK. (3): 1, Priest, good one, hot fed, and like a piece of silk, grand qual. of feather and well up in length, rare mould; 2, Ferguson, shade longer, but rather open in feather, lacks the finish and style of winner; 3, Stewart, hot shape, again fails a shade in feather. BUFF (1): 1, Steel, good stamp and in grand order. YELL. HEN (1): 1, Priest, grand trim, lengthy, and finely drawn. UNFLIG. (9): 1, 3, Ferguson, yells., leader rare length and tip-top qual., well drawn; 3rd not so long, but all there for qual. and finish; 2, 4, Steel, nice buff, grand style and extra good in qual. of feather, sweet bird, well put down; 4th nice buff var., tight in feather, but a shade shorter, grand qual., nicely drawn, good class; he, Stewart. NOV.: 1 Marley, well drawn and good length, in fine order; 2, Ross good stamp, beaten in finish. BORD. CL. OR TKD. YELL. CK. (8): 1, Gentleman, lovely yell., grand size and A1 qual., sweet mould and in fine order; 2, Dick, shade stronger across, fine qual. of feather, and exceedingly well put down; 3, Davidson, good qual. of feather, shade longer, equal in shape; 4, Murphy, good stamp, not so well burnished up; vhc, Linden. HEN (5): 1, Haddon, stylish, sweet wee bird, nice weight, and in grand bloom; 2, Hamilton, not so well rounded as winner, but fine qual. of feather; 3, Clark, good stamp, fails a shade in head, nice weight; 4, Turner, beaten in finish, a shade short. BUFF CK. (10): 1, Haddon, nice taper, grand front and head, and rare wing carr., rather unsteady at times; 2, Voy, grand stamp, lovely front and wing carr., a shade small in head; 3, Lunn, good one, fine weight and well drawn, fails a shade in feather; 4, McVicar, good stamp and well drawn; vhc, Russell; he, Harper. HEN (15): 1, Voy, model, lovely shape, perfect all round, grand head and front, and tip-top wing carr., lovely box feather, shade on the small side; 2, Lunn, good stamp, shade larger, but beaten in taper and mould, unlucky to meet winner; 3, Hamilton, good stamp, sweet head and front, extra well put down; 4, Clark, nice one, good front, fails a shade in wing carr.; vhc, Dods; c, Baird. VARIEG. (5): 1, Haddon, sweet yell. even, nice eye markings, and tip-top qual. of feather, very stylish; 2, Hamilton, lovely buff, grand type and rare qual., fails a shade in eye markings or would be a stormer; 3, Clark, yell., two-pound, fine style and qual., shade long in side; 4, Voy, a buff, nice shape, shade stronger than winner, good stamp, well staged; c, Lunn. GREEN (11): 1, Wilcox, gem of a yell., grand type, lovely solid col., grand pure pencilling, well staged; 2, Marshall, good buff, lovely back lacing, and grand flanks, A1 shape; 3, Lambie, old champion, as good a any for colour, but showing signs of wear; 4, Dods, nice buff, shade bronzy compared to winners, but nice stamp, well placed; he, Gentleman; vhc, Haddon. CINN. (16): 1, Marshall, grand yell., rare shape, pure in markings and well moulded, deep solid col. throughout, nice one; 2, 4, Wilson, nice buff, looks like a hen, grand spangle, shade blurred on back, but lovely type; 4th grand type and good tone of col., markings inclined to run on back, 3, Dods, well up, nice tone of col. pure and clear in markings, rather low on perches, fine size and weight; vhc, Gentleman; he, Wilson; c, Haddow. SELL. (8): 1, 3, Thomson; 2, Lambie; 4, Dick; he, Graham. NOV. (13): 1, he, Paterson, good qual. buff, nice size and grand shape and make, well staged; 2, Marshall, sweet yell., rare shape, lovely front and good head, presses winner hard; 3, Marley, lovely buff hen, grand head and fine close feather, a shade soiled in feather; 4, Waugh, nice green, good type and markings, well put down; vhc, Davidson; c, Houston. NOR. CREST CK. (6): 1, Arnott, good one, fine top piece, dense leafy crest and well down in front and sides; 2, Biggar, close up for size, but a shade open in feather, good sided bird; 3, Scott, nice shape, a shade smaller, A1 quality of feather; 4, Kirkland, good shape, fails a trifle in frontal; vhc, McDougall. C.B. CK. OR HEN (7): 1, Johnstone, great size, bold head and grand entrance and lash, a good one 2, 3, 4, Scott, leader the largest in head, three good ones, well placed; vhc, Kirkland; he, Houston; c, McDougall. NOR. CL. OR TKD. YELL. SELKIRK.

Held 52nd annual show Nov. 29. This show caters exclusively for Border Fancies, and the entry received was very poor indeed, not a single class being full, and some had to be cancelled. It is held in an ideal hall, and the worthy secretary, Mr. Edgar, had everything in apple-pie order, and was ably assisted by an enthusiastic committee. Mr. J. W. Bruce judged, and his awards were well received.

ST. AUSTELL.

Annual show held in the Market House Oct. 29. The bad weather again this year told considerably against the gate, but the entries exceeded last year's total. Norwich were good, especially the hen and unflighted classes, which were a grand lot. The other classes were good, but the entries were not as expected on account of Hayle Show being held next day. Sp for best bird was won by Mrs. Stocker with a White Cockatoo in good condition. Sandiford's medal for hottest fed bird fell to F. Collins with an unflighted yellow Norwich. Mr. Davies, jun., hon. sec., has the interest of his society at heart, and is a very obliging official. Mr. J. Davies (St. Austell) judged.

WEST MALLING.

Show held in The Hollis Malt House, Nov. 25-26. The show was rendered notable by the fact that the judge was a lady, and one who is famed throughout the country as a learned ornithologist—Miss Reeves. The exhibits were of fairly good quality generally, but the entry was not a large one. Challenge cup for best bird was won by a shapely Norwich shown by Mr. Smithers. The stewards Messrs. C. Worsley, H. Martin, W. Higgins, S. C. Rogerson, and E. Hond, carried out their duties well. Messrs. J. Mitchell and H. R. Marten, the joint hon. secs, with Mr. H. Dunn, the general sec. and treas., had all the arrangements well in hand, and their energy and courtesy had much to do with the success of the fixture.

The Critique.

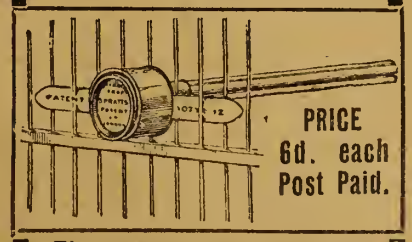
CAN. NOR. (4): 1, sp, best in show, Smithers, very nice shapely buff, capital col. and qual.; 2, Harvey, smart yell., even, not so rich in col., nice silky feather. NON. FED. YELL. SELL (5): 1, 3, Wells; 2, Cranston.

HADDINGTON (East Lothian).

Held Corn Exchange, Nov. 22. This, from being one of the best shows, has, through a combination of circumstances, the greatest evil of which is a split in the rank of the local fanciers, descended to a level much below its former importance. We remember when Haddington was the Mecca of Lothian fanciers, and the scene of many hard-fought battles, and, considering its situation, it is a matter for regret that a truce cannot be arranged between parties. We are certain that an attempt on the part of the combined managers at Haddington will meet with a good response. They have everything in their favour, a splendid hall, and a practically untapped district, and we hope that next year will see East Lothian fanciers banded together with one desire, to hold one event, and make that worthy of support; only by so doing can they hope to rise above the present state of affairs.

We must express our appreciation of the courtesy of Secretary Grant, whose management was indicative of an ability to pilot a much larger affair, and his efforts were well seconded by a pair of stewards whose only regret was that they had not more scope for their abilities. Mr. Arnott, of Kirkcaldy, judged, the entry only showing an average of three per class. Many fanciers were ignorant of this fixture, and we would advise a more free advertisement.

The Critique.



BORD. CL. YELL. CK. (4): 1, sp., Munro, nice weight, good head, nicely piped tail, might pack better, well staged; 2, Little, scarcely weight of leader, equal col., scarcely as well rounded, better wings, well placed; 3, Young, excellent taper, just on light side, better head, a trifle up on leg, or might have gone up; 4, Kerr. HENN (4): 1, Lambie, nice head and front, fails wings, and very frayed, lucky; 2, Munro, even better head, excels condition, scarcely up to leader in front, yet our choice for 1st; 3, Grubb, nicely rounded in back, well braced, fails front and head, well placed; 4, Young. BUFF CK. (4): 1, B.F.C.C. medal, Grubb, heavy stamp, good wings, and nice pipe tail, fails neck and roundness of back; 2, Coventry, better texture, quite equal tail and wings, fails head, must have pressed; 3, Little, grand col. and curve, fine jaunty carr., but coarse feathered in head, will improve; 4, Ramage. HEN (4): 1, Kerr, nice one, good bullet head, nicely-rounded front, slightly hollow back, well put down, wins; 2, Lambie, better back than leader, scarcely so well rounded in front, fails col., well placed; 3, Steele, better texture, excels wings, rather dirty or would have gone up; No. 1, Sanderson, w.c. (a yellow). EVEN. MARK (3): 1, Barrie, rather unbalanced in marks, good head and wings, might be better staged, wins on type; 2, Steele, rather run in eye marks, fails front and texture, very dirty; 3, Sanderson. YELL. VARIEG. (2): 1, sp., Grubb, nice head and front, fails in taper, excels wings and tail, very jaunty; 2, Steele, fails head, nicely wedged, just beaten front, nice one. BUFF (7): 1, sp., Wilson, eyes and wing, real nice one, grand col. and text, shown for all its worth, wins all points; 2, Lambie, cinn., scarcely front of leader, yet a nice one, beaten in wings and head; 3, Grubb, almost even, better front, well braced, just beaten head, and slack at waist, will improve; 4, Kerr; 5, Munro; 6, Coventry. GR. (5): 1, Grant, nice grassy tone, well pencilled, very level, excels head and wings; 2, Lambie, smaller stamp (hen), scarcely so level toned as leader, but a gem for type, staged in good order, lacks a claw or would have been our choice; 3, Munro, another nice one, just beaten front and levelness of tone, excels texture and jaunty action. CINN. (6): 1, 4, Wilson, leader gem first water, grand tone col., rare type and action, we made a good medal winner here; 2, 3, Ramage, nice one, overshadowed here, scarcely so level, fails pencil, yet a good one; 3rd, better head and front, fails col. and texture, well placed; w.c., Lambie (green); 5, Goodal. DUNBAR.

Ninth annual show held Nov. 26. We were sorry to see the entries very poor, especially in Border. Where are all the local fanciers? Although down in numbers the quality was extra good, the winning yell. even being a clinker. We heard this make its 16th first prize, under about 10 judges, and it well deserved its position, being splendidly staged by the well known West Country exhibitor, Mr Wm. Haddow. There were on exhibition two lovely silver cups for competition among the Scotch fanciers, and the executive were awarded the magnificent entry of 3 birds, surely a record for cup fighting. The show was held in an ideal room, one of the best, and the committee are composed of genuine fanciers, and arrangements were in the hands of Mr. Scott, who had everything in apple pie order, and did his best for visitors and exhibitors alike; the show was well patronised, and sales were good. Mr. R. Lamble judged, and his awards were exceedingly well received.
